Gravel Voices Defiance, Says He Won't Quit

Committee To Meet Wednesday

ALEXANDRIA (AP) — Camille Gravel Jr., Louisiana's Democratic National Committeeman, said Friday he won't resign if the party's state committee votes to remove him.

Gravel voiced his defiance as the State Central Committee prepared to meet next Wednesday solely to oust him from the party post after a dispute involving civil rights.

"Party organization rules," he said, "do not allow the state committee to remove a national committeeman."

Gravel said only the national committee can take a committeeman's job, and then an ouster must be based upon charges lodged against the committeeman.

CHARGE

The state party's only charge, Gravel said, is that he is supporting the Democratic party.

Pro-segregation elements in the state group have sparked the drive to depose Gravel, Gov. Earl Long kept clear of the dispute more than a year, but recently joined after he and Gravel took opposite sides in the Eighth District race for Congress. Long's candidate lost.

Gravel has backed the national party's civil rights program. He said once that segregation is morally wrong, but at the same time cautioned that school integration in Louisiana could be disastrous.

He will keep the national committee fully informed, he said, on the proceedings at the ouster meeting. No national committee officials will attend, he said.

The ouster issue will be broad-cast Sunday and Monday, when Gravel takes his side to the public. He will appear on WDSU-TV in New Orleans at 4 p.m. Sunday. Gravel has set up a network of television and radio stations in Louisiana at 10 p.m. Monday for a 30-minute program.

The television stations to carry the program are WWL-TV in New Orleans; KTBS, Shreveport; KLFY, Lafayette; WBRZ, Baton Rouge; KALB, Alexandria; KTLA, Lake Charles; and KNOE, Monroe.

The radio stations are KALB, Alexandria; WWL, New Orleans; WJBO, Baton Rouge; KVOL, Lafayette; KPLC, Lake Charles; KNOE, Monroe; KWKH and KRMD, Shreveport and KSIG, Crowley.

Gravel maintained his views have been distorted and his statements quoted out of context. He said he always has maintained he favors segregation and has never been an integrationist.

His stand, he said: "We need caution and moderation, not hysteria and emotion, to meet the most crucial problem of the century."

Negro Man Shot To Death Here; Suspect Booked

A 28-year-old Negro father was shot to death in his home here last night and Monroe police hooked a 63-year-old Negro man with murder after witness to the shooting drove him to headquarters where he surrendered.

Dead was Willie Walters, 28, of 3209 Halsell St. Quachita Coroner Dr. John P. Burton ruled Walters died of a .38 calibre pistol shot in the center of the forehead that pierced the skull.

The coroner said Walters was shot almost at "point blank range" and he died seconds later.

Booked on a murder charge at 7:40 p.m. was Bynum Patterson, 63 of 3808 Dunlap St.

Police said that when Patterson surrendered in connection with the incident, he carried a .38 calibre pistol.

A Negro man questioned by police last night was identified as a

Strange Twist To Auto Wreck

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—A year ago July 31, Michael Edward Dee, 16, was involved in an accident. Old Post Road here while fleeing from police in a stolen car. He escaped without serious injury.

Early Friday, the boy, of Marmon, was cruising along the same road in a car reported stolen from Arthur Rolf, also of Marmon. This time, he was not being pursued.

But something happened as he neared the spot of the previous accident. The car went out of control and hit a tree, killing him.

Oldest Woman In U.S. Dies At Age Of 114

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Mrs. Kyriakoula Psara, 114, believed to have been the oldest woman in the United States died in John J. Kane Hospital Friday.

Friends said Mrs. Psara's birth records were lost when her native island of Patmos in the Aegean Sea changed from Turkish to Italian and then to Greek rule.

Mrs. Psara, whose husband died 25 years ago, lived at the Greek Orthodox Cathedral where she cooked her own meals and attended services every day.

She became ill several weeks ago and was taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Psara, who came to the United States in 1912, said in an interview several years ago, she couldn't understand all the "fuss being made over her age. She said that on her native island it is not uncommon to live past 100.

Fight Begins By NAACP To Open Schools

United Press International. The NAACP began its long-expected battle Friday to force the re-opening of Virginia's nine schools which have been closed to avoid integration.

But in Arkansas, Gov. Orval E. Faubus asserted that Little Rock's four high schools will stay closed this year unless the federal government yields.

NAACP Attorney Oliver W. Hill of Richmond filed a motion with U.S. District Judge John Paul of Harrisonburg to force the re-opening of Warren County High School in Front Royal, Va.

Another NAACP lawyer, Victor J. Ashe of Norfolk, said he would file a motion Monday with U.S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman of Norfolk, asking that the port city's six white junior and senior high schools be re-opened immediately on an integrated basis.

SIMILAR MOTION

A similar motion to force the re-opening of Charlottesville's only white high school and one of its five white elementary schools was being considered.

The nine schools were closed by order of Gov. J. Lindsay Almond (Continued On Page 2-A)

Notice

Inside of the next 60 days, property owners or realty in the path of the new super highway through the Twin Cities should be ready to give figures as to what they expect to be paid for property. State Highway Official M. H. Huckaby states that inside of a few weeks, trained real estate appraisers will make a careful survey of holdings that are required.

Minister

Bobby G. Swanner, 15, of West Monroe last week was licensed as minister at a Sunday night service in Ridge Ave. Baptist Church. He is a junior in the West Monroe high school. Parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Swanner, both active workers in their church. Bobby is planning to enter Baylor university when he completes high school.

NO RELIEF IN SIGHT

8 Homes Destroyed By Blaze In Calif.

MONROVIA, Calif. (UPI) — A major brush fire which has destroyed at least eight homes jumped fire lines and raced over hundreds of additional acres Friday night as the California governor declared this foothill community a disaster area.

"We just blew up 2,000 acres," a fire chief said, "it's going like hell!"

The fresh outbreak came as winds gathered in speed near day's end, sending flames boiling into new tinder-dry fodder on the north and east sides.

"Everything came all undone at once," a smoke-blackened fireman said, "it looked like it took off in all directions."

Little Rock Schools Will Remain Closed

Faubus Promises
Unless Federal
Officials Yield

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Friday that Little Rock's four high schools will stay closed this year unless the federal government yields.

As for himself, he said: "The people have voted and the law states they will remain closed."

"If we went ahead and used them (high schools), the only recourse the federal government would have would be to send in federal marshals to eject the teachers and students," Faubus said at a news conference.

Is there any chance he would defy the courts and order the schools reopened segregated?

"There are many things that are possible," he said.

He apparently ruled out the possibility of defying the courts and trying to use the schools anyway by reading a formal statement, which said in part:

"The people have voted to keep the schools closed, rather than open them as forcibly integrated public institutions."

"Therefore, if the federal courts continue to prevent the use of our own school buildings and school funds for the purpose of education, then the use of private buildings and private funds is the alternative."

CAMPAIGN

The Little Rock Private Schools Corporation already has a campaign in progress to collect funds and open schools in churches, rumormongers and lodge halls if the Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals rules against it next Monday.

GM Company Paralyzed By Local Issues

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors' industrial empire was paralyzed Friday despite a new three-year contract agreement with the United Auto Workers Union.

The negotiators left more than 8,000 local issues hanging when they signed the national agreement Thursday night.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther made it clear the local unions were authorized to continue their strikes until their own local issues were cleared up.

As a result, the 275,000 GM production workers who struck over national contract issues Thursday continued their strike Friday over local issues. GM reported all of its 126 plants in 71 cities across the nation were closed by the local disputes.

All of the local disputes have to be cleared up by Oct. 20, however, because that is the date for ratification of the national contract and all local issues have to be solved before the national contract can be ratified.

BLOCK CLEARED

The national agreement was the biggest roadblock in the path leading to a return to peace in the auto industry, however, GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton said it was possible all of the local issues could be cleared up by the middle of next week, paving the way for full scale production of 1959 model cars for the first time.

Chrysler Corp., which reached an agreement covering 75,000 production workers on Wednesday, was still hampered by local strikes involving 11,700 workers.

Lebanon Army Fires Into Mob; Five Killed

Red MIG-17's Damage Plane Bringing Food

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — Communist Chinese Mig-17's attacked and damaged an unarmed Nationalist cargo plane Friday while it was parachuting food and medicine to Big Quemoey Island, the defense ministry announced.

The crippled twin-engine C-46 crash-landed on the besieged island. Its radio operator and engineer were wounded in the first aerial attack the Red Chinese have made on an air drop plane attempting to crack the artillery blockade of the offshore Quemoey Island group.

Two other crew members and the four of five men engaged in pushing parachute-rigged supplies from the plane escaped uninjured.

OPEN FIRE

Two of the Soviet-built, super-sonic Migs swooped on the helpless plane from a low altitude. They opened fire from below and behind it, a war communique said.

Robert C. Miller, UPI correspondent on Big Quemoey, reported that two Migs swept across the island at less than 5,000 feet while at least six others flew a protective cover at more than 20,000 feet.

Rear Adm. Liu Hoh - Tu, the Nationalist defense ministry spokesman, called the attack a "wanton act of cruelty." He told United Press International: "This was a straight case of a provocative action. The Migs sneaked out of Lungki air base, three jet-flying minutes away, and attacked our unarmed plane carrying food and medicine."

The attack occurred at 4:15 p.m. military sources said the Migs launched rockets at the transport plane. That report could not be confirmed at the defense ministry.

Friday, Red China announced its air force interceptors had shot down two of the U.S.-built C-46 planes while they were dropping war material to Quemoey. The New China News Agency broadcast said one plane crashed on the island and the other into the sea nearby.

Bullet-Riddled Bodies Of Five Found In Havana

HAVANA (UPI) — The bullet-riddled bodies of five men were found in different parts of Havana Friday after four bombs exploded Thursday night in the metropolitan area.

It was the second successive day in which bodies of unidentified men appeared near the scene of bombings, a grim warning to rebel terrorists that the government was carrying out an "eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" policy.

At the same time, the rebel radio claimed that all railway traffic west of the city of Victoria de las Tunas, in Oriente Province, had been interrupted since 1 a.m. Sunday by the destruction of 15 bridges by saboteurs.

This meant that the city of Santiago, Oriente provincial capital, had been cut off from Havana by rail and was depending exclusively on highway transportation for its supplies.

On the other hand, the rebels also had been active burning trucks, buses and almost any other kind of vehicle in various areas of Oriente, Camaguey and Las Villas Provinces.

Occasional Rain Seen For Area

Occasional rain and cool temperatures are in prospect for today in the Twin Cities area, with partly cloudy and a little warmer in view for tomorrow.

The high temperature recorded at Selman Field yesterday was 64.

The low was 51. Rainfall until 6 p.m. was gauged at .13 of an inch.

The outlook for Arkansas today and tomorrow is for cloudy and a little warmer.

PATTI BOWS OUT IN STYLE — Surrounded by "deputies" dressed in western outfits, press agent Patti Counts, second from right, announces at press conference yesterday that she does not choose to serve as chief of police of Aurora, Ill. The 28-year-old red-haired

Pretty Patti Quits Job As Police Chief

CHICAGO (UPI) — Patti Counts shook her pretty red head Friday and said she's sorry for Aurora, Ill., but she'll have to quit as the town's police chief.

Things are certainly in terrible shape in Aurora, Patti said, but she has a sneaking suspicion that Mayor Paul Egan wasn't "completely sincere" when he appointed her as his police chief Thursday.

Patti, who is 28 years old and in excellent shape, decided to quit the law business after a night of soul-searching.

First thing this morning, she called a news conference at the night club which she happens to serve as publicity agent.

MORAL SUPPORT

About 30 reporters, photographers and television cameramen found Patti gaining moral support from a blonde who sings at the night club and three waitresses clad in close-fitting slacks, with toy pistols strapped around their waists in honor of the occasion.

Patti, looking a little weary and serious, said she was absolutely sincere when she went out to Aurora Thursday and accepted Egan's offer of a job as the law in Aurora. Aurora certainly needed some law, since Egan had fired the old chief of police and suspended the entire 68-man force.

Although Egan insisted a woman had "the mysterious and intuitive potentialities" to bring his kind of law to Aurora, Patti indicated she felt the mayor was a little publicity-minded in entrusting her with the job.

Patti posed prettily for the photographers and read a statement expressing "full confidence in Mayor Paul Egan and his crusade to keep honest government in the city of Aurora."

Search Pressed For 11-Year-Old

HAMBURG, Ark. (Special) — Sheriff B. A. Courson organized a search party near here last night to hunt for an 11-year-old youth lost on a squirrel hunt.

Volunteers arrived equipped with lights to launch the search in the Fountain Prairie area, a wooded section, north of Hamburg.

The missing youth was identified as Jimmy Carpenter, son of Clark Carpenter of the Fountain Prairie Community.

A report was filed with Courson at 7:30 p.m. and by 10 p.m. volunteers were called to aid in the hunt. Authorities were combing the area late last night.

Sources said it was believed the youth was lost near his home. He had gone squirrel hunting, but did not emerge from the woods at nightfall.

OVER DETENTION HOME

Legal Action Said Possibility Here

District Attorney Albin P. Lassiter has warned the State Department of Public Welfare that court action could be taken against its withdrawal of support from the Ouachita Parish Detention Home, the Morning World learned last night.

Lassiter, in a letter to Public Welfare board chairman Willard Kilpatrick, advised the state department to consult its attorneys and reconsider.

7 Bodies Found In Patrol Plane Off Florida Coast

KEY WEST, Fla. (Special) — Navy divers yesterday found seven unidentified bodies in the submerged fuselage of a patrol plane that disappeared Monday with ten men aboard, including a West Monroe man.

ADJR J. H. Turnbow, 23-year-old Oak Grove native and a 1954 graduate of West Monroe High School, was listed as a member of the plane's crew. He is the son of Earl Turnbow, Sweetwater, Tex., and has a brother, E. L. Turnbow, living in West Monroe. Salsbury, living in West Monroe, and another sister, Mrs. Rosalie Aldridge of Calhoun.

Turnbow and wife lived in Freeport, Me. They have no children.

Divers said they were having difficulty in searching the bay bottom for the other missing men because of a three-knot current.

Boats were pinned inside the wreckage. Nearby on the murky bottom was the starboard engine (Continued On Page 2-A)

MOTHER OF FIVE Children Killed By Cypriot Rebs

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — A British serviceman's wife was shot and killed and her woman companion was wounded Friday in a savage eruption of island-wide violence which amounted to an open declaration of war by the anti-British underground on Cyprus.

The two women were shot while shopping in the port city of Famagusta, now regarded as the major stronghold of the Greek Cypriot Eoka underground. It was the first such attack since the underground launched the campaign for an end to British rule nearly four years ago.

The slain woman was the mother of five children, ranging up to 18 years. Neither of the victims was identified by name.

Minutes after the shootings, authorities imposed a curfew on the city. British security forces fanned through the Greek sector. A few shots were heard but were believed to have been fired by troops to enforce the curfew.

The attack was expected to step up plans for the evacuation of British dependents from Cyprus. Reliable sources said families of British servicemen were advised recently to prepare to leave the island at short notice.

FORMOSA STRAIT CRISIS

Mediation Support Reported Growing

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Support for mediation of the Formosa Strait crisis by a committee of small powers or by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld grew in the United Nations General Assembly Friday.

Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange earlier this week proposed intervention either by a "balanced group" of small countries or by Hammarskjöld. Former Assembly President Prince Wan Waihayakon of Thailand called for action by Hammarskjöld.

New Zealand and Greece voiced strong support for the Norwegian proposal in the Assembly's policy debate Friday.

At the same time, the powerful 28-nation Afro-Asian group named a committee of eight countries to draft a policy statement for the entire group on the Formosa crisis. Named to the committee were Ceylon, Ghana, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Japan, Malaya and the Philippines. It will report next Tuesday.

Malayan Ambassador Ismail Bin Dato' Abdul Rahman, chairman of the meeting, said the group's course "probably will be based on the principles of (The) Bandung (conference of 1955) and of the U.N. Charter."

New Zealand Prime Minister Walter Nash told the Assembly the first step in the Formosa Strait crisis was to stop the fighting.

"There can be no place in a world governed by the principles of the U.N. Charter for the use of force as a means for settling territorial disputes," he said.

Thirty Are Wounded In Skirmishes

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)

Lebanese army troops fired on anti-government rioters and clashed repeatedly with others around blazing barricades in the streets of Beirut Friday.

Semi-official sources reported at least five persons dead and as many as 30 wounded in the series of skirmishes that began Thursday night between troops and crowds opposing the new government of President Fuad Chehab.

Oil-soaked barricades erected by the Phalangist opposition in the streets blazed furiously Friday night along the main routes leading out of the capital.

Mobs, some of them led by women and children, defied the army's attempts to rip down the barriers and put out the fires.

TEAR GAS

Troops sprayed the rebels with tear gas and chemically-treated water to no avail. The army opened fire on some rioters when they attacked cars and beat the drivers.

In the south of the city, where 3,000 Phalangists resisted attempts by the army to bring down the barricades, two persons were killed and three wounded.

The army, under orders to crush any uprisings by supporters of former president Camille Chamoun, used tanks and automatic weapons to break up a crowd of 1,000 persons who marched on the defense ministry Thursday night.

Some 4,000 Chamounists, led by stick-swinging women, swarmed through the Moslem and Armenian suburb of Dora Friday in an attempt to barricade the main highway leading to the north.

They bottled up the road with heaps of burning truck tires and tossed rocks, street signs and flaming tree branches onto the burning barricades.

Troops arriving in trucks tried to push the mob back, but opened fire when the rioters tried to fight back with sticks and clubs. Seven persons were wounded in the fight, including one woman.

U.S. forces were not involved in the bitter street clashes.

Legal Action Said Possible

physical facilities at my disposal." The Department of Public Welfare last Monday moved to withdraw financial and administrative support from the home, a day after the Morning World published a report stating that cases of "race mixing" were seen by newspapermen at the home.

But Mrs. Parker said the board's move to withdraw from the home had no connection with the Morning World's disclosures. She termed the action an economic move.

But Lassiter said "several serious legal problems are involved in the proposal of the Welfare Board" to withdraw its support from the home. He made a legal study at the request of Police Jury president M. W. Montgomery.

Montgomery previously has said that the Police Jury won't be able to afford the home when the state withdraws January 1. Should the home be closed, it would be removed from the site and the acres, located on the Mulhearn Road, would return to the Goodwill Charities Association, a Negro organization.

Lassiter wrote, "On May 22, 1957 an agreement or contract was signed by the Louisiana State Department of Public Welfare and the Ouachita Parish Police Jury in consideration of the above on behalf of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury and the further agreement on behalf of the Welfare Department to operate this detention home."

The agreement was drafted by the Department of Welfare and all conditions and agreements placed thereon were done according to the wishes of the Welfare Board and Department. This agreement details the entire function of the Welfare Department."

He pointed out "based" on a resolution passed by the Welfare Board on March 25, 1955 to participate in the operation of the Detention Home, the Police Jury called a bond election.

temporarily restrained the Little Rock school board last Monday from turning over the high schools to the corporation on a lease basis as private, segregated schools.

The court will decide next Monday whether to make the restraining order an injunction, permanently denying the corporation the use of the schools.

"It appears that the only question to be passed upon by the court at St. Louis next Monday is whether or not it will allow the private school corporation to exercise its legally acquired right to use the leased school properties," Faubus said.

"The right of a private corporation to use the properties cannot be passed off as a legal subterfuge to avoid integration, because the only question is whether the facilities are to be used by the corporation, or not be used at all."

Faubus said the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People may have to provide a high school education for Negroes in Little Rock.

"The matter of providing educational facilities for the Negro students has been mentioned," he said. "I will assist the private school corporation or any other in providing education for Negroes as well as whites."

Earlier in the day, Lassiter attended a meeting with Montgomery and Elmo Johnson, attorney for Goodwill Charities.

According to Montgomery, the Negro attorney appeared for the expressed purpose of determining what his organization could do to help local officials continue operation of the Detention Home.

Later on Manuel said, "If anyone can tell me how to entirely segregate these children when we only have one play room and one dining hall I would be happy to do so."

"Actually," Manuel explained, "segregation has been observed as rigidly as possible with the available facilities. For that I feel I should get due credit."

witness to the incident. Officers said the man brought Patterson to the police station Patterson came willingly, they said.

The police said during preliminary investigation no motive for the shooting had been found. They were preparing to question Patterson.

Police said the witness they questioned last night told them Walters' wife, small child, and a Negro woman who owns Walters' house, were present when the shooting broke out.

None of the other people had been questioned and police said details preceding the shooting were uncertain.

Believe Red Citizens For Nuclear Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Some U.S. officials expressed belief today that Russia's civilian leaders would have preferred not to resume nuclear testing at this time but that Red military chiefs forced their hand.

These officials, who are close to U.S. disarmament developments, said the Soviet military leaders apparently wanted to polish up some of their new nuclear techniques just as this country did during its recent Pacific test series.

They said they believed the civilian leaders, on the other hand, would rather have not resumed testing. They presumably feared such action might cost Russia some of the propaganda advantage it gained from its March 31 announcement that it was halting the tests.

The military chiefs apparently prevailed by pointing out that Russia had every right to continue testing at least until Oct. 31 under procedures laid down by President Eisenhower for beginning East-West talks on a nuclear ban on that date.

Eisenhower said this country would halt atomic tests for a year if Russia agreed to the meeting at Geneva. The Soviets accepted only to pose new uncertainties Tuesday by conducting two nuclear experiments. They followed up yesterday with two more.

Meantime, Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev injected a new element by proposing that the Geneva sessions be raised to the foreign ministers level. The reaction of U.S. officials was a prompt and decisive "no."

As if to remove any lingering doubt on this score, the State Department said Friday that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will go to Seattle Nov. 10-14 for a meeting of the Colombo Plan nations on southeast Asia development.

This obviously would make it impossible for Dulles to go to Geneva and return in time for the Seattle sessions. Moreover, the Geneva nuclear talks are expected to last at least a month and perhaps longer.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White refused to say whether the United States automatically would resume testing if Russia continued its present test series beyond the Oct. 31 deadline. He said only that this country reserved the right to reconsider its offer in such a case.

Jet Passenger Plane Service Is Approved

NEW YORK (UPI)—Airport officials gave the green light to Pan American World Airways and the British Overseas Airways Corporation Friday for the start of jet passenger plane service across the Atlantic.

BOAC was expected to announce it would inaugurate commercial jet travel across the Atlantic soon, possibly Saturday.

Pan American's first passenger flight is scheduled for Oct. 26. The Port of New York Authority announced after exhaustive tests that both Pan American and BOAC would be allowed to operate their big new jet transports in and out of Idlewild International Airport under strict regulations.

The authority said the noise suppressors on both Pan American's Boeing 707 and BOAC's De Havilland Comet IV had been certified as muffling the jet engine scream enough to permit operations over the city.

In its long awaited announcement, the authority, which operates all the major New York City area airports, said the planes would be required to take off over water whenever possible and take other precautionary measures.

Pan American announced several weeks ago it will begin service between New York and London on Nov. 17.

BOAC has set several starting dates in the last few weeks. A mills operated at 60 per cent of BOAC Comet IV new from, rated capacity and production totaled 21 million tons.

Meany Agrees To Arbitrate 3-Day Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany Friday agreed to arbitrate a three-day strike by dock officers that has tied up ships at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports. His intervention could mean an early return to work by the strikers.

Meany's entry into the dispute was announced by the American Merchant Marine Institute, which invited him to act as arbitrator several days ago. The institute represents 21 of the 24 major steamship lines affected by the strike.

The negotiating committee of the International Union of Masters, Mates and Pilots (AFL-CIO) met later Friday and agreed unanimously on the selection of Meany as arbitrator.

The union and the institute still had to agree, however, whether Meany would decide on all of the issues in dispute. A union spokesman said the strikers probably would return to work immediately once the dispute was in arbitration.

The union said in a telegram to Meany that the negotiating committee "stands ready to meet with the AMMI committee to draft the submission agreement for the 10 pending issues."

A spokesman for the institute said that Meany's decisions as an arbitrator would be binding on both sides.

The union has demanded longer vacations and better overtime pro-

Executive Board Of Alumni Group Schedules Meet

RUSTON (Special)—Members of the executive board of the Louisiana Tech Alumni Assn. will meet in the little dining room of the Irene Tolliver Dining Hall here today at 4 p.m., Dr. R. L. Ropp, Tech president, has announced.

Following a business session, the board will be served the evening meal as guests of the college. On the agenda for consideration by the alumni council are a date for the annual homecoming activities here and a means of handling the John H. Laughlin Memorial Scholarship Fund of about $3,000. The membership of the alumni committee last fall was increased from 15 to 25 directors.

Newspaper Sale In Mississippi Is Announced

LOUISVILLE, Miss. (AP)—William H. Hight, editor and publisher of the Winston County Journal, said Friday he sold the weekly newspaper to Joe T. Cook of Mission, Tex.

Hight, who edited the 66-year-old newspaper since his father's death in 1943, said the newspaper would change hands Nov. 1. Hight plans to retire to farming and other interests.

Cook, a native of Weatherford, Tex., has been general manager of the Times Publishing Co. and editor and manager of the Mission Times for 26 years. He will operate the Journal's office supply and job printing business in addition to the newspaper.

IMMORALITY STUDIED

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The Jefferson parish council has called for full reports from investigations into an alleged juvenile sex ring. They will get them next week from officials of Sheriff William Cocci's juvenile bureau. Cocci said he was proud of "my juvenile department" for having "nipped in the bud" the alleged juvenile sex situation.

Aid To Communities

President Eisenhower's veto of the so-called depressed areas bill apparently was a wise move and one which should be lauded by the south. The federal aid to communities provided in the bill would have been as harmful to the country as federal aid to education.

The bill would have put a federal bureaucrat in city treasurers' offices throughout the country.

Federal grants and loans to cities undergoing economic troubles would have been made under the proposed measure. The idea was that Washington would provide loans for communities to establish new industries, launch public works and engage in slum clearance.

In exchange for the proposed lagniappe, bureaucrats would have moved in to administer city affairs under the pretense of seeing that the money was properly expended and protected.

Anyone who can add two and two knows that no money is free and that whatever we receive from the federal government must come from the pockets of the people, as if it were collected by the state or the city. Granting of federal funds for city projects merely would mean federal encroachment and the end of the cities' right to administer their own affairs.

Aside from the entry of the federal government into city affairs, the principle of the measure was wrong. It would have applied a brake to change, the force that is basic to this country's economic health. Some areas, such as the old textile belt in New England, are chronically depressed. This is true because mill owners have learned the advantages of moving their plants to the south and have done so.

Out taxes would reach staggering proportions if we were to attempt to keep all old, reeling or ghost towns up to their former levels of activity. It would be a violation of the principle of economics to try to maintain such a center by never-ending transfusions. Taxpayers across the nation should not be asked to help such depressed areas simply because of better climate, a good labor force and an absence of union bossism and hoodlumism have pulled industry south.

This nation was built by self-reliant people who did not wait for bureaucrats to give them federal grants but who went out and created their own opportunities. If the depressed areas want to cure their bad conditions, they should act on their own initiative, choose free enterprise as their goal and get out and sell their communities.

The south has everything to gain by economic change. To freeze the present situation by subsidizing depressed areas in the north would penalize the initiative and enterprise of the south and would have a stagnating, demoralizing effect on the whole country.

Many communities lose their perspective when they get the smell of Washington money. They should remember that Washington has no money of its own and that the funds being given away are drawn from the pockets of the taxpayers.

If big government and federal control over business are ever to be halted in this country, communities, cities and states must call a halt to accepting handouts that are given in exchange for liberty.

The depressed areas bill has been disposed of for a year but this sort of socialistic thinking, which made the introduction of such a bill possible, is certain to rise its head in the next session of congress. Until this sort of thinking is changed, self-reliant, independent communities are in constant danger of being penalized.

We cannot afford to give away our freedom simply because some community becomes less economically important and others gain in importance. We cannot afford to allow bureaucratic dictators to take over the administration of our cities.

Underwood's Work

The resignation of Tom H. Underwood as general manager of the Monroe Utilities Commission was accepted with "regret" by the commission and there is reason for the same genuine regret on the part of the citizens of Monroe. Work accomplished by Mr. Underwood during his two-year stay here was of great value.

Accomplishments of the commission manager were described by the commission, composed of five leading Monroe businessmen, as "outstanding." This description aptly points out the character of his work.

Many leading people of Monroe regard the establishment of the Utilities Commission as the most important event in Monroe's fiscal life in many years. It marked the turning point from a loose administration of the city's utilities toward a course which has caused these utilities to return heretofore undreamed-of profits. It has enabled the city to reduce its outstanding indebtedness, instead of continuing to pile up more debts, as had been done before that time in the previous administrations.

CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

President Eisenhower's Outlook Not Promising

President Eisenhower has analysts are gathering opinions right to feel a little gloomy as to whether he has helped or hurt the country forward. The party during his present term, 1951, when he will retire from office, the outlook is unpromising on the 1960 outcome.

Not only is he confronted with the likelihood of another Democratic Congress, with larger majorities in both branches than the last, but the additional foreboding that people he has relied upon for aid and advice will drift away, one by one.

The prospect is not encouraging for the Republican party, for the feeling in Washington is 1950 when the Republicans gained the President, rightly or wrongly, may be accused of indifference to the duties of his office during the remaining two years of his term, leaving an unpropitious situation for the GOP in 1960.

Prior to the establishment of the Utilities Commission, the city utilities had been operated in a general fashion by members of the commission council, but these officials had so many duties to attend to that they were unable to give the utilities the kind of business and professional administration that was required.

This need was filled by the Utilities Commission, and Mr. Underwood, as its director, was largely responsible for its getting off to an extremely successful start and for continuing that success over a period of two years.

As a combined business administrator and electrical and mechanical engineer, Mr. Underwood was indeed outstanding and he saved the city many thousands of dollars in engineering fees and in avoiding costly mistakes.

The Utilities Commission as a whole deserves high praise, and it is to be hoped that it will be able to find another manager as successful as was Mr. Underwood.

U.N. Flag On American Planes Is Out Of Place

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Somebody has talked the Allegheny Airlines into marking its planes with the United Nations flag. A few months ago the United Airlines mounted the global - view symbol of the UN, but there was a strong public reaction and United rubbed the symbol off 190 of its craft.

At almost the same period, the Polish Communist government tried to muscle in on a Polish American celebration at Jamestown, Virginia. Governor Almond of the Old Dominion refused to attend if the Polish Ambassador would be there, and the party was cancelled.

These are matters in which our patriotic societies, like the American Legion and the Daughters of the American Revolution, often intervene. But the general public has an interest, too. Several weeks ago I was present at the roll-out of a new air force fighter plane, one that was made for no other purpose than to defend the United States against Russia. And there was the UN flag flying on the ramp when the manufacturer formally turned over this new fighter to the U. S. air force! Well, these four incidents have a common denominator. It can be expressed in the famous first line of "Oliver Wendell Holmes' celebrated poem: "Aye, tea, that uttered ensign down!" The four incidents, and others like them, merely every day, show an evil subversion of well-meaning American persons and institutions. They are being induced to strike their colors.

It will be said, I know, that this is an unenlightened and low-brow viewpoint, but is it? I asked several officials about the aptness of the UN pennant, and I received the same answer from all — a shrug!

And the attempted take-over of the Jamestown celebration of Polish-American friendship by the Communist Poles — who would be advantaged by that? The Communist Poles would gain prestige by propaganda over anti-Communist, pro-American Poles. But is that what we want? The only defense I have heard is that we have spent $90 million in foreign aid to buy trice ship in Poland, and that we might have bought more from the Red "Polish Ambassador" at Jamestown. But this argument is so water-logged with fluid from the wailing well that it sinks of its own weight!

And the showing of the UN symbol by Allegheny Airlines? This serves that frontier town where George Washington heard his first bullets sing. Last week President Eisenhower made a commemorative address at the 200th anniversary of the building of Fort Mifflin, 28 miles from Johnstown, one of the ports of call of Allegheny Airlines. Not many miles to the south and east is Gettysburg, also in Allegheny Airlines' territory, where Abraham Lincoln made a deathless speech about "this nation" and its principles which he prayed "shall not perish from the earth."

There is nothing low-brow and nothing unenlightened in the established American belief in nationalism and monogamy. We believe in one God, although we don't prescribe how to worship. We believe in one mate at a time in matrimony, but we don't officially go in for match-making as is done in many foreign lands. So, why this idea that a man with one God and one wife should have more than one country?

The burden of proof is surely on anybody who contends that a flag of 81 countries is better than the flag of one country. It is impossible to convince anyone or logic that you can raise the UN flag over American institutions without some lowering of the U. S. flag. You can't have an ace and that we might have bought more from the Red "Polish Ambassador" at Jamestown. But this argument is so water-logged with fluid from the wailing well that it sinks of its own weight!

The UN flag has its place — but not on domestic airlines. Not at the unveiling of American war planes. Not at a good many other places where weird hands are trying to fly some other banner than our own.

Hormone Helps "Slimjims" Gain

A manmade hormone offers hope for underweight adults who cannot gain weight. This product, Nilevar, stimulates the body to retain and utilize the protein building substances in the diet.

Its value was demonstrated on a group of five thin but otherwise normal adults. Some, used as controls, were given harmless tablets of similar appearance. Those receiving the real McCoy gained an average of two pounds per month; the maximum was 20 pounds in six months. All experienced a sense of well being along with increased appetite.

Nilevar, a male sex hormone, has been altered in the laboratories to such an extent that most of its sex stimulating effects have been removed except the growth potential. The lean adult grows from the person who is undernourished through starvation. He eats a balanced and adequate diet but fails to put on weight. Some say they eat like horses. In these individuals, only a fraction of what is consumed is absorbed by the body. It is here that Nilevar comes to the rescue.

Many slimjims resemble their parents, not only in features, disposition and mental powers but in weight. It is just as difficult for this group to gain as it is for the obese to lose.

Most physicians tackle the problem by insisting upon a thorough examination to determine whether the individual is healthy. If so, attention is directed toward the main issue — food. These underweights must be trained to eat more. High caloric, well balanced meals containing all the minerals and vitamins are needed.

Calculated on the basis of height and weight, the menus may be 10 to 15 per cent over and above what the body demands. Modifications may be necessary for those with food prejudices or allergies. The total caloric intake usually is increased 25 per cent if the beanpole can take it. In the past it was difficult to maintain this regimen because weight gain was slow and the prospects discouraging. Nilevar helps make food stick to the ribs.

MOUSE VIRUS
Mrs. M. writes: What disease is caused by the bite of a mouse?
REPLY
Lymphocytic choriomeningitis is the most common. The early symptoms of this disease are indistinguishable from those of a cold. Signs of brain irritation develop shortly thereafter and the victim complains of drowsiness and stiff neck. Many mice harbor the virus but the disease is not prevalent in humans. It is more likely to occur in the fall when infected field mice begin to invade the homes.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Some Opposed To Commies In 1917

Many of those who wish to alibi the error of their judgments during the past 40 years, often say that most opinions that differ from theirs, particularly concerning Communist Russia or Communism, are hindsight, and of which we are all guilty on many phases of life, particularly about ourselves.

The fact, however, is that quite a few persons were anti-Communist as far back as 1917. Among socialists, Lenin had many opponents. It was Hitler, Mussolini and other Fascists who frightened the liberals into being pro-Communist and drove many an innocent liberal into the Communist camp.

John Spargo published a book in 1920, "Russia as an American Problem." John Spargo had been a distinguished socialist intellectual who had never been corrupted by the obscurities of Leninism. From the very first, he opposed the Bolsheviks because he recognized their antipathy to human liberty. At best, they sought to change the world by force; at worst, they seemed to have a psychosis about their own superiority over other men.

It was therefore not surprising that Spargo early discovered what I actually witnessed, namely that Lenin, having found that Bolshevism could only succeed among peoples who knew not freedom, turned to the satrapisms of Asia. This is what Spargo wrote in 1920: "... the leaders of the Russian Bolsheviks have turned their attention to the spread of their propaganda among the Asiatic peoples. They are reaching into China, Turkey, into Persia, Afghanistan, and India. They are making connections with, and exploiting, Pan-Islamism. All the Moslem China. This took from the end of hatred of Christianity and resentment against the treatment of 1926—an amazing performance. Russia would have conquered Persia and India. However, Chiang Kai-shek discovered the Russian perfidy largely as a result of quarrels between Trotskyists and Stalinists."

The crinoids of the Bolsheviks, a gainst all that civilized nations held sacred and dear, have been too monstrous and too systematically influenced by Karl Marx and his movement was unwarranted among intellectuals and with them. John Spargo's advice was not to take to our misfortune.

Newspaper Boy Work Valuable

CASE Z-338A: Jimmy B. aged 14, is a high school freshman. "Dr. Crane, he wants to have a newspaper route," his college educated mother informed me. "But I feel that he would be tied down unduly. If the weather is bad, the newspaperboys must still deliver their papers."

"And Jimmy doesn't really need the money, for my husband makes a good salary. So do you think I ought to encourage him in carrying a newspaper route?"

BRAYO, NEWSPAPERBOYS
Yes, and here is what all of you mothers and fathers ought to keep in mind: Carrying a newspaper route is the best possible training for youth in our "free enterprise" system.

For it lets boys operate their own private business. They work on the "small merchant" plan by which they buy papers wholesale from the newspaper. Then they must use modern merchandising methods to sell them. Even if they already have a route of many customers, it is to their advantage to recruit new customers, for they make more money thereby.

They also learn to be faithful to duty. For papers must be delivered in rain and blizzard, heat and storm.

would not have understood what he was talking about.

The young Communist who organized labor in Shanghai, the industrial city, was Li Li-shan who was already Russian trained and who by 1925 was able to call a general strike. But this strike was not over a labor issue or over an economic issue; it was not ready Li knew the techniques of utilizing an incident unrelated to anything in particular, to achieve an end. The incident was that a Sikh policeman, employed by the British-controlled Shanghai Municipal Council, shot a Chinese workman in a Japanese-owned cotton mill. The Chinese were agitating for a strike against Great Britain and the United States. And they went out on strike because the Chinese were fearful not to strike next. Within a few days, this strike movement spread throughout the Yangtze Valley and the issue had now become the abolition of extraterritoriality, of concessions and settlements, and of a special treaties.

The Great Powers hardly knew what to do. The British were literally driven out of their concessions in Yangtze River cities but I actually witnessed, namely that Lenin, having found that Bolshevism could only succeed among peoples who knew not freedom, turned to the satrapisms of Asia. This is what Spargo wrote in 1920: "... the leaders of the Russian Bolsheviks have turned their attention to the spread of their propaganda among the Asiatic peoples. They are reaching into China, Turkey, into Persia, Afghanistan, and India. They are making connections with, and exploiting, Pan-Islamism. All the Moslem China. This took from the end of hatred of Christianity and resentment against the treatment of 1926—an amazing performance. Russia would have conquered Persia and India. However, Chiang Kai-shek discovered the Russian perfidy largely as a result of quarrels between Trotskyists and Stalinists."

The crinoids of the Bolsheviks, a gainst all that civilized nations held sacred and dear, have been too monstrous and too systematically influenced by Karl Marx and his movement was unwarranted among intellectuals and with them. John Spargo's advice was not to take to our misfortune.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Newspaper Boy Work Valuable

CASE Z-338A: Jimmy B. aged 14, is a high school freshman. "Dr. Crane, he wants to have a newspaper route," his college educated mother informed me. "But I feel that he would be tied down unduly. If the weather is bad, the newspaperboys must still deliver their papers."

"And Jimmy doesn't really need the money, for my husband makes a good salary. So do you think I ought to encourage him in carrying a newspaper route?"

BRAYO, NEWSPAPERBOYS
Yes, and here is what all of you mothers and fathers ought to keep in mind: Carrying a newspaper route is the best possible training for youth in our "free enterprise" system.

For it lets boys operate their own private business. They work on the "small merchant" plan by which they buy papers wholesale from the newspaper. Then they must use modern merchandising methods to sell them. Even if they already have a route of many customers, it is to their advantage to recruit new customers, for they make more money thereby.

They also learn to be faithful to duty. For papers must be delivered in rain and blizzard, heat and storm.

CADDO, ORLEANS

2 Parishes Build Juvenile Homes

By RECA JONES
Staff Writer

Construction of juvenile detention homes in both Caddo and Orleans parishes are underway but both setups will be parish-operated and financed exclusively by the parish.

"We contemplated a setup with the welfare but decided against it because we felt that the responsibility for such an institution is primarily for a local community," Leo B. Blessing, Orleans parish juvenile judge with 10 years experience, stated.

Caddo Parish Juvenile Judge Chris Barnette, judge for 19 years, said that the Caddo Parish Juvenile Detention home will be owned exclusively and operated exclusively by Caddo parish with the parish providing for all expenses.

In 1957 the property owners of Caddo parish okayed a two-thirds of one mill tax for one year with the proceeds to be used for the construction of a parish juvenile detention home. At the same election, voters approved three-tenths of one mill tax for five years for operating funds for the proposed home.

"The one - year tax, netted $350,000, in round figures," Judge Barnette said. "To that sum we added some $35,000 we had on hand from liquidation of some property."

A five - acre site was purchased on Spring Street Extension close to downtown, the judge related, and construction started on a two - story building. The first floor will house the juvenile court while the second floor will house a common kitchen and two wings - one for whites and one for Negroes.

"The building was designed in a T shape with complete physical segregation planned. The wings - one for whites and one kitchen serving both white and colored at the same time without them ever coming in contact," the judge emphasized.

The $385,000 building, including the cost of furnishings, will be ready for occupancy in February 1, 1959. The operating fund will be an estimated $110,000 per year, the judge said, which will also include expense of court plus detention home.

"We have been collecting the money for the operating expenses since 1957. However, the operating fund will not be used until 1959. Therefore, we will have about $80,000 surplus from the tax receipts from 1957 and 1958 to be spread over the remaining three years," the judge explained.

"When the special tax expires at the end of five years - under the statutory laws of our state five years is the limit for a special mill tax to be imposed - we will know then whether to ask our public to renew tax for three-tenths of a mill or whether we might have to change that fractional figure. We hope it won't have to be changed and don't anticipate such a request," Judge Barnette added.

The living quarters are planned to accommodate 11 whites and 11 Negroes.

The judge said that a man with 25 years experience with the YMCA has been obtained as superintendent.

The money to erect the New Orleans detention home, to be known as the Youth Study Center, was obtained by a $300,000 bond election with an additional $120,000 bond issue approved to complete the institution.

The operating funds will come from the general appropriations of the parish, Judge Blessing said. The home will open in June, 1959, the judge continued with an anticipated operating expense per year of $195,000. It will house 30 juveniles.

The one - story building has a triangular design and whites and Negroes will be completely separated, the judge stressed.

"We have adequate outdoor play area which will be fenced. The center will be located on a five - acre site across from the City Park."

Neither the Caddo or the Orleans home will have bars - instead they will have psychiatric screens covering the windows. Both will feature central visual and audio controls.

Fire Prevention Week Set Aside

In a joint move Monroe and West Monroe yesterday set aside fire season. Next week a "Fire Prevention Week" and urged all residents to be extremely careful in burning with a similar national program.

THIS YEAR

Only 2 Polio Cases Reported In Parish

Ouachita Parish health director, Dr. W. Carroll Summer said yesterday there have been only two cases of polio in the parish this year - both in the quarter ending Sept. 30.

He said a non-paralytic case was reported on July 28, and slightly paralytic case was reported Sept. 23.

Both cases were boys, three and two years old. The three-year-old suffered paralysis and had partially completed vaccination. Last year there were two polio cases, 19 in 1956, and 35 in 1955.

"We are experiencing a trend felt by the nation since the Salk vaccine was developed two years ago," the official said in commenting on the drop in polio cases. "Touching on the health situation in general, Dr. Summer said that Ouachita Parish so far this year had encountered few problems, and none of major consequences."

MOSQUITOES

"At the present time a lot of black mosquitoes are causing some concern, but other than irritation from their bites, there can be no harm," he said.

The doctor explained that no malaria cases are known in the parish at the present and therefore the mosquitoes could hardly spread malaria organisms.

A mosquito must bite an infected subject before it can carry the disease.

Until a few days ago the City Sanitation Department had been spraying against mosquitoes and Mayor W. L. "Jack" Howard said last night the program was successful.

Both the mayor and Dr. Summer said that the present influx of mosquitoes since heavy rains, would probably recede in a few days because of cooler weather.

The mayor said it was not contemplated that more spraying would be conducted.

Three Domestic Charters Filed For Area Firms

Wade O. Martin, secretary of state, yesterday announced three domestic charters, and amendment and a notice of dissolution for area businesses were filed with his office. The filings were made from Sept. 24 through 30.

Domestic charters were filed by: Hassell & Parkes, Inc., Trout, timber and lumber land, $300,000; Caldwell Hospital and Clinic, Inc., Columbia, hospital, $100,000; Loe Acceptance Corporation, 516 East Green St., Tallulah, loans, $50,000.

Cannon Furniture Co. Inc. of Newellville filed the amendment changing the corporate name to Cannon Rediscout Co., Inc. The notice of dissolution was filed by the Runyon Equipment Co., Inc. of Bastrop.

W. Monroe High Student Passes Semi-Final Tests

A West Monroe High School girl has placed in the semi-finals of a National Merit Scholarship Testing program.

Miss Frances Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Phillips of 105 Browning St., West Monroe, is the first student in the history of her high school to win this honor.

She was among 10,000 students who ranked in the educational development tests administered to students in 14,000 high schools in the nation April 29.

She is now eligible for an elimination testing series Dec. 6, whose winners will be qualified for scholarships.

An estimated $5 million is set aside in the scholarship program.

WILL FORM SUBSIDIARY BRUSSELS (UPD)—E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Co., Inc. plans to form a new subsidiary, DuPont de Nemours (Belgium) S. A., in the near future to operate a paint plant to be built here, a DuPont official announced Friday.

Schedule Cut For Schools In Franklin

WINNSBORO (Special) —Franklin parish schools will lack seven days of completing the full 1958-59 term due to unavailability of funds, according to the budget adopted yesterday by the parish school board.

"If no additional money is appropriated and the schools do close, the school board will be completely broke and will not be able to maintain as much as a single custodian for the school buildings throughout the parish," said M. D. Peel, Franklin parish school superintendent.

The $2,018,949.74 budget did, however, include money to maintain the school board offices because of a state law requiring such maintenance.

At the close of last year's school session the school board had an operating balance of $110,000, according to school board officials.

Franklin parish has eight white high schools, a white elementary school, three Negro high schools and seven Negro elementary schools with 4,136 white students and approximately 4,000 Negro students.

Brief Session Is Conducted In Court Here

A brief session was held in Fourth District Court yesterday, as five persons appeared.

Normally the court docket stretches to 75-100 cases, but this was a "fifth week" - September had five weeks and no regular court is held on the fifth week of a month.

Samuel Gray, 20-year-old Monroe Negro, pled guilty to simple burglary.

Gray, of 17-A Texas Avenue, was arrested by the Monroe Police Thursday, when he was found hiding behind a counter of Hille's Super Market, 1001 Texas Avenue.

He had broken into the store, and was charged with simple burglary. Gray was remanded for a pre-sentence investigation.

Another Negro, Edward Flucius, denied charges of simple burglary, and will be tried on Nov. 20.

He is charged with breaking into a home at 504 1/2 Jonesboro Road on Sept. 25.

Charlie B. Watwood appeared in court and bond forfeiture entered against him last week was set aside. He denied two counts of theft and will be tried on Nov. 7 on charges of theft of a sewing machine valued at $122.35 and theft of $25.

Arthur E. Thomas was fined $25 for speeding.

On charges of driving while intoxicated, Paul Williams, Negro, denied guilt and trial is scheduled on Oct. 10.

Juvenile Clinic Scheduled Here For Oct. 23-24

The seventh annual conference of Louisiana juvenile correctional workers will meet at Louisiana Training Institute here October 23-24.

David M. McArthur, psychologist at LTI announced the following agenda for the meeting.

The workshops set include "The Process of Adjudication", lead by Judge Chris Barnette of the Caddo Parish Juvenile Court in Shreveport.

"The Function of the Correctional School", headed by Lawrence E. Higgins, executive secretary of the state Youth Commission.

"Evaluation As An Aid", moderated by E. Roy Rogillo, assistant director of the State Department of Hospitals.

Several state and national person authorities on juvenile work will appear at the meeting.

Tax Suit Filed By Labor Dept.

A West Monroe man is being sued by the Division of Employment Security of the Department of Labor, State of Louisiana, for payments which were due during 1957. Thomas W. Sharp, acting administrator of the Division, filed suit in the Ouachita Parish Clerk of Court's office against R. C. Cudd Jr.

The suit places a lien against Cudd and his property, and asks $1699.56 plus $91.07 interest and a 10 per cent penalty for payments of employer contributions. It states that Cudd should have made the contributions, on wages paid employees, from Jan. 1, 1957 through Dec. 31, 1957.

51st Traffic Death Listed

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The 51st traffic fatality of 1958 in New Orleans occurred Friday. The victim was Louis Dourrieau, 86, killed in the collision of two automobiles.

Dourrieau was an employee of the city engineering department.

The driver of the other car, Mrs. Thelma Heck Glynn, was taken to the hospital in a state of shock.

SECOND 2-AA VICTORY

Neville Takes Upset Win Over J-H Tigers, 19 To 6

By ROB ANDERSON
Inspired Neville, still winning the ones that count, pushed ponderous Jonesboro - Hodge all over the field to take an upset 19-6 victory here last night in a rainy 2-AA contest.

The win was the second of the year and second in district action for the local Tigers. They now head the district with a 2-0 mark with next week's homecoming date with Ruston their final district fray.

While an alert line stalled Jonesboro - Hodge's ground attack and recovered four fumbles, the flashing legs of Gene Howard and Joe Caze and the ball-handling wizardry of Joe Turner stunned the favored visitors with a two touchdowns in the first half and another in the fourth quarter. Neville made three other threats on a misplayed dash by Chase Justice from the point behind the five TD and Waterproof led 20-0 at the half.

Jonesboro - Hodge, the pre-season district favorite, lost its first conference game against no wins. The visitors absorbed their second straight defeat after three opening wins. They lost to unbeaten Min-don last week.

Turner traveled 23 yards around left end for the initial Neville touchdown in the first quarter to finish a 71-yard march. Howard ploughed less than a yard on fourth down for the second score just before the half ended. The speedy halfback went 29 yards for the final Neville touchdown in the fourth quarter to complete the jolting upset. Turner ran for the only successful PAT try after the second touchdown.

Jonesboro - Hodge gave only one showing of the yard-eating, ball-control offense that gave them three early season wins. They went 83 yards in the second period for a touchdown with Donnie Brinson's brilliant 57-yard dash the play that set up the touchdown. Ronnie Carson, who saw heavy yardage on offense, rammed less than a yard for the touch down on fourth down.

Wily Bill Ruple had his team up for the game and they showed it in the first quarter, moving well and racking up a first down the first time they had the ball. The Tigers returned a punt to the 29 midway of the period and were off on their touchdown march with Caze and Howard doing all the ball carrying. Caze reeling off an 18-yard run to keep the drive going. Turner, faking beautifully, ran around left to the touch down for 23 yards. Caze's kick was off the right and it remained 19-0.

Jonesboro - Hodge came right back with its touchdown but Billy Cobb stopped Carson on the try for the extra point and it was 6-6.

Jerry Kirby recovered a fumble on the J-H 21 to set up the second Neville touchdown. Howard went over from inside the one on fourth down for the touchdown and Turner, running after a penalty had given Neville a second chance for the PAT, went over for the 13th point and it was 13-6 at the half.

Neville went to the nine in the third quarter but failed to score when a Turner - to - Dooly Hadd pass was low on fourth down. J-H moved back upfield with two first downs but Mickey Cox recovered a fumble to halt them on the Neville 48.

Neville returned a J-H punt to their 37 in the fourth and with Devone Payne, Caze and Howard moving, went for a touchdown with Howard running beautifully around left end 29 yards for the score. Caze's kick was low and blocked for the PAT and it ended 19-6 but not before Douglass Turner recovered a fumble on the J-H 44 and the Tigers rambled to the one only to be stopped by the gun.

Tackle Cox and Ross Noland turned in fine defensive work for Neville as did center Lucien Branch. Center Ernie Spurlock was outstanding on defense for the losers.

ON WAY TO A TOUCHDOWN — Neville quarterback Joe Turner (with ball) is on his way to a 23-yard touchdown run in the first quarter of last night's game with Jonesboro-Hodge. Jonesboro-Hodge fullback Ronnie Carson (30) and an unidentified teammate try for the tackle but missed. In the background are Neville's Robert Bryan (60), and Devone Payne (40). (Staff photo by Bill Coleman)

WATERPROOF VICTOR

SICILY ISLAND, La. (Special) — The Waterproof Tigers, unbeaten leader of the district 3-B race, toppled the Sicily Island Tigers, 27-6, here last night. It rained throughout the game.

After a scoreless first quarter, Edward Justice went 11 yards for the initial touchdown, then he ran the point.

Before the half was over, the Tensas Tigers had scored two more TD's one of a 55-yard pass and run play. Edgar Chase threw to Bobby Fife — and again on a misplayed dash by Chase Justice from the point behind the five TD and Waterproof led 20-0 at the half.

Johnny Weston scored for Sicily Island on a four-yard run in the third, but try for the point failed. Waterproof wrapped it up for the final touchdown when Fife intercepted an Island pass and romped 60 yards to paydirt. Justice converted again.

Sicily Island led in first downs, 9 to 7.

DELHI, 39-0

DELHI, La. (Special) — Delhi topped over the Holly Ridge Eagles last night 39-0 in a drizzle that kept at home a good part of the large crowd expected for this homecoming game.

Fullback Francis Copps crashed over in the first few minutes of the game for Delhi's first score and Charles Hixon's extra point try was good making the score 7-0. Halfback Ken Newton chalked up the Bear's second touchdown in the second quarter, a fumble ruined the extra point try.

Copps again came across with the third touchdown, but Hixon's extra point try failed, and the half ended with Delhi ahead 19-0.

Miss Brenda McKay, Delhi senior, was crowned queen by school principal Carlton Johnson. All the old grads from 1932 to 1942 were introduced on the field about 25 or 30 showed up.

Third quarter had only two minutes gone when Copps skirted left end and in a spectacular display of broken field running, scampered 64 yards for the paydirt. Hixon's kick was good and the score sailed to 26-0.

In the fourth stanza, Charles Simmons, with a third down and 23 yards to go situation staring at him, faked back to pass, but unable to find a receiver, ran 33 yards for another Bear marker. Again Hixon kicked through the uprights.

With only 14 seconds remaining, and with the help of two penalties against Holly Ridge, that moved the ball to the one-foot range, Delhi scored again when Ken Newton cracked the middle for the final score. Hixon tried to kick the point but the ball hit the goal post crossbar and the try was no good.

Marvin McManus, 180-pound fullback stood out as a workhorse for Holly Ridge. Wayne Reddick sparkled in the Holly Ridge line. Bear lineman Joe Kyle, 160-pound guard, and brother Garland Kyle, guard stood out for Delhi.

TIGERS, FARMERS TIE

FARMVILLE, La. (Special) — The LaSalle High Tigers of Olla and the Farmerville High Farmers battled to a 7-7 tie in a district 1-A conference football game here last night.

Both touchdowns came in the second quarter. LaSalle got possession after a partially blocked kick of the Farmerville 40 and seven plays later Ben Nichols rammed over from the two. The Tigers made their point for a 7-0 lead.

Farmerville took the following kickoff and came storming back to score in 12 plays when Clayton Brashier raced over from the six. Brashier also converted for the tying point.

The first half was played in a drizzle and a heavy rain set in for the second half which was a show of defensive talents as both clubs were able to spike their rival offenses.

TALLULAH ROMPS

NEWELLTON, (Special) — Tallulah proved to be too much for the Bruins of Newellton here last night, played her second and third strings a good part of the game and rolled to a 41-12 victory.

The Trojans ran up a 20-0 half-time margin and scored three more touchdowns in the third period before the Bears finally broke the ice in the last quarter.

Brain quarterback Milford McVey scored with Newellton touchdowns from the six and again from the one following a Trojan fumble. Both Newellton extra point boots were blocked.

Dangerous Dan Neumann, Tallulah's injured line scoring ace, entered the game to punt twice, but was never called on to carry the mail.

On the second play from scrimmage, Tallulah quarterback Gerald Collins went 60 yards for the touchdown and Wayne Nolan kicked the point.

Then Nolan returned to score a touchdown himself, pounding paydirt from the one in the first quarter. Max Smith scored on a nine-yard run in the second period and Nolan again booted good.

A Newellton fumble recovered by a Bruin player in the end zone early in the third period accounted for a safety for Tallulah before Carl Williamson got off on a nice 52-yard touchdown run for the Trojans.

The Trojans' Phippen scored their final touchdown, on a 55-yard pass play with Nolan converting.

COLUMBIA 6, MANGHAM 0

MANGHAM, La. (Special) — The Columbia High Crimson Tide, after throwing up defenses to stop threatening Mangham drives for three quarters, took to the air in the last period here last night to upset the Dragons, 6-0, in a district 2-B conference encounter.

After spending most of the rainy night fighting off the Dragon thrusters, the Tide men took charge when Dennis Dannel fired a long last quarter pass to end William Causby to spell doom for the Dragons who were hurt in spots by injuries and illness.

The lighter Columbia line did itself proud, however, and twice spiked Mangham drives on the Tide ten-yard line in the third quarter.

Noble Ellington and Thomas Hendrix were Mangham's chief offensive threats while Jerry Smith and Donnie Adams played outstanding half. Columbia's consistent stars were Doug Crockett, Barton Darden, John Kelly, and Causey.

BOSSIER BEATS BYRD

ROSSIER CITY, La. (AP) — Halfback Henry Brown scored three touchdowns as he led undefeated Bossier City to a 19-0 victory over Byrd in a triple-A game Friday night.

The 170-pound Brown scored on runs of six, two and one-yard and also ran Bossier City's only conversion. His first two scores came in the third quarter and the last one in the fourth quarter.

Thomas Hare set up the first touchdown by recovering a Byrd fumble on the Byrd 37. Another fumble recovery, this one on the Byrd 44, started Bossier City to its second touchdown. Bossier City marched 88 yards for its last score.

Byrd got into Bossier City territory only once.

VIDALIA FALLS

WASHINGTON, Miss. (Special) — The Washington, Miss., invaders whipped the Vidalia Vikings, 37-0, here last night, counting all touchdowns on short runs.

Prine scored first for the visitors on a four-yard plunge and tallied a second TD from the ten. Smith scored from the five, Ditzler from the one, Freeman from the one, and Olive from the seven. Boyette added the only extra point after the final TD.

RUSTON 20, WINNFIELD 7

WINNFIELD, La. (Special) — The Ruston Bears scored one touchdown in each of the first three quarters and defeated Winnfield's Tigers, 20-7, here last night.

Fullback W. Martin rammed through the middle from the five with four and a half minutes left in the first quarter to send Ruston into the lead. Martin also added the point.

Anderson passed to Pat Shooks for 42 yards and a second quarter TD. J. Hood kicked the point. With three and a half minutes left in the third quarter, Shooks threw a 15-yard touchdown strike to end N. McFadden who caught the ball in the end zone to end Ruston scoring.

Three seconds were left in the game when Ruston fumbled on its 23 and Tiger guard Darrell Mayes scooped up the ball and went for the Tiger TD. Fullback Thomas Latham ran for the point. First downs were 15 for Ruston, 11 for Winnfield.

COUSHATTA 27, ARCADIA 7

COUSHATTA, La. (Special) — The Coushatta Choctaws, now campaigning in Class A, defeated their former Class B league rivals, the Arcadia Hornets, 27 to 7, last night.

Raymond Eddy led the Choctaws with two touchdowns, the first and the last. In between it was D. Kelly, and Jackson with touchdowns apiece. A Self, Cooper, and Mathis added extra points for Coushatta.

Bobby Joe King, Arcadia right guard, spoiled Coushatta's bid for a shutout when he scooped up a fumble on the Coushatta ten in the last quarter and ran it to paydirt. Harvey Kelly ran for the Arcadia conversion.

RAYVILLE 27, OAK GROVE 20
RAYVILLE, La. (Special) — An Oak Grove halfback named Tom Sawyer was as much trouble on the gridiron here last night as Mark Twain's character was in print. He fired up his Tiger teammates in the opening period with a 60-yard touchdown run and minutes later pulled in a pass to score again.

So the antics of Troublesome Tom gave Oak Grove victory visions, something the Tigers came to taste for the first time in 15 games last week with a 19-6 win over Columbia.

And behold, on this slippery turf, it appeared they were to triumph over the enemy again. But this time the story didn't turn out right for the hero.

Rayville won 27-20. The stunned Hornets came back from a 20-6 halftime score to pound paydirt three times and score a safety to pull the game out of the fire.

Coach Woody Boyles turned his underdog Tigers loose against the Hornets with a fancy double reverse that sent most fans home puzzled.

He struck an early lead off Sawyer's fine run, with the same Sawyer accounting for the extra point on a pass from Fred Myrick. Then Sawyer scored again on a 30-yard pass play that started from Myrick's fingers.

The Hornets jumped into the scoring in the second period with James Mayo hitting the end zone from six yards out. Then came Boyles' double reverse.

It sent back Modell O'Neal away on a 80-yard run stunning players and fans alike. Myrick hit Sawyer for the extra point.

Rayville came back in the third period with Stewart Dyer going in from the four and Paul Hunter running the extra point. Early in the final period, the Hornet ran up a safety.

But the home team didn't get into the ball game until the chips were down.

They marched downfield to the two and Dyer sneaked in. The game was still at stake.

So with the clock ticking away Tom Sawyer's charm, fullback Bobby Martin went straight up the middle on a 20-yard touchdown jaunt that spelled victory for Rayville, defeat for Oak Grove.

WILDCATS OVER PANTHERS

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La. (Special) — Winnboro held the Lake Providence Panthers at a dead standstill here last night while the Wildcats were romping to an 18-0 victory in a drizzle of rain.

The Wildcats scored in the first, third and fourth periods while the Panthers were consistently thrown for losses and never threatened.

For Winnboro, it was the fourth win of the season against a lone setback, Lake Providence, a Class 100-plus may be treated to one of B outfit, now has lost two against two triumps.

Fullback George Cruise led the ground attack for Winnboro, scoring two touchdowns as the Wildcats rolled up 302 yards rushing. Winnboro made 19 first downs.

Wildcat quarterback Pete Moore scampered 32 yards for the first score after Winnboro received the opening kickoff and marched down field. All three Wildcat conversions were blocked.

Lake Providence threw up a snubborn defense for the remainder of the first half and the Wildcats failed to get back into the scoring bracket until the third stanza.

At that time Cruise went over left tackle from the six to paydirt. He scored again in the final period on a one-yard plunge.

The Panthers were able to account for the first down, that coming on a five-yard penalty against the Wildcats and six yard gain by Lake Providence.

BEARS WIN, 33-

BERNICE, La. (Special) — The Bernice Bears, striking for three quick touchdowns in the first quarter, trounced Sibley, 33-0, in a 1-B District game here last night.

Right halfback Glynn Tubbs racked up scoring runs of 70 and 22 yards to give Bernice an early first period lead. Bo-Dick Smith, Bear fullback, tallied on a 65 yard dash and booted all three extra points to give Bernice a 21-0 lead at the end of the period.

Smith again broke loose in the second quarter, carrying from the 15 for the score. Smith ran the point over.

Quarterback Buzzy Smith closed out the rout, sneaking over from eight yards out in the last period. Morris Reeves ran the extra point. Sibley threatened only once when they penetrated to the Bear 20 but they lost the ball on downs.

PINEVILLE WINS

FERRIDAY, La. (Special) — The Pineville Rebels beat the Ferriday Bulldogs last night in a non-league game 27-7. Pineville scored in the early minutes of the game, with a 22-yard pass from quarterback Tommy Orr to halfback James Meridith. Orr ran the ball over for the extra point.

Midway through the second quarter, Paul Chapman intercepted a Pineville pass on the 50-yard stripe and returned it to the Rebel 20. After driving to one foot of a goal, fullback James Poole plunged over into paydirt for the only Bulldog touchdown. Freddy Marks carried it over for the Bear 20 but they lost the ball on downs.

After a scoreless third quarter, Pineville capitalized on breaks and after taking a Ferriday punt from the Bulldogs' own one, returned it 23 yards for a touchdown, on a handoff from Orr to halfback B. Labato. Try for the extra point was no good.

After recovering a Ferriday fumble on the Ferriday 30, a pass from Orr to Meridith was good for 20 yards and a touchdown. Orr carried it over for the extra point.

In the closing minutes of the game, Meridith again recovered on the Ferriday 40 for the march down to the Bulldog two-yard line.

Orr carried it over for a touchdown, with three seconds remaining in the game. He also carried it for the extra point, bringing the final score to 27-7 as the whistle blew.

Tulane Meets Georgia Tech In SEC Tilt

ATLANTA (AP) — Tulane and Georgia Tech, Southeastern Conference football teams who have known better days, meet Saturday in what could develop into a high scoring game.

If the weatherman can keep the rain away—and prospects for a dry field are fair—a crowd of 40,000-plus may be treated to one of the biggest offensive shows at Grant Field since the Tulane-Tech game in 1956.

But this time the scoring should be in better balance. Two years ago Tech had what Coach Bobby Dodd called his greatest team and the Yellow Jackets swamped Tulane 40-0. This year Tech has been shaky in losing to Kentucky and beating Florida State. Tulane looked dangerous in a one-point loss to Texas after taking a bad beating against Florida.

The Greenies, operating a pro-type offense, feature a lot of passing but also boast some fine runners. Quarterbacks Richie Pettibone and Carlton Sweeney, halfbacks King Fleming, Claude Mason and Percy Colon and fullback Connie Andrews are key men. So are ends Leo Young and Phil Heffington. Colon and Heffington are sophomores.

Tech plans to counter with some classy looking sophs of its own. They include halfbacks Reggie Logan and Ronnie Lewis, slated for first string offensive duty, and Gerald Burch, a fine all-around flankman and an excellent punter.

The weather man predicted a high of 60 to 65 degrees, quite a bit of cloudiness with a chance of spotty light rain or drizzle tomorrow afternoon.

Best Ball Event Dated At Bayou DeSiard Course

The Bayou DeSiard Best Ball Match Play Golf Tournament calls for qualifying play to begin today for members at Bayou DeSiard Country Club, and qualifying will continue through next Friday.

Match play will be conducted next Saturday with four teams to each flight. Prizes will be awarded winners and runners-up in all flights.

West Monroe Rebels Roll Over Menard Eagles, 33-13

By JIM CALHOUN

The West Monroe Rebels, spearheaded by the running of halfbacks Jerry Stovall and John Moses, rolled over the outweighted and outmanned Menard Eagles eleven, 33-13, here last night.

Stovall, who scored one touchdown and booted three extra points, did all of the Rebel kicking and was in on tackles all over the field. Moses chalked up two tallies and end Larry Lewis and Richard Johnson added one apiece.

The Rebels pushed over their

Less than two minutes later Kenneth Wilson picked up another Eagle fumble and carried to the 14. Johnston cracked the line once and then Stovall split the middle for the 13-yard marker. Stovall booted the point.

Moses added his second counter midway in the second quarter to cap a Rebel drive from their own 30. Stovall began the drive with a 22-yard jaunt and Sid White, substitute fullback, and Moses carried to the nine in seven plays. Moses plunged over and Stovall converted to give West Monroe a 20-0 halftime lead.

The Rebels added their fourth touchdown early in the third quarter on a break play. Stovall, in a dash from the Menard 21 fumbled on the 10. End Lewis picked up the loose pigskin and trotted over for the touchdown.

Menard finally got started with eight minutes left in the third quarter. Mahfouz passed to halfback Anthony Tamburo for fifteen yards, putting the ball on the Menard 31. Then Tamburo, winding up with the pigskin after a double reverse, galloped 69 yards to break the ice for the Eagles. Mahfouz converted, making the score 26-7.

Before the quarter ended West Monroe had added another score. Tommy Lolley hit Richard Johnson with a pass on the Eagle 40, and Johnson, behind fine blocking, eluded Eagle tacklers for the

Ouachita Upsets Bastrop, 6 To 0

BASTROP, La. (Special) — Lan-ky end John Talley intercepted a pass in the fourth quarter and sprinted 54 yards on a muddy field to give underdog Ouachita an upset 6-0 victory over 1-AAA rival Bastrop here last night.

Talley picked off a Charles Burks' pass intended for Don Hardy and, behind great blocking, went all the way to break up the evenly-played triple-A clash. Rex Carter's kick for the PAT was no

The game was the first district contest for both clubs and the win was Ouachita's first 1-AAA play since 1936 when the Lions beat West Monroe, 40-0. The loss was the first of the year against three wins for Bastrop's Rams. Ouachita had opened the 1958 season with a 13-7 win over Homer after winning only one in 1957.

Ouachita threatened in the game's first half but most of the contest was spent at midfield. A drive to the 20 was Bastrop's biggest threat although they generated a mild one after Talley's dash but Ouachita held firm.

The hosts had the edge in first downs in the contest, 7-4, but lost three fumbles to Ouachita's two. The Rams had 102 yards on the ground to 67 for Ouachita. Neither team completed a pass but Ouachita intercepted two.

Ouachita's defense, ranked eighth nationally after two games, has given up only a touchdown to Rice, a field goal to Alabama, and has limited the opposition to an average of 122.5 yards per game.

Center Max Fugler, tackle Lynn LeBlanc, and Billy Hendrix — veterans of the LSU line — plus Lot and sophomore end Mickey Mangham, have given the Rebels a surprisingly tough defense.

LARSEN FOR YANKS

Bob Rush Tries To Make It Three In Row For Braves

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Rush will try to make it three in a row for Milwaukee and Don Larsen, the perfect game pitcher of 1956, will attempt to halt the rout of the New York Yankees in Saturday's third World Series game.

The weatherman wasn't too cooperative. He said there was a slight chance of light rain in the morning. However, he forecast a high of about 65 degrees for the first Yankee Stadium game. About 69,000 will attend, if the 14,000 bleacher seats are sold Saturday morning.

According to the schedule, Friday was an off day for travel. You wouldn't know it if you were a player. The two clubs flew in from Milwaukee Thursday night and reported Friday for workouts at the stadium.

Casey Stengel called his slightly groggy Yankee athletes to a morning workout, hoping to devise some means of containing the bruising Milwaukee attack. In the first two games, the Braves shredded the Yankee pitching staff for a .332 team batting average. The Yanks were able to manage only a puny .217 against Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette.

It has been done before but the situation facing the proud Yanks is desperate. Both Whitey Ford and Bob Turley, his two top winners, have been beaten and his relief staff has been battered beyond recognition.

Larsen was out of action for over a month with elbow trouble but tuned up recently with two fine efforts. He has a 2-2 Series record, beating Brooklyn with his perfect game in 1956 and grabbing a decision in relief of Bob Turley in last year's third game. Brooklyn beat Larsen in 1955 and knocked him out in '56, a game in which the defeat was charged to Tom Morgan.

Against the Braves in 1957, Larsen allowed five hits in a 1-3 inning relief job in the third game. Facing Burdette in the seventh game, he was knocked out in the third inning.

Rush, three years older than Larsen at 32, will be making his first Series appearance. The Chicago Cubs traded him to the Braves last winter in a surprising deal. He has managed a 10-6 record for Milwaukee, using more changeup pitches than sinking fast balls as of old. The veteran has changed his delivery with help from Coach Whit Wyatt and now throws more overhand than before.

GSC FEATURE

Techmen Tackle McNeese Tonight

RUSTON, Oct. 3 (Special)—The Gulf States conference spotlight Saturday night will be on the important Louisiana Tech-McNeese State collision expected to unfold before a full house of over 7,000 here.

Tech must win for the Bulldogs and other GSC teams besides McNeese to have a ghost of a chance at the GSC title. McNeese, which disposed of contender Northwestern State 25-8 with ease last week, can take the high road to the GSC crown with a victory over Tech.

Elsewhere in the GSC, Northwestern State hopes to take its McNeese game woes out on a Louisiana college eleven unbeaten after three games: Northeast State and Southwestern Louisiana Institute clash in Lafayette and Southeastern Louisiana college is idle.

McNeese displayed a high-geared offense in crushing NSC and Tech will have to be able to zone with it to be able to win. Meanwhile, the Techmen have been having trouble making sustained drives, running out of gas when they get deep in enemy territory.

Both teams have looked good on defense in previous outings. McNeese will have a big weight advantage in the line, but this may be offset by the rather small, quick reacting and aggressive type players strung along the Tech forward wall.

Tech's punting was a disappointment in a 14-7 win over Arkansas State last week, the Bulldog kickers averaging less than 2 yards per boot on seven kicks. Tech opened its season the week before, losing 14-0 to Mississippi Southern.

McNeese has also tasted defeat, having been beaten on a muddy field 12-6 by Sam Houston State. The Cowboys opened their season with a 21-0 triumph over Southwestern Texas.

Handling the bulk of the ball handling in McNeese's crushing ground attack will be Sammy Stripling, a cool split-T operator. Robert Magee out-Tolared Charles Tolar of NSC in the duel last week at fullback and has averaged over five yards per carry for the year.

Olen Clark, Dick Harris and Wally Delia have handled the bulk of the halfback work brilliantly for the Cowboys.

James McCabe will direct the Tech T and Wing-T attack, with Jim Orton to spell him. Paul Hynes, J. W. Slack, David Williamson, Jack Howard and Sonny Sumlin will swap out at the halfback slots for Tech. Jerry Frasier and Max Rudd will alternate at fullback. All these Tech backs are lettermen except Howard, a transfer.

Tech has two front-line ends who have seen no action this season and will miss the McNeese scrap. Billy Bundrick and Sherwood White, stalwarts last year, are still not ready. B. K. Miller, top-notch halfback, is out for an indefinite period, having been injured in the Southern fracas.

Besides fighting for a life in the GSC race, Tech players will also be trying to give Coach Joe Aillet his 100th victory as Tech grid mentor.

Big Leaguers Ask Share Of TV Take

NEW YORK (AP)—The major league players Friday formally requested of the club owners 25 per cent of all receipts from the telecasting of regular season games.

The request was made at a meeting of the players' representatives with the executive council.

Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, and Harvey Kuenn of the Detroit Tigers represented the players. Roberts is the National League players' representative and Kuenn is the alternate to Washington's Eddie Yost, the American League representative.

The executive council members who attended included National League President Warren Giles; American League head Will Harridge, Boston General Manager Joe Cronin, Chicago White Sox President Charles Comiskey and Philadelphia President Bob Carpenter.

Baseball's secretary-treasurer, Charles Segar, who also attended the meeting, made the announcement of the players' request.

"The players made a formal request wanting all the money collected from television every season by each of the 16 major league clubs," Segar said. "Of that total amount of money, they want 25 per cent to be distributed among the active players. They did not say how they would distribute the money. The clubs, of course, would keep the other 75 per cent."

Grambling In Home Contest With P. Quinn

GRAMBLING, La. (Special)—The Grambling College football upswing which moved into high gear here last week, is expected to get an additional life here Saturday night when the Tigers skirmish Paul Quinn in a contest that smacks of a super mid-November donnybrook.

A crowd of 8,000 fans—most of them girding for a triumphant Grambling season—will watch the 8 p.m. kickoff.

Both teams back a nucleus of veterans hardened by rough spring and fall training periods.

Paul Quinn is set for the battle with one of the best backfields in the schools history. The stellar unit is built around J. C. Campbell, Henry Wiggins and "Jumping" Joe Young.

Don Stephenson, Jamie Caleb, Preston Powell and Jerry Robinson will carry the Tigers' offensive banner.

Grambling has been established as a two-touchdown favorite.

Fuell Case To Be Before High Court

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Attorneys for disgraced Auburn athlete Don Fuell Friday said that they would take his fight for reinstatement as a Southeastern Conference football player to the Alabama Supreme Court.

The attorneys said they had received a request from Fuell's father, asking them to appeal a defeat in the court of Circuit Judge J. Russell McElroy. McElroy ruled that the courts had no right to intervene in the SEC case.

Fuell was banned from conference athletics on the grounds that he received illegal inducements to accept an Auburn athletic scholarship. The SEC Executive Committee acted last May after the National Collegiate Athletic Association placed Auburn on probation until September 1961.

The 20-year-old former Guntersville, Ala., high school backfield star is a sophomore at Auburn. Both he and school authorities have denied they violated strict SEC recruiting regulations.

Fuell recently attempted to enroll at Nebraska but soon returned to Auburn.

Weather Delays Dixie Series For 3rd Day In Row

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—Birmingham Baron Manager Eddie Glennon scratched his head, wiped the rain from his balding head and said "postpone it."

And the fifth game of the Dixie Series was postponed Friday for the third straight time by the weather.

"We've already received a bowl bid and we'll finish this series if we have to play it in a post-football season bowl," Glennon said jokingly.

Northeast Battles Bulldogs In First Conference Scrap

The Northeast State College Indians, fresh from three straight victories, clash with Southwestern Louisiana Institute's Bulldogs in their first conference game of the season tonight. Kickoff time is set for eight o'clock at Lafayette's McNaspy Stadium.

The Indians, led by Gulf States Conference scoring leader Jim Laudadio, will be making their third road trip of the young season. Laudadio has chalked up 23 points while teammates, quarterback Everett Reynolds and end season tonight. Kickoff time is set for eight o'clock at Lafayette's McNaspy Stadium.

Left halfback Robert McGough heads the Indians in rushing with a total of 135 yards gained in 24 attempts for an average of 6.5 per carry. Fullback Lloyd Ray Smith holds a 4.2 average with 212 yards gained in 50 tries.

With 14 returning regulars, the Bulldogs will have a strong forward wall, anchored by three-year letterman Linden Bercegeay and Lindsey D. D. D. at the guards. Steve Gossen, 169-pound speedster, will start at left half for Southwestern. Gossen lettered at quarterback as a freshman and has been switched to halfback to bolster the Bulldogs' running attack.

If past records mean anything, the Indians, as the visiting team, will be favored. Last year Southwestern downed the Indians at Brown Stadium, 6-0, and were swamped by Northeast the previous year, 45-19, at McNaspy Stadium.

Coach Jack Rowan of the Indians has announced the same two-platoon lineup used in last week's game. It is: RE Joe Driskill or Jerry Head, RT Jim Brent or Jim Broom, RG Fred Cox or Roy Cagle, C Bill McGraw or Buck Anderson, LG Fred Feeney or Bob Spondike, LT Luther French or Ray Borders, LE Jim Knox or Dale Hoover, QB Everett Reynolds or Bob Randall.

McBride's less really began to look like wet noodles in the fifth, when Anthony sent him to the canvas again. In the seventh McBride was still trying to struggle to his feet when the bell saved him at the count of nine.

Anthony's manager, Ernie Bracca said after the victory he planned to keep his fighter campaigning among the heavyweights, "but not over 190 pounds."

The fight drew a paid attendance of 1,445 and a gross of $2,800.

Anthony Kayoes McBride In 9th

By GEORGE BOWEN
BALTIMORE (AP)—Tony Anthony, using a murderous left hand, knocked Archie McBride out of the ring in the ninth round after flooring him four times earlier Friday night for a technical knockout in the Baltimore Coliseum.

Referee Benny Goldstein wasted no time in signaling the 24-year-old Anthony from New York City as the winner at 1:30 of the ninth round.

He waved the "that's all" sign when McBride was sent sprawling through the ropes.

The 29-year-old McBride, a product of Trenton, N.J., had been on the canvas a short while before for an eight-count in the same round.

Anthony, 178, trying to justify his entrance into the heavyweight class, thus scored decisively in a return bout with McBride, who weighed 186. He had beaten Archie by only two points on the referee's scorecard a month ago in Syracuse, N.Y.

Tony, who had been ranked No. 2 among the light heavyweights before moving into the unlimited divisions, also floored the durable McBride in the third, fifth and seventh rounds before putting the finishing touches on him in the ninth.

It was the 28th knockout scored by Anthony in 42 fights. He has lost only five and drawn once.

It was the 15th loss for McBride, who has fought most of the top-ranking heavyweights, including champion Floyd Patterson, who knocked him out in seven.

Anthony, a slick long-range boxer with a wicked left, set the pattern for the fight in the third round when he knocked McBride down for the first time after a fairly even opening of the nationally televised bout.

McBride's legs really began to look like wet noodles in the fifth, when Anthony sent him to the canvas again. In the seventh McBride was still trying to struggle to his feet when the bell saved him at the count of nine.

Anthony's manager, Ernie Bracca said after the victory he planned to keep his fighter campaigning among the heavyweights, "but not over 190 pounds."

Yanks Favored To Win Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite two defeats in Milwaukee, the New York Yankees are 7 to 3 favorites to win Saturday's third World Series game with Don Larsen facing Bob Rush at Yankee Stadium.

The odds makers have made Milwaukee an 11 to 5 choice to win the series. Only three clubs ever have come back after losing the first two and one of them—the 1921 New York Giants—did it in the days of a best-of-nine series.

FIRST WINTER TRADE

Cards, Reds In Six-Player Swap

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two aging, slumping sluggers, Del Ennis of St. Louis and Cincinnati's George Crowe, changed uniforms Friday as part of a straight six-player deal that opened baseball's winter trading season.

St. Louis obtained infielder Alex Grammas and pitcher Alex Kellner from Cincinnati for rookie pitcher Bob Mahe and infielder Eddie Kasko. No cash changed hands.

The deal was hatched Thursday by St. Louis General Manager Bing Devine and Gabe Paul, the Redlegs' G.M., while they watched the second game of the World Series at Milwaukee.

Also consenting were the newly hired managers of both teams, Solly Hemus of St. Louis, and Mayo Smith of Cincinnati.

Outfielder Ennis, 33, a broad-backed slugger of 13 seasons in the senior circuit, had only 3 homers and 47 RBIs to go with a .251 batting average this season.

First baseman Crowe, 35, also slipped badly this year. He had 7 home runs, 61 RBIs and a .275 batting average.

Manager Smith singled out Mahe, 29, as the key man in the trade. "He (Mahe) lost some tough games after being brought up by the Cardinals."

Mahe, blind in his left eye from an air pellet since the age of 12, was 3-2 with a 4.50 earned run average after coming to the Cards from Omaha.

Grammas, a slick shortstop, is 30. In 1953, the Cards gave Cincinnati $100,000 and pitcher Jack Crimian for him. Grammas hit .218 in 105 games this year with no homers.

Left-handed pitcher Kellner, 34, is an American League veteran Cincinnati got from Kansas City this season. His record was 7-3 with a good 2.30 earned run average.

Casey, Haney Give TV Men Rough Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Three well-meaning television interviewers gave Casey Stengel and Fred Haney a tough time as their World Series clubs worked out at Yankee Stadium Friday. But it was nothing to the tough time Stengel and Haney gave them.

Stengel gave 'em the needle. Haney gave 'em the air.

Stengel was asked, by one, whether his New York Yankees were choking up.

Sportswriters standing nearby stopped chatting and turned to hear the answer from Casey, whose New York Yankees have lost the first two games to Haney's Braves.

Stengel glared a bit, but otherwise remained calm.

"If anybody chokes up," Casey replied into the tape recorder, "it won't be me or the players but maybe some fella stuffer into a mike."

After leaving Casey, the three men with mikes set up shop in front of the Braves' dugout and with film cameras (this was to be "canned" for evening telecast) grinding, one asked Haney whether he thought "the Yankees were playing like a bunch of bushers."

"I consider that an unfair question," said Haney. "You sir are a needle. You can go to the devil."

That ended the interview and junked the tape.

Stengel's chat on tape was longer. So was the needle.

Noting Milwaukee's 2-0 lead, one man with a mike asked whether the Yankees were out of it, victims of "over confidence."

"I thought that," said Stengel. "I wouldn't be out here this early (11 a.m.)."

Another man with a mike asked whether Casey had given his Yankees any sort of a pep talk on their return home.

"Pep talk? Well now we've got some men with five children and a wife and maybe they had to cheer up the wife and the kids this morning but look over there, there is first base and second and third and home and you gotta get that man across the plate and that's what I'm not getting! and if you think a pep talk's going to get a man around that infield you're crazy."

That left the interviewers in the same spot as Casey. After two, neither had a winner.

Ike To Take More Active Role For GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower will take a more active role in this year's congressional campaign than he has in any election year since taking office, GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn said Friday. Alcorn told newsmen after a five personal role in this year's strategy huddle with the President. He also made it clear that the Republican high command was ready to meet the Democrats head on on the issue of the administration's policy in the Far East. He accused top Democratic campaign speakers of "preaching appeasement." He said that Democrats like Sens. George A. Smathers (Fla.), and John F. Kennedy (Mass.) appeared willing to "write off" the Philippines and Aleutians as a "few dots of land," their true colors in the current appease Hitler in the 1930s. Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), chairman of the House GOP Congressional campaign committee, also joined in the Republican counter-attack against Democratic criticism of administration policy on Quemoy and Matsu. He told United Press International the Democrats "are showing produced by Democratic efforts to increasing desire on the part of the President to pitch into this campaign vigorously." Asked specifically if the President would take a more active personal role than he has in previous congressional campaigns, Alcorn replied: "I think that is a fair conclusion."

Howard Pyle, the administrative assistant to the President, sat in on the conference between Alcorn and the Chief Executive. They went over proposals for expanding his campaign plans, which, up to first step in appeasement which now, include nine coast-to-coast appearances. He reported "there has been an

Mr. - Mrs. David Are Given Housewarming

Moving into their new home recently on 802 North McGuire are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip David.

A housewarming was given for them by two of their close friends, Mrs. E. Joe Joseph and Mrs. W. H. Soureal. This was given Sunday afternoon between the hours of three and six in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David.

A beautiful arrangement of yellow roses in an aqua bowl was used in the party area.

A color scheme of pink and green was used in the dining area. The table held a cut-work cloth over pink satin. The central arrangement was of white candles entwined with English ivy and dainty sweetheart roses. At one end of the table the silver coffee service was placed and presided over by Mrs. Soureal, at the other stood the punch bowl; Mrs. Joseph served a cooling green punch. The table held an assortment of pink sandwiches and pink cookies with hors d'oeuvres. Mrs. Elias assisted in serving here.

Mrs. Reese Jones registered the guests.

Mingling among the guests and helping were Susan Soureal, Jo Neala Joseph, Phillip David and Charles Edward Joseph.

Other arrangements throughout the house were of pink carnations and gardenias.

One hundred fifty guests called during the appointed hours.

The Rev. George W. Martinez was present and blessed the home.

Enterprise Future Home Makers Meet

The Advisory Council for the Future Home Makers of America met in the Home Economics Department of the Enterprise High School.

The FHA president, Sharon McGuffee, gave a report on the two day workshop held by the FHA officers. Mrs. Sheppard gave a report on the work done on the Extended program during the summer.

Mr. Y. E. Sheppard then presented the new scope of the work in Home Economics this year and why the new curriculum was necessary.

To further emphasize this need he used the article taken from the 1954 June issue of Forecast entitled "Home Economics and the Future." This article covered sixteen areas of homemaking as taught in our high schools and how they have changed recently.

There was a very interesting and informative discussion by the group on each Area as applied to our locality. Cake and coffee were served to the following members: Mrs. A. J. Guyon, Mrs. Marvin Gibson, Mr. Y. E. Sheppard, Mr. Clyde Lewis, Miss Sharon McGuffee and Mrs. Lurline Sheppard.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

School Started, Parent Child Conflicts Change

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Once school begins, the conflict of school and he should not fight between parents and children take on a slightly different cast. It's no longer, "Can I ride horseback?" or, "play miniature golf, or go to the movies or get an ice cream soda. Now the demands are to stay up later to play not to do any homework and listen to the late programs on TV or radio.

The excuse children have for all staying out to play is that other children are still out. That's not your problem, it is the other parent's. Yours is to get your child in early enough so they can settle down and be ready to go to bed at a proper bedtime.

During hot weather children get into very sloppy sleeping habits. The parents saves her conscience because she knows they can stay in bed later in the morning.

Her Husband Never Remembers Birthday

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My 16-year-old prima donna isn't speaking to me this week because I wouldn't permit her to give her boy friend a $10 sport shirt for his birthday. She earned the money baby-sitting and purchased the shirt with my permission. When she came home with the shirt and prepared to gift wrap it I told her she'd have to return it and get something less personal and less expensive.

She obeyed me but has been sullen and silent ever since. My husband said I was too hard on her. In my opinion the trouble with teenagers today is they do whatever they please without consulting their parents. May I have your views?—M.N.B.

Sorry, Mom, but I'm with your husband and daughter on this one. A sport shirt isn't THAT personal. Since she earned the money, she had the right to make her own selection.

A girl of 16 should be given the privilege of more choices than a child or in your daughter's sullen and silent because she feels an injustice has been done. I hope in the future you'll be less severe in matters that involve no money and not principles, but you find yourself with one extremely rebellious and hostile girl on your hands.

Dear Anne: Maybe I'm a sentimental fool but I think a husband owes it to his wife to send her a gift on her birthday, Christmas, Mother's Day, Valentine's Day and on her anniversary. It brought her into my home who was willing to give his wife the world with a fence around it before he married her.

My husband never remembers any of these dates unless I practically beat him over the head with reminders. My mother and sisters never fail to ask what Henry gave me for various occasions. I've been humiliated beyond words when he's forgotten. Once I sent myself flowers to make sure I got something on my anniversary. Isn't this a disgrace? Please say something on this vital subject. I'm sure many women would appreciate it.—HATTIE

Miss America Welcomed By Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi welcomed its beaming Miss America home Friday with a celebration she'll never forget.

Pretty Mary Ann Mobley of nearby Brandon paid her first visit home since winning the Miss America title. She stepped smilingly off a plane and into the midst of adoring thousands.

Hundreds greeted her plane at the airport and uncrowded thousands lined both sides of Capitol Street for a glimpse of the girl who won the heart of almost every man, woman and child in Mississippi.

She was the celebrity in a long parade of celebrities as Mississippi paid tribute to her with processions here and at Brandon. The beauty queen's admirers included Gov. J. P. Coleman and almost every high official of the state and nearby cities.

"I didn't do a thing," the 21-year-old brunette said in an interview stop during the parade here. "Mississippi has done it all for me."

Police were unable to hold back the pressing throngs from her convertible during one pause and Mary Ann signed autographs until the car managed to break through the crowd.

A small lad managed to get behind the edge of the convertible and she reached over and shook it.

I shook her hand, I shook her head," he said exuberantly as the car pulled away.

R. B. Rall, a department store executive, presented Mary Ann with a ribbon-bedecked present. "I know what it is," she said. "It's a mustard seed."

Mary Ann wore a mustard seed bracelet, given her by her Sunday school teacher, during the Miss America judging at Atlantic City last month. The mustard seed was used in a Biblical quotation illustrating faith and the bracelet caught the fancy of the nation when she won the contest.

She lost it in Philadelphia. "It feels wonderful to be back home," Mary Ann said as she walked down the ramp from the big airliner which flew her home. "There's just no place like Mississippi."

The band from her hometown high school played the Miss America theme song and Mary Ann accepted a bouquet of roses from Mayor Johnny Noland of Vicksburg, Carey Blalock of the Vicksburg Jaycees and Glenn Worthington of the Brandon Jaycees. The Brandon Jaycees sponsored her in the Miss Mississippi pageant, conducted by the Vicksburg Jaycees.

A TIMELY CONTRIBUTION TO THE ORIENTAL INFLUENCE in Occidental decorating is this attractive new cylindrical lock and escutcheon—the Shou—introduced by Schlage at the National Builders Hardware Dealer's Association convention in Chicago. Developed from an ancient motif by Schlage Lock Company of San Francisco, the Shou is a symbol of good luck, long life and happiness. The open-backed escutcheon of the Shou allows the use of a variety of colors and textures to match or complement trim decor. It is available in wrought brass, bronze or aluminum with a broad range of appropriate knob designs.

An Oriental Accent On Door Knobs

Developed by a lock company of San Francisco, the Shou escutcheon is rich in beauty, design and tradition. It is based on the Shou motif widely used during the Tang Dynasty, more than 1,000 years ago. The Shou is a symbol of good luck, long life and happiness, a gracious greeting to all who cross the threshold.

Because the Shou is an open-back escutcheon, it allows the use of a variety of colors and textures to match or complement trim decor, and is available in wrought brass, bronze or aluminum in all standard Schlage finishes with a broad range of appropriate knob designs. The metal is solid, not plated.

The Shou motif can be used in many ways throughout the home; it is found in everything from fine art and furnishings to high fashion.

The escutcheon of the Shou is eight inches in diameter and lends itself perfectly to the new trend in door decor of back-setting the lock anywhere from five inches to the center of the door.

The late Walter Schlage, father of the perfected modern cylindrical lock, created a lock of such simplicity it is installed by the drilling of two intersecting holes. This is universally recognized as the most efficient method for installing hardware.

Women Told To Check Quality Men's Clothes

Millions of women have "double vision" about men's fashions these days, says a leading style expert. They get this way, it was said, by keeping one eye on a man's good dress and the other on the inflated family budget.

It is this double concern of woman in helping their men obtain full value in both looks and money from their clothing purchases that has made quality tailoring again of top importance as far as a suit of clothes is concerned, according to Michael Daroff, head of a major men's clothing firm.

Every woman who lends a helping hand to a man in his clothing purchases today should know what quality standards her man is entitled to for his money and how to recognize them, said Daroff, whose firm makes "Bolany 500" clothing for men.

A suit costing $65 or over should have at least seven quality tailoring points, Daroff said. Many of these points are difficult to confirm in looking at a suit, he admitted.

One way to check them is to ask the retailer, he suggested. Looking for information good manufacturers put in pocket stuffers is another, he said. Another way is to stick to brand name merchandise, he maintained, while the most exacting way to learn is by sad experience. A popular-priced suit that does not have the necessary quality tailoring points will not perform properly, he said.

Here are the quality check points he sets for fine clothing: First, cold water shrinking to "zero" of all suiting fabrics. Suits that change their size in cleaning have not had this costly, important quality treatment, he explained.

Two-ply fabric is another quality point, he said. This fabric requires less pressing and will hold its shape better. A top quality hair "front" is an absolute must in a fine suit, Daroff claims. To test a "front," which is a special lining in the chest of the suit jacket, squeeze the front of the suit lightly, he suggested. If it springs back into shape quickly, he said, it contains a top quality "front." A suit with an inferior quality "front" will lose its shape its form and "cave in" after cleaning, Daroff said.

A collar that is "set on" and sewn by hand is a quality feature that spells fine fit for the life of the suit, he explained. Roll a suit collar gently. If it rolls back into shape easily it has been set on by hand, he said. He explained this means it will lie snug and smooth despite many dry cleanings and long wear.

Sleeve linings at each end should be stitched by hand, but tonholes on the coat should be evenly and closely stitched by hand to give long wear and trousers should be unpressed at the crotch, he concluded.

A knowledge of these check points of quality tailoring can save many a headache, Daroff maintained. The eagle-eyed little woman, with her shopping psychology already geared to quality shopping in other items, can be a big help to a man in checking the "value" of his clothing purchases, he said.

When you see the words "wet pack" on a can of shrimp it means the seafood was packed in brine; "dry pack" means it was vacuum-packed without liquid.

3-Day Waiting Period Heads Off Marriages

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi's new three-day waiting period required for a marriage license wrote an unromantic end to the wedding plans of two young Louisiana couples Friday.

Police said the four teenagers were taken into custody Thursday when they tried to register at a tourist court to wait out the three days required for a license.

Police identified the four as Madeline Walker, 14, Audrey Stafford, 15, Joe Diez, 16, and Danny Kelly, 16, all of Baton Rouge.

The girls arrived last night to return them to their homes. The girls told police they planned to be married here, but decided to "sit it out at the tourist court" when they learned of the three-day waiting period required for a license.

Property Tax Vote Slated

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Voters of New Orleans are to decide Nov. 5 whether they wish to increase the property tax by 2½ mills to aid the public schools.

The election for property tax-payers was called Friday by the Orleans Parish School Board. The board said previously it would have to close the schools a month to six weeks earlier unless more money is available for schools.

The tax increase was recommended by the citizens committee headed by Robert W. Elzasser and would be for a five year period.

THURMAN A. WHITESIDE

Attorney Enters Not Guilty Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Attorney Thurman A. Whiteside pleaded innocent Friday to charges that he conspired with Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack to influence award of Miami TV Channel 10 to National Airlines.

Whiteside's trial was set for Jan. 6. Both he and Mack, whom he was accused of corrupting, face maximum sentences of 10 years in prison and $15,000 fines if convicted of all charges against them.

Mack also was to have been arraigned Friday but was delayed at least a week when his lawyer told the court Mack was ill. The lawyer, Nicholas J. Chase, said

U.S. Claims Control Of Thor Bases

LONDON (UPI)—Officials sources disclosed Friday that the United States had claimed complete control over the Thor missile bases under a mutual assistance agreement.

It had been assumed earlier that American control would be limited to the atomic warhead only.

However, Britain will not be in a position to use the American-supplied missiles without specific U.S. consent, even if it supplied the warhead. That had been the intention of the British authorities, according to recent indications.

The Anglo-American agreement on the supply and control of American-made intermediate range ballistic missiles provided for "two fingers" to be on the trigger of the Thor.

Britain was to man the bases and hold the missile but the warheads would be under the control of American personnel stationed close to the base.

Both British and American approval was required before the missile could be used, since American legislation prohibits the handing over of atomic weapons.

Britain had envisaged eventual production of its own warheads, apparently on the assumption that it was in sole control of the Thor propulsion unit, which is being handed to the Royal Air Force.

In the light of developments, Britain was understood now to have abandoned plans to produce warheads for the Thor. The move was expected to reopen the controversy over the degree of control of the missile bases by Britain.

EQUAL RIGHTS

De Gaulle Offers Plan To Moslems

CONSTANTINE, Algeria (UPI)—Premier Charles de Gaulle Saturday offered Algerian Moslems a five-year development program and equal political rights with Frenchmen to bring about a "profound transformation" of the Moslem Nationalist rebels to end their "fratricidal" 47-month-old war for independence and join the five-year cultural, social and economic program. He made no concessions either to the rebels or to the Algerian French settlers who have been demanding rougher French rule in Algeria. But nowhere did he spell out the political future of Algeria itself.

The premier, addressing a crowd of 7,000 persons in Constantine on the last stop of his 48-hour tour of Algeria, promised that the 9-million Algerian Moslems would have equal political rights with the 1,200,000 Europeans in the territory and with Frenchmen in France proper.

At least two thirds of the Algerians elected to the new French Assembly in elections next November must be Moslems, he said.

To better the lot of the Moslems in a five-year crash program, De Gaulle proposed:

- Raising salaries and wages in Algeria to levels comparable with France proper.
- Distributing 500,000 acres of land to Algerian Moslem farmers.
- Building new homes for 1-million Moslems and giving new jobs to 400,000 Moslems.
- Providing schooling for two-thirds of the Moslem children by the end of the five-year period, with steps taken to bring eventual full education benefits in the territory.

THANKS

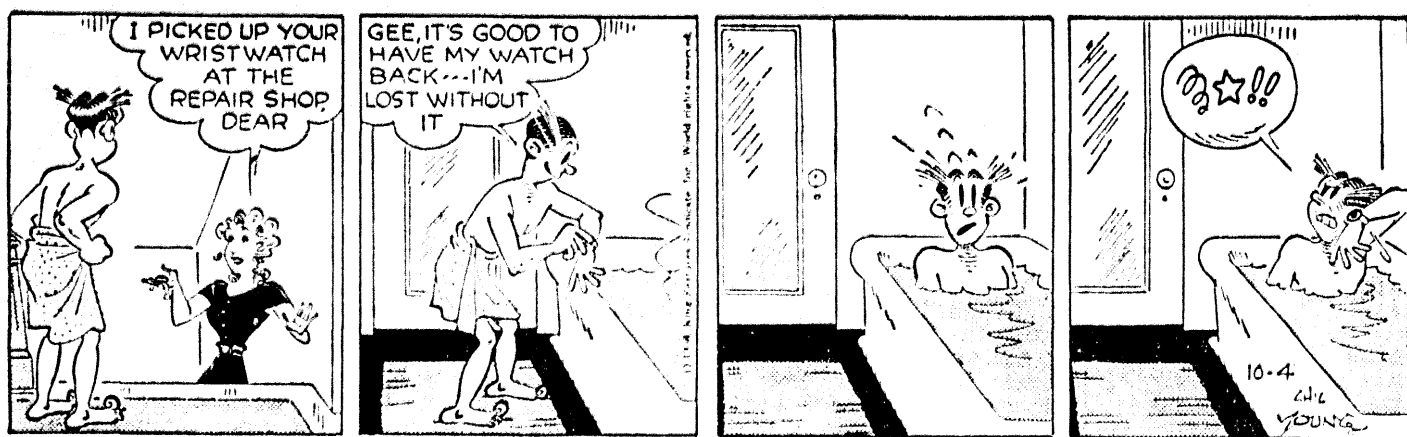

To the People of Ward Five who voted for and elected me to serve on our School Board, and especially to ALL the faithful VOLUNTEER WORKERS who assisted me throughout the campaign.

My constant prayer is that God grant me the ability and vision to justify your confidence.

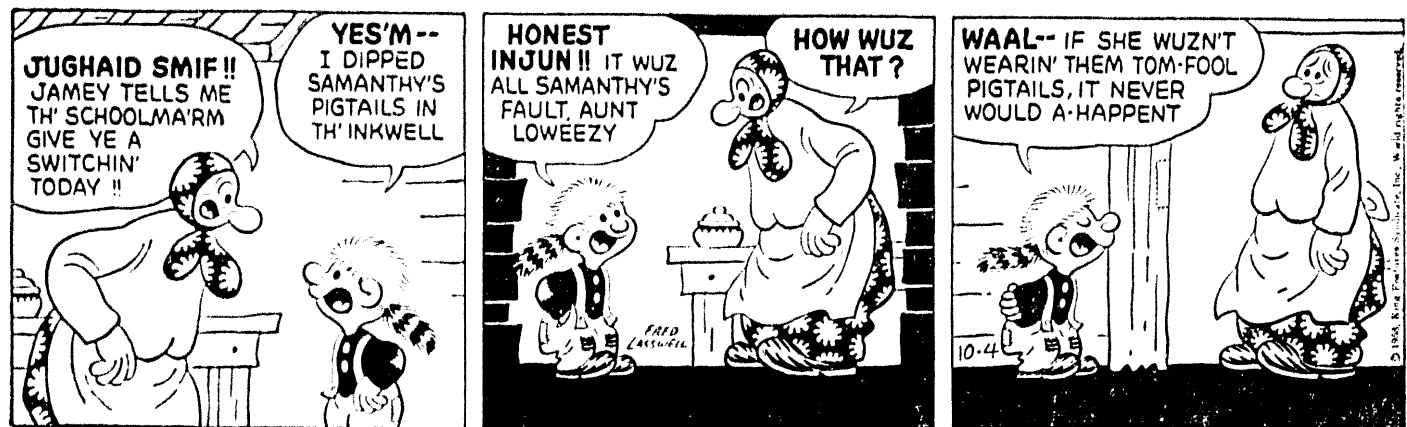

To Mr. Hislop and his supporters I extend my sincere best wishes.

I pledge co-operation with the other members of the School Board toward the attainment of peace and harmony and a just and fair representation of Ward Five.

Troops Rushed To Quell Group Of Armed Bandits

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)—Air force and national guard units were rushed Friday to northwestern Nicaragua to suppress what a presidential statement described as "groups of armed bandits" coming from Honduras. The statement said the "bandits" were active in the El Cor-zaco area of Nueva Segovia Department, which borders on Honduras. (Unconfirmed reports from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, earlier this week, said a revolutionary movement headed by Gen. Ramon Raudales had broken out in northern Nicaragua against the government of President Luis A. Somoza and that a major battle had already been fought between the rebels and the Nicaraguan national guard.)

CONVOCATION
JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The Mississippi Methodist Conference will hold its annual convocation on missions Oct. 20. Theme will be "Tell the Story of Christ Through Missions."

COMPLETE PHYSICAL

Doctors Report President Is In Excellent Health

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's doctors said Saturday he is in "an excellent state of health."

The report was issued after the chief executive underwent a complete physical examination at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, commanding officer of the medical center and one of those who examined the President, told reporters the results of the check-up were "fine—best yet."

The brief medical bulletin Saturday said:

"The President underwent a complete physical examination, which included Barium studies of the gastro-intestinal tract and appropriate laboratory test, at Walter Reed Army Hospital on Oct. 3-4, 1958.
The results of these all-inclusive studies show that the President continues to maintain an excellent state of health."

TERSE REPORT

The terse report was signed by Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the president's own physician, and by Heaton.

The President entered the hospital for the examination late Friday and spent the night there.

As though to emphasize his good health, he drove directly from the hospital this afternoon to the Burning Tree Club in nearby Maryland for a game of golf.

He had lunch at the hospital before departing.

The new medical report came just 10 days before the President's 58th birthday and a few days before he planned to plunge into the political campaigns on behalf of Republican candidates.

After past medical checkups, the President's doctors have issued more detailed reports on their findings providing such information as his blood pressure and the results of blood analyses.

Such details were completely absent from Saturday's two-paragraph report.

Mrs. Ann W. Wheaton, the associate White House press secretary, said the bulletin was deliberately brief because Eisenhower wanted it that way.

She said that the overnight examinations covered all areas of the President's medical background, including his 1955 heart attack, his 1956 surgery for ileitis, and the slight stroke he suffered last fall.

U.S. Army Begins Leaving Lebanon Despite Violence

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The United States Army began leaving Lebanon Saturday despite a wave of kidnappings, beatings and strikes that threatened renewed civil war.

About 1,000 American soldiers, waving and shouting happily, rolled through the streets in open trucks to the Beirut dock area and boarded a ship to return to bases in Germany.

The last 900 Marines were expected to depart Sunday and the remaining 5,000 soldiers to go within two weeks, leaving the Lebanese army to handle the simmering new revolt by itself. In August there were 14,000 U.S. troops in Lebanon.

Pro- and anti-government forces accused each other of hundreds of sectarian kidnappings and beatings.

Christian Phalangists maintained roadblocks on main roads leading into the city. They burned stacks of tires and sent women and children before the barricades to halt traffic.

Hurricane Churns Across Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A hurricane churned across the Pacific toward the Mexico coast Saturday with winds estimated at more than 85 miles an hour near the center, the Weather Bureau reported.

A hurricane advisory said the storm was located 80 nautical miles south-southeast of Los Mochis, Mexico, and moving toward the north-northeast at 16 miles an hour. It will probably hit the coast 30 miles south of Los Mochis at about noon (pst).

The Weather Bureau said hurricane force winds extended 30 miles outward from the center.

Antiaircraft Missiles Go To Far East

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A U.S. Nike-Hercules battalion with its deadly antiaircraft missiles is expected to reach Formosa Wednesday to help guard Nationalist China against Communist bombing attacks.

It will come during a period of concern about the possibility of new Red Chinese air assaults against Nationalist cargo planes air dropping supplies to blockaded Quemoy.

The Nike-Hercules is a ground-to-air missile that can be fired effectively 75 to 100 miles, at speeds greater than sound. It has the capability of seeking out and destroying an aerial target despite evasive action.

POTENTIAL

Its potential will help free more Nationalist aircraft for use if necessary against more than 500 Red-starred MIG fighters poised on advanced mainland bases.

Four MIGs attacked and heavily damaged a Nationalist C46 transport over Quemoy Friday. There is fear the swift, low level attacks will be repeated in the future as the air drop program grows. Strengthening this belief was a statement by Ango Tai, head of Nationalist China's privately owned Foshing Airlines.

He said he thought the unarmed Foshing PBV Catalina that (Continued On Page 2-A)

Smile

"Mix with others both old and young, give out a cheerful word, smile and thus banish all worries!"

This is the "fountain of youth" that has made the life and habits of Herbert H. Nobes a bright and shining light for many decades. On October 9, 1958, he will celebrate his 80th birthday in his home on Park Avenue.

Some days ago he made an appointment with this writer for a downtown hotel. Yesterday at the hour named he was there on the spot. He appeared attired in a down-to-the-minute fat suit. In his button hole was a tiny snowy zinnia. A fall hat, a gray Fedora, completed his attire, crowned over all by that smile that is ever - present. Also that round face and ruddy complexion make him resemble a man in his forties.

Nobes, in accent and attire, is ever in keeping with his British origin. He was born in Portsmouth, England, in 1878. He enlisted in Queen Victoria's Navy in 1898 and served for eight years. Then he left the Navy and the following year came to the United States where in time he became naturalized. His wife (Continued On Page 2-A)

IN MONROE
The Monroe Utilities Commission yesterday announced the appointment of French L. Smith to the post of general manager of the commission which controls the city's power and water services.

A retired employee of Hope Producing Company, Smith succeeded T. H. Underwood, who resigned earlier in the week "for personal reasons. Underwood's salary was $15,500.

Travis Oliver Jr., newly elected commission chairman, announced that Smith's salary would be $7,800 annually.

After the commission was established, five of Monroe's leading citizens were appointed to authority over city utilities. They later hired Underwood, a registered engineer, to the general manager's post.

Smith was one of the original members of the commission. His two-year term was scheduled to expire yesterday.

Throughout the period of Smith's service he devoted full time to his post on the commission. For the past year he has served as chairman of the commission.

The commission issued a statement yesterday, announcing Smith's assignment to the general manager's post.

Seven Killed As Explosion Rocks Home

INDIANA, Pa. (UPI) — An unemployed coal miner, his wife and five of his seven children died Saturday when fire touched off by a kerosene explosion swept their home 12 miles east of here.

One other child was rescued but suffered critical burns. Another escaped by clambering out a cellar coal chute at the direction of her father, who despite the flames which licked from his clothing made a desperate effort to save the other members of the family.

State police said the blast occurred as the father, Clair Kinter, 42, was using the kerosene to start a fire in the kitchen stove of his home.

Perishing in the flames were Kinter, his wife, Jennie, 39, and their children, Peggy, 13, Virginia, 11, and three others.

FOR FUNDS

United Drive Set In Parish Areas

The Ouachita Parish United Givers tomorrow will begin an all-out effort to raise $210,000 for the support of 13 service agencies.

Campaign Chairman R. L. Vanderpool Jr. expressed confidence yesterday the drive would reach its goal within three weeks of soliciting.

"Our division leaders and teams are equipped with the two vital elements for a successful fund raising drive — optimism and energy," Vanderpool declared.

United Givers President Clifford Strauss pointed to good organization on the part of Vanderpool as "a big hurdle out of the way before the drive opens tomorrow." Strauss noted the arrangement of the territories to be covered and the men and women chosen to solicit in particular fields assured the success of the campaign.

AGENCIES

Agencies incorporated into the single fund - raising effort of United Givers will include the Ouachita Parish Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Boy Scouts of America, the Carolyn Rose Strauss Rehabilitation Center.

New Integration Moves Aimed At Southern States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The federal government and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People Saturday aimed two new legal moves at Arkansas and Virginia where schools have been closed to block integration.

In a friend of the court brief, the government asked the U. S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis to grant an NAACP request for an injunction against leasing of Little Rock schools to a private corporation for operation on a segregated basis.

The NAACP began a move to have federal courts reopen schools in three Virginia communities which were closed after they were ordered to integrate.

MEET MONDAY

The St. Louis court will meet Monday to consider the NAACP petition for an injunction against leasing Little Rock high schools to a private corporation. Gov. Orval E. Faubus vowed Friday the schools will never be reopened except on a segregated basis.

"Reopening of the high schools on a segregated basis would inflict an irreparable injury on the nation as a whole," the government brief said. It urged the court to "enter a comprehensive injunction which will in specific terms enjoin any and all persons, whether they be public officials or private individuals or organizations from taking any action in or out of the schools which would have the effect of denying, impairing or hindering" the rights of Negro children.

Holding that the plan to lease the Little Rock high schools for segregated, private operation is invalid, the government brief also declared "it is as plain as day that there is no alternative to compliance with the law and that no schemes or devices for operating public schools on a segregated basis can hope to succeed."

Virginia Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., closed schools in Charlottesville, Norfolk and Warren County after they were ordered by federal courts to integrate.

The NAACP has petitioned the courts for further relief from what it contends is a violation of the Negro pupils' constitutional rights.

In Little Rock, reports circulated that the Arkansas Legislature may be asked to abolish the state's public school system and establish a statewide system of private schools.

Faubus could not be reached for comment, but sources who requested anonymity said under the proposed state aid would be given all students on a per capita basis.

Race Problems Shift To Fla., Officials Confer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Arrival of a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling on the Palm Beach County school integration case stirred speculation Saturday on what specific effect might be felt in schools of other areas.

At the same time, officials of the Florida School Boards Assn. disclosed they and the State Principals Assn. would confer with the governor and the attorney general on a proposal that the state give financial aid to school boards confronted by integration law suits.

The U.S. Circuit Court at New Orleans, ruling on an appeal from Miami U.S. District Court dismissal of the Palm Beach case, said school boards are responsible for seeing that no child is deprived of his rights.

The Palm Beach County suit was initiated for William Holland Jr., Palm Beach Negro child, by his father, a lawyer, who contended the Negro school to which his son was assigned was substandard. He contended also that (Continued On Page 2-A)

Gravel Voices
Defiance, Says
He Won't Quit

State Central Committee To Meet Wednesday

ALEXANDRIA (AP) — Camille Gravel Jr., Louisiana's Democratic National Committeeman, said Friday he won't resign if the party's state committee votes to remove him.

Gravel voiced his defiance as the State Central Committee prepared to meet next Wednesday solely to oust him from the party post after a dispute involving civil rights.

"Party organization rules," he said, "do not allow the state committee to remove a national committeeman."

Gravel said only the national committee can take a committeeman's job, and then an ouster must be based upon charges lodged against the committeeman.

CHARGE

The state party's only charge, Gravel said, is that he is supporting the Democratic party.

Pro-segregation elements in the state group have sparked the drive to depose Gravel. Gov. Earl Long kept clear of the dispute more than a year, but recently joined after he and Gravel took opposite sides in the Eighth District race for Congress. Long's candidate lost.

Gravel has backed the national party's civil rights program. He said once that segregation is morally wrong, but at the same time cautioned that school integration in Louisiana could be disastrous.

He will keep the national committee fully informed, he said, on the proceedings at the ouster meeting. No national committee officials will attend, he said.

The ouster issue will be broadcast Sunday and Monday, when Gravel takes his side to the public. He will appear on WDSU-TV in New Orleans at 4 p.m. Sunday. Gravel has set up a network of seven television and nine radio stations at 10 p.m. Monday for a 30-minute program.

The television stations to carry the program are WWL-TV in New Orleans; KTBS, Shreveport; KLFY, Lafayette; WRRZ, Baton Rouge; KALB, Alexandria, KTLN, Lake Charles, and KNOE, Monroe.

The radio stations are KALB, Alexandria; WWL, New Orleans; WJBO, Baton Rouge; KVOL, Lafayette; KPIC, Lake Charles; KNOE, Monroe; KWKH and KRMD, Shreveport and KSIG, Crowley.

Gravel maintained his views have been distorted and his statements quoted out of context. He said he always has maintained he favors segregation and has never been an integrationist.

His stand, he said: "We need caution and moderation, not hysteria and emotion, to meet the most crucial problem of the century."

Negro Man Shot To Death Here;
Suspect Booked

A 28-year-old Negro father was shot to death in his home here last night and Monroe police booked a 63-year-old Negro man with murder after a witness to the shooting drove him to headquarters where he surrendered.

Dead was Willie Walters, 28, of 3209 Halsell St.

Ouachita Coroner Dr. John P. Burton ruled Walters died of a .38 calibre pistol shot in the center of the forehead that pierced the skull.

The coroner said Walters was shot almost at "point blank range" and he died seconds later.

Booked on a murder charge at 7:40 p.m. was Bynum Patterson, 63 of 3808 Dunlap St.

Police said that when Patterson surrendered in connection with the incident, he carried a .38 calibre pistol.

Police said Walters died in the kitchen of his home shortly after 6 p.m.

Strange Twist
To Auto Wreck

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—A year ago July 31, Michael Edward De, 16, was involved in an accident on Old Post Road here while fleeing from police in a stolen car. He escaped without serious injury.

Early Friday, the boy, of Mamaroneck, was cruising along the same road in a car reported stolen from Arthur Rolf, also of Mamaroneck. This time, he was not being pursued.

But something happened as he neared the spot of the previous accident. The car went out of control and hit a tree, killing him.

Oldest Woman
In U.S. Dies
At Age Of 114

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Mrs. Kyriakoula Psara, 114, believed to have been the oldest woman in the United States died in John J. Kane Hospital Friday.

Friends said Mrs. Psara's birth records were lost when her native island of Patmos in the Aegean Sea changed from Turkish to Italian and then to Greek rule.

Mrs. Psara, whose husband died 25 years ago, lived at the Greek Orthodox Cathedral where she cooked her own meals and attended services every day.

She became ill several weeks ago and was taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Psara, who came to the United States in 1912, said in an interview several years ago, she couldn't understand all the "fuss being made over her age. She said that on her native island it is not uncommon to live past 100.

Fight Begins
By NAACP To Open Schools

United Press International — The NAACP began its long-expected battle Friday to force the re-opening of Virginia's nine schools which have been closed to avoid integration.

But in Arkansas, Gov. Orval E. Faubus asserted that Little Rock's four high schools will stay closed this year unless the federal government yields.

NAACP Attorney Oliver W. Hill of Richmond filed a motion with U. S. District Judge John Paul of Harrisonburg to force the re-opening of Warren County High School in Front Royal, Va.

Another NAACP lawyer, Victor J. Ashe of Norfolk, said he would file a motion Monday with U. S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman of Norfolk, asking that the port city's six white junior and senior high schools be re-opened immediately on an integrated basis.

A similar motion to force the re-opening of Charlottesville's only white high school and one of its five white elementary schools was being considered.

The nine schools were closed by order of Gov. J. Lindsay Almond

NO RELIEF IN SIGHT

8 Homes Destroyed
By Blaze In Calif.

MONROVIA, Calif. (UPI) — A major brush fire which has destroyed at least eight homes jumped fire lines and raced over hundreds of additional acres Friday night as the California governor declared this foothill community a disaster area.

"We just blew up 2,000 acres," a fire chief said, "It's going like hell!"

The fresh outbreak came as winds gathered in speed near day's end, sending flames boiling into new tinder-dry fodder on the north and east sides.

"Everything came all undone at once," a smoke-blackened fireman said. "It looked like it took off in all directions."

Noting signs of an impending new flareup, fire dispatchers issued quick orders which resulted in firefighters "backing out" of dangerous spots before the roaring walls of flames swept in.

Flames ran northward to the top of Monrovia Peak. They also "slopped over" into Bliss Canyon and Fish and Van Tassel Canyons on the east.

The new outbreak was into uninhabited territory. Lines on the south side, where homes were burned Thursday night, were reporting holding.

Size of the blaze was estimated at more than 3,000 acres. It had been figured at 1,400 only two hours before. Damage was ex-

Little Rock
Schools Will Remain Closed

Faubus Promises
Unless Federal
Officials Yield

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Friday that Little Rock's four high schools will stay closed this year unless the federal government yields.

As for himself, he said: "The people have voted and the law states they will remain closed."

"If we went ahead and used them (high schools), the only recourse the federal government would have would be to send in federal marshals to eject the teachers and students," Faubus said at a news conference.

Is there any chance he would defy the courts and order the schools reopened segregated?

"There are many things that are possible," he said.

He apparently ruled out the possibility of defying the courts and trying to use the schools anyway by reading a formal statement, which said in part:

"The people have voted to keep the schools closed, rather than open them as forcibly integrated public institutions."

"Therefore, if the federal courts continue to prevent the use of our own school buildings and school funds for the purpose of education, then the use of private buildings and private funds is the alternative."

CAMPAIGN

The Little Rock Private Schools Corporation already has a campaign in progress to collect funds and open schools in churches, rumpus rooms and lodge halls if the Eighth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals rules against it next Monday.

GM Company
Paralyzed By Local Issues

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors' industrial empire was paralyzed Friday despite a new three-year contract agreement with the United Auto Workers Union.

The negotiators left more than 8,000 local issues hanging when they signed the national agreement Thursday night.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther made it clear the local unions were authorized to continue their strikes until their own local issues were cleared up.

As a result, the 275,000 GM production workers who struck over national contract issues Thursday continued their strike Friday over local issues. GM reported all of its 126 plants in 71 cities across the nation were closed by the local disputes.

All of the local disputes have to be cleared up by Oct. 20, however, because that is the date for ratification of the national contract and all local issues have to be solved before the national contract can be ratified.

BLOCK CLEARED

The national agreement was the biggest roadblock in the path leading to a return to peace in the auto industry, however. GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton said it was possible all of the local issues could be cleared up by the middle of next week, paving the way for full scale production of 1959 model cars for the first time.

Chrysler Corp., which reached an agreement covering 75,000 production workers on Wednesday, was still hampered by local strikes involving 11,700 workers

Red MIG-17's
Damage Plane
Bringing Food

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Communist Chinese Mig-17's attacked and damaged an unarmed Nationalist cargo plane Friday while it was parachuting food and medicine to Big Quemoy Island, the defense ministry announced.

The crippled twin-engine C46 crash-landed on the besieged island. Its radio operator and engineer were wounded in the first aerial attack the Red Chinese have made on an airdrop plane attempting to crack the artillery blockade of the offshore Quemoy Island group.

Two other crew members and the four of five men engaged in pushing parachute-rigged supplies from the plane escaped uninjured.

OPEN FIRE

Two of the Soviet-built, super-sonic Migs swooped on the helpless plane from a low altitude. They opened fire from below and behind it, a war communique said.

Robert C. Miller, UPI correspondent on Big Quemoy, reported that two Migs swept across the island at less than 5,000 feet while at least six others flew a protective cover at more than 20,000 feet.

Rear Adm. Liu Hoh - Tu, the Nationalist defense ministry spokesman, called the attack a "wanton act of cruelty." He told United Press International: "This was a straight case of a provocative action. The Migs sneaked out of Lungki air base, three jet-flying minutes away, and attacked our unarmed plane carrying food and medicine."

The attack occurred at 4:15 p.m. military sources said the Migs launched rockets at the transport plane. That report could not be confirmed at the defense ministry.

Friday, Red China announced its air force interceptors had shot down two of the U.S.-built C-46 planes while they were airdropping war material to Quemoy. The New China News Agency broadcast said one plane crashed on the island and the other into the sea nearby.

The Red Chinese foreign ministry also broadcast its 21st "serious warning" against U.S. "grave military provocations." It charged U.S. fighter planes had

Bullet-Riddled Bodies Of Five
Found In Havana

HAVANA (UPI)—The bullet-riddled bodies of five men were found in different parts of Havana Friday after four bombs exploded Thursday night in the metropolitan area.

It was the second successive day in which bodies of unidentified men appeared near the scene of bombings, a grim warning to rebel terrorists that the government was carrying out an "eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" policy.

At the same time, the rebel radio claimed that all railway traffic west of the city of Victoria de las Tunas, in Oriente Province, had been interrupted since 1 a.m. Sunday by the destruction of 15 bridges by saboteurs.

This meant that the city of Santiago, Oriente provincial capital, had been cut off from Havana by rail and was depending exclusively on highway transportation for its supplies.

On the other hand, the rebels also had been active burning trucks, buses and almost any other kind of vehicle in various areas of Oriente, Camaguey and Las Villas Provinces.

Occasional Rain
Seen For Area

Occasional rain and cool temperatures are in prospect for today in the Twin Cities area, with partly cloudy and a little warmer in view for tomorrow.

The high temperature recorded at Selman Field yesterday was 64.

The low was 51. Rainfall until 6 p.m. was .06.

At 13 of an inch, the outlook for Arkansas today and tomorrow is for cloudy and a little warmer.

Pretty Patti
Police Chief

CHICAGO (UPI)—Patti Counts shook her pretty red head Friday and said she's sorry for Aurora, Ill., but she'll have to quit as the town's police chief.

Things are certainly in terrible shape in Aurora, Patti said, but she has a sneaking suspicion that Mayor Paul Egan wasn't "completely sincere" when he appointed her as his police chief Thursday.

Patti, who is 28 years old and in excellent shape, decided to quit the law business after a night of soul-searching.

First thing this morning, she called a news conference at the night club which she happens to serve as publicity agent.

MORAL SUPPORT

About 30 reporters, photographers and television cameramen found Patti gaining moral support from a blonde who sings at the night club and three waitresses clad in close-fitting slacks, with toy pistols strapped around their waists in honor of the occasion.

Patti, looking a little weary and serious, said she went out to Aurora Thursday and accepted Egan's offer of a job as the law in Aurora. Aurora certainly needed some law, since Egan had fired the old chief of 68-man force.

Although Egan insisted a woman had "the potentialities" to bring his kind of law to Aurora, Patti indicated she felt the mayor was a little publicly-minded in entrusting her with the job.

Patti posed prettily for the photographers and read a statement expressing "full confidence in Mayor Paul Egan and his crusade to keep honest government in the city of Aurora."

Search Pressed
For 11-Year-Old

HAMBURG, Ark. — (Special)—Sheriff B. A. Courson organized a search party near here last night to hunt for an 11-year-old youth lost on a squirrel hunt.

Volunteers arrived equipped with lights to launch the search in the Fountain Prairie area, a wooded section, north of Hamburg.

The missing youth was identified as Jimmy Carpenter, son of Clark Carpenter of the Fountain Prairie Community.

A report was filed with Courson at 7:30 p.m. and by 10 p.m. volunteers were called to aid in the hunt. Authorities were combing the area late last night.

Sources said it was believed the youth was lost near his home. He had gone squirrel hunting, but did not emerge from the woods at nightfall.

OVER DETENTION HOME

Legal Action Said Possibility Here

District Attorney Albin P. Lassiter has warned the State Department of Public Welfare that court action could be taken against its withdrawal of support from the Ouachita Parish Detention Home, the Morning World learned last night.

Lassiter, in a letter to Public Welfare board chairman Willard Kilpatrick, advised the state department to consult its attorneys and reconsider.

In doing so, he pointed to an "agreement or contract" signed by the Ouachita Parish Police Jury and Public Welfare, saying:

"We call to your attention that this agreement contained no time limit nor any provision for the Welfare Board to discontinue its support of this facility..."

"We sincerely believe that this contract or agreement is one that can be actionable in the courts, should it become necessary," Lassiter said.

A copy of his letter was obtained by the Morning World last night, climaxing a day of developments in the Detention Home issue. Lassiter issued copies of his statement to all news media in the city.

HEARING

Mary Evelyn Parker, Commissioner of Public Welfare, announced earlier in the day that she will hold an on-the-spot hearing at the Detention Home Monday.

Meanwhile, A. D. Manuel, home supervisor, issued a statement defending his position and said he had "operated the home as nearly segregated as possible with the support of this facility..."

FORMOSA STRAIT CRISIS

Mediation Support
Reported Growing

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Support for mediation of the Formosa Strait crisis by a committee of small powers or by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld grew in the United Nations General Assembly Friday.

Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange earlier this week proposed intervention either by a "balanced group" of small countries or by Hammarskjöld. Former Assembly President Prince Wan Waihayakon of Thailand called for action by Hammarskjöld.

New Zealand and Greece voiced strong support for the Norwegian proposal in the Assembly's policy debate Friday.

At the same time, the powerful 28-Nation Afro-Asian group named a committee of eight countries to draft a policy statement for the territorial disputes," he said.

entire group on the Formosa crisis. Named to the committee were Ceylon, Ghana, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Japan, Malaysia and the Philippines. It will report next Tuesday.

Malayan Ambassador Ismail Bin Dato' Abdul Rahman, chairman of the meeting, said the group's course "probably will be based on the principles of (The Bandung conference of 1955) and of the U.N. Charter."

New Zealand Prime Minister Walter Nash told the Assembly the first step in the Formosa Strait crisis was to stop the fighting.

"There can be no place in a world governed by the principles of the U.N. Charter for the use of force as a means for settling territorial disputes," he said.

Thirty Are Wounded In Skirmishes

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Lebanese army troops fired on anti-government rioters and clashed repeatedly with others around blazing barricades in the streets of Beirut Friday.

Semi-official sources reported at least five persons dead and as many as 30 wounded in the series of skirmishes that began Thursday night between troops and crowds opposing the new government of President Fuad Chehab.

Oil-soaked barricades erected by the Phalangist opposition in the streets blazed furiously Friday night along the main routes leading out of the capital.

Mobs, some of them led by women and children, defied the army's attempts to rip down the barriers and put out the fires.

TEAR GAS

Troops sprayed the rebels with tear gas and chemically-treated water to no avail. The army opened fire on some rioters when they attacked cars and beat the drivers.

In the south of the city, where 3,000 Phalangists resisted attempts by the army to bring down the barricades, two persons were killed and three wounded.

The army, under orders to crush any uprisings by supporters of former President Camille Chamoun, used tanks and automatic weapons to break up a crowd of 1,000 persons who marched on the defense ministry Thursday night.

Some 4,000 Chamounists, led by stick-swinging women, swarmed through the Moslem and Armenian suburb of Dora Friday in an attempt to barricade the main highway leading to the north.

They bottled up the road with heaps of burning truck tires and tossed rocks, street signs and flaming tree branches onto the burning barricades.

Troops arriving in trucks tried to push the mob back, but opened fire when the rioters tried to fight back with sticks and clubs. Seven persons were wounded in the fight, including one woman.

U.S. forces were not involved in the bitter street clashes.

Mother Of Five Children Killed
By Cypriot Rebs

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—A British serviceman's wife was shot and killed and her woman companion was wounded Friday in a savage eruption of island-wide violence which amounted to an open declaration of war by the British underground on Cyprus.

The two women were shot while shopping in the port city of Famagusta, now regarded as the major stronghold of the Greek Cypriot EOKA underground. It was the first such attack since the underground launched the campaign for an end to British rule nearly four years ago.

The slain woman was the mother of five children, ranging up to 18 years. Neither of the victims was identified by name.

Minutes after the shootings, authorities imposed a curfew on the city. British security forces fanned through the Greek sector. A few shots were heard but were believed to have been fired by troops to enforce the curfew.

The attack was expected to step up plans for the evacuation of British dependents from Cyprus. Reliable sources said families of British servicemen were advised recently to prepare to leave the island at short notice.

eral managements. The text of the statement follows:

"The City of Monroe Utilities secured the services of French L. Smith, as general manager, effective Monday, October 6, 1958. Travis Oliver, newly elected chairman of the Commission, in announcing this appointment, stated that every member of the Commission was intensely gratified that Mr. Smith could be prevailed upon to accept this position. Mr. Oliver recalled that much of the success of the Commission's first two years of operation was directly attributable to the untiring efforts of Mr. Smith in the performance of a public service as an uncompensated member of the Commission.

"Mr. Smith was appointed as one of the original members of the commission for a term of two years, which expired Saturday, October 4th. Throughout that period Mr. Smith devoted his full time and energy to the work of the Commission, serving for more than a year as its chairman.

"T. H. Underwood, former general manager, for approximately two years, resigned from that post October first for personal reasons requiring his return to the West Coast area. Mr. Oliver commended the excellent work performed by Mr. Underwood, stating that the Commission, and the people of Monroe, confronted with Mr. Underwood's departure, and the loss of French Smith as a member of the Commission, were indeed fortunate that they could secure the continued service of Mr. Smith in a new capacity.

"The Commission also announced the election of Robert Cowden, as vice chairman, and David Kaplan, as secretary, effective October sixth."

FRENCH L. SMITH

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard also lauded Smith, saying, "Very few citizens have ever performed a greater civic job than Mr. Smith did over the two years — and without pay. His past efforts prove that he has Monroe at heart. Based on the past, I know the commission will be in good hands."

When asked for comment, Smith said, "I took this job at the insistence of the commission. And I want it clearly understood that my policy will remain the same — right down the middle."

Two Small Boys Are Suffocated

OPPELOUSAS, La. (AP) — Two small boys suffocated in a wooden box at their Little Tiche home Friday.

Dead were Gary Paul Morris, 3, and Jack Kenny Morris, 7.

Willie Morris Jr., said his sons were playing in the box used to show calves in agricultural shows and became trapped inside. They were missed after about two hours and found when their sister unlocked the box.

Negro Lost In Catahoula Swamp Found

JONESVILLE (Special) — An Alexandria Negro, lost in the Catahoula swamps since early Thursday, was found yesterday afternoon and appeared to be in good condition.

Spencer Fells, 43, went squirrel hunting in the Little River section near Archie about 5:30 a.m. Thursday. He was accompanied by three other Negroes, Johnny Harris and Samuel and Andrew Williams, all of Alexandria, who said they became separated from Fells about 8:30 that morning. They began searching the area, but were unable to locate Fells, they reported.

Later in the day, Catahoula Parish authorities were called in and officials at Alexandria were also alerted.

An all-night search Thursday, which continued into Friday, failed to locate the man and yesterday morning a helicopter from England Air Force Base was called to aid in the hunt.

The helicopter party saw the Negro early yesterday afternoon when he waved a white handkerchief at them. Officials said they motioned the man to start walking in one direction but that he took another and they lost sight of him.

However, the helicopter operators notified the ground crew of the general area in which they had spotted Fells, and they concentrated on the section and discovered him at 3:45 p.m.

He told his rescuers he "just got lost." Authorities said he was hungry and covered with mosquito bites but was in good condition otherwise.

He was found about two miles from where he had entered the swamp.

had warned of division at home and abroad if the administration persisted in a course of firm support for the Chinese Nationalist defense of the Quemoy and Matsu coastal islands.

In a speech Tuesday at Providence, R.I., Green contended the Eisenhower policy was not supported by a 1955 congressional resolution authorizing use of U.S. armed forces to help defend Formosa, seat of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

The tone of Eisenhower's reply was brusque and at times almost angry.

Publication of the letter left no doubt that he aimed it for a wide audience of both critics and supporters and that he wanted the Communists to know of his expressed conviction that it was coming, the present debate over Formosa policy will disappear in national unity.

JES' Ramblin'

and their three children followed him later to his new home here.

The children, a daughter and two sons were Vera, now wife of Richard "Dick" Troy, Monroe businessman; Eric, later a commander in the U. S. Navy serving in Spain, and the Rev. Clifford Nobes, now pastor of St. Paul's Church in Kansas City, Mo.

This unusual man, Nobes, was through the years 1907-1943, manager of some of the fairly large hotels in New York City. When he retired, he came to Monroe to be near his daughter, Mrs. Troy.

He declares that he derived great pleasure in mingling with leaders in business operations, when engaged in the hotel line, but his only club membership was that in the Sons of St. George, which is open to membership to men of English parentage and of English birth.

Many Friends

In Monroe, Nobes has made an army of friends. He is an active member and enjoys ushering in Grace Episcopal Church. For diversion, he is deeply interested in both baseball and football. Wrestling and boxing also are his delight.

He is one of the most active supporters of the Monroe Little Theatre and never misses seeing a show.

Early this year, Jes' Ramblin' on his way to the Monroe postoffice encountered Nobes, who was greeted with "Well, Mr. Nobes, guess I have you beaten this time. I got in the mail today a letter from a former Monroian now in the U. S. Navy who sent me a few lines from the South Pole and accompanied it by a jar of some of the soil down there."

"Huh, that's nothing to talk about, I sent a New Year greeting to Queen Elizabeth of England and today I got her reply," Mr. Nobes countered.

He showed us the letter and that suppressed us for some time.

Monroe, we are sure, is proud of such a stalwart resident who is unwearied by the passage of years. He seems to have found the best remedy with which to combat the ravages of Old Man Time.

be entertained at the gala affair, Birdsong said.

The livestock shows have more local interest than any other year, especially the hog exhibits he said, and several herds of beef cattle will arrive Sunday and Monday for the occasion.

J. J. Joyce, Jr., county agent, said that any persons wishing to enter exhibits, are welcomed to do so and also persons from other parishes are welcomed to enter exhibits or livestock, especially those from parishes that do not have fairs of their own.

Mrs. Audrey Dawson, home demonstration agent, said that 26 booths will be featured in the Exhibit Building which will include 14 agriculture booths and 12 homemaking booths.

The booths will contain the latest information concerning the stressing problems that plague the farmers and homemakers, she said. Each booth has a lesson for someone to learn, she explained.

Mrs. Dawson and Joyce are assisting the agricultural and home demonstration clubs in getting the necessary information for their booths.

They said that Monday, at 7:00 p.m. will be the deadline for bringing in singular or personal exhibits.

The personal exhibits will include anything imaginable that is made or grown in the home or farm, the helpers said. They mentioned that the educational booths are the best that the fair has ever had.

POLICE BLOTTER

TWO ARRESTED

Two Monroe Negroes were arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and reckless driving yesterday. One was involved in a wreck, police said.

Dora McDonald, 30, of 618 Marx St. was taken into custody in the 600 block of S. Second Street, charged, and placed in jail with bond set at $437.50.

Otis Kelly, 40, of Rt. 1, Box 270B, was arrested at the intersection of Jackson and Bry Streets at 12:20 p.m., after he collided with the back of a car driven by Mrs. Bonnie L. Lane, 713 Standifer St.

Both vehicles were going north of Jackson, police said. The right rear end of her car, and the front of his were damaged.

Kelly was charged with driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, and driving with improper brakes. Bond was set at $437.50.

FOUR CHARGES

A 75-year-old man was placed in the city jail yesterday, with bond set at $77.50, after he was arrested by Monroe police on four charges.

John H. Holman, 203 Sixth St., was taken in custody at home, charged with carrying two concealed weapons, a knife and a gun, discharging firearms in the city limits, and drunk and disorderly conduct.

A 19-year-old youth was in the Monroe city jail last night with bond set at $460, after a policeman said he spotted him taking money from a cash register at the Majestic Hotel.

Police said yesterday that David E. Dougal, who had resided at the hotel, was charged with theft and vagrancy, at 1:10 yesterday morning.

The manager of the hotel alerted police to watch the register. When he had to leave the lobby, he locked the register, leaving Dougal in the room, police stated.

He is scheduled to appear for trial in city court Wednesday.

Dougal was treated at Conway Memorial Hospital at 10 last night, after he slashed himself on the arm with a spoon, Ouachita Parish Coroner Dr. John Burton stated.

He was returned to the Monroe police station and released to relatives.

11, June 7, Jimmy 6, and Ruth 5, in critical condition at Indiana Hospital was Linda, 9.

The other child, Elizabeth, 12, said her father was having trouble getting the fire started and sent her to the cellar to get more kindling and he got a can of kerosene.

While Linda was in the cellar, the blast occurred. She said she ran back up stairs and saw her father in the kitchen, his clothing ablaze. Elizabeth said her father shouted to her to get out of the coal chute and said he was going upstairs to get the others.

Within minutes, Bill Pounds, Erie, Pa., who was visiting at a house about 75 feet away arrived. "I could hear a girl screaming," he said. "I ran into the flames and could see this little girl on the steps to the upstairs. I grabbed her and took her outside."

The rescued child suffered third degree burns of the entire body. Firemen from Clymer and Dixonville were forced to pump water from a creek to fight the blaze because there are no water lines in the area.

to skip the budget here on the main campus," Middleton said. "We cannot continue to accept all so-called qualified students without more funds."

"We can't continue to expand in New Orleans unless we close up some things here," Middleton added, "closing down in New Orleans would be unthinkable."

Member Percy Roberts of Baton Rouge suggested New Orleans lawmakers should request a grant from the Board of Liquidation of State Debt.

Middleton replied a maximum $100,000 grant from the board would fall far short of the funds needed.

He added the extra money for the New Orleans branch was needed before the Legislature meets again next May, so renovation of buildings can begin for the larger enrollment next fall.

In other action, the board:

1. Accepted gifts and grants totaling $724,574, the largest $47,574 from the National Institute of Health to Dean W. W. Frye of the LSU school of medicine to establish a training program in tropical medicine.
2. Allocated an additional $70,000 for remodeling the old library building for other use. Total cost of the remodeling will be $120,000. The new 3.5 million dollar library was opened for use this fall.
3. Approved building sites for seven new buildings, the feed and fertilizer laboratory, home economics buildings, physics extension, electrical engineering building, poultry instruction and research building, industrial education and administration building.

Distance Mark To Be Attempted

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Airline pilot Charles Banfe Jr., thwarted in his attempt to fly a small Texas-built plane around the world in eight days, will try instead for a non-stop distance record next week with a Tokyo to San Francisco — or beyond — hop across the Pacific.

Hal Rachal, president of Mooney Aircraft, Inc., of Kerrville, which sponsored the around the world venture, said Banfe will take off from Tokyo, probably Tuesday or Wednesday, and try to fly his Mooney Mark 20-A monoplane at least as far as San Francisco and possibly as far as Miami, Fla.

Legal Action Said Possible

physical facilities at my disposal."

The Department of Public Welfare last Monday moved to withdraw financial and administrative support from the home, a day after the Morning World published a report stating that cases of "race mixing" were seen by newspapermen at the home.

But Mrs. Parker said the board's move to withdraw from the home had no connection with the Morning World's disclosures. She termed the action an economy move.

But Lassiter said "several serious legal problems are involved in the proposal of the Welfare Board" to withdraw its support from the home. He made a legal study at the request of Police Jury president M. W. Montgomery.

Montgomery previously has said that the Police Jury won't be able to afford the home when the state withdraws January 1. Should the home be closed, it would be removed from the site and the 10-acre, located on the Milhaven Road, would return to the Goodwill Charities Association, a Negro organization.

Lassiter wrote:

"On May 22, 1957 an agreement or contract was signed by the Louisiana State Department of Public Welfare and the Ouachita Parish Police Jury in consideration of the above on behalf of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury and the further agreement on behalf of the Welfare Department to operate this detention home. This contract and agreement was drafted by the Department of Welfare and all conditions and agreements placed therein were done according to the wishes of the Welfare Board and Department. This agreement details the entire function of the Welfare Department."

RESOLUTION

He pointed out "based" on a resolution passed by the Welfare Board on March 25, 1955 to participate in the operation of the Detention Home, the Police Jury called a bond election.

Little Rock Schools Will Remain Closed

temporarily restrained the Little Rock school board last Monday from turning over the high schools to the corporation on a lease basis as private, segregated schools.

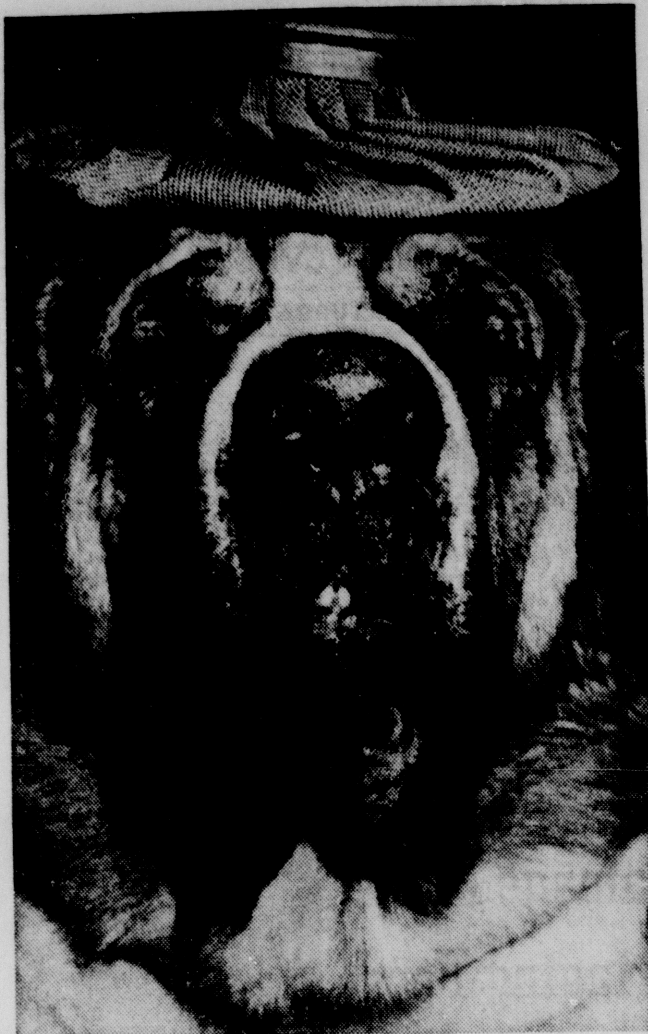

The court will decide next Monday whether to make the restraining order an injunction, permanently denying the corporation the use of the schools.

"It appears that the only question to be passed upon by the court at St. Louis next Monday is whether or not it will allow the private school corporation to exercise its legally acquired right to use the leased school properties," Faubus said.

"The right of a private corporation to use the properties cannot be passed off as a legal subterfuge to avoid integration, because the only question is whether the facilities are to be used by the corporation, or not be used at all."

Faubus said the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People may have to provide a high school education for Negroes in Little Rock.

"The matter of providing educational facilities for the Negro students has been mentioned," he said. "I will assist the private school corporation or any other in providing education for Negroes as well as whites."

Deaths

ELBERT E. DAWSON

Elbert E. Dawson, 205 South Third St., West Monroe, died in a local hospital last night. He was an employee of the Trunkline Gas Company of Houston, Tex.

The body will be shipped to Tulsa, Okla. for funeral services. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery there.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Daphne S. Dawson; West Monroe; and two brothers, Carl, Amarillo, Tex., and John Dawson, Tallala, Oklahoma.

WILLIE C. HEATH

Willie C. Heath, 39-year-old World War II veteran of Bastrop, died early yesterday at the Veterans Hospital in Little Rock, Arkansas.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete but will be under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home of Rayville. The Rev. Lynn Townsend, pastor of the Bonita Road Baptist Church, will officiate.

Survivors include a daughter, Miss Shirley Ann Heath of Bridgeport, Tex., and a brother, Jeff Heath of Bastrop.

F. N. McMURRIAN

FARMERVILLE (Special) — F. N. (Bud) McMurrin, 75, of Farmerville died in a Monroe rest home yesterday following a long illness.

Funeral services will be held today from the Second Baptist Church here at 2 p.m. with the Rev. O. J. Owens officiating. Burial will follow in the Marion Cemetery at Little under the direction of Kilpatrick's Funeral Home of Farmerville.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Ada McMurrin, Farmerville; one son, Everett McMurrin, Farmerville; one sister, Mrs. G. F. Pritchard, Clarksdale, Miss.; and one grandchild.

Fight Begins By NAACP To Open Schools

after Judges Hoffman and Paul ordered that they be integrated. A Virginia law automatically closes any racially-mixed schools but the governor proclaims the action.

Even as the NAACP attempted to test Virginia's "massive resistance" policy in the courts, Faubus appeared to be carrying on a militant campaign to keep Arkansas' schools segregated.

"The people have voted to keep the schools closed, rather than open them as forcibly integrated public institutions," Faubus asserted.

But he apparently ruled out the possibility of defying the courts and trying to use the schools.

The Little Rock Private Schools Corporation already has a campaign in progress to collect funds and open schools in churches, rumpus rooms and lodge halls if the Eighth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals rules against it next Monday.

The court temporarily restrained the Little Rock School Board last Monday from turning over the high schools to the corporation on a lease basis as private, segregated schools.

Faubus said the NAACP may have to provide a high school education for Negroes in Little Rock. However, he said: "I will assist the private school corporation or any other in providing education for Negroes as well as Whites."

Other developments in the racial crisis:

—Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.) called on the South to defy this week's Supreme Court integration ruling and operate schools "as we see fit." He urged Southerners and "all others who support a government of laws" to give vigorous support to the people of Arkansas and Virginia who "are undergoing the brunt of a brutal persecution directed at the South."

witness to the incident. Officers said the man brought Patterson to the police station. Patterson came willingly, they said.

The police said during preliminary investigation no motive for the shooting had been found. They were preparing to question Patterson.

Police said the witness they questioned last night told them Walters' wife, small child, and a Negro woman who owns Walters' house, were present when the shooting broke out.

None of the other people had been questioned and police said details preceding the shooting were uncertain.

Return

Dr. George W. Pomeroy, local Methodist pastor, and O. W. Wolf, returned shortly after midnight Friday morning by plane from Atlanta where they attended the funeral of C. W. Loveless, manager of Hotel Frances, who died here early Tuesday.

Mrs. Loveless and son Eddie will not return for several days.

Publicity

Louis Lock, the discoverer of the Monroe gas field, seems to be again likely to get more publicity despite the fact he has been dead many years. We are informed quite reliably that Bastrop is planning some sort of memorial to this stalwart pioneer.

Monroe at one time was so inclined, but the plan did not go through. Instead of a monument here, the fireplace, a handsome addition to the Ouachita Parish Library in Monroe, was dedicated to this man.

Elected

The Monroe Civitan club, meeting Thursday night, elected Capt. J. W. Faler of the Monroe fire department as its vice-president for the coming year.

Reunion

The annual reunion of the White family will be held Sunday at the home of the late A. J. (Uncle Jackson) White, located off the Sikes-Grayson Highway in Winn Parish.

8 Homes Destroyed By Blaze In Calif.

because of the huge smoke pall which spread over for miles, even blotting part of the clear skies over the Los Angeles area.

Ashe's drifted down in a light, steady "snowfall" 20 miles away in Glendale and Pasadena, where the afternoon sunlight took on a weird brassy cast.

A fire which started Thursday near Ramona, about 100 miles south of here in San Diego County, remained out of control after blackening more than 3,000 acres and destroying one wing of Ralph C. Whitney's mattress factory. Firemen said they hoped to control it by nightfall.

Another blaze broke out Friday afternoon near Escondido, also in San Diego County, and authorities stood by to evacuate residents as flames swept out of control toward the Mt. Israel area.

The main section of the plane was found in 4 feet of water in Florida Bay, 22 miles north of Key West. The craft, on a temporary assignment here from Brunswick Naval Air Station, Maine, was on a routine training mission when it went down.

Naval authorities identified the passengers as: Lt. Robert G. Toambrink, 30, of Brunswick, pilot; Lt. Donald W. Dominick, 27, also of Brunswick, co-pilot; Lt. J. C. Tannich 25, Brunswick; Lt. J. Carroll L. Donovan, 21, Brunswick; AT2 D. J. Donovan, 23, Portland; A03 R. L. Manuel, 20, Brunswick; AM1 R. W. Garretson, 28, Brunswick; ATR3 F. Geigle, 20, Jamestown, N.C.; and AEM—AN F.W. Movius, 21, Pompton Lake, N.J.

The United States disclosed it had reassured Nationalist China, in a message from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, that it would not retreat in the face of force. An American embassy spokesman issued this statement:

"A U.S. embassy spokesman confirmed that a message has been received from the secretary, that it confirmed there was no change in the secretary's position from his Sept. 23 speech, and that the secretary's message was discussed with high Chinese authorities Thursday."

"The message restated the U.S. position that we demand the cessation of Communist attack on the offshore islands and that we are not willing to retreat in the face of force."

The Communist Chinese shelling of the Quemoy group went into its 40th day.

Youth Unharmed After All Night Stay In Woods

HAMBURG, Ark. (Special) — Eleven-year-old Jimmy Carpenter, son of Clark Carpenter of the Fountain Hill community wandered unharmed into his night on a tractor and soon after grandfather's home east of Four-daylight managed to find his way back to his home early yesterday morning.

after being lost all night in the woods. The youth and his dog left on a squirrel hunt yesterday afternoon, and when they did not return by nightfall, Sheriff B. A. Courson was notified.

Courson, his deputies and a band of volunteers combed the section throughout the night but failed to find any trace of the boy or his dog. The youngster said he spent the night on a tractor and soon after grandfather's home east of Four-daylight managed to find his way back to his home early yesterday morning.

Four Arrested In Probe Of Forgery Ring

JONESVILLE (Special) — Four Jonesville Negroes are being held in the Catahoula Parish Jail at Harrisonburg for investigation in connection with a check forgery ring, according to the office of Catahoula Parish Sheriff George McGee.

Authorities said three checks were forged and cashed in Jena, LaSalle Parish, and two others in Jonesville. The total amount was about $100. Deputy Sheriff Max Good of Catahoula Parish said.

Two of the men, identified as George Robertson and Elijah Johnson, admitted being implicated in the forgeries, Good said. Robertson was arrested at Rinehart late Friday by McGee and LaSalle Parish Sheriff D. Floyd Johnson was arrested Friday night at Jonesville by deputies from both sheriff departments.

yesterday by Good and Catahoula Deputy J. W. Adams, and is being held for questioning. Augustine Robertson, wife of George Robertson, is also being held for questioning.

LaSalle and Catahoula authorities said they had been working on the case since the first incidents occurred about four weeks ago.

FLOODS KILL 35 — At least 35 persons were drowned in flash floods which swept over a wide area of southern France, officials reported Friday. The floods were triggered by an unusually heavy rainfall Wednesday.

Weather Is Being Watched

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Reconnaissance planes kept close tabs Saturday on a patch of bad weather which has the potentialities of developing into a tropical storm.

The area of squalls stretched late today from central Cuba south southwest into the western Caribbean. It was moving westward about 12 miles an hour. It has given no indication of developing the circulation characteristic of a tropical storm but "has all the potentialities."

Believe Red Citizens For Nuclear Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some U.S. officials expressed belief today that Russia's civilian leaders would have preferred not to resume nuclear testing at this time but that Red military chiefs forced their hand.

These officials, who are close to U.S. disarmament developments, said the Soviet military leaders apparently wanted to polish up some of their new nuclear techniques just as this country did during its recent Pacific test series.

They said they believed the civilian leaders, on the other hand, would rather have not resumed testing. They presumably feared such action might cost Russia some of the propaganda advantage it gained from its March 31 announcement that it was halting the tests.

The military chiefs apparently prevailed by pointing out that Russia had every right to continue testing at least until Oct. 31 under procedures laid down by President Eisenhower for beginning East-West talks on a nuclear ban on that date.

Eisenhower said this country would halt atomic tests for a year if Russia agreed to the meeting at Geneva. The Soviets accepted only to pose new uncertainties Tuesday by conducting two nuclear experiments. They followed up yesterday with two more.

Meantime, Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev injected a new element by proposing that the Geneva sessions be raised to the foreign ministers level. The reaction of U.S. officials was a prompt and decisive "no."

As if to remove any lingering doubt on this score, the State Department said Friday that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will go to Seattle Nov. 10-14 for a meeting of the Colombo Plan nations on southeast Asia development.

This obviously would make it impossible for Dulles to go to Geneva and return in time for the Seattle sessions. Moreover, the Geneva nuclear talks are expected to last at least a month and perhaps longer.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White refused to say whether the United States automatically would resume testing if Russia continued its present test series beyond the Oct. 31 deadline. He said only that this country reserved the right to reconsider its offer in such a case.

Jet Passenger Plane Service Is Approved

NEW YORK (UPI)—Airport officials gave the green light to Pan American World Airways and the British Overseas Airways Corporation Friday for the start of jet passenger plane service across the Atlantic.

BOAC was expected to announce it would inaugurate commercial jet travel across the Atlantic soon, possibly Saturday.

Pan American's first passenger flight is scheduled for Oct. 26. The Port of New York Authority announced after exhaustive tests that both Pan American and BOAC would be allowed to operate their big new jet transports in and out of Idlewild International Airport under strict regulations.

The authority said the noise suppressors on both Pan American's Boeing 707 and BOAC's De Havilland Comet IV had been certified as muffling the jet engine scream enough to permit operations over the city.

In its long awaited announcement, the authority, which operates all the major New York City area airports, said the planes would be required to take off over water whenever possible and take other precautionary measures.

Pan American announced several weeks ago it will begin service from New York to Paris and Rome on Oct. 26. It will begin service between New York and London on Nov. 17.

BOAC has set several starting dates in the last few weeks. A BOAC Comet IV flew from London to New York earlier this week carrying newsmen and BOAC said it would be the plane used to launch transatlantic jet passenger service.

The 707 is considerably larger than the Comet. It can carry 136 passengers, while the Comet has a maximum of 76. The Comet is powered by four Rolls Royce Avon RA-29 engines equipped with noise suppressors. The Boeing plane has JT3C-6 engines each of them equipped with 21 tube-shaped noise suppressors.

Positions Open

Three trainee or training positions have been opened by Civil Service, with applications available from John Daniel, examiner - in - charge at the Monroe Post Office.

College students and high school seniors enrolled in appropriate courses may apply until April 2, 1959 for positions in scientific, technical, agricultural, accounting and statistical fields, with pay $3,255 to $3,755 yearly. College juniors in veterinary medicine may apply as veterinarian trainees with the Department of Agriculture, at $4,040 a year. Electronics training instructors, at $4,040 to $4,980 annually are needed at Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss.

Production Of Steel Forecast

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel production of 25 million tons during the next three months was forecast Friday by Steel Magazine.

The metalworking weekly based its prediction on the rising tide of orders at the mills. During the three months just ended, steel mills operated at 60 per cent of rated capacity and production totaled 21 million tons.

Meany Agrees To Arbitrate 3-Day Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany Friday agreed to arbitrate a three-day strike by deck officers that has tied up ships at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports. His intervention could mean an early return to work by the strikers.

Meany's entry into the dispute was announced by the American Merchant Marine Institute, which invited him to act as arbitrator several days ago. The institute represents 21 of the 24 major steamship lines affected by the strike.

The negotiating committee of the International Union of Masters, Mates and Pilots (AFL-CIO) met later Friday and agreed unanimously on the selection of Meany as arbitrator.

The union and the institute still had to agree, however, whether Meany would decide on all of the issues in dispute. A union spokesman said the strikers probably would return to work immediately once the dispute was in arbitration.

The union said in a telegram to Meany that the negotiating committee "stands ready to meet with the AMMI committee to draft the submission agreement for the 10 pending issues."

A spokesman for the institute said that Meany's decisions as an arbitrator would be binding on both sides.

The union has demanded longer vacations and better overtime pro-

IMMORALITY STUDIED

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Jefferson parish council has called for full reports from investigations into an alleged juvenile sex ring. They will get them next week from officials of Sheriff William Coci's juvenile bureau. Coci said he was proud of "my juvenile department" for having "nipped in the bud" the alleged juvenile sex situation.

Newspaper Sale In Mississippi Is Announced

LOUISVILLE, Miss. (AP) — William H. Hight, editor and publisher of the Winston County Journal, said Friday he sold the weekly newspaper to Joe T. Cook of Mission, Tex.

Hight, who edited the 66-year-old newspaper since his father's death in 1943, said the newspaper would change hands Nov. 1. Hight plans to retire to farming and other interests.

Cook, a native of Weatherford, Tex., has been general manager of the Times Publishing Co. and editor and manager of the Mission Times for 26 years.

He will operate the Journal's office supply and job printing business in addition to the newspaper.

Grave Mistake Made

It is difficult to imagine a graver mistake than that made by President Eisenhower when he said that any decision issued by the U. S. Supreme court is the law of the land. In making that statement, he seemingly handed over to the supreme court not only his own executive powers but the legislative powers of congress.

Congress is the legislative, or law-making, branch of our government. Its duties are to enact the laws of this country. The supreme court's duties are to decide on the legality or constitutionality of such laws. Enforcement of the laws is left to the executive branch.

Even though congress is empowered to enact laws, the president still has veto powers and no legislation enacted by congress can become law if vetoed by the president unless the veto is overridden by a two-thirds vote of both houses of congress.

Yet, in a single swoop, by his own statement, the president has turned all law-making authority over to the supreme court, not only depriving congress of this function but depriving himself of the right of veto.

If anything the supreme court says is law becomes law, as the president has stated, then we have lost our tripartite form of government and have only the supreme court left to tell us what to do.

If this is true, we have lost our democracy, for we do not even have the right to elect the supreme court and therefore, as people and as citizens, have no control over its membership, since the members are appointed for life by the president. Once he has made an appointment, not even the president has the power to remove a supreme court member from office.

Under the president's interpretation that anything the supreme court holds to be law is law, that court could overrule any action taken either by the congress or the president and could become self-perpetuating.

We do not believe that anything the supreme court says is law must be the law. We do not believe we have lost our right to a three-division form of government.

If the supreme court could make any decision it chooses and could enforce that decision as the law, our country would be ruled by a politburo, presidium or central committee, such as that which ruled Russia during the reign of Stalin and which, on an expanded basis, continues to rule that nation.

These are matters which the president should have taken into consideration before he issued the statement in which he said any decision made by the supreme court becomes the law of the land.

If it is true that the supreme court's powers are supreme, there will be no sort of protection for any kind of private institution. Acting upon the authority which the president seemed to hand over to it, the supreme court could rule that any private school or other institution must accept as students or members anyone who applied for admission.

Anyone who has watched the actions of the supreme court since its 1954 Black Monday decision ordering integration of the schools cannot doubt that that is exactly what the supreme court will do. It has never refused a request of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and, under the sway of its own ardor, has even gone beyond those requests. One member of the supreme court is said to be a former attorney for the NAACP. It is difficult to see how he could have been more zealous then for the cause of that organization than he is now, although he should excuse himself in any case in which he has a personal interest.

In New York, Chicago, Detroit and other cities in the north which have been deluged with Negroes "immigrating" from the south, many hundreds of families, including those of modest means, have placed their children in private schools at a cost of several hundred dollars a year to avoid integration.

If the supreme court possesses all power, even this will not avail.

Are we compelled to admit that the whole country is powerless before the supreme court?

Kennedy-Ives Bill

When the Kennedy-Ives bill emerged as the last "labor reform" measure on which the last session of congress had an opportunity to vote, the proposal was defeated. A factor in the defeat was the opposition of those most strongly in favor of labor reform. Proposals to clean out hoodlumism and gangsterism in labor had been so watered down and twisted around that the Kennedy-Ives bill became an attack upon employers instead of a curb on mobster labor tactics.

Now Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) co-author of the bill, has given assurance to the Massachusetts Association of Plumbers and Fitters that the Kennedy-Ives bill will be reintroduced in the next session of congress "and, as far as I am concerned, will receive top priority."

The plumbers and fitters loudly applauded this announcement. They applauded again when William Morse of Springfield, president of the union group, said the senator "will be back here again in 1960 and as the Democratic candidate for president."

"A very, very minute group of those who appeared before that committee represented the rank and file of labor. They never worked, never ran a picket line, never held a job."

The Kennedy-Ives bill gave no protection to union members against the manipulations of the big labor bosses, who perpetuate themselves in office. It provided no assurance of secret, democratic elections in which union members would be protected from reprisals. It offered no way to keep gangsters, thugs and ex-convicts out of the unions. The only teeth it had were turned inward, instead of outward, and were designed to place industry still more at the mercy of such men as Dave Beck, James R. Hoffa and Walter Reuther. No wonder it was rejected by the non-radicals in congress.

The Great Cycles Of Life

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Victory Of DeGaulle Big Defeat For Russia

The victory of General Charles de Gaulle is undoubtedly the greatest defeat that Russia has known since the Russian Revolution of 1917. In the first place, all the world was given to believe that the Algerians were absolutely opposed to France, hated France, wanted to be free from France. The Algerian vote to remain part of France was 3,356,169 for to 116,615 against. This included Algerian Moslems. The Russian opposition to De Gaulle took hold only in Guinea where the premier is a Marxist. Other-wise all French colonies voted in the referendum to remain part of France. De Gaulle's judgment was correct.

While there is an Algerian independence movement, it did not show in the votes.

For years and years, the excuse for all France's weaknesses was the terrific strength of the French Communist Party. In fact, it is the French Communist Party that exercised a control over the United States Communist Party, all the world was given to believe that the Algerians were absolutely opposed to France, hated France, wanted to be free from France. The Algerian vote to remain part of France was 3,356,169 for to 116,615 against. This included Algerian Moslems. The Russian opposition to De Gaulle took hold only in Guinea where the premier is a Marxist. Other-wise all French colonies voted in the referendum to remain part of France. De Gaulle's judgment was correct.

The strength of the French Party did not show up in the referendum. In fact, districts that have for years been regarded as Communist controlled did not vote against De Gaulle. In a word, the nationalistic spirit engendered by De Gaulle's movement has already produced a resistance to Soviet subversion in France.

The new constitution can kill the influence of the French Communist Party altogether. In the first place, under it, France can switch from proportional representation to majority rule. If that happens, France will enjoy the two-party system similar to that which exists in the United States and Great Britain. It would mean that the splinter parties would disappear and that the Communists, to hold any position, would have to become the principal party in opposition. The referendum vote on the constitution would not indicate that the Communists hold any such position in France today.

Furthermore, subversion will not be tolerated under the new constitution. Such a picture as Thorez presented some years ago when he became ill, will not be permitted again. With all the medical facilities available in France or in any nearby country, he was flown to Moscow to be treated and for recuperation, apparently because the Communists feared that he might talk under an anesthetic. Then after a prolonged period of hospitalization and cure in Russia, Thorez came back to France. And the question arose in many minds as to whether Thorez is a citizen of France or of Soviet Russia. And that question must arise concerning Communists in all countries who accept the discipline of Russia.

Of course, it is true that even under the two-party system, Communists do operate, principally by infiltrating the major parties and in the guise of liberalism or even conservatism, doing the jobs the Kremlin needs to have done. But it is likely that De Gaulle, who has some considerable knowledge of Communist operations in France, particularly during the days of the Resistance, will know how to handle Communist sabotage of France. Also Andre Malraux, one of De Gaulle's ministers, was once in the Communist Party and has had experience with its machinations. He had been in China which in the 1925-27 period was the training ground for Communist leadership.

Therefore it is safe to assume that sooner or later, De Gaulle will find a method of eliminating Communist influence from French life. The great vote he received during the referendum justifies him in assuming that he has a mandate to do just that and being a man of action, he will.

How Moscow will react to this is still to be seen because the loss of prestige to Russia in De Gaulle's emergence to power by a popular referendum is enormous. For France has ever exercised an intellectual and spiritual leadership over Europe; it is, therefore, impossible for such a startling event as the emergence of De Gaulle and his acceptance by a referendum to have taken place without the whole of Europe being affected by it. This will have responses in every European country and will during the next year bring about unexpected changes in many European attitudes.

Politicians, in all countries, since 1945, have been rather fearful men. They have never understood the Communist phenomenon and have therefore been driven to absurd compromises by it. De Gaulle leads a new way - a hopeful way.

Better Fuel For Athletes Needed

There are no high octane or rocket fuels to give an athlete the extra energy needed to win. He must rely upon food - the fuel that was designed specifically for the human body.

Oxygen is the limiting factor in all muscular effort, because it is needed to help the fuel burn. The energy that the body is capable of producing depends upon the quantity of this gas that can be delivered to the interior of a tax even though they did not serve alcoholic beverages and did not charge for dancing.

But the most bitterly - debated and perhaps most - needed reform involved the so - called bonding period for payment of the federal excise tax on whiskey.

After a titanic struggle between America's two whiskey - producing giants, Schenley and Seagrams, Congress rewrote the law to extend the bonding period from eight to 20 years.

The final result represented a clear - cut victory for Schenley and other domestic distillers over the foreign distillers, which it is estimated postponed for at least 12 years a tax debt of $350 million.

Under the old law, distillers had to pay the $10.50 per gallon excise tax on whiskey held in bond when it became eight years old, whether or not there was a market for it.

American distillers contended that when they owed more eight-year old whiskey than they could sell, they could not hold the whiskey until they were able to sell it without paying the excise tax and they couldn't pay the excise tax until they had a market for the whiskey.

Distillers with their major operations in Canada, however, contended that the legislation was designed to bail the domestic industry out for bad guesses made when the Korean War began eight years ago.

That Congress chose to go along with the American distillers' view is one indication that there had been a definite inequity in the law. For instance, the new law will end the taxing of whiskey which may not exist when the tax is paid. Under the old law, the spirits were taxed on the amount existing at the end of the eight-year period, much of which evaporated after that time before it was sold.

The whiskey excise tax extension, as well as the other reforms, are expected to have a stabilizing effect on the industries affected. But the industries themselves are certain to reap the lion's share of the benefits.

The American taxpayer, in whose name so much is done, will not even notice the difference.

muscle fiber at any one time. There is a limit to the amount the lungs can absorb, even when panting, huffing, or puffing. Oxygen reaches the tissues via the blood and the circulatory system can be made more efficient thru training.

Training helps also by improving muscle coordination and skill. In this way, the muscles require less energy to perform a given task. The trained athlete may be able to coast along while his less conditioned competitor is using up his reserve sources of energy.

The average athlete thrives on a well balanced diet consisting of a variety of foods. But the champion considers details. Some foods develop more energy than others in the presence of the same amount of oxygen. Others produce energy in the absence of oxygen. This is important because even a slight improvement may make the difference between losing and winning.

Carbohydrates and fats are the most important fuels for muscular activity. Both have their merits but the best diet for the athlete contains ample servings of both.

There is evidence to show that certain products of fat metabolism are utilized most rapidly by the heart and other muscles. But this does not detract from the value of carbohydrates; those consumed in the ordinary diet are converted ultimately into fats and stored or burned as needed.

In addition, carbohydrates can be metabolized partly to produce energy in the absence of oxygen. This is important to know for those doing heavy muscular work: when the supply of oxygen is about to be exhausted, the body falls back on the carbohydrates for energy.

Furthermore, the brain depends upon sugars and starches for its energy. When the blood sugar is used up thru physical exertion, the efficiency of the athlete will suffer because the brain and nervous system are not functioning properly.

BRUCellosis H. J. writes: Are dizziness, diarrhea, and numbness of the arms symptoms of undulant fever?

REPLY Possibly but they are not the usual symptoms of the disease. In addition, they could occur in a variety of conditions, varying from an ordinary cold to nervousness.

Liquor, Tobacco Advice Attacked

Bert criticizes me. But I am a moralizing educator who places the ultimate good of children above my own gluttony. To get the point, read this case more fully and then ask yourself: Who else in America keeps warning youth against liquor and tobacco? Over 70,000,000 non - church folks read no church papers, so this newspaper serves as their moral "Bible".

Case Z-336: Bert Z., aged 48, is a successful Hoosier dentist.

"Dr. Crane, why don't you omit cases about liquor and tobacco," he admonished, as he was driving me to the Country Club for dinner.

"After all, you have plenty of other psychological problems to discuss without stepping on the corns of people who take a highball."

"Just today, for instance, one of your medical admirers told me he wished you'd quit mentioning alcohol, for he liked to drink a little."

"So I'd advise you to lay off of such controversial problems." When I moved from the college lecture room to the broader educational field of the newspaper, I still remained an educator.

I am not writing this column primarily for oldsters, but for starry-eyed teen-agers and even grade schoolers who have the world ahead of them.

As the father of five youngsters, and an active worker in the Boy Scouts, the YMCA and the church, I feel an obligation to youth.

So if I cause the conscience of some of you oldsters to twinge, then act like an adult and take your medicine.

Every intelligent adult knows that a lot of high pressure advertising is trying to stampede your youth into slavery to various bad habits.

Alas, we have a great many hypocrites in America, and a lot of them are educated men.

Because they happen to fall into a bad habit, they don't want anybody to mention liquor or tobacco lest their own consciences twinge.

In my own case, I admit that I am overweight. But I don't criticize any columnist who veers obsequiously.

Not at all! I am glad to see him try to prevent young folks from following my own bad example, for I know our job is to place the torch of truth in front of teen-agers.

But a publisher in Texas cancelled this column of mine because he liked to go on a binge on a Saturday night, so he felt angry at my warning teen-agers against whiskey!

That is hypocrisy. And you encounter it almost every time a smoking doctor tries to tell you that tobacco doesn't cause lung cancer or heart trouble.

If that doctor were honest, why would he take his cardiac patients off tobacco, as almost every medic in America has done for 50 years?

HOLMES ALEXANDER

Letter Written To Dead Father

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Honored Sir: This is the last letter I shall ever write you. Hundreds of letters, I suppose, have passed between us in the years that our lives overlapped.

You wrote every week to my brother and me when we were in Europe in World War II. You also wrote to Jonas Jones, our colored groom in the days long past, and later your gardener who not only grew and tended the most delicate tulips and orchids, but filled your big house with floral arrangements of breath - taking beauty.

I remember the unfinished letter you wrote me when you learned (before I could know) that my brother was killed in action deep in the German Black Forest in the final days of battle. Your dictation stopped in the midst of the passage which was more than you could speak. The lady to whom you were dictating for nearly 30 years your secretary, stood weeping last week beside your grave in the glorious sunshine of a Maryland autumn.

Jonas Jones, of course, was there standing not far from former U. S. Senator Millard Tydings and from Arthur Holley, the colored chauffeur who came to work for me in 1918 while still in his World War I uniform, and never left. I write all the things that I most admire. You were that finest thing, the southern gentleman. Without vanity, you were proud of two memberships which speak of ancestry. You belonged to the Society of the Cincinnati, a father-son heritage which began with officers of the American Revolution. The other membership was in the Society of the Lees of Virginia. Your grandmother was Hanna Lee Washington, who was born at Mount Vernon.

You knew, and you taught me, that it takes more than blood to make a gentleman. It takes courage, meaning grace under pressure. It also takes a sense of command which must be married to an awareness of obligation toward others. This combination allowed you to start from a Shenandoah Valley family, impoverished and reduced by the War of 1861-65, and to found a company of great success and prosperity. Its benefits were shared by the many whom you helped through college or out of financial troubles. The ownership was passed along after your death to your associates, not to your family.

You yourself were an invalid who went to sea as a Merchant Marine cadet, instead of to college. You were very homesick at the end of your first round-trip to Britain, and wanted to quit. But your mother wrote you: "There will always be a place for you at home; but my son, if you want a welcome, you must finish out your enlistment." So you stuck it out. It was the beginning of courage.

Later, you rode on your business through the dangerous Hal-field - McCoy section of West Virginia. There you learned to cuss so much that you had to teach yourself the elegant circumlocutions which always flavored the conversation that I heard around home.

"Great Jumpin' Jehoshaphat! Gosh, all Hemlock!"

You also taught yourself about English letters by reading all of Blackstone's Commentaries and all the novels of Dickens. The love of reading never left you, and your most recent author was Joseph Conrad. Your love of truth and beauty made you scornful of those opposites, both in literature and in political thought. I remember when F. D. Roosevelt was going to give the human race "freedom from fear." You collected into one expression all the dis- pleasure of a realist and all the contempt of an aristocrat for a faker who was taking advantage of his intellectual inferiors. You said, "Oh, piffle!"

You lost a son who was barely past 30. You lost a daughter who was a radiant 18. For years you kept the lonely vigil at the bedside of a stricken wife. You witnessed and you experienced so much hell - on - earth that you did not believe in further suffering in the after life. But you believed in God, and love and compassion, and I think you never went to bed without kneeling to pray.

Quoted below from memory is a stanza which I learned so long ago in college that I forget its author. But you, my father, lived these lines as no other man I ever met:

"Life is mainly foam and bubble; Two things stand like stone - Courage in another's trouble - Courage in your own."

Installment Plan Education Is Being Offered

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A top science school is offering education on the installment plan.

The California Institute of Technology said Friday that starting next year tuition will increase to $1,275 from $900.

To ease the financial strain on students and families, the school will arrange loans up to $1,275 a year for four years, repayable at $50 a month at 5 per cent interest. Loans of $900 a year will be made for four years, with the student paying interest only while in school. After graduation he'll repay at a minimum of $50 monthly, plus interest.

Aid To Communities

President Eisenhower's veto of the so-called depressed areas bill apparently was a wise move and one which should be lauded by the south. The federal aid to communities provided in the bill would have been as harmful to the country as federal aid to education.

The bill would have put a federal bureaucrat in city treasurers' offices throughout the country.

Federal grants and loans to cities undergoing economic troubles would have been made under the proposed measure. The idea was that Washington would provide loans for communities to establish new industries, launch public works and engage in slum clearance.

In exchange for the proposed lagniappe, bureaucrats would have moved in to administer city affairs under the pretense of seeing that the money was properly expended and protected.

Anyone who can add two and two knows that no money is free and that whatever we receive from the federal government must come from the pockets of the people, as if it were collected by the state or the city. Granting of federal funds for city projects merely would mean federal encroachment and the end of the cities' right to administer their own affairs.

Aside from the entry of the federal government into city affairs, the principle of the measure was wrong. It would have applied a brake to change, the force that is basic to this country's economic health. Some areas, such as the old textile belt in New England, are chronically depressed. This is true because mill owners have learned the advantages of moving their plants to the south and have done so.

Out taxes would reach staggering proportions if we were to attempt to keep all old, reeling or ghost towns up to their former levels of activity. It would be a violation of the principle of economics to try to maintain such a center by never-ending transfusions. Taxpayers across cities.

the nation should not be asked to help such depressed areas simply because of better climate, a good labor force and an absence of union bossism and hoodlumism have pulled industry south.

This nation was built by self-reliant people who did not wait for bureaucrats to give them federal grants but who went out and created their own opportunities. If the depressed areas want to cure their bad conditions, they should act on their own initiative, choose free enterprise as their goal and get out and sell their communities.

The south has everything to gain by economic change. To freeze the present situation by subsidizing depressed areas in the north would penalize the initiative and enterprise of the south and would have a stagnating, demoralizing effect on the whole country.

Many communities lose their perspective when they get the smell of Washington money. They should remember that Washington has no money of its own and that the funds being given away are drawn from the pockets of the taxpayers.

If big government and federal control over business are ever to be halted in this country, communities, cities and states must call a halt to accepting handouts that are given in exchange for liberty.

The depressed areas bill has been disposed of for a year but this sort of socialistic thinking, which made the introduction of such a bill possible, is certain to rise its head in the next session of congress. Until this sort of thinking is changed, self-reliant, independent communities are in constant danger of being penalized.

We cannot afford to give away our freedom simply because some community becomes less economically important and others gain in importance. We cannot afford to allow bureaucratic dictators to take over the administration of our cities.

Underwood's Work

The resignation of Tom H. Underwood as general manager of the Monroe Utilities Commission was accepted with "regret" by the commission and there is reason for the same genuine regret on the part of the citizens of Monroe. Work accomplished by Mr. Underwood during his two-year stay here was of great value.

Accomplishments of the commission manager were described by the commission, composed of five leading Monroe businessmen, as "outstanding. This description aptly points out the character of his work.

Many leading people of Monroe regard the establishment of the Utilities Commission as the most important event in Monroe's fiscal life in many years. It marked the turning point from a loose administration of the city's utilities toward a course which has caused these utilities to return heretofore undreamed-of profits. It has enabled the city to reduce its outstanding indebtedness, instead of continuing to pile up more debts, as had been done before that time in the previous administrations.

Prior to the establishment of the Utilities Commission, the city utilities had been operated in a general fashion by members of the commission council, but these officials had so many duties to attend to that they were unable to give the utilities the kind of business and professional administration that was required.

This need was filled by the Utilities Commission, and Mr. Underwood, as its director, was largely responsible for its getting off to an extremely successful start and for continuing that success over a period of two years.

As a combined business administrator and electrical and mechanical engineer, Mr. Underwood was indeed outstanding and he saved the city many thousands of dollars in engineering fees and in avoiding costly mistakes.

The Utilities Commission as a whole deserves high praise, and it is to be hoped that it will be able to find another manager as successful as was Mr. Underwood.

President Eisenhower's Outlook Not Promising

President Eisenhower has a analysts are gathering opinions right to feel a mite gloomy as he looks forward to January 20, 1961, when he will retire from office. The outlook is unpromising. Not only is he confronted with the likelihood of another Democratic Congress, with larger majorities in both branches than the last, but the additional foreboding that people he has relied upon for aid and advice will drift away, one by one.

The prospect is not encouraging for the Republican party, for the feeling in Washington is that the President, rightly or wrongly, may be accused of indifference to the duties of his office during the remaining two years of his term, leaving an unpropitious situation for the GOP in 1960.

U.N. Flag On American Planes Is Out Of Place

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Some body has talked the Allegheny Airlines into marking its planes with the United Nations flag. A few months ago the United Airlines mounted the global - view symbol of the UN, but there was a strong public reaction and United rubbed the symbol off 190 of its craft.

At almost the same period, the Polish Communist government tried to muscle in on a Polish American celebration at Jamestown, Virginia. Governor Almond of the Old Dominion refused to attend if the Polish Ambassador would be there, and the party was cancelled.

These are matters in which our patriotic societies, like the American Legion and the Daughters of the American Revolution, often intervene. But the general public has an interest, too. Several weeks ago I was present at the roll-out of a new air force fighter plane, one that was made for no other purpose than to defend the United States against Russia. And there was the UN flag flying on the ramp when the manufacturer formally turned over this new fighter to the U. S. air force! Well, these four incidents have a common denominator. It can be expressed in the famous first line of "Oliver Wendell Holmes' celebrated poem: "Aye, tea, that catered ensign down!" The four incidents, and others like them nearly every day, show an evil subversion of well-meaning American persons and institutions. They are being induced to strike their colors.

It will be said, I know, that this is an unenlightened and low-brow viewpoint, but is it? I asked several officials about the aptness of the UN pennant, and I received the same answer from all — a shrug!

And the attempted take-over of the Jamestown celebration by the Communist Poles — who would be advantaged by that? The Communist Poles and their Kremlin masters would gain prestige by propaganda over anti-Communist, pro-American Poles. But is that what we want? The only defense I have heard is that we have spent $90 million in foreign aid to buy frier'ship in Poland, and that we might have bought more from the Red Polish Ambassador at Jamestown. But this argument is so water - logged with fluid from the winking well that it sinks of its own weight.

And the showing of the UN symbol by Allegheny Airlines? That serves that frontier corner where George Washington heard his first bullets sing. Last week President Eisenhower made a commemorative address at the 200th anniversary of the building of Fort Ligonier, 28 miles from Johnstown, one of the ports of call of Allegheny Airlines. Not many miles to the south and east is Gettysburg, also in Allegheny Airlines' territory, where Abraham Lincoln made a deathless speech about "this nation" and its principles which he prayed "shall not perish from the earth."

There is nothing low - brow and nothing unenlightened in the established American belief in monotheism and monogamy. We believe in one God, although we don't prescribe how to worship. We believe in one mate at a time in matrimony, but we don't officially go in for match-making as is done in many foreign lands. So, why this idea that a man with one God and one wife should have more than one country?

The burden of proof is surely on anybody who contends that a flag of 81 countries is better than the flag of one country. It would be impossible to convince any person or logic that you can raise the UN flag over American institutions without some lowering of the U. S. flag. You can't have an action, as Newton wrote long ago, without an equal reaction in the opposite direction. You cannot serve with a whole heart two masters, two marriages, two divinities, two countries.

The UN flag has its place — but not on domestic airlines. Not at the unveiling of American weapons. Not at a good many other places where weird hands are trying to fly some other banner than our own.

A manmade hormone offers hope for underweight adults who cannot gain weight. This product, Nivevar, stimulates the body to retain and utilize the protein building substances in the diet.

Its value was demonstrated on a group of five thin but otherwise normal adults. Some, used as controls, were given harmless tablets of similar appearance. Those receiving the real McCoy gained an average of two pounds per month; the maximum was 20 pounds in six months. All experienced a sense of well being along with increased appetite.

Nilevar, a male sex hormone, has been altered in the laboratories to such an extent that most of its sex stimulating effects have been removed except the growth potential. The lean adult differs from the person who is undernourished through starvation. He eats a balanced and adequate diet but fails to put on weight. Some say they eat like horses. In these individuals, only a fraction of what is consumed is absorbed by the body.

Many slimjims resemble their parents, not only in features, disposition, and mental powers but in weight. It is just as difficult for this group to gain as it is for the obese to lose.

Most physicians tackle the problem by insisting upon a thorough examination to determine whether the individual is healthy. If so, attention is directed toward the main issue — food. These underweights must be trained to eat more. High caloric, well balanced meals containing all the minerals and vitamins are needed.

Calculated on the basis of height and weight, the menus may be 10 to 15 per cent over and above what the body demands. Modifications may be necessary for those with food prejudices or allergies. The total caloric intake usually is increased 25 per cent if the beanpole can take it. In the past it was difficult to maintain this regimen because weight gain was slow and the prospects discouraging. Nivevar helps make food stick to the ribs.

MOUSE VIRUS Mrs. M. writes: What disease is caused by the bite of a mouse?

REPLY Lymphocytic choriomeningitis is the most common. The early symptoms of this disease are indistinguishable from those of a cold. Signs of brain irritation develop shortly thereafter and the victim complains of drowsiness and stiff neck. Many mice harbor the virus but the disease is not prevalent in humans. It is more likely to occur in the fall when infected field mice begin to invade the homes.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT—Alcoholism is unusual among those whose religious customs forbid drinking.

FORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Some Opposed To Commies In 1917

Many of those who wish to alibi the error of their judgments during the past 40 years, often say that most opinions that differ from theirs, particularly concerning Communist Russia or Communist China, are hindsight, and, of course, hindsight is a disease of which we are all guilty on many phases of life, particularly about ourselves.

The fact, however, is that quite a few persons were anti-Communist as far back as 1917. Among them was Hitler, Mussolini and other Fascists who frightened the liberals into being pro-Communist and drove many an innocent liberal into the Communist camp. John Spargo published a book in 1920, "Russia as an American Problem." John Spargo had been a distinguished socialist intellectual who had never been corrupted by the obscenities of Leninism. From the very first, he opposed the Bolsheviks because he recognized their antipathy to human liberty. At best, they sought to change the world by force; at worst, they seemed to have a psychosis about their own superiority over other men.

It was therefore not surprising that Spargo early discovered what I actually witnessed, namely, that Lenin, having found that Bolshevism could only succeed among peoples who knew not freedom turned to the satrapisms of Asia. This is what Spargo wrote in 1920:

... the leaders of the Russian Bolsheviks have turned their attention to the spread of their propaganda among the Asiatic peoples. They are reaching into China, Turkey, into Persia, Afghanistan, and India. They are making connection with, and exploiting, Pan-Islamism. All the Moslem hatred of Christianity and resentment against the treatment of Turkey ... all the fanatical nationalism of Persia and India they welcome as so much grist for their mill ...

I witnessed the organization of the Chinese Communist Party by the professor of philosophy, Chen Tu-shui. Chen was a Trotskyist, but immediately after the Baku Congress of Nations of the Orient, that did not matter. Chen was profoundly influenced by Karl Marx and his movement was entirely among intellectuals and had no relationship with the peasants or soldiers of China who would not have understood what he was talking about. The young Communist who organized labor in Shanghai, the industrial city, was Li Lih-san who was already a Russian trained and who by 1925 was able to call a general strike. But this strike was not over a labor issue or over an economic issue; it was not a Communist or pro-Russian. Alpro-Communist or pro-Russian, ready Li knew the techniques of utilizing an incident unrelated to anything in particular, to achieve an end. The incident was that a Sikh policeman, employed by a British-controlled Shanghai Municipal Council, shot a Chinese workman in a Japanese-owned cotton mill. The Chinese were agitating for a strike against Great Britain and the United States. And they went out on strike because the Chinese were fearful not to strike next. Within a few days, this strike movement spread throughout the Yangtze Valley and the issue had now become the abolition of extraterritoriality, of concessions and settlements, and of special treaties.

The Great Powers hardly knew what to do. The British were literally driven out of their concessions in Yangtze River cities but the French and Japanese stood firm. The Americans had no concessions but their businesses were boycotted. It was under these conditions that an army from Canton, led by General Chiang Kai-shek, head of the Whampoa Military Academy, and General Galens-Blucher, a Russian and later a marshal who was liquidated in one of Stalin's purges, marched through South China, defeated the warlords (tuchuns), reached the Yangtze River at Hankow and prepared to conquer China. This took from the end of May 1925 to Christmas week of 1926—an amazing performance. Russia would have conquered China then. However, Chiang Kai-shek discovered the Russian perfidy largely as a result of quarrels between Trotskyists and Stalinists.

... The crimes of the Bolsheviks against civilization, against all that civilized nations hold sacred and dear, have been too monstrous and too systematic to warrant our having any relations with them ... John Spargo's advice was not taken to our misfortune.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Newspaper Boy Work Valuable

CASE Z-336A: Jimmy B. aged 14, is a high school freshman. "Dr. Crane, he wants to have a newspaper route," his college educated mother informed me. "But I feel that he would be tied down unduly. If the weather is bad, the newspaperboys must still deliver their papers."

"And Jimmy doesn't really need the money, for my husband makes a good salary. So do you think I ought to encourage him in carrying a newspaper route?"

BRAVO, NEWSPAPERBOYS

Yes, and here is what all of you mothers and fathers ought to keep in mind. Carrying a newspaper route is the best possible training for youth in our "free enterprise" system.

For it lets boys operate their own private business. They work on the "small merchant" plan by which they buy papers wholesale from the newspaper. Then they must use modern merchandising methods to sell them. Even if they already have a route of many customers, it is to their advantage to recruit new customers, for they make more money thereby.

They also learn to be faithful to duty. For papers must be delivered in rain and blizzard, heat and storm.

MONEY MANAGEMENT

Money management is one of the blind spots of modern schooling, but Circulation Managers make up for this lapse by their wonderful training of 500,000 boys each year.

For newspaperboys must collect from customers and keep books. Sometimes they lose 70 cents or more when an unscrupulous person moves without paying up.

But all of these experiences teach a boy not only modern American advertising and sales methods, as well as credit, but give boys social experience in meeting customers and soliciting orders.

SMALL MERCHANTS

Mothers even if your husbands earn $1,000 per week, it is still valuable for your sons to carry newspaper routes.

In fact, it would be worth it, even if you parents had to pay your local newspaper a "tuition" fee just to permit your boys to gain this education, for Circulation Managers are the best professors of economics in America! The sons of millionaires often become prodigious spenders and ne'er-do-wells, chiefly because they have never learned the value of money!

They have no practical gumption at all regarding business methods. For they can't "catch" business gumption from their Dads. No, they must learn it by themselves.

Carrying a newspaper route under the "small merchant" plan thus ranks next to membership in the Boy Scouts in character building. Surveys also show that newspaperboys rank above average in both health, as well as school marks.

Daily Devotion

For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath.— II Corinthians 8:12.

Some people try to shun all church work and obligations, saying they are not "capable of doing the sort of work that a teaching or leading position in the church and Sunday school requires." This is a lame excuse because the Almighty does not expect a performance that is beyond our abilities. He does, however, expect a willingness on the part of the Christian to use what talents and abilities he possesses for the good and advancement of His kingdom here and now — on this earth.

Merciful and just God, our Creator and Protector, help us to willingly serve Thee as fully as we are able. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Each member gave a brief discussion of recent changes of policy or procedure affecting the handling of income tax returns and audits by local Certified Public Accountants.

UNITED GIVERS AGENCY

No Section Safe From Mental Ills

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles about various United Givers fund agencies.)

No community today is safe from mental illness. It is a number one health problem in our cities, our suburbs, our towns. No matter where you live, mental illness has struck and may strike again.

The Northeast Branch of the Louisiana Mental Health Association is the only citizens organization devoted exclusively to the fight against our nation's No. one health problem—mental illness. This association is another pillar of our community welfare supported by the United Givers Fund.

Mental illness afflicts one person in every 10 and costs U. S. taxpayers $3,000,000 every day of the year. Today, however, 70 per cent of all mental patients could be helped if we had the staff and equipment needed.

We are, nonetheless, hearing good news about the progress that is being made in the fight against mental illness—about the thousands of patients who are recovering from mental disorders.

As we rejoice, let's not forget that with recovery only half of the problem is solved. Recovered mental patients need a warm welcome, a job, a place to live. Unfortunately, too many recovered mental patients are met with suspicion and rejection, only to break down again.

EDUCATIONAL

The function of the Mental Health Association is educational. This organization is helping the mentally ill to come back by changing the public's attitude toward mental illness and the mentally ill. It dissipates the legacy of superstition and social stigma, by creating understanding, confidence and hope.

The Northeast Branch of the Louisiana Mental Health Association is affiliated with the state organization. It continues sustained programs to provide the patient and his family with information on where and how to get help. Information is given to patients' families in order to help them understand and help rehabilitate the individual when he returns to the community.

This local organization holds public meetings monthly dealing with such topics as alcoholism, juvenile delinquency and emotional aspects of mental health. Many experts in various fields are brought to Monroe to discuss these problems with the citizens of this city.

The October meeting will concern itself with the Mental Health Association in an attempt to make known to the public just what the organization does and can do. Other meetings will be concerned with available facilities such as the guidance center, guidance and counseling services, vocational rehabilitation, etc.

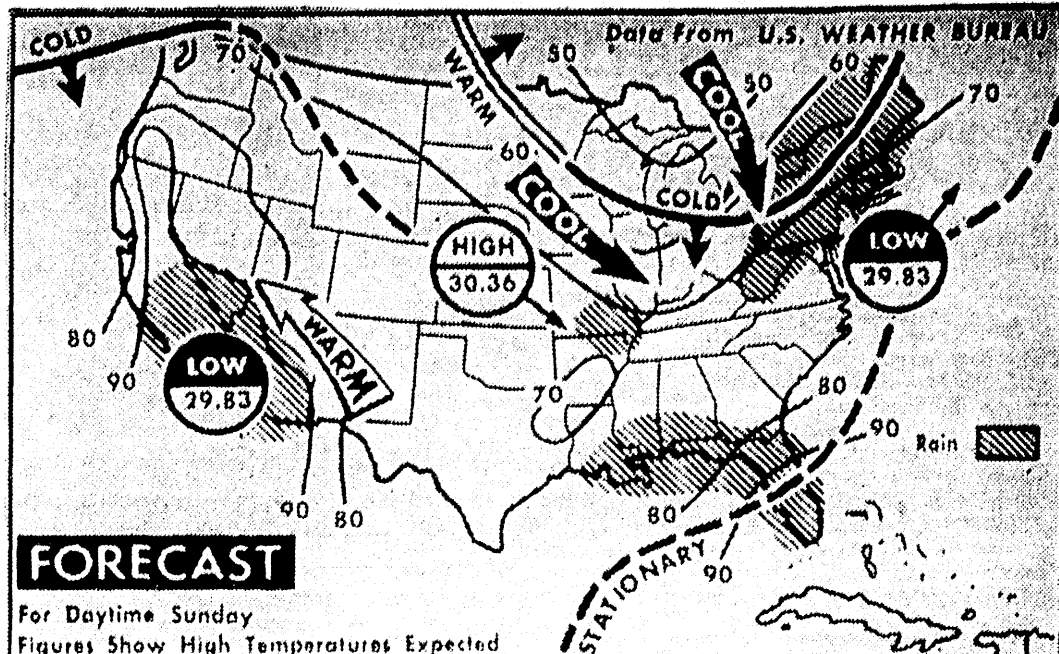

MANY PROJECTS

Many important projects are presently being carried on by the committees of the association. Magazines are collected at all fire stations in this area for distribution to patients at Central Louisiana Hospital in Pineville.

Another committee plans to show a movie each month, highlighting such things as problems faced by a person when he returns to his job after being in a mental hospital. Another film deals with disabilities that develop in old age and how they may be minimized to enable one to lead a satisfying, active life of personal self-sufficiency.

Other films deal with children and emotional problems and how the community can join forces to help them.

An educational program is being developed for the YMCA on juvenile delinquency and will be directed not only to boys, but to their parents as well. Authorities who work with delinquents will lead discussions which will aid the group in understanding the problems in this area. Films will

Airline Strike By 1,720 Pilots Is Threatened

CHICAGO (UPI)—The 1,720 pilots who man the planes of Eastern Air Lines were prepared to strike at 11:30 p.m. local times, Saturday night to back demands for a 10 percent pay raise.

Officials of the air line here had no comment on the situation. Eastern, with headquarters in New York City, serves 99 cities in 25 states and the District of Columbia, and in Canada, Argentina and Bermuda.

At issue is the union's demand that the third crew member on jet aircraft be pilot-qualified. ALPA President C. N. Sayen said a presidential fact-finding board required that all three crew members on the jets have pilot qualifications.

The first recognized teachers' training school in the United States was conducted near Condon, Vt., by the Rev. Samuel Read Hall in 1823.

Rites Scheduled This Afternoon For R.J. Hall

Final rites for R. J. Hall, 52-year-old Monroe resident, will be conducted today at 3:30 p.m. in the Mulhearn Funeral Home Chapel, with the Rev. George W. Pomeroy, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Memorial Park Cemetery under the direction of Mulhearn.

Mr. Hall died Friday night in a local hospital after suffering a heart attack early that morning. He was a member of the Graham Surghnor Masonic Lodge and the First Methodist Church here and had operated a service station in Monroe since 1937.

Mr. Hall is survived by his widow, Mrs. Audrey Hall; two daughters, Mrs. Harry Greenwood and Miss Emma Jean Hall, both of Monroe; a son, James Hall, West Monroe; his mother, Mrs. Henry Hall, Temple; two brothers, Arthur and Ernest Hall, both of West Monroe; two sisters, Mrs. Earl Roark, West Monroe, and Mrs. Merritt Baldwin, Temple, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. at the Mulhearn Funeral Home, 1000 N. 1st St., with the Rev. George W. Pomeroy, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating.

MAIL BOX THEFTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mail box thefts continue to top the list of criminal offenses against the Postal Service.

Chief Postal Inspector David H. Stephens reported Saturday that the inspection service made 7,495 arrests for mail crime in the fiscal year ending last June 30, and obtained convictions in 98.7 per cent of the cases brought to trial.

Twenty per cent of all the fires in the U.S. in 1957 were caused by electricity and electrical equipment.

CADDO, ORLEANS

2 Parishes Build Juvenile Homes

By RECA JONES
Staff Writer

Construction of juvenile detention homes in both Caddo and Orleans parishes are underway but both setups will be parish-operated and financed exclusively by the parish.

"We contemplated a setup with the welfare but decided against it because we felt that the responsibility for such an institution is primarily for a local community," Leo B. Blessing, Orleans parish juvenile judge with 10 years experience, stated.

Caddo Parish Juvenile Judge Chris Barnette, judge for 19 years, said that the Caddo Parish Juvenile Detention home will be owned exclusively and operated exclusively by Caddo parish with the parish providing for all expenses.

In 1957 the property owners of Caddo parish okayed a two-thirds of one mill tax for one year with the proceeds to be used for the construction of a parish juvenile detention home. At the same election, voters approved three-tenths of one mill tax for five years for operating funds for the proposed home.

"The one-year tax, netted $350,000, in round figures," Judge Barnette said. "To that sum we added some $35,000 we had on hand from liquidation of some property."

A five-acre site was purchased on Spring Street Extension close to downtown, the judge related, and construction started on a two-story building. The first floor will house the juvenile court while the second floor will house a common kitchen and two wings — one for whites and one for Negroes.

"The building was designed in a T shape with complete physical segregation planned. The wings — one for whites and one kitchen serving both white and colored at the same time without them ever coming in contact," the judge emphasized.

The $385,000 building, including the cost of furnishings, will be ready for occupancy in February 1, 1959. The operating fund will be an estimated $110,000 per year, the judge said, which will also include expense of court plus detention home.

"We have been collecting the money for the operating expenses since 1957. However, the operating fund will not be used until 1959. Therefore, we will have about $80,000 surplus from the tax receipts from 1957 and 1958 to be spread over the remaining three years," the judge explained.

"When the special tax expires at the end of five years — under the statutory laws of our state five years is the limit for a special mill tax to be imposed — we will know then whether to ask the public to renew tax for three-tenths of a mill or whether we might have to change that fractional figure. We hope it won't have to be changed and don't anticipate such a request," Judge Barnette added.

The living quarters are planned to accommodate 11 whites and 11 Negroes.

The judge said that a man with 25 years experience with the YMCA has been obtained as superintendent.

The money to erect the New Orleans detention home, to be known as the Youth Study Center, was obtained by a $300,000 bond election with an additional $20,000 bond issue approved to complete the institution.

The operating funds will come from the general appropriation of the parish, Judge Blessing said. The home will open in June, 1959, the judge continued with an anticipated operating expense per year of $195,000. It will house 50 juveniles.

The one-story building has a triangular design and whites and Negroes will be completely separated, the judge stressed.

"We have adequate outdoor play area which will be fenced. The center will be located on a five-acre site across from the City Park."

Neither the Caddo or the Orleans home will have bars — instead they will have psychiatric screens covering the windows. Both will feature central visual and audio controls.

Fire Prevention Week Set Aside

In a joint move Monroe and West Monroe yesterday set aside next week as "Fire Prevention Week" and urged all residents to be extremely careful in burning trash during the upcoming grass fire season.

Observance of the "Fire Prevention Week" is in connection with a similar national program.

THIS YEAR

Only 2 Polio Cases Reported In Parish

Ouachita Parish health director Dr. W. Carroll Sumner said yesterday there have been only two cases of polio in the parish this year — both in the quarter ending Sept. 30.

He said a non-paralytic case was reported on July 28, and slightly paralytic case was reported Sept. 28.

Both cases were boys, aged two and three years. The three-year-old suffered paralysis and had partially completed vaccination.

Last year there were two polio cases, 19 in 1956, and 35 in 1957, Dr. Sumner said.

"We are experiencing a trend felt by the nation since the Salk vaccine was developed two years ago," the official said in commenting on the drop in polio cases.

Touching on the health situation in general, Dr. Sumner said that Ouachita Parish so far this year had encountered few problems, and none of major consequences.

MOSQUITOES

"At the present time a lot of black mosquitoes are causing some concern, but other than irritation from their bites, there can be no harm," he said.

The doctor explained that no malaria cases are known in the parish at the present and therefore the mosquitoes could hardly spread malaria organisms.

A mosquito must bite an infected subject before it can carry the disease.

Until a few days ago the City Sanitation Department had been spraying against mosquitoes and Mayor W. L. "Jack" Howard said last night the program was successful.

Both the mayor and Dr. Sumner said that the present infestation of mosquitoes since heavy rains, would probably recede in a few days because of cooler weather. The mayor said it was not contemplated that more spraying would be conducted.

Three Domestic Charters Filed For Area Firms

Wade O. Martin, secretary of state, yesterday announced three domestic charters, and amendment and notice of dissolution for area businesses were filed with his office. The filings were made from Sept. 24 through 30.

Domestic charters were filed by: Hassell & Parkes, Inc., Trout, timber and parker land, $300,000. Caldwell Hospital and Clinic, Inc., Columbia, hospital, $100,000. Loe Acceptance Corporation, 516 East Green St., Tallulah, loans, $50,000.

Cannon Furniture Co. Inc. of Newellton filed the amendment changing the corporate name to Cannon Rediscution Co., Inc. The notice of dissolution was filed by the Runyon Equipment Co., Inc. of Bastrop.

W. Monroe High Student Passes Semi-Final Tests

A West Monroe High School girl has placed in the semi-finals of a National Merit Scholarship Testing program.

Miss Frances Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Phillips of 105 Browning St., West Monroe, is the first student in the history of her high school to win this honor.

She was among 10,000 students who ranked in the educational development tests administered to students in 14,000 high schools in the nation April 29.

She is now eligible for an elimination testing series Dec. 6, whose winners will be qualified for scholarships.

An estimated $5 million is set aside in the scholarship program.

WILL FORM SUBSIDIARY
BRUSSELS (UPI)—E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Co., Inc. plans to form a new subsidiary, DuPont de Nemours (Belgium) S. A., in the near future to operate a paint plant to be built here, a DuPont official announced Friday.

Schedule Cut For Schools In Franklin

WINNSBORO (Special) —Franklin parish schools will lack seven days of completing the full 1958-59 term due to unavailability of funds, according to the budget adopted yesterday by the parish school board.

"If no additional money is appropriated and the schools do close, the school board will not be able to maintain as much as a single custodian for the school buildings throughout the parish," said M. D. Peel, Franklin parish school superintendent.

The $2,018,949.74 budget did, however, include money to maintain the school board offices because of a state law requiring such maintenance.

At the close of last year's school session the school board had an operating balance of $110,000, according to school board officials.

Franklin parish has eight white high schools, a white elementary school, three Negro high schools and seven Negro elementary schools with 4,136 white students and approximately 4,000 Negro students.

Brief Session Is Conducted In Court Here

A brief session was held in Fourth District Court yesterday, as five persons appeared.

Normally the court docket stretches to 75-100 cases, but this was a "fifth week" — September had five weeks and no regular court is held on the fifth week of a month.

Samuel Gray, 20-year-old Monroe Negro, pled guilty to simple burglary.

Gray, of 17-A Texas Avenue, was arrested by the Monroe Police Thursday, when he was found hiding behind a counter of Hille's Super Market, 1001 Texas Avenue. He had broken into the store, and was charged with simple burglary. Gray was remanded for a pre-sentence investigation.

Another Negro, Edward Flucus, denied charges of simple burglary, and will be tried on Nov. 20. He is charged with breaking into a home at 504 1/2 Jonesboro Road on Sept. 25.

Charlie B. Watwood appeared in court and bond forfeiture entered against him last week was set aside. He denied two counts of theft and will be tried on Nov. 7 on charges of theft of a sewing machine valued at $122.35 and theft of $25.

Arthur E. Thomas was fined $25 for speeding.

On charges of driving while intoxicated, Paul Williams, Negro, denied guilt and trial is scheduled on Oct. 10.

Juvenile Clinic Scheduled Here For Oct. 23-24

The seventh annual conference of Louisiana juvenile correctional workers will meet at Louisiana Training Institute here October 23-24.

David M. McArthur, psychologist at LTI announced the following agenda for the meeting.

The workshops set include "The Process of Adjudication", lead by Judge Chris Barnette of the Caddo Parish Juvenile Court in Shreveport.

"The Function of the Correctional School", headed by Lawrence E. Higgins, executive secretary of the state Youth Commission.

"Evaluation As An Aid", moderated by E. Roy Rogilio, assistant director of the State Department of Hospitals.

Several state and national person authorities on juvenile work will appear at the meeting.

Tax Suit Filed By Labor Dept.

A West Monroe man is being sued by the Division of Employment Security of the Department of Labor, State of Louisiana, for payments which were due during 1957. Thomas W. Sharp, acting administrator of the Division, filed suit in the Ouachita Parish Clerk of Court's office against R. C. Cudd Jr.

The suit places a lien against Cudd and his property, and asks $1699.56 plus $91.07 interest and a 10 per cent penalty for payments of employer contributions. It states that Cudd should have made the contributions on wages paid employees, from Jan. 1, 1957 through Dec. 31, 1957.

51st Traffic Death Listed

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The 51st traffic fatality of 1958 in New Orleans occurred Friday. The victim was Louis Dourrieu, 86, killed in the collision of two automobiles.

Dourrieu was an employee of the city engineering department. The driver of the other car, Mrs. Thelma Heck Glynn, was taken to the hospital in a state of shock.

$109,383 Suit Filed Here In Accident Case

A lawsuit asking $109,383.43 for injuries and damages in a two-car collision on July 30 has been filed with the Ouachita Parish Clerk of Court.

Mose P. Compton Jr. and his insurance company, the Atlas Assurance Co. Ltd. are suing Paul T. Hanson and the State Farm Mutual Auto Insurance Co. of Bloomington, Ill.

Compton asks $106,133.43 and his insurance company asks the $3,250 which they paid him for total loss of his 1958 station wagon in the wreck at Stanley Street and Louisville Avenue.

Compton charges that a truck and car halted so he could proceed from Stanley north across Louisville when the collision occurred, throwing him to the street.

Compton was seriously injured, lost the use of his right hand and received a stiff right knee which surgery might correct, the suit alleges.

In addition, it alleges that he will be unable to work for two years and will lose $18,720 both from his normal salary and his night-time job as a TV repairman. It adds that he possibly will not be able to do television work again.

LAY-AWAY NOW FOR CHRISTMAS

Basque Shepherd Is Disappearing

By DALE NELSON
BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Eddie Orbea says:
"All the old-timers' tricks—the kids don't go for them any more." Eddie is a Basque, one of 40,000 in this country whose old world ways are disappearing.
Sometimes he thinks wistfully of the time when the typical Basque was a solitary shepherd in the Western United States, wearing a colorful beret and speaking a language like no other on earth.
Today Basques are bankers, businessmen, tradesmen. Eddie is bell captain at the Owyhee Hotel.
But in the face of changing times, some customs still live. They still hold the sheepherders' ball here, for example, every Christmas season.
This used to be the one time in the year when the sheepherders came down from the hills and danced the centuries-old dances of the Basque homeland in the Pyrenees Mountains of Spain.
The ball is still well attended, but...
"Johnny Asumendi, who's the vice president of the bank, throws on his sheepherder's duds and comes down," says an old-timer, "but it's not the same thing."
With the Basques, many things are no longer the same.
The court where they played the ancient games of pelota is now a parking lot.
The Goicoecheas and the Yturris live next door to the Smiths and the Jones.
The widow Garamendia still speaks the old tongue, but her children answer her in English.
These are the signs which speak plainly: the culture of the Basques is fading from the West.
The Basques are perhaps Europe's most ancient people, though their exact origin is a puzzle to scholars.
Some 800,000 of them live in the Basque provinces, which slope from the Bay of Biscay in northern Spain up over the Pyrenees into France.
At the middle of the last century, many left their homeland. The first of these olive-skinned people reached Idaho in the 1880s. Others settled in California, Nevada, eastern Oregon, Utah and Colorado.
They answered a need for reliable sheepherders, earning $15 or $20 a month.
Later, many were taken into partnerships or acquired ranches of their own. Only a few years ago, Basque names were the biggest in the sheep industry.
Now, fewer and fewer of them herd sheep.

WEEK IN REVIEW

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Election-year politics boiled up all over the landscape this week with President Eisenhower blasting his own party for "apathy" and Democrats marching to what they regarded as certain victory.
The main prize is control of the next Congress. Politicians are giving the Democrats a big edge.
On other news fronts the school integration and Formosan crisis smoldered angrily, labor peace came to the strike-menaced auto industry, the atom-powered submarine Seawolf set a new world record of 60 days for submerged operation, and Pvt. Elvis Presley arrived in West Germany to the happy acclaim of young German females.
The most significant political development was Ike's decision to make a coast-to-coast campaign besing on behalf of hard-pressed Republican congressional candidates. He used his weekly press conference as a forum to warn his party it would take a drumbeat unless it shakes off its apathy and gets to work. In addition to allowing himself to be booked for nine or more speaking engagements, he called party faithfuls to meet with him here Monday on ways to overcome GOP gloom and put some pep into the campaign.

'True Facts' Of Coroner's Deed Related
Two members of the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department revealed the "true facts" on a deed done by the parish coroner Friday night.
Parish Coroner Dr. John P. Burton, sent out by the Welfare Department to check on a request for aid, found a husband, wife and four young children without a scrap of food in the house.
Relatives had helped the family during the past two years — a long struggle while the husband has been totally unable to work.
Now, it was decided that official assistance must be requested.
Dr. Burton saw the need was real — and that it was a time for immediate help.
After he left the home, he contacted Deputies Wright and Moncrief, gave them money, and asked them to purchase a list of groceries and take it to the family. Staples, such as flour, lard, rice, peas were what the mother had voiced a need for. If Welfare aid was given her — "but Dr. Burton paid for it himself" the deputies emphasize.

NO HOLDS BARRED
Lay Meantime the "clean politics" pact piously agreed to recently by Republican and Democratic chiefs dissolved swiftly in a welter of mutual recrimination.
Vice President Richard M. Nixon set the tone at an Indianapolis GOP rally where he said "we will lose if we allow ourselves to be a punching bag for the cheap below-the-belt cracks of Harry Truman and his ilk."
Mr. Truman countered at Cheyenne, Wyo., that the Republicans had "adapted Madison Avenue advertising techniques to politics... in opp great brain - washing of the favored American people."
Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) chimed in at Madison, Wis., that Eisenhower is a "cautious, tired old man" and Nixon "a deauthorized ward worker" who aspires to be President.
And so it went.
Of the Formosa crisis remained on lead center. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles restated basic U.S. policy: No appeasement of Chinese Red aggression against Quemoy but willingness to negotiate after a live cease-fire.
Chinese Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kaishek has reassured that this did not mean a "softer" U.S. policy. He was alarmed, however, by an Eisenhower suggestion that his 85,000-plain garrison on Quemoy was in a vulnerable position and also should be withdrawn.

Low Operation Proves Risky
J. L. Ford, 19 of 809 Thomas, found out yesterday that even a car being towed can be dangerous.
The mishap occurred in the 1500 block of S. Second Street. Ford, driving a car owned by H. F. Vadley, 1709 Forsythe Ave., was towing another car owned by Wadley.
A third car suddenly pulled out in front of Ford. He slammed on his brakes, avoided hitting the vehicle, then was shocked when he was hit from the back.
Taxi la That's right - the towed car kept lions right on coming when Ford stepped on the brakes. No one was injured.

Man Struck By Auto In Monroe
Ameri Herbert J. Goins, 29, Negro of much 3 Blanks Alley was treated for cuts and bruises at Conway Memorial Hospital last night, after he walked time into the path of a car in the 2900 block of Jackson Street.
Monroe police who investigated laws said that Johnny Gospel, 40, Negro of 608 North 10 St. told him at time was driving north on Jackson when the lights of an oncoming car blinded him, and he did not see Goins walk in front of him.

GUESS WHOM!—You're right, that's our Elvis, now Pvt. Elvis Presley of the U.S. Army. The rock 'n' roll star found everything getting darker as he tried a helmet on for size after arrival at the Friedberg, Germany, base where he'll serve as a tank crewman with the Seventh Army. The supply sergeant came to the rescue with a better-fitting hardtop chapeau. (AP Wirephoto)

Man Hospitalized Following Wreck Near Jonesboro To Be Ready By Oct. 15
HODGE (Special) — Clayton Jordan, about 40 of Hodge was in a Hodge clinic last night suffering from cuts, bruises and a possible broken rib after his car hit a bridge on Highway 167 between Jonesboro and Hodge.
He told authorities he was blinded by lights from an oncoming car and ran into the bridge.
A few minutes later, before his car had been moved, another vehicle hit the rear of the Jordan car, officials said. They identified the driver as Grady L. Korn, about 19, of Clay.
Korn was not hurt but both cars were badly damaged. Korn will be charged with reckless driving, according to Jackson Parish Deputy Sheriff McBride. State Trooper Jack Thomas also investigated both accidents.

Hodge Resident Stabbing Victim
NATCHITOCHES (Special) — A Hodge resident, Ray Thomas, was in a clinic there last night after suffering stab wounds in a fight at Black Lake Camp near Creston about 9:20 p.m., authorities said.
Officials in the Natchitoches Parish Sheriff's Department said Thomas told them he was stabbed by a Castro man.
Deputies said no charges had been filed late last night, and added that Thomas was not believed to be in serious condition.

SHOULD BE EXPERT
GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Carlo Botta applied recently for participation in Italy's TV "Double or Quits" quiz program as an expert on the Italian penal code, it was made known Friday. Botta, 39, currently is in a Genoa prison awaiting trial on swindling charges.

Several Arrested In Killer Search

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Authorities Saturday reported the arrest of several persons in an intensified hunt for the smooth-talking slayer who beat and poisoned a socially prominent Florida interior decorator and robbed her of cash and jewelry.
Officials said the entire federal district police force has been ordered to concentrate on finding the man, believed to be an American or a Canadian, who forced Mrs. Harriet Ann Hicks, 52, to drink a lethal dose of poison and left her on a wooded path on the highway leading to Puebla. Two peasants found her Sept. 22 and she was rushed to the American-British Hospital where she died Friday.
One of her three sons, Phillips E. Hicks, 29, a broker in Coral Gables, Fla., said his mother told him what happened when she gained consciousness in the hospital before her death.
She described her attacker as being about 45 years old with light hair and blue eyes.
He accosted her Sept. 21 in downtown Mexico City and invited her to see "Indian dances" in a nearby village. After some hesitation she accompanied him on a bus and they got off at Puebla Road four miles outside the capital.
Hicks said his mother told him the man grabbed her by the throat, beat her and forced her to drink a liquid. Authorities said the poison apparently was wood alcohol.
The slayer robbed the woman of cash, jewelry and traveler's checks amounting to $1,000 and fled.
Hicks has two other sons, John and Robert Francis, are grandsons of the late Col. John Hicks, one-time governor of Wisconsin and former U. S. ambassador to Chile, Peru and Argentina. The Hicks family once was principal owner of the Oshkosh Northwestern, a daily newspaper.

Handicapped Hiring Week Observance

"Hire the Handicapped Week" begins today, according to Monroe Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn. He told a true story yesterday, about a "handicapped" man.

"Robert H. Barton lost his right arm in 1918. He had been right-handed until machinery in a sugar beet refinery turned him into a left-hander.

"Now, he is postmaster of Layton, Utah, presents one-man showings of his oil and pastel paintings and is a near-champion horse-shoe pitcher.

"He is only one example of the determination which the handicapped use to prove they do work well, if they receive the right job," Hathorn stated.

Starting today, and continuing through Saturday, "Hire the Handicapped Week" will be observed.

COMMENT
President Eisenhower commented that "Opportunity" means happiness for the individual — an opportunity to expand and be useful, to know that he is contributing his share to the advancement of society.

"We cannot afford for one moment to neglect placing opportunity in front of all who are capable of doing anything whatsoever with it. And the mere fact that a person may be minus a limb or one of his senses, or anything else, has nothing to do with it, anymore than do the other differences among humans," the President pointed out.

Rotarians Hear Research Speech By K. Lenneau

Keith Lenneau, of the Esso Standard Oil Co. in Baton Rouge, spoke to the Rotary Club during their recent meeting at the Virginia Hotel.

Lenneau spoke on research and how it affects everyday living in Louisiana and the United States. "Forty years ago," he said, "we were living in the machine age, then it advanced to the air age, and 10 years ago we were in the atomic age. Now we are in what is known as the space age, or could it be better designated as the research age."

In Lenneau's speech to the Rotary Club he explained that research, as a whole, affects everyone in their home and business lives.

Ouachita High Seniors Elect Class Officers

Class officers were chosen by the Senior Class of Ouachita Parish High School in an election conducted this week by the election committee of the Student Council, it was learned today.

The officers included president: David Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barker; vice-president: Jack Oleschew, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Oleschew; secretary: Alice Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Smith; and treasurer: Carol Shipp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland A. Shipp. They will serve throughout the current school year.

The officers were nominated and elected by their class members. It is required that class officers have an over-all C average in their school work and be in good standing of all the school personnel.

Three Couples Charged On Tax

MEMPHIS, (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service charged Saturday three Memphis couples with a total of more than $50,000 in back taxes.

The IRS contends that Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shainberg, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Shainberg, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Goldstein owe respectively $17,009, $15,947, and $17,170.

The couples have charged the government with error in making the claim because it disallowed various deductions for insurance construction of utility lines, street work and other expenses.

Clarendon Peck Heads Catahoula 4-H Committee

HARRISONBURG (Special) — Clarendon Peck of the Sicily Island Senior 4-H Club was elected chairman of the Catahoula Parish 4-H executive committee when the group met recently.

George Bartness, Harrisonburg, was named vice-chairman, with Judy Smith, Sicily Island, named treasurer. Bonnie Wright, Harrisonburg, was elected reporter.

State executive committee members also named at this time are Beverly Coney and Wayne Stultson.

E. E. Johnson of the Catahoula Parish Fair committee explained details of the fair to the group following election of officers.

Christmas Tree Tickets On Sale By Optimist Club

The Optimist Club of Monroe and West Monroe will make a door-to-door canvass of West Monroe Monday night from 6:30 until 9:30 selling Christmas tree tickets. Grady Merriman, publicity chairman, announced yesterday.

Participating in the drive will be the West Monroe High School Rebellets who will receive 25 per cent of the night's proceeds to help finance their football trips.

The remainder of the ticket profits will go towards the Boy's Work Program for the coming year.

Imperial Maharani Hazel Brands of Detroit, Mich., will be a guest speaker before members of Swami Santha No. 102, Nomads of Ayruaka, Friday, Oct. 17.

Imperial regional deputies from Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi will also be on hand.

Officials of the local group are planning a large ceremonial supper and urge all members to attend.

Man In Space In 6 Years Seen

BANGOR, Maine (AP)—International rocketry expert Dr. Willy Ley told a gathering of educators here Friday man will be in space within six years at the outside.

He said that despite the fact a human has yet to reach the nearest of the heavenly bodies—the moon—preliminary planning is already under way for interplanetary voyaging.

He did not elaborate on the latter, however, in a speech before a science symposium in connection with the Maine Teachers Assn. convention.

Bob Rush Tries To Make It Three In Row For Braves

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Rush will try to make it three in a row for Milwaukee and Don Larsen, the perfect game pitcher of 1956, will attempt to halt the rout of the New York Yankees in Saturday's third World Series game.

The weatherman wasn't too cooperative. He said there was a slight chance of light rain in the morning. However, he forecast a high of about 65 degrees for the first Yankee Stadium game. About 60,000 will attend, if the 14,000 bleacher seats are sold Saturday morning.

According to the schedule, Friday was an off day for travel. You wouldn't know it if you were a player. The two clubs flew in from Milwaukee Thursday night and reported Friday for workouts at the stadium.

Casey Stengel called his slightly groggy Yankees to a morning workout, hoping to devise

Techmen Tackle McNeese Tonight

RUSTON, Oct. 3 (Special)—The Gulf States conference spotlight Saturday night will be on the important Louisiana Tech-McNeese State collision expected to unfold before a full house of over 7,000 here.

Tech must win for the Bulldogs and other GSC teams besides McNeese to have a ghost of a chance at the GSC title. McNeese, which disposed of contender Northwestern State 25-8 with ease last week, can take the high road to the GSC crown with a victory over Tech.

Elsewhere in the GSC, Northwestern State hopes to take its McNeese game woes out on a Louisiana college eleven unbeaten after three games; Northeast State and Southwestern Louisiana Institute clash in Lafayette and Southeastern Louisiana college is idle.

McNeese displayed a high-geared offense in crushing NSC and Tech will have to be able to come with it to be able to win. Meanwhile, the Techmen have been having trouble making sustained drives, running out of gas when they get deep in enemy territory.

Both teams have looked good on defense in previous outings. McNeese will have a big weight advantage in the line, but this may be offset by the rather small, quick reacting and aggressive type players strung along the Tech forward wall.

Tech's punting was a disappointment in a 14-7 win over Arkansas State last week, the Bulldog kickers averaging less than 2 yards per boot on seven kicks. Tech opened its season the week before,

Big Leaguers Ask Share Of TV Take

NEW YORK (AP)—The major league players Friday formally requested of the club owners 25 per cent of all receipts from the telecasting of regular season games.

The request was made at a meeting of the players' representatives with the executive council.

Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, and Harvey Kuenn of the Detroit Tigers represented the players. Roberts is the National League players' representative and Kuenn is the alternate to Washington's Eddie Yost, the

Grambling In Home Contest With P. Quinn

GRAMBLING, La. (Special)—The Grambling College football upswing which moved into high gear here last week, is expected to get an additional life here Saturday night when the Tigers skirmish Paul Quinn in a contest that smacks of a super mid-November donnybrook.

A crowd of 8,000 fans—most of them girding for a triumphant Grambling season—will watch the 8 p.m. kickoff.

Both teams boast a nucleus of veterans hardened by rough spring and fall training periods.

Paul Quinn is set for the battle with one of the best backfields in the schools history. The stellar unit is built around J. C. Campbell, Henry Wiggins and "Jumping" Joe Young.

Don Stephenson, Jamie Caleb, Preston Powell and Jerry Robinson will carry the Tigers' offensive banner.

Grambling has been established as a two-touchdown favorite.

some means of containing the bruising Milwaukee attack. In the first two games, the Braves shredded the Yankee pitching staff for a .332 team batting average. The Yanks were able to manage only a puny .217 against Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette.

It has been done before but the situation facing the proud Yanks is desperate. Both Whitey Ford and Bob Turley, his two top winners, have been beaten and his relief staff has been battered beyond recognition.

Perhaps Larsen, despite a so-so 9-6 record, can do it. If he can't the Yanks could be flattened in four straight. The 1922 New York Giants were the only club ever to whip the Yanks 4-0 but even then the Yanks managed to get one tie game.

Larsen was out of action for over a month with elbow trouble but tuned up recently with two fine efforts. He has a 2-2 Series record, beating Brooklyn with his perfect game in 1956 and grabbing a decision in relief of Bob Turley in last year's third game. Brooklyn beat Larsen in 1955 and knocked him out in '56, a game in which the defeat was charged to Tom Morgan.

Against the Braves in 1957, Larsen allowed five hits in a 1-3 inning relief job in the third game. Facing Burdette in the seventh game, he was knocked out in the third inning.

Rush, three years older than Larsen at 32, will be making his first Series appearance. The Chicago Cubs traded him to the Braves last winter in a surprising deal. He has managed a 10-6 record for Milwaukee, using more changeup pitches than sinking fast balls as of old. The veteran has changed his delivery with help from Coach Whit Wyatt and now throws more overhand than before.

Fred Haney, the Braves manager, took Rush off the starting rotation in July after 10 straight knockouts but restored him a short time later. Four of his 10 victories were earned Aug. 24 when the Braves needed a little help because of Joey Jay's injury. Rush's old trouble has been the home run ball. This year he gave up 13.

"I decided to go with Rush instead of (Juan) Pizarro because he has more experience," said Haney. "Pizarro is going to be my long man in the bullpen with (Carlton) Willey and (Ernie) Johnson."

Asked about why he hadn't thought of starting Willey, his nine-game winning rookie, Haney said the pitcher threw the ball high, a dangerous gamble in the stadium.

Warren Spahn, the 4-3 winner in 10 innings Wednesday, will be Haney's Sunday pitcher. If Saturday's game is rained out, Spahn very likely will replace Rush in the rotation.

Stengel wouldn't give out a batting order. He had thought Haney would pitch the left-handed Pizarro. As a result he had to go into a long huddle with himself. The results may not be known until morning.

Elston Howard, the catcher-outfielder who injured his left knee when he ran into the left field fence Thursday trying to get to Lew Burdette's home run drive, is available for action. "Howard is all right," said Case. "He can catch or play the outfield, wherever I need him most."

It was expected that Stengel would play Jerry Lumpe on third base instead of Andy Carey, hitless in the first two games. Lumpe usually plays when a right-hander pitches for the other team but Stengel let Carey play against Burdette. Either Howard or Norm Siebern will be in left.

Each manager said he didn't think he would be helped much any rainout. However, a postponement might set up a return battle between Spahn and Ford.

One of the Yanks' main problems is stopping Billy Bruton. Although he didn't get into the Series until late in the first game, he is the leading hitter with four out of six for a .667 average. Hank Aaron, who now has hit safely in nine straight games against the Yanks, is hitting .375. So is Wes Covington.

Hank Bauer is the top Yankee with four for nine and a .444 average, including two home runs. Gil McDougald is hitting .375 and Mickey Mantle has two home runs and a .333 mark. Bauer, incidentally, has hit safely in the last 16 Series games, breaking his record every day.

The Yanks keep pointing to 1956 as a parallel situation. They lost the first two that year to Brooklyn and finally won in seven games. "They had me two down and I won, didn't I?" asked Stengel. "What's desperate about this?"

Casey didn't mention that only three teams ever had bounced back after dropping the first two. The '56 Yanks were the latest. Brooklyn did it against the Yanks in 1955 and the Giants against the Yanks in 1921 when they played a best-of-nine series.

Fuell Case To Be Before High Court

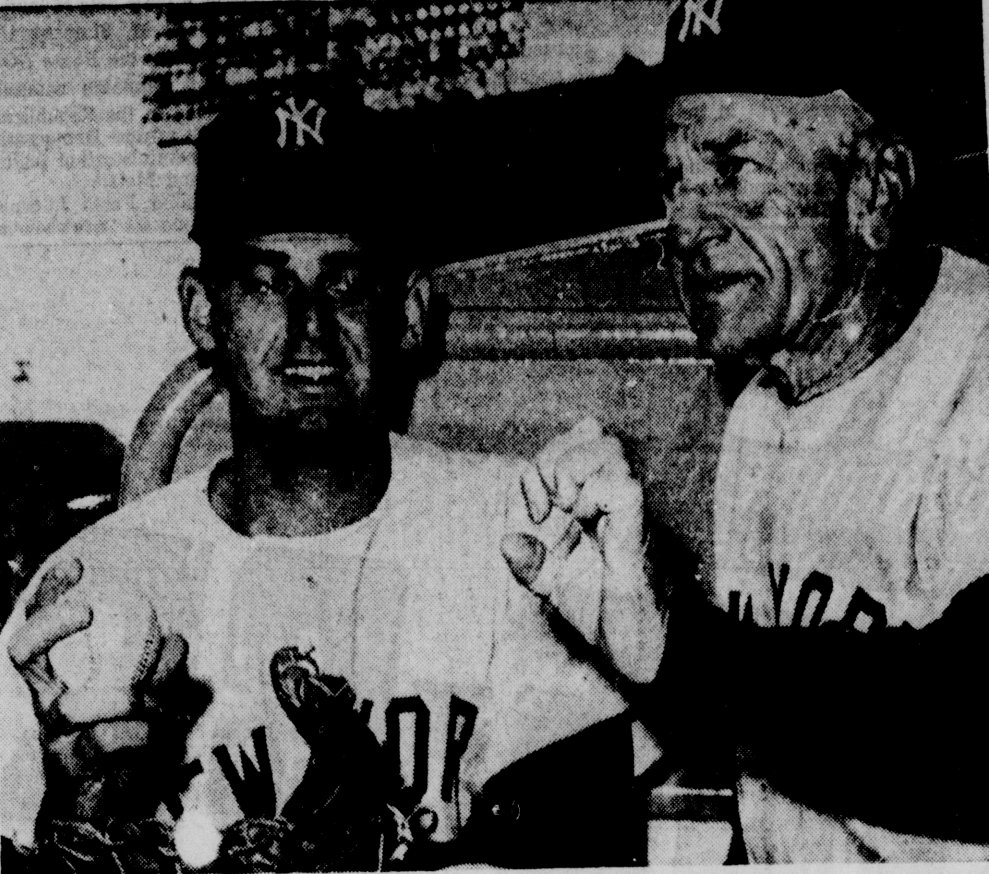

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Attorneys for disgraced Auburn athlete Don Fuell Friday said that they would take his fight for reinstatement as a Southeastern Conference football player to the Alabama Supreme Court.

The attorneys said they had received a request from Fuell's father, asking them to appeal a defeat in the court of Circuit Judge J. Russell McElroy. McElroy ruled that the courts had no right to intervene in the SEC case.

Fuell was banned from conference athletics on the grounds that he received illegal inducements to accept an Auburn athletic scholarship. The SEC Executive Committee acted last May after the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. placed Auburn on probation until September 1961.

The 20-year-old former Gunterville, Ala., high school backfield star is a sophomore at Auburn. Both he and school authorities have denied they violated strict SEC recruiting regulations.

Fuell recently attempted to enroll at Nebraska but soon returned to Auburn.

Northeast Battles Bulldogs In First Conference Scrap

The Northeast State College Indians, fresh from three straight victories, clash with Southwestern Louisiana Institute's Bulldogs in their first conference game of the season tonight. Kickoff time is set for eight o'clock at Lafayette's McNaspy Stadium.

The Indians, led by Gulf States Conference scoring leader Jim Laudadio, will be making their third road trip of the young season. Laudadio has chalked up 23 points while teammates, quarterback Everett Reynolds and end Jim Knox, are tied for fourth in the GSC with 12 points apiece.

Anthony Kayoes McBride In 9th

By GEORGE BOWEN
BALTIMORE (AP)—Tony Anthony, using a murderous left hand, knocked Archie McBride out of the ring in the ninth round after flooring him four times earlier Friday night for a technical knockout in the Baltimore Coliseum.

Referee Benny Goldstein wasted no time in signaling the 24-year-old Anthony from New York City as the winner at 1:30 of the ninth round.

He waved the "that's all" sign when McBride was sent sprawling through the ropes.

The 24-year-old McBride, a product of Trenton, N.J., had been on the canvas a short while before for an eight-count in the same round.

Anthony, 178, trying to justify his entrance into the heavyweight class, thus scored decisively in a return bout with McBride, who weighed 186. He had beaten Archie by only two points on the referee's scorecard a month ago in Syracuse, N.Y.

Tony, who had been ranked No. 2 among the light heavyweights before moving into the unlimited divisions, also floored the durable McBride in the third, fifth and seventh rounds before putting the finishing touches on him in the ninth.

It was the 28th knockout scored by Anthony in 42 fights. He has lost only five and drawn once.

It was the 15th loss for McBride, who has fought most of the top-ranking heavyweights, including champion Floyd Patterson, who knocked him out in seven.

Anthony, a slick long-range boxer with a wicked left, set the pattern for the fight in the third round when he knocked McBride down for the first time after a fairly even opening of the nationally televised bout.

McBride's legs really began to look like wet noodles in the fifth, when Anthony sent him to the canvas again. In the seventh McBride was still trying to struggle to his feet when the bell saved him at the count of nine.

Anthony's manager, Ernie Bracca said after the victory he planned to keep his fighter campaigning among the heavyweights, "but not over 190 pounds."

The fight drew a paid attendance of 1,445 and a gross of $2,890.

Cards, Reds In Six-Player Swap

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two aging, slumping sluggers, Del Ennis of St. Louis and Cincinnati's George Crowe, changed uniforms Friday as part of a straight six-player deal that opened baseball's winter trading season.

St. Louis obtained infielder Alex Grammas and pitcher Alex Kellner from Cincinnati for rookie pitcher Bob Mabe and infielder Eddie Kasko. No cash changed hands.

The deal was hatched Thursday by St. Louis General Manager Bing Devine and Gabe Paul, the Redlegs' G.M., while they

Casey, Haney Give TV Men Rough Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Three well-meaning television interviewers gave Casey Stengel and Fred Haney a tough time as their World Series clubs worked out at Yankee Stadium Friday. But it was nothing to the tough time Stengel and Haney gave them.

Stengel gave 'em the needle. Haney gave 'em the air.

Stengel was asked, by one, whether his New York Yankees were choking up.

Sportswriters standing nearby stopped chatting and turned to hear the answer from Casey, whose New York Yankees have lost the first two games to Haney's Braves.

Stengel glared a bit, but otherwise remained calm. "If anybody chokes up," Casey replied into the tape recorder, "it won't be me or the players but maybe some fella stufferin' into a mike."

After leaving Casey, the three men with mikes set up shop in front of the Braves' dugout and with film cameras (this was to be "canned" for evening telecast) grinding, one asked Haney whether he thought "the Yankees were playing like a bunch of bushers."

"I consider that an unfair question," said Haney. "You sir are a needler. You can go to the devil."

That ended the interview and junked the tape.

Stengel's chat on tape was longer. So was the needle.

Noting Milwaukee's 2-0 lead, one man with a mike asked whether the Yankees were out of it, victims of "over confidence."

"If I thought that," said Stengel, "I wouldn't be out here this early (11 a.m.)."

Another man with a mike asked whether Casey had given his Yankees any sort of a pep talk on their return home.

"Pep talk? Well now we've got some men with five children and a wife and maybe they had to cheer up the wife and the kids this morning but look over there, there is first base and second and third and home and you gotta get that man across the plate and that's what I'm not gettin' and if you think a pep talk's going to get a man around that infield you're crazy."

That left the interviewers in the same spot as Casey. After two, neither had a winner.

Yanks Favored To Win Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite two defeats in Milwaukee, the New York Yankees are 7 to 5 favorites to win Saturday's third World Series game with Don Larsen facing Bob Rush at Yankee Stadium.

The odds makers have made Milwaukee an 11 to 5 choice to win the series. Only three clubs ever have come back after losing the first two and one of them—the 1921 New York Giants—did it in the days of a best-of-nine series

Jet Flights Are Started

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two sleek British jet planes blazed a new trail over the Atlantic Saturday with the first commercial jet passenger flights.

One British Overseas Airways Corp. Comet IV set an eastbound passenger plane record of 6 hours and 12 minutes. It left New York at 6:01 a.m. EST and landed in London at 12:13 p.m. EST.

The other Comet made the trip from London to New York in the age of the ground. The rest of elapsed time of 10 hours and 20 minutes, including a refueling stop of 1 hour and 10 minutes at Gander, Nfld. The plane left London at 3:55 a.m. EST and landed at New York's Idlewild International Airport at 2:15 p.m. EST.

don to New York was 9 hours and 10 minutes.

FELL SHORT

This fell short of the mark of a Pan-American World Airways 707 jet plane that arrived at Idlewild Airport on a shakedown flight from London a flying time of 7 hours and 58 minutes.

The Pan American plane left London at 5:42 a.m. EST and landed here at 2:40 p.m. It made a fueling stop of 1 hour and 18 minutes at Keflavik, Iceland.

The flights trimmed the average time of the conventional propeller-driven, piston engine planes by about one third. The eastbound piston engine flights usually take about 10-12 hours and the west bound usually take about 13 hours.

A total of 18 paying passengers were aboard the two Comets to help get the commercial jet air service as being as momentous as the switch from sail to steamboat in sea travel a century ago.

Twelfth Anniversary

Howard Bros. Firm Issues Statement

Howard Bros. Jewelers begin their thirteenth year of their business in Monroe this month after seeing twelve years of steady growth serving the Twin City area. In order to celebrate the success of the past years, the well known firm is conducting a huge anniversary sale.

Alton Howard, manager of the firm, is enthusiastic and states, "Twelve marvelous years brought by our friends and customers. We surely do thank them for the wonderful business."

Howard further stated, "We built our business on the principle of Friendship and Service, rather than on Profit Alone. Just to make a sale is not our only aim. A sale means more to us than just the ring of the cash register. We are still old fashioned enough to believe that we are obligated morally to honestly represent what we sell."

Howard made mention of the fact that, "We personally listen to any complaints and make OUR OWN DECISIONS as to ADJUSTMENTS. The customer is dealing with the OWNERS when they SHOP with us."

In connection with the profit angle, Howard said, "We believe in fair prices at a reasonable profit. We make no claims of giving something for nothing. For the needs of our area make it possible for us to compete with any other outlet. Personal grading enables us to save the customer dollars that otherwise would be added to the price tag in the form of inferior merchandise."

The members of the jewelry firm will not make bold and unreasonable claims that they can not live up to, according to Howard, who said, "While competition is the Life Blood of American Business, we do not try to copy."

Howard asked, "that the patronage of the past twelve years be continued and we assure you we pledge to continue our good service to the community."—Adv.

Sen. Smathers Sees No Help In Ike's Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) said Saturday President Eisenhower's decision to step up his campaigning for Republican candidates won't provide "much benefit" to the GOP.

The President has called top Republicans to the White House Monday for a political conference on how to combat party apathy in the congressional and gubernatorial races. He also will discuss his own role in the campaign.

Eisenhower already has increased to nine his planned campaign appearances, and GOP National Chairman Meade A. McCormack said there is no need for "increased materially."

Smathers, who heads the Democrats' drive to retain control of the Senate, said he won't need to revise his strategy in view of the President's stepped-up plans.

"We've got the rabbit running out ahead of us and all we have to do is keep up," Smathers recalled that Eisenhower's efforts for GOP congressional candidates did little to help them in 1956. Even though the President won a landslide reelection, two nations exchange envoys.

Man Is Injured In Car-Truck Crash Yesterday

An 18-year-old West Monroe man suffered injuries to his head and left hand at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, when he was involved in a head-on crash on the Jonesboro Road, just north of Eros.

Wendell Perritt, who resides on Redbud Lane in West Monroe, was taken to St. Francis Hospital with a broken left hand, a finger almost severed from the hand, and a serious head cut.

The mishap occurred on "a bad curve" according to his family. Authorities said his auto was involved in the collision with a pickup truck, driven by "Jiggs" Capps, about 33, of Eros. Both vehicles turned over and skidded into the ditch.

Capps said that he was uninjured. Perritt's stated, Hyrum Chambliss, a friend of Perritt, drove past within minutes, and took Perritt to the home of his mother, Mrs. Elsie Perritt in Eros. The injured man was then brought to the hospital.

Perritt's auto was demolished, and the truck was extensively damaged. State Police investigated the mishap last night.

Monroe Police Investigating Hit-Run Case

Huey P. Wheeler, 518 Calypso St., told Monroe police yesterday that a hit-run driver had damaged his car during the night.

Police who investigated found that a vehicle had jumped the curb on Hart Street, 25 feet south of Calypso, tore down a "one-way street" sign, and hit the rear of the parked car.

Damage to the right rear fender of the 1958 auto was estimated at $150. Police are continuing investigation.

WHEN HOUSE CATCHES FIRE

Mother Rushes Five Children To Safety

A 23-year-old mother rushed her five young daughters to safety yesterday afternoon, when their home at 316 N. Sixth St. caught fire.

Mrs. Frances Pickron and her daughters, ranging in age from 3 to 8 years, escaped injury, but all the youngsters' clothing was lost.

Fire engines 1, 2, ladder 2 and car 4 of the Monroe Fire Department were summoned at 4:35 p.m., had the fire extinguished and returned to their stations by 5:30.

Fire damage was limited to a back bedroom, but the rest of the one-story house was extensively smoke-damaged.

The brick home is located next to the residence of its owner, Joe Messina, 318 N. Sixth St.

TAKING NAP
The Messinas related that Mrs. Pickron told them she had just finished ironing 18 dresses for her daughters, and was taking a nap when the fire broke out.

A young girl who was helping to babysit entered the back bedroom and found flames leaping up to the ceiling. She ran to Mrs. Pickron and alerted her.

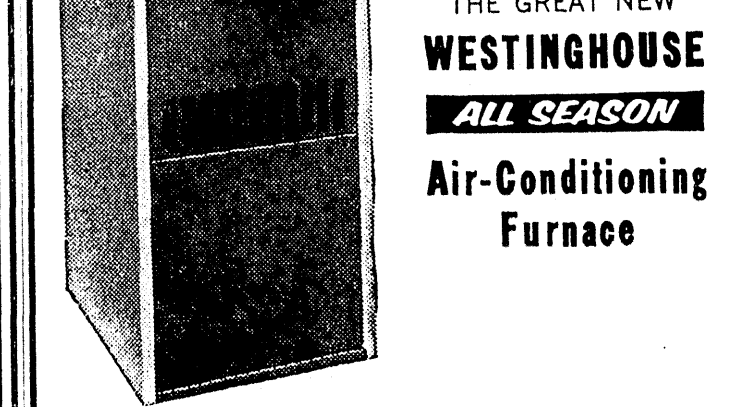

After making sure her children were safely out of the house, Mrs. Pickron summoned help from the Messinas, and they used a garden hose to keep the flames under control until firemen arrived.

The fire, of undetermined origin, reached to the ceiling and scorched floorboards in the attic.

"We had some insurance on the home—but Mrs. Pickron really needs some help now. She works as a waitress at the Toddlers House at night, but she has all those girls to take care of and with the loss of their clothes she has a big problem now," Mrs. Messina stated.

Ike To Take More Active Role For GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower will take a more active personal role in this year's congressional campaign than he has in any election year since taking office, GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn said Friday. Alcorn told newsmen after a strategy huddle with the President that the stepped-up political schedule announced for Eisenhower Thursday would be expanded still further to give him "a very active and very aggressive part" in the campaigns. He also made it clear that the Republican high command was ready to meet the Democrats head-on on the issue of the administration's policy in the Far East. He accused top Democratic campaign speakers of "preaching appeasement." He said that Democrats like Sens. George A. Smathers (Fla.), and John F. Kennedy (Mass.) appeared willing to "write off" the Philippines and Aleutians as a "few dots of land."

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), chairman of the House GOP Congressional campaign committee, also joined in the Republican counter-attack against Democratic criticism of administration policy on Quemoy and Matsu. He told United Press International the Democrats "are showing their true colors" in the current crisis. Simpson said the Democrats "are running from a foreign policy which they helped shape and which in my opinion must be adhered to or we will be taking the first step in appeasement which would lead to the same results produced by Democratic efforts to appease Hitler in the 1930s. Howard Pyle, the administrative assistant to the President, sat in on the conference between Alcorn and the Chief Executive. They went over proposals for expanding his campaign plans, which, up to now, include nine coast-to-coast appearances. He reported "there has been an increasing desire on the part of the President to pitch into this campaign vigorously." Asked specifically if the President would take a more active personal role than he has in previous congressional campaigns, Alcorn replied: "I think that is a fair conclusion."

WOMAN'S WORLD

MRS. FRANK S. HARRIS JR. and her husband were stationed at the 98th General Hospital, U.S. Army in Germany for twenty months. They returned to Monroe September 1st and hope to make their home here. Mr. Harris is the son of The Rev. and Mrs. James T. Harris on Hilton Street. (Photo by John Fogleman.)

Mr. - Mrs. David Are Given Housewarming

Moving into their new home recently on 802 North McGuire are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip David.

A housewarming was given for them by two of their close friends, Mrs. E. Joe Joseph and Mrs. W. H. Soureal. This was given Sunday afternoon between the hours of three and six in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David.

A beautiful arrangement of yellow roses in an aqua bowl was used in the party area.

A color scheme of pink and green was used in the dining area. The table held a cut-work cloth over pink satin. The central arrangement was of white candles entwined with English ivy and dainty sweetheart roses. At one end of the table the silver coffee service was placed and presided over by Mrs. Soureal, at the other stood the punch bowl; Mrs. Joseph served a cooling green punch. The table held an assortment of pink sandwiches and pink cookies with hors d'oeuvres. Mrs. Elias assisted in serving here.

Mrs. Reese Jones registered the guests.

Mingling among the guests and helping were Susan Soureal, Jo Neata Joseph, Phillis David and Charles Edward Joseph.

Other arrangements throughout the house were of pink carnations and gardenias.

One hundred fifty guests called during the appointed hours.

The Rev. George W. Martinez was present and blessed the home.

VISITING IN MONROE are Mrs. Satchie S. Naiden and Mrs. Charles M. Dolan and two children, Satchie and Laddie of Eagle Pass, Texas. They are guests of Mr. Allan Sholars.

MRS. G. A. HUME of Mer Rouge is a guest this weekend in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clifton B. Flinn and Dr. Flinn in their home on Myrtle Street.

SPENDING SEVERAL DAYS in Hot Springs, Arkansas, this week were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Layton.

MR. AND MRS. EDELL BLANKS of New Orleans have been visitors here for two days.

MRS. WESLEY SHAFTO left the first of the week to visit her children, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Noel Jr. and son, John III, of Port Arthur, Texas. Mrs. E. L. Neville, Mr. Shafto and Mrs. Ted Allen drove down on Friday for a visit and will return with Mrs. Shafto Sunday. Mrs. Allen will go to Galveston and visit her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ladner, on Saturday.

GOING TO BROUSSARD for a visit this week is Mrs. Warren Taylor. She will visit her mother, Mrs. George DeLaurel.

NEW ORLEANS visitors to Monroe for a few days this week were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Carter Laine and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Noe Jr.

LEAVING this week for a three weeks' vacation are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Carson on Pargoud Boulevard. They are going to Gulf Hills Hotel in Gulf Port, Mississippi.

MRS. GEORGE FORMAN visited her daughter, Miss Dawson Ann Forman, in Baton Rouge last week. It was Miss Forman's twentieth birthday. Mrs. Forman was guest with her daughter for a birthday dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Heard of Baton Rouge. Miss Forman is a senior at L.S.U. this year.

GERALD DEAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dean on Rochelle Avenue, has recently pledged Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity at Georgia Tech in Atlanta, Georgia.

MRS. GLADYS KELLY of Shreveport is visiting her sister, Miss Marjorie Oliver, on North Second Street.

THE BEAUTIFUL FALL WEATHER of Sunday afternoon was enjoyed by members of the "Saddle Up Riding Club" as they engaged in a twelve mile trail ride. Members to participate in the ride were Mr. and Mrs. Andy Couch, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Greenan and Mr. and Mrs. Henry McLeod.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE of the Choudrant Parent Teachers Club met Thursday afternoon, September 25th in the high school study hall with Mrs. Simmie Whitman, president of the club president. Plans for the 1958-59 meetings were mapped out.

FOR AUTO MAKERS

Encouraging Points In '59 Autos Noted

DETROIT (AP) — Growing signs of improving economic prospects and enhanced eye-appeal of new model cars encourage the auto makers in their optimism for 1959. Two other factors are:

1. New car sales in 1958 barely replaced the vehicles that were scrapped.
 2. Only a small part of the cars sold in 1958, the industry's record year, were traded in this year.

The reasoning of industry forecasters goes like this: normal market demand now stands at approximately six million new cars annually. Sales are indicated at about 1,200,000 this year. That means a sizable volume of unsatisfied demand has been piled up for 1959.

No real replacement demand plus several hundred thousand first-time purchasers combined with the deferred demand of 1958 should boost overall requirements to at least 1 1/2 million units. Most of the 1959 models have new eye-appeal, some major engineering advances and numerous new gadgets besides the pent-up demand many makers are counting upon to boost sales. But the auto makers are not going to depend on the car and the circumstance of unsatisfied demand alone to do the 1959 selling job. The drive for new car sales in the next model year probably will be the toughest in industry history.

Most 1959 models will reach the market this month in many instances they will be on sale from two to three weeks earlier than the 1958 models were last year. The new cars will be presented with dealer inventories lower than they have been in nearly two years.

If the industry's planning is carried out this year's final quarter, marking the first three months of the new model year, will bring about 1 1/2 million cars from the assembly plants.

No authoritative source has made a retail sales estimate, but deliveries could match factory output. They totaled 1,331,147 units in the October-December quarter of 1957.

Trichel will discuss the importance of an attractive produce section in the food store.

R. L. Phillips, Sr., general superintendent of power for Louisiana Power and Light Company, has been awarded his 33 - year company service pin.

Phillips, whose offices are at the company's Sterlington steam - electric generating station near Bastrop, started work for a predecessor company of LPL September 1, 1925.

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Sales of all forest products by the Crossett Company during the first nine months of 1958 showed a 3 per cent decline when compared with the same period last year.

However, results during the latter part of the third quarter gave cause for some optimistic thinking that our worst period is behind us," according to the firm's third quarterly report just issued.

The report said that sales for the nine months totaled $29,353,000 compared to $29,753,000 last year. Nine months earnings were $2,771,000 versus $3,166,000 in 1957. This is equivalent to $1.22 per share on 2,275,654 shares outstanding this year as compared with $1.39 on the 2,271,154 shares last year.

A dividend of $1.10 per share on Class A and Class B stock was declared payable November 1, 1958, to stockholders of record October 15, 1958.

REE INVASION
 SINOIA, Southern Rhodesia (AP) — Rees swarming by the million terrorized the 2,000 population of this small mining community 30 miles from Salisbury Saturday.

Twice in the past three days the invasion brought life to a standstill. Banks, offices, shops and restaurants closed their doors. Scores of people have been stung in the past three days. Saturday's attack came during the shopping rush. Police cars warned people to get off the streets and take cover.

will be presented at this time. Frank J. Zuk, of Silverport, president of the association will preside at all the business meetings. Other officers are: J. Beverly Brignar of Lafayette, vice-president; Charles J. Pumilia of New Orleans secretary and Jules Reinauer of Lake Charles, treasurer. Mr. Reinauer is the general chairman of the convention.

Many local realtors plan to attend.

STOCK AVERAGE UP — Advancing for seventh straight week, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose to an all-time high when it closed at 196.1 from 193.3 a week ago. The weekly turnover was the heaviest since the latter part of October, 1957. Led by livestock, the commodity index declined for the third week in a row, closing at 170.2 from 170.6 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Old timers who advocated the oil dome theory happily said, "I told you so."

The potential new field discovery logged shows in the Lower Tuscaloosa sand at 8,122 feet. A drill stem test at 8,122-40 feet recovered nine barrels of 22 gravity oil with no water during an hour's test.

Operator's second core at 8,140-74 feet logged 33 feet of oil sand. It lies within the city limits of Laurel near the country club. Contract depth is 13,500 feet. The wildcat is 10 miles south-east of the giant Soso field and seven miles southwest of the Reddy Creek field.

Central Oil and Lone Star Producing Co. have completed another Jones County wildcat, the Masonic No. 1, sec. 25-10-10W as the discovery well of Bryan field. The well flowed 204 barrels of 39 gravity oil from the lower Glen Rose zone at 10,710-22 feet.

Another sand, in the Rodessa Zone at 10,240-66 feet, appears commercial but was not perforated on tests.

The Texas Co. is testing the Board of Supervisors No. 1, sec. 16-3N-7E in the Boykin Church field of Smith County.

In Simpson County, Monticore Oil Co. is below 13,000 feet in the wildcat Gaylord Container Corp. No. 1, sec. 21-2N-3E. No information is being released. Contract depth is 13,800 feet.

In Smith County, Larco Drilling and L. A. Wyatt are below 12,250 feet in the wildcat Bell Heirs No. 1, sec. 24-3N-6E. No shows are reported. Contract depth is 12,500 feet.

In northeast Mississippi's hard-rock country, McAlister Fuel Co. is below 3,300 in the Oktibbeha County wildcat Sudduth No. 4-A, sec. 6-1N-15E.

The venture is seven miles southeast of Starkville. Contract depth is 10,000 feet.

In Franklin County's Wells Creek field, Cameron Operating Co. and John Callon completed the Anderson No. 4, sec. 43-5N-1E, at 1222 barrels of oil daily from Wilcox sand at 6,956-98 feet.

'Coolness' Is Noted In Oil Issue In Tex.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Rather cool exchanges are being made between Texas independent oil operators and the administrator of the federal program to curtail imports.

The situation is in sharp contrast with that of last May when the Texans acknowledged "sincere and outstanding" efforts by Capt. Matthew V. Carson for securing compliance within the framework of the program.

The coolness began to develop in August when Carson announced that a new type of curtailment plan was under study. The proposed program, formally announced Sept. 9, promptly was termed inadequate by officials of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. (TIPORO).

On Sept. 20 in a letter to Rep. Lindley Beekworth (D-Tex.) Carson said TIPORO's "normal, cooperative approach" was not in the best interests of the domestic petroleum industry or the nation as a whole.

Carson said TIPORO's action resulted only in an attempt to destroy public confidence in the only means available to him to reduce crude imports.

The TIPORO executive committee, he said, "We regret that Captain Carson in a letter defending the oil imports program which he now proposes to scrap, clouded the issue with personal references to us. While we have no intention to debate these references, we think it proper to point out that our objectives with respect to imports are the same as those declared by Congress and the executive branch of our government."

These objectives, the committee said, are to maintain a healthy domestic oil industry which will restore exploration drilling and developments to levels sufficient to increase oil reserves.

The committee said the curtailment program has failed and that the newly proposed plan cannot succeed.

Eugene M. Locke, TIPORO president from Dallas, told reporters the association has not opposed the program but believes it does not carry out congressional intent that foreign oil must not supplant domestic production.

Carson received a standing ovation when he spoke before TIPORO's annual convention in San Antonio May 12. TIPORO officials, although frankly stating disagreement in part, described the speech as an able defense of the voluntary oil imports program.

On Sept. 11 the TIPORO executive committee met in Laredo and said there were weaknesses in "a new imports program possibly to be instituted by the administration." The committee said preliminary reports indicated the new plan lacks features essential to an effective and lasting solution.

TIPORO, other independents and importers have been asked to comment on the proposed change. The current program establishes quotas for individual importers. The proposal that would become effective Jan. 1 would limit imports to a percentage of domestic refinery runs.

CHICAGO (AP) — Except for a brief flurry engendered by a report that winter wheat acreage will be smaller this year, the Board of Trade futures market was at its dulllest this week.

Demand generally was at a low ebb in most grain pits and there was no export business worthy of mention. Traders, standing idle much of the trading periods, complained of lack of outside interest in the futures markets.

As a result, all grains, with the exception of December wheat, ended the week lower compared with Friday a week ago. Wheat finished 1/4 to 1 cent a bushel lower; soybeans off 1 1/2 to 2 cents, and soybeans declined 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 cents a bushel.

Wheat, lower the early part of week, rallied Thursday and Friday after a private crop report came out indicating that more farmers in the southwest wheat belt will participate in the 1958 acreage allotment program than did so last year.

The acreage report was part of a crop survey made by C. M. Galvin, market analyst for Francis I. Du Pont & Co., in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Colorado. It placed the number of acres to be planted to wheat this fall at around 25,337,000, about 90,000 acres less than in 1957.

LABOR PEACE HELPS

Economy Upturn For U.S. Noted

NEW YORK (AP) — Return of 19,227,870 shares compared with 18,481,130 shares the previous week and 8,067,455 shares in a broad new upturn in the country's economy last week.

Bond sales had a par value of $29,839,000 compared with $31,451,100 the previous week and $18,452,000 in the same 1957 week. The government reported an avalanche of advance orders for 1959 models.

The clean, classic lines of the wider and lower 1959 cars were expected to make a resounding hit with consumers who had reacted coolly to much of Detroit's 1958 production, Buick said it had received dealer orders for 37,429 new 1959 models in the first 10 days; Ford Motor Co.'s Ford division reported one billion dollars in orders.

Ford said many of its plants are going on overtime. The brightening picture in Detroit topped a week in which steel production inched up to a 1958 high and stock price averages crashed through to a new series of historic peaks.

Stock sales during the week to date, however, were far from pessimistic. The failure of commodity price trends to show any significant rise was interpreted by some observers as a sign that a real, honest-to-goodness business boom is still a long way off.

MASS TRIAL PLANNED
 BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI) — The present wave of Hungarian corruption trials will be climaxed later this month by a mass trial of 76 persons charged with having caused extensive damage to state property, it was reported today.

One of life's rare pleasures

There aren't many pleasures like having an extra income. One from your job. Another from the profits of some company of which you are part-owner. In other words, from dividends on common stock.

And it may be far easier than you suppose. Because you can acquire shares of some fine American company for as little as $40 every three months, up to $1000 a month, through the Monthly Investment Plan.

The MIP helps you form the excellent habit of investing regularly. And it can help you become an owner of good stock you might otherwise never own if you had to buy it all at once.

You can stop or start a Plan any time you like. And your dividends will be automatically used to buy more stock, unless you prefer to take them in cash.

You pay as you go. There are no down payments. You don't owe any "balance." You're never in debt. And the Plan solves the problem of when to buy, since you buy at regular intervals. If the stock goes down in price, your next regular investment buys more shares. It would be hard to find a more sensible, convenient way to become a shareowner.

When you select a stock, proceed with care. Don't try to get rich quick. Never depend on tips or rumors. A company may not pay a dividend, may lose ground to competition. And stock prices go down as well as up. So get facts before you buy. And use extra money left over after living expenses are paid and emergencies provided for.

Begin with two free booklets. One gives the records of more than 300 stocks that have paid dividends every year from 25 to more than 100 years. It's called "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." You'll find which stocks have paid 5 to 6 percent at recent prices. Which have paid progressively higher dividends over the past ten years. Which have been preferred by MIP investors. The other booklet, "THE STORY OF THE MONTHLY INVESTMENT PLAN," gives you the details of that easy method of becoming an owner of American business. The coupon brings both booklets, free.

Next, make a valuable friend — a broker. Make sure he's with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Ask him for advice — he'll give it gladly without cost. Ask him about bonds and preferred stocks, too. He'll help you buy or sell. And from time to time ask him to review your holdings with you.

Right now, send the coupon. It may lead to part ownership of a famous company. And extra income from dividends.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Her Husband Never Remembers Birthday

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: My 16-year-old prima donna isn't speaking to me this week because I wouldn't permit her to give her boy friend a $10 sport shirt for his birthday.

She earned the money baby-sitting and purchased the shirt without my permission. When she came home with the shirt and prepared to gift wrap it I told her she'd have to return it and get something less personal and less expensive.

She obeyed me but has been sullen and silent ever since. My husband said I was too hard on her. In my opinion the trouble with teenagers today is they do whatever they please without consulting their parents. May I have your views?—M.N.B.

Sorry, Mom, but I'm with your husband and daughter on this one. A sport shirt isn't THAT personal. Since she earned the money, she had the right to make her own selection.

A girl of 16 should be given the privilege of more choices than a child of 10. Your daughter is sullen and silent because she feels an injustice has been done. I hope in the future you'll be less severe in matters that involve judgment and not principles, lest you find yourself with one extremely rebellious and hostile girl on your hands.

Dear Anne: Maybe I'm a sentimental fool but I think a husband owes it to his wife to send her a gift on her birthday, Christmas, Mother's Day, Valentine's Day and on her anniversary. Is this asking too much of a man who was willing to give his wife the world with a fence around it before he married her?

My husband never remembers any of these dates unless I practically beat him over the head with reminders. My mother and sisters never fail to ask what Henry gave me for various occasions. I've been humiliated beyond words when he's forgotten. Once I sent myself flowers to make sure I got something on our anniversary. Isn't this a disgrace? Please say something on this vital subject. I'm sure many women would appreciate it.

—HATTIE

It's a disgrace all right—that a woman would place so much emphasis on what her relatives think, that she'd order flowers for herself.

If you're honest you'll admit your major concern isn't whether or not Henry remembers, but what will the family say.

Gifts are a nice gesture, but that's ALL they are. The best gift a husband can give his wife is year-round respect, loyalty and affection. The wife who cries all night because "he forgot what day it is," enjoys wallowing in self-pity far more than any gift. You gals may think I've deserted you on this issue, but entirely too much gift-giving is simply a gimmick to appease a guilty conscience.

Dear Ann: My son married a trashy foreigner he met while in the service. I knew from looking at pictures that she wasn't our kind. Nothing I could write was strong enough to get him to wait until he got back to the States. He married this little snip and brought her into my home.

Now she runs him and tries to run me. She's an expert milliner and makes more money than he does. She saves like a miser and gives me a flat $50 a week for their room and board. I feel like her housekeeper. She takes his paycheck uncashed and does money out to him like a little boy. He never says boo because he's afraid of her.

The $50 a week helps a lot but I don't like this girl; in fact she makes me nervous. What shall I do?—M.L.

You like the $50 a week but not what goes with it. If you'll be as blunt with her as you were with me, I promise your problem will be solved at once. You'll have your home to yourself, which will be better for all concerned.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Miss America Welcomed By Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi welcomed its beaming Miss America home Friday with a celebration she'll never forget.

Pretty Mary Ann Mobley of nearby Brandon paid her first visit home since winning the Miss America title. She stepped smilingly off a plane and into the midst of adoring thousands.

Hundreds greeted her plane at the airport and uncounted thousands lined both sides of Capitol Street for a glimpse of the girl who won the heart of almost every man, woman and child in Mississippi.

She was the celebrity in a long parade of celebrities as Mississippi paid tribute to her with processions here and at Brandon. The beauty queen's admirers included Gov. J. P. Coleman and almost every high official of the state and nearby cities.

"I didn't do a thing," the misty-eyed 21-year-old brunette said in an interview stop during the parade here. "Mississippi has done it all for me."

Police were unable to hold back the pressing throngs from her convertible during one pause and Mary Ann signed autographs until the car managed to break through the crowd.

A small lad managed to get his hand over the edge of the convertible and she reached over and shook it.

"I shook her hand. I shook her hand," he said exuberantly as the car inched away.

R. B. Rall, a department store executive, presented Mary Ann with a ribbon-bedecked present.

"I know what it is," she said. "It's a mustard seed."

Mary Ann wore a mustard seed bracelet, given her by her Sunday school teacher, during the Miss America judging at Atlantic City last month. The mustard seed was used in a Biblical quotation illustrating faith and the bracelet caught the fancy of the nation when she won the contest.

She lost it in Philadelphia. "It feels wonderful to be back home," Mary Ann said as she walked down the ramp from the big airliner which flew her home. "There's just no place like Mississippi."

The band from her hometown high school played the Miss America theme song and Mary Ann accepted a bouquet of roses from Mayor Johnny Nolland of Vicksburg, Carey Blalock of the Vicksburg Jaycees and Glenn Worthington of the Brandon Jaycees. The Brandon Jaycees sponsored her in the Miss Mississippi pageant, conducted by the Vicksburg Jaycees.

A TIMELY CONTRIBUTION TO THE ORIENTAL INFLUENCE in Occidental decorating is this attractive new cylindrical lock and escutcheon—the Shou—introduced by Schlage at the National Builders Hardware Dealer's Association convention in Chicago. Developed from an ancient motif by Schlage Lock Company of San Francisco, the Shou is a symbol of good luck, long life and happiness. The open-backed escutcheon of the Shou allows the use of a variety of colors and textures to match or complement trim decor. It is available in wrought brass, bronze or aluminum with a broad range of appropriate knob designs.

An Oriental Accent On Door Knobs

At its "San Francisco Chinatown" theme breakfast in the Bal Tabarin Room of the Hotel Sherman in Chicago, a lock company of San Francisco unveiled two new Oriental—contemporary motif lock escutcheons, the Shou and the Ming, before its denizens attending the National Builders Hardware Dealer's Association convention. Shown here is the Shou with the tulip knob design.

The Shou and the Ming cylindrical lock escutcheons take their names and inspirations from ancient Oriental symbols and are tasteful and timely contributions to the increasingly popular Oriental—modern decor.

Developed by a lock company of San Francisco, the Shou escutcheon is rich in beauty, design and tradition. It is based on the Shou motif widely used during the Tang Dynasty, more than 1,000 years ago. The Shou is a symbol of good luck, long life and happiness, a gracious greeting to all who cross the threshold.

Because the Shou is an open-back escutcheon, it allows the use of a variety of colors and textures to match or complement trim decor, and is available in wrought brass, bronze or aluminum in all standard Schlage finishes with a broad range of appropriate knob designs. The metal is solid, not plated.

The Shou motif can be used in many ways throughout the home; it is found in everything from fine art and furnishings to high fashion.

The escutcheon of the Shou is eight inches in diameter and lends itself perfectly to the new trend in door decor of back—setting the lock anywhere from five inches to the center of the door.

The late Walter Schlage, father of the perfected modern cylindrical lock, created a lock of such simplicity it is installed by the drilling of two intersecting holes. This is universally recognized as the most efficient method for installing hardware.

3-Day Waiting Period Heads Off Marriages

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi's new three-day waiting period required for a marriage license wrote an unromantic end to the wedding plans of two young Louisiana couples Friday.

Police said the four teenagers were taken into custody Thursday when they tried to register at a tourist court to wait out the three days required for a license.

Police identified the four as Madeline Walker, 14, Audrey Stafford, 15, Joe Diez, 16, and Danny Kelly, 16, all of Baton Rouge.

Their parents arrived last night to return them to their homes.

The girls told police they planned to be married here, but decided to "sit it out at the tourist court" when they learned of the three-day waiting period required for a license.

Property Tax Vote Slated

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Voters of New Orleans are to decide Nov. 5 whether they wish to increase the property tax by 2½ mills to aid the public schools.

The election for property taxpayers was called Friday by the Orleans Parish School Board. The board said previously it would have to close the schools a month to six weeks earlier unless more money is available for schools.

The tax increase was recommended by the citizens committee headed by Robert W. Elsasner and would be for a five year period.

Women Told To Check Quality Men's Clothes

Millions of women have "double vision" about men's fashions these days, says a leading style expert. They get this way, it was said, by keeping one eye on a man's good dress and the other on the inflated family budget.

It is this double concern of women in helping their men obtain full value in both looks and money from their clothing purchases that has made quality tailoring again of top importance as far as a suit of clothes is concerned, according to Michael Daroff, head of a major men's clothing firm.

Every woman who lends a helping hand to a man in his clothing purchases today should know what quality standards her man is entitled to for his money and how to recognize them, said Daroff, whose firm makes "Botany 500" clothing for men.

A suit costing $65 or over should have at least seven quality tailoring points, Daroff said. Many of these points are difficult to confirm in looking at a suit, he added.

One way to check them is to ask the retailer, he suggested. Looking for information good manufacturers put in pocket stuffers is another, he said. Another way is to stick to brand name merchandise, he maintained, while the most exacting way to learn is by sad experience. A popular-priced suit that does not have the necessary quality tailoring points will not perform properly, he said.

Here are the quality check points he sets for fine clothing: First, cold water shrinking to "zero" of all suiting fabrics. Suits that change their size in cleaning have not had this costly, important quality treatment, he explained.

Two-ply fabric is another quality point, he said. This fabric requires less pressing and will hold its shape better. A top quality hair "front" is an absolute must in a fine suit, Daroff claims. To test a "front," which is a special lining in the chest of the suit jacket, squeeze the front of the suit tightly, he suggested. If it springs back into shape quickly, he said, it contains a top quality "front." A suit with an inferior quality "front" will lose its shape, its form and "cave in" after cleaning, Daroff said.

A collar that is "set on" and sewn by hand is a quality feature that spells fine fit for the life of the suit, he explained. Roll a suit collar gently. If it rolls back into shape easily it has been set on by hand, he said. He explained this means it will lie snug and smooth despite many dry cleanings and long wear.

Sleeve linings at each end should be stitched by hand, buttonholes on the coat should be evenly and closely stitched by hand to give long wear and trousers should be unpieced at the crotch, he concluded.

A knowledge of these check points of quality tailoring can save many a heartache, Daroff maintained. The eagle-eyed little woman, with her shopping psychology already geared to quality shopping in other items, can be a big help to a man in checking the "value" of his clothing purchases, he said.

When you see the words "wet pack" on a can of shrimp it means the seafood was packed in brine; "dry pack" means it was vacuum-packed without liquid.

Fire Hazards Precautions Advised Here

During Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5 through 11, postmen join with firemen this year in fighting fires.

Not in the way which firemen actually battle the flames—but in a preventive manner.

Monroe Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn pointed out yesterday that postal workers are responsible for cooperating in Fire Prevention Week programs, and for stressing more widespread efforts to prevent fires in post offices.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield informed Hathorn that postal workers should learn how to use extinguishers and fire hose.

He also focused attention on general conditions which exist in any home or business, and indicated how they could be improved upon.

Summerfield urged that trash, waste paper, oily rags and other fire hazards be cleaned up. "Produce receptacles and schedule removal at regular intervals," he said.

Care in discarding matches and cigarettes was also stressed.

Frayed or defective electrical extension cords should be replaced, and electrical equipment needs to be checked for overloading and maintenance.

Flammable liquids need careful handling and storage. Local fire inspectors will check the premises if requested, Summerfield added.

Group To Meet On Observance Of Civil War

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A special commission to plan Mississippi's part in a proposed nationwide observance of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War will meet Oct. 15 in the governor's office.

Miss Charlotte Capers, director of the State Department of Archives and History, will act as temporary chairman until the group elects officers.

Gov. J. P. Coleman appointed the commission this summer. Commission members include: Sidney Roebuck of Mississippi Automobile Club; William D. McCain, Sons of Confederate Veterans; Ned O'Brien, Agricultural and Industrial Board travel director; Edwin C. Bearss, Vicksburg National Military Park.

Mrs. John Wamble, United Daughters of the Confederacy; J. Paul Faulkner, Civil War Round Table; William Winter, Mississippi Historical Society; Frank Everett, Mississippi Economic Council; John Gregg, Mississippi Manufacturers Assn.

Claude Gentry, Brice's Crossroads (battlefield) Assn.; Tom White Crigler, Sons of Confederate Veterans; Mrs. Calvin S. Browns, United Daughters of the Confederacy; Mrs. Everett Slayden, Garden Clubs of Mississippi; and Miss Pearl Guyton, Natchez author of a historical booklet on the siege of Vicksburg.

COMMUNITY CONCERT

Three Events Are Signed Already

Concert goes in the Monroe area have a promising season in the Community Concerts offerings, all of which will be held in Neville Auditorium.

Three concerts have already been signed, with more in prospect if this week's membership campaign goes well. Maurice Glazer, president of the local organization which gets a subscription audience together each season for the concerts, pointed out a greater area was being covered this year than heretofore. He said there was no reason to doubt continued success of the concert group when enthusiastic receptions of the past were considered.

He referred to appearances here of the Boston Pops Orchestra, Eleanor Steber, the Chicago Opera Ballet and numerous star attractions of the concert field—all of whom have included Monroe on their tours through Community Concerts.

This year's attractions include Dance Jubilee, featuring Bambi Linn and Rod Alexander with orchestra and a corps of supporting dancers. Bambi Linn, it will be recalled, danced the lead in the movie version of Oklahoma. Dance Jubilee is a review of the American dance from pioneer days to swingtime. This concert is scheduled here for Saturday, November 22.

Balloting at the final concert last year showed a great number of persons desiring to hear a full symphony orchestra. The Detroit Symphony was contacted and will include Monroe on its tour next March.

Duo pianists Whitmore and Lowe got an ovation from the local audience when they performed here several seasons back. In that same bracket, the Telschick Brothers from Texas, will perform here next spring.

Ellender Asks Revamping Of Cotton Loans

WASHINGTON (Special)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D) La. asked Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson Friday to revamp one-year government production loans so that disaster-stricken cotton farmers can stretch repayment over a longer period.

If Benson approves, farmers whose cotton crops have been ruined by harvest-time rains—some for two years in a row—could consolidate their loans on a long-term basis.

Ellender, who is in Louisiana, noted that many farmers who borrowed from the Farmers Home Administration to meet planting expenses this year cannot recoup their losses because of severe damage to their crops.

Kenneth L. Scott, Administrator of the Agriculture Credit Services, scheduled a meeting here Thursday with a representative of Ellender's staff to discuss whether the department has the authority to permit consolidation of loans. Farmers Home Administration Director K. H. Hansen will also attend.

Agriculture officials, it was learned, were not sure the farm laws will permit extension of all loans granted in disaster areas. They said the consolidation may be permissible for family-type farms that hire no outside labor, but apparently not for large-scale farms.

Some of the larger farms, however, are permissible for family-type ever, including tenant-farmer units have been hardest hit by the harvest downpours in 1957 and this year.

Ellender, chairman of the powerful Senate Agriculture Committee, termed the situation a "disaster piled on disaster." There were indications in Washington that if Benson rules against consolidation of the loans—or permits them only for small farms—attempts will be made in Congress to amend the Farm Credit Laws early next session.

A major problem in extension present production loans, it was understood, is just how long the loans can be extended beyond the normal one-year repayment period. Another question involved in the legal tangle is whether the extensions can be granted on loans which are not loans on necessary operating equipment. The law is silent on this matter.

WILL BUILD IRAN PLANT WASHINGTON (UPI)—B. F. Goodrich Co., one of the United States' biggest tire manufacturers, will build a big rubber products plant in Iran, the firm announced Thursday.

without cost to the performing artists. This system has been in effect in virtually every major city in the country since 1930, and has gained ground steadily. That it has proven successful is best shown by the fact that European artists are most happy to give American tours. Among other reasons, they are pleased with the opportunity to increase their shoe-string subsidy budgets offered by European tours.

As for American artists, they have increased in number as a result of incentive offered by the civic groups which continue as community concerts, to build up a market for top concert talent.

Common Boil Is Becoming Big Problem

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—The common boil is becoming a public health problem, the Southeastern regional meeting of the American College of Physicians was told here Friday.

Boils—technically called staphylococcal infections—were among subjects discussed in scientific papers by leading physicians at the opening session.

Dr. Clarence A. Smith of Atlanta, chief deputy of the communicable disease center of the Public Health Service, emphasized the idea of a hospital committee to evaluate all infections and follow up the patient's progress to keep them from spreading.

Functional disorders such as headaches are related to definite changes that take place in the body functions, and are not imaginary, said Dr. J. W. Fleming of Pensacola, Fla.

These functional type disorders are mostly symptoms of stress and anxiety, he said, and positive diagnoses should be made and treatment given.

Dr. Kenneth Phillips of Miami discussed clinical studies of hypoglycemia which he said is a direct opposite of diabetes.

The symptoms are the pancreas glands producing too much insulin or they are weakness, fatigue, fainting or nervousness, he said. The main treatment is diet along with a new ultra-sound energy.

Dr. William Hammack of the Medical College of Alabama, in Birmingham, reported that a disease called macroglobulinemia is responding in some cases to treatment with steroid type drugs. He described this as a condition

THURMAN A. WHITESIDE

Attorney Enters Not Guilty Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Attorney Thurman A. Whiteside pleaded innocent Friday to charges that he conspired with Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mank to influence award of Miami TV Channel 10 to National Airlines.

Whiteside's trial was set for Jan. 6. Both he and Mack, whom he had accused of corrupting, face maximum sentences of 10 years in prison and $15,000 fines if convicted of all charges against them.

Mack also was to have been arraigned Friday but won a delay of at least a week when his lawyer told the court Mack was ill. The lawyer, Nicholas J. Chase, said he had affidavits from two doctors indicating Mack would be unavailable for at least a month.

Robert J. Rothall, Justice Department attorney, said the department had no intention of "harrassing a man if he is ill."

But he suggested that the department be permitted to check Mack's condition for itself.

Federal Judge Burnita S. Matthews continued Mack's case for a week pending a check by the U.S. attorney's office at Miami.

Mack was reported suffering from both physical and emotional troubles at a Miami private hospital. This week the 49-year-old Mack collapsed at Eastern Airlines terminal, breaking a rib.

Whiteside entered a plea of "not guilty" to charges that he gave Mack "sums of money and other things of value" in return for Mack's vote in the 4-to-2 FCC decision awarding Channel 10 to Public Service Television, Inc., a subsidiary of National Airlines.

Mack resigned his FCC post on March 3 in the wake of a congressional investigation into the case. When he was indicted Sept. 25 he called the charges "ridiculous." Whiteside said then that "Washington politics" was behind it all, and that his innocence would be proven at his trial.

U.S. Claims Control Of Thor Bases

LONDON (UPI) — Officials sources disclosed Friday that the United States had claimed complete control over the Thor missile bases under a mutual assistance agreement.

It had been assumed earlier that American control would be limited to the atomic warhead only.

However, Britain will not be in a position to use the American-supplied missiles without specific U.S. consent, even if it supplied the warhead. That had been the intention of the British authorities, according to recent indications.

The Anglo-American agreement on the supply and control of American-made intermediate range ballistic missiles provided for "two fingers" to be on the trigger of the Thor.

Britain was to man the bases and hold the missile but the warheads would be under the control of American personnel stationed close to the base.

Both British and American approval thus was required before the missile could be used, since American legislation prohibits the handing over of atomic weapons.

Britain had envisaged eventual production of its own warheads, apparently on the assumption that it was in sole control of the Thor propulsion unit, which is being handed to the Royal Air Force.

In the light of developments, Britain was understood now to have abandoned plans to produce warheads for the Thor. The move was expected to reopen the controversy over the degree of control of the missile bases by Britain.

Southern Negro Race-Mix Leader Said Recovered

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Rev. Martin Luther King, Southern Negro integration leader who was stabbed by a Negro woman 13 days ago, left Harlem Hospital Friday "completely recovered" from his wound.

About 50 policemen held back a crowd of well-wishers as the minister, accompanied by his wife and a detective, walked from the hospital.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy visited the minister in his hospital room shortly before his departure.

The clergyman, who led a boycott that resulted in integration of buses in Montgomery, Ala., said he would spend the next three weeks of his convalescence at an undisclosed place "within one hour of the hospital."

He is expected to return for a post-operative checkup before returning to his home in Montgomery.

The minister was stabbed by an apparently demented woman as he was autographing copies of his recently-published book in a Harlem store.

Police Blotter

ARRESTED

Ouachita Parish deputies arrested a 27-year-old Negro here late yesterday and jailed her on charges of carrying a concealed pistol.

Sheriff Bailey Grant identified the woman as Louise Gregg, of 1211 DeSiard St.

Grant said the woman had in her possession a pistol loaded with five shots.

The sheriff said the woman was arrested after he obtained information she was carrying the weapon.

She was remanded in the parish jail.

MOUSE CUTS POWER

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—The Northern Ireland Electricity Board Friday blamed a half-hour blackout in the London Derry district on a mouse. Investigators found the cremated mouse in a high tension switch.

EQUAL RIGHTS

De Gaulle Offers Plan To Moslems

CONSTANTINE, Algeria (UPI)—Premier Charles de Gaulle Saturday offered Algerian Moslems a five-year development program and equal political rights with Frenchmen to bring about a "profound transformation" of the Moslem Nationalist rebels to end their "fratricidal" 47-month-old war for independence and join the five-year cultural, social and economic program. He made no concessions either to the rebels or to the Algerian French settlers who have been demanding rougher French rule in Algeria. But nowhere did he spell out the political future of Algeria itself.

The premier, addressing a crowd of 7,000 persons in Constantine on the last stop of his 48-hour tour of Algeria, promised that the 9-million Algerian Moslems would have equal political rights with the 1,200,000 Europeans in the territory and with Frenchmen in France proper.

At least two thirds of the Algerians elected to the new French Assembly in elections next November must be Moslems, he said.

To better the lot of the Moslems in a five-year crash program, De Gaulle proposed:

—Raising salaries and wages in Algeria to levels comparable with France proper.

—Distributing 500,000 acres of land to Algerian Moslem farmers.

—Building new homes for 1-million Moslems and giving new jobs to 400,000 Moslems.

—Providing schooling for two-thirds of the Moslem children by the end of the five-year period, with steps taken to bring eventual full education benefits in the territory.

De Gaulle pledged that the first

Contracts Worth Over $1-Million Awarded In Miss.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — More than one million dollars worth of road and bridge contracts on 19 projects in 18 counties were awarded during September by the state-aid division of the State Highway Department.

The contracts call for 73 1/2 miles of construction.

A. Hadley Construction Co. of Humboldt, Tenn., who bid $157,308 for 9 1/2 miles of work on the Levee-Casilla-Grenada County line road in Tallahatchie County.

The program will begin in the immediate future, De Gaulle said.

The premier only vaguely described the political future of Algeria itself.

He said he wanted to bring about what he called the "profound transformation" of Algeria through a program under which "10 million men have decided to gather their future in liberty, equality and fraternity."

"In any case," he said, "the future of Algeria must have a double basis: first, its particular personality. Secondly, its tight solidarity with the French mainland."

His proposal for Moslem representation in the French assembly has been opposed in the past by French settlers in Algeria who claim it would give Moslems 150 seats in the 620-seat chamber.

Troops Rushed To Quell Group Of Armed Bandits

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)—Air force and national guard units were rushed Friday to northwestern Nicaragua to suppress what a presidential statement described as "groups of armed bandits" coming from Honduras.

The statement said the "bandits" were active in the El Cor-zal area of Nueva Segovia Department, which borders on Honduras.

(Unconfirmed reports from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, earlier this week, said a revolutionary movement headed by Gen. Ramon Raudales had broken out in northern Nicaragua against the government of President Luis A. Somoza and that a major battle had already been fought between the rebels and the Nicaraguan national guard.)

Looks 'Em Over

The New York Yankees won the third game of the 1958 World Series yesterday, but they still face almost unmountable odds since only one team to win the first two games has ever lost this autumn classic. The Milwaukee Braves won the first two this time.

Oddly it was the Yankees of 1921 that won the first two games from the New York Giants yet lost the best-of-nine series in eight games. The Giants led 4-3 after seven that year.

It's the Braves Warren Spahn against Ole Case's Whitey Ford in today's game at Yankee Stadium. If the Braves can win just one of the three games in New York they should have the series about wrapped up, but of the Yanks win the next two at home, including a likely chance to break the Lou Boudette jinx tomorrow, they'll be hard to beat back in Milwaukee.

High school football is certainly becoming more unpredictable.

The Neville victory over Jonesboro-Hodge Friday night caught a lot of us flatfooted as J-H is sporting one of its finest teams in recent years. J-H coach Jimmy Gilchrist claiming for a long time when Bill Ruple is moaning that he is learning what "Hoss" Garrett of Ruston has been the loudest, you had better watch out.

True, Neville lost all starters from last year's club except three, and Ruple has been poor-mouthed all over the place. He has even been quoted as saying the reason the Neville gridders didn't go away for their usual football camp in August was because "these kids are too young to take away from their mamas." Neville now stands at the doorway of becoming the first team in the state to win a seasonal district championship. All the Bengals have to do is beat Ruston here Friday night. That's going to be some chore with Ruston fairly warned of what these "poor little Tigers" can do after what happened to Haynesville and Jonesboro-Hodge.

Quachita, too, offered its surprise. Just when we were about to figure West Monroe, Bossier, and possibly Bastrop, to be the main contenders in the district title. A race, Quachita stuns Bastrop, 6-0, after Bastrop has beaten Neville, and Jonesboro-Hodge had stopped Quachita and West Monroe. West Monroe, Bossier, and Quachita currently lead the race with wins in their only league starts. Byrd, the pre-season favorite, has lost two and is virtually out of the chase. Bastrop is one down but still a contender. That leaves Fair Park as the darkhorse, and the Shreveport Indians have a habit of growing strong as the season progresses.

Another stunner was Columbia's upset of the Mangham Dragons just about crush the Dragons' hopes to return to the district. B. Thorne vacated by Delhi's climb to Class A. Only a week earlier Columbia had been beaten by an Oak Grove club that was tasting victory for the first time in 15 years. Of course "Woody" Boyles has Oak Grove playing a surprising brand of ball, as Rayville's Hornets will testify after their squeaker, but Columbia still aren't figured to take charge of even a crippled Dragon club.

Conquering Mangham may serve the Tide as a heady stimulant, but Jim Turner's boys Junior High visited our plant at a still have some tough battles ahead, particularly with Holly Ridge and Lake Providence at the conference level.

The Sicily Island Tigers, once a district B power, appear out of the chase this season, leaving the district title to be settled among Block's defending champs of Jonesville, and unbeaten powers at Waterproof and Crowville. Waterproof boasts its finest club since Ronald Dry's Tensas Tigers were challenging Ferriday for the district "B" crown a few years ago. Crowville, which came up with a contender last year after some lean seasons, appears as good or better than '57.

Ferriday's fortunes in Class

Every so often schools of the area permit classes to make a tour of the News-Star-World plant and various office personnel serve as "guides." A few days ago a class from South Monroe landed at the News-Star-World plant when we were available to show off the place. As usual, we enjoyed the tour. Of course the students all said they enjoyed the trip, but it was a pleasant surprise to open yesterday's mail and find Louis Loggett writing us a personal letter to thank us for his class.

"Our class certainly enjoyed the visit we made to the News-Star-World plant. Some of us have never been in a paper office before and everything was unusual. I especially liked the part where the paper was printed. I am a paper boy and now I have a pretty good idea of how the paper is made, thanks to you."

Soonerers Pressed To Defeat Oregon

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Top-ranked Oklahoma ran into the stubborn defense of Oregon Saturday and the Sooners were forced to come out with a 6-0 victory.

The well-coached Oregon club allowed the Sooners the game's only touchdown in the second quarter when it lost the ball on a fumble.

The Webfoots held an edge in statistics over the Sooners which were ranked the nation's top offensive team after opening last week with a 47-14 pasting of West Virginia.

The teams battled evenly in the middle of the field, but Oregon couldn't sustain its drive when it got near pay dirt.

Unlike Oklahoma's opening game, when it ran 31 plays in the first quarter, Oregon held the initiative early in Saturday's game. The Sooners ran off only 11 plays after moving within the 30 three times without scoring.

Oklahoma's Dick Corbett recovered a fumble by Paul Grover on the Oregon 17.

On fourth down, quarterback Bobby Boyd hit Dick Carpenter in the end zone from the nine for the touchdown. An attempted run for the two extra points failed.

The closest Oregon got to the Sooner goal was at the end of the third period when a drive featuring a 53-yard run by left half Willie West carried to the 20 before bogging down.

Take Fourth Straight, 1st In Conference

LA FAYETTE, La. (Special) — Northeast's rampaging Indians stretched their winning streak to four games here last night by drubbing Gulf States Conference rival Southwestern, 29-8 in a dazzling offensive and defensive show.

Jack Rowan's Braves rambled for touchdowns in the first and second periods and added two more in the third before giving way to third and fourth stringers in the final period when SLI made its lone touchdown.

Northeast's four-game winning streak is the longest season-opening string in the school's senior college history. The win was the Indians' first in GSC play for the year and the loss was SLI's third in succession and second in GSC action.

Big Lloyd Ray Smith and Robert McLaughlin again paced the Redskins on the ground while quarterback Everett Reynolds had another field day in the pitcher's box. The Texas signal caller completed five of seven passes for 127 yards and two touchdowns.

The GSC's leading scorer, Jim Laudadio picked up nine more points with a touchdown, one-point conversion and two-point PAT to push his season's total to 32 points. The halfback left the game in the first half with a hip injury but examination at a local hospital showed nothing seriously amiss.

Laudadio took a 28-yard pass from second-string quarterback Robert Ruffalo for the first North-east touchdown and kicked the PAT. The TD capped a 45-yard drive.

Smith finished a 56-yard march in the second quarter with a 9-yard rush to a touchdown and Laudadio ran for the two-point.

All-GSC end Joe Driskill set up the third touchdown for the Indians with a fumble recovery on the Northeast 49 and scored it on a beautiful 49-yard pass from Reynolds. Reynolds passed 11 yards to McLaughlin for the final touchdown. Smith ran for two points after the final TD.

SLI counted on a three-yard run by halfback Ronnie Roberts and Vernon Lott passed to Leonard Mott for the extra points.

Driskill and Jim Knox were outstanding on defense for the Indians, sharing a blocked punt, along with Wally Cox, Alfred Feeney and Billy McGraw.

Rebels Gain Third Victory Over Trinity

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The University of Mississippi started slowly but the Rebels got a 21-0 victory over Trinity Saturday night in a game slowed by mud and penalties.

It was the third victory of the season for the unbeaten Sugar Bowl champions, who are ranked sixth in the nation.

Mississippi notched its first score in the second quarter, when quarterback Bobby Franklin went over from the 1.

The Rebels made it 14-0 two minutes later when Franklin passed eight yards to left end Jim Grantham.

Three minutes into the fourth quarter Mississippi's Charles Flowers burst through the middle and went 37 yards for a touchdown.

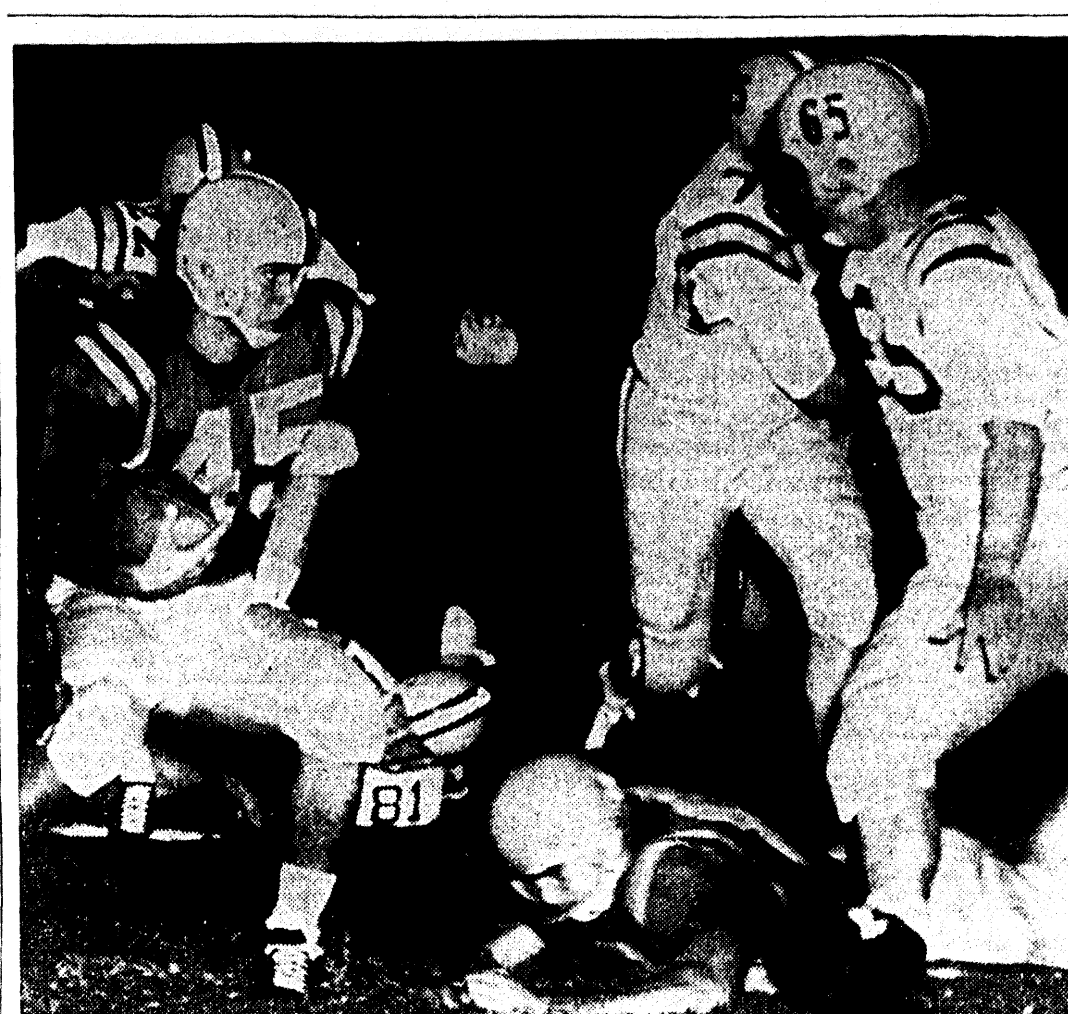

Duke Defeats Illinois, 15-13, In First Half

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — Duke struck two first half touchdowns behind the running of halfback Wray Carlton and George Dutrow and withstood a determined last half rally to edge Illinois 15-13 Saturday. Twice Illinois was stopped on the 1.

A crowd of 25,000 saw the twice-beaten Blue Devils score in the first period when quarterback Bob Brodhead dived over from the 1. Guard Mike McGee set up the score in the first period when he recovered a fumble by halfback L. T. Bonner. Brodhead passed to Dutrow for the two important extra points.

In the second period, substitute fullback Bobby Cruikshank went over from the 1 for another Duke score to climax an 80-yard drive featured by the running of Carlton and Dutrow.

Third Straight Win Cannon, Rabb Lead LSU In Hardin-Simmons Rout

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR. on for a 20-6 victory Saturday night over pass-happy Hardin-Simmons.

Rabb and Billy Cannon, a pair of home-grown heroes, sparked the Baton Rouge juniors each scored a touchdown as the South-eastern Conference team won its third straight victory against coach Sammy Baugh's explosive Cowboys.

Quarterback Rabb, playing despite the death earlier Saturday of his father after a lingering illness, completed 6 of 10 passes for 88 yards and scored the first LSU touchdown on a two-yard sprint around left end.

Cannon, LSU's All-America halfback candidate intercepted a pass, gained 83 yards on 11 carries for a 7.5 average and scored the third Tiger touchdown on an 11-yard dash around right end as time ran out in the first half.

Jim Tom Butler and Harold Stephens, Hardin-Simmons' quarterbacks, completed 19 of 34 passes for 201 yards and kept the 45,000 fans on the edge of their seats until the game's end.

The Hardin-Simmons touchdown came on a 94-yard drive early in the second quarter. Fullback Gene Uccellini bucked over from the one for the score.

Second unit quarterback Durel Matherne scored the other LSU touchdown, swinging around right end four yards on an option play, capping a 43-yard march after a Cowboy fumble.

The loss was the second straight for Hardin-Simmons against one victory.

Gamecocks Drop Bulldogs, 28-14

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — Alex Hawkins raced 45 yards with an interception, scored two two-point conversions, and passed for a third Saturday to lead South Carolina to a 24-14 win over Georgia before 28,000 drizzle-soaked fans.

His pass to halfback Buddy King Dixon made it 8-0 and South Carolina was ahead to stay.

However, the Gamecocks needed one of their next two touchdowns as Georgia's junior quarterback from North Augusta, S. C., Charlie Britt, engineered two lightning-like touchdown thrusts for Georgia scores.

The second was an 89-yard pass play from Britt to halfback George Guisler for the final Georgia score two minutes before the game's end.

Guisler, who also scored Georgia's first touchdown, took Britt's long heave at the South Carolina 39 and 10 yards behind the nearest Gamecock defender.

But Georgia's two-point conversion try, that would have put the Bulldogs within a touchdown of a tie, failed when Britt was snowed under.

The victory ended 25 years of Pittsburgh failure against Minnesota. The Gophers had won nine straight games in the Series, dating back to 1933, and seemed on the high road to making it 10 in a row until quarterback Kaliden and Ed Sharrockman triggered the Panthers' late game comeback.

Tech Puts Skids Under McNeese

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs put the skids under McNeese State's vaunted offense here last night and displayed a crushing ground game of Sulphur, helped pace the Tech team to victory.

The Techmen scored in practically every way, scoring a field goal early in the second period, a touchdown on a pass in the same quarter, a safety in the third period, and another TD on a pass just before the game ended.

McNeese's only serious threat came in the first period when a Tech kick was blocked, but the Tech defense held and the Bulldogs took over on their own four.

Tech's defense stopped McNeese cold as Joe Aillet scored his 100th win as a Tech coach. The Cowboys were able to mark up only four first downs and did not complete a pass. Tech rolled up 249 rushing and 84 passing. McNeese gained only 70 yards on the ground.

James McCabe and Jim Orton alternated at quarterback in moving the Techmen with Hynes, Howard, and Jerry Frasier doing most of the ball carrying. Howard was brilliant as a pass defender and averaged 43.3 on three kicks, one of them out of bounds on the McNeese one.

Tech completely dominated play in the first half after McNeese missed a golden opportunity when end Benny Hawkins blocked a punt on the Tech 38 which was recovered by guard Johnny Fuller on Tech's 23. The Cowboys drove to Tech's four and lost on downs.

With mostly second unit performers in action, Tech drove 93 yards to the Cowboy four. McNeese held, and end "Bud" Alexander booted a field goal from the ten to give Tech a 3-0 lead.

Orton directed the long drive brilliantly with he and halfbacks Hynes and Howard eating up most of the yardage. McNeese took the ensuing kickoff but couldn't move, punted to halfback J. W. Slack on the 34 and he returned to the 41. McCabe took to the air, hitting end Jerry Hudson on nine and 11-yard passes, and connecting with Hynes on 26-yard aerial which carried to the three. Frazier and Slack moved to the one, and on fourth down, McCabe passed to Hudson for the TD. Alexander's placement try was wide.

Bottled in their own territory in the third period, McNeese elected to take a safety that moved the score to 11-0. Tech's final score came in the last 40 seconds after center Jim Campbell recovered a fumble on the McNeese five, on fourth down Orton passed to end Tom Causey for a TD, and Howard's extra point try was wide.

There the Oregon State defense, stout and crisp all day, held and took over. It was the last—and best—of the visitor's threats.

Oregon State started the 18,532 fans in the sunny stadium by turning immediately to forward passes not one of its best weapons in the past. They failed to produce early results, but they hinted at the new attack that the Staters turned loose.

Both defenses were stout, both on the ground and against passes, when threats developed during the game's early stages, but as the second quarter opened OSC's speedy tailback Paul Lowe started.

Lowe drove with a bewildering change of pace. He danced. And he passed. He handled the ball eight times on the 10 plays it took OSC to march from its own 15 to the opening touchdown. His nine yard run was the payoff. A pass try failed and OSC was in front 6-0.

Pass interceptions played a major role and OSC center Bruce Hake raced 50 yards for a touchdown on one of them.

UCLA displayed a wealth of fine tailbacks with Don Long, Bill Kilmer and Kirk Wilson threatening to break loose all afternoon.

In the end, however, the hard-charging OSC line was too much.

Brown Batters Yale, 35-29 To Keep Ivy Lead

By JOE KELLEY PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Brown's not too highly regarded football team remained on top of the Ivy League Saturday by whipping Yale 35-29 before some 17,000 excited fans.

Yale-Biddle 13 pass from Laville (Laville kick) 6-10
Brown-Pinner 3 pass from Laville (Winkler pass from Hallas) 16-10
Brown-Pinner 3 pass from Laville (Winkler pass from Hallas) 22-10
Brown-Pinner 15 punt (Pinner run) 29-10
Brown-Cronin 8 pass from Pinner (run failed) 35-29

The Air Force tied the score when Mike Quinlan swept around end for 23 yards and George Pupich converted.

Pupich sent the Falcons ahead by taking a screen pass from the 10. His conversion was blocked by Gary Grouwink.

Iowa drove 99 yards for the tying points in 15 plays in the third period, John Nocera punching over from the 3.

Howard Bronson blocked Prescott's kick and it was 13-13.

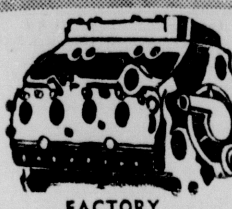

Colorado Routs Kansas, 31 To 0

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Howard Cook, a slashing tailback, engineered Colorado to an amazingly easy 31-0 Big Eight victory over Kansas' outmanned Jayhawks Saturday.

Colorado's offense was unstoppable, scoring 31 points in the first half alone. The Jayhawks' defense was completely overwhelmed.

Colorado's defense was equally strong, shutting out Kansas throughout the game. The final score was 31-0.

TECH DEFENSE SPARKLES

Green Wave Errors Give Georgia Tech 14-0 Victory

By DAVID M. MOFFIT
ATLANTA (UPI)—Joe Delaney's pin-point punting and Larry Font's fumble - snatching set up two touchdowns for a 14-0 Georgia Tech victory over Tulane that was strictly the work of the defense.

A crowd of 38,000 watched Tech's bigger line bottle up Tulane's advertised passing attack and Tech backs move in fast when the breaks came.

The first score was set up in the second period on a punt by halfback Delaney which went out of bounds on the Tulane two.

Tulane couldn't move to safety against the hard - charging Tech line and was forced to punt out weekly.

Delaney returned the punt to the Tulane 21 and Tech marched the distance in five plays with quarterback Walter Howard going over from the one.

Delaney connected on a 14-yard left-handed pass to end Fred Murphy for a third period score but the real hero here was fullback Font who recovered two Tulane fumbles within a span of two minutes.

Tech couldn't get moving after the first fumble recovery but struck on one play, the Delaney-Murphy pass, after the second.

Tech came within an eyelash of scoring again in the closing moments but Tulane's defense rose up to stop Tech four times at the Tulane one-yard line after the winners had marched 65 yards.

Tech also got down to the Tulane five - yard line early in the fourth period. Halfback Tommy Wells, who kicked both conversions, tried a field goal from the left side of the field but it was wide of the mark.

Except for one drive midway in the first period, Tulane was unable to cope with Tech's defense. That drive carried 47 yards to the Tech 44, then bogged down pass from Delaney (Wells kick).

after three first downs, exactly half the total Tulane got in the game. At no other time was Tulane able to move across mid-field.

The Tulane passing attack, which had been averaging 18 completions per game, connected on only seven of 17 against Tech and two were intercepted.

PGA Names Finsterwald Best Golfer

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald has been named professional golfer of the year, the Professional Golfers' Assn. announced Saturday.

Harold Sargent, PGA president, said Finsterwald won by a landslide in a poll of PGA members and representatives of the press.

Finsterwald, the 1958 PGA champion from Tequesta, Fla., received 427 of the 755 votes cast. A distant second was Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., with 133. They were followed by Tommy Bolt of Granada Hills, Calif., 89; Bill Casper

Nebraska Beats Iowa State, 7-6

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A 22-yard touchdown pass and George Harshman's unerring conversion kick carried Nebraska to a 7-6 win over Iowa State Saturday before a sun-baked crowd of 30,000.

Unable earlier even to cross the midfield stripe offensively, Nebraska launched a 68 - yard drive in the fourth quarter and made it good on Harshman's pass to end Roland McDole in the end zone.

Jr., of Bonita, Calif., 24; and Ken Venturi of Daly City, Calif., 15. Finsterwald will receive the 1958 golfer-of-the-year award at the annual PGA meeting in Clear Lake, Calif., on Nov. 11.

At 29, he is the youngest golfer ever to win the award.

AT DALLAS

Notre Dame Tips Balky Southern Methodist, 14-6

DALLAS, Texas. (UPI)—An ex-literate Notre Dame with the am-fought savagely to avenge a 54-12 lugging handed them last season by Notre Dame, but fumbled away a golden opportunity to move ahead late in the third quarter and had to play the final period without its great passer, Don Meredith.

The hard - hitting Irish crippled two other S M U quarterbacks in the fourth quarter and forced the losers to dig deep on the bench to come up with someone to try and engineer a desperation drive that failed miserably.

Mack's sudden touchdown burst through a gaping hole at the S M U left guard capped a 90-yard drive and gave Notre Dame a 7-6 halftime lead, but the game never was quite in the Irish's possession until midway the final quarter when quarterback Bob Williams sneaked the 72nd yard of the payoff surge and end Marty Stickle had kicked his second conversion.

West Monroe To Fete Its Little Boys All-Stars

All-star Little Boys Baseball clubs of West Monroe will be feted Wednesday night at a program scheduled for the Louisiana Power and Light Company's auditorium.

George Perry, Ferriday, state director of the Little Boys program, will present awards and the Southside All-Stars who won the Louisiana championship for West Monroe and participated in the Dixie Series at Columbus, Miss., will present their trophies to Major J. Allan Norris for display at the city hall.

At the same meeting Earl Duncan, outgoing president of the West Monroe leagues, will surrender his duties to Harold Hill, the new president. Other officers to be installed include Hollie Pankey and "Shorty" Rutledge, vice presidents, and Dick Smith, secretary and treasurer.

CROSS COUNTRY

Indian Trackmen To Open Friday

The Northeast Cross Country Team began its workouts in earnest last week in a bid for a top place in the Cross - Country competition. Prospects for the forthcoming season are bright. Track Coach Lewis Hartzog is extremely pleased with the performance of his team to this date. Even though the squad is a small one, all the boys are running in a tight group.

Hartzog has good reason to be optimistic since he has two returning lettermen in Charles McCullen, second place Gulf States Conference winner last year, and Jack Williams, who captured third place honors. Both boys are running even better this year than last.

These two are enough for any coach to base his optimism on but Coach Hartzog has much more to work with. McCullen and Williams just would make any cross country coach proud. They are Derrick Daily from West Monroe who has never run before but is showing up well in practice, Donald "Buddy" Eiland from Farmerville, who has been very impressive, and two boys from Golden, Colorado, Bill Frye and Bob Jaenicke. The Colorado pair were on Golden's team which won the Colorado Cross Country Championship for the past two years. Frye was the individual Colorado state champion last year and is doing equally as well at Northeast. Jaenicke, who is actually a hurdler, is doing a fine job and is giving the added strength needed for the team.

Coach Hartzog said that the boys are working out daily at 2:30 and he invites any Northeast student who is interested in either cross country running or regular track to meet with him between 2:30 and 4 p.m. any weekday afternoon at Brown Stadium.

The Cross Country Team has the best schedule the Northeast teams have ever engaged in.

Oct. 10 - Northwestern State at Natchitoches
Oct. 18 - McNeese State at Lake Charles
Oct. 23 - Louisiana Tech at Ruston
Oct. 25 - Southeastern at Hammond
Nov. 1 - Northwestern State at Monroe
Nov. 2 - Memphis State at Monroe
Nov. 13 - Mississippi College at Clinton
Nov. 22 - Louisiana Tech and McNeese at Monroe
Nov. 22 - Turkey Day meet at New Orleans
Dec. 5 - GSC meet at Ruston
The Northeast Cross Country Team came out second in the GSC conference meet last year in Coach Hartzog's first season.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Gerard S. Smith's Outer Space won a thrilling 40th running of the Belmont Handicap in a four-horse photo finish at Belmont Park Saturday. The favored Idun finished fifth in the field of 17.

Outer Space, ridden by Willie Harnatz, got the verdict by a whisker over Calumet Farm's A Glitter. King Ranch's Dotted Line was third and George W. Widen's Rare Treat fourth.

RACING TODAY

Stock Cars Show Greater Rivalry

As the stock car racing season nears a close in this area, what with winter weather preparing to move in, the caliber of racing has been improving, and the Twin City Speedway, which had one of its finest shows of the year last Sunday, looks for another good day at its West Monroe oval this afternoon.

Gary Greenway, who drove his No. 16 to victory over Royce Whitlock's 13 in the feature last week, is finally favored to do it again. The mechanic for 16, after checking the car, has reported it sound and ready for another peak performance.

Whitlock, a consistent winner at Twin City, is capable of sweeping back into prominence. However, while he has did well in heat and feature races, he has had trouble winning trophy dashes recently.

But while Whitlock and Greenway are occupied with one another, H. L. Hale, always a contender in his 99, could rule the day. Hale has a new V8 Chevrolet motor installed in his '39 Ford body, and he may have some surprises in store.

Billy Bayles, in his Anding Prothers Special, also is making a very good showing lately after many long working hours to bring his car up to contending caliber.

Other machines ready are "Red" Futch's No. 7, Joe Mallard's 38, Jerry Smith's 33 1-3, Raymond Walters' 11, Frank Parker's 5, Curtis Newsum's 44, Johnny Hester's 77, Hale's 39, Whitlock's 101, and Johnny Causey's 63, plus 404 with an unlisted driver.

In addition to the usual heat races, trophy dashes, and feature race, today's show is scheduled to include a

Greene Sparks Holy Cross To 1-Point Victory

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Quarterback Tommy Greene of Pileville, Md., staged a fine exhibition of passing, running and field generalship today to lead the Holy Cross Crusaders to a hard fought 14-13 win over Syracuse.

The Purple's senior signal caller, always a gambler in kicking plays in a tight spot, used the new two point after touchdown rule in the final quarter to give his team the needed one point margin.

Bill Majors Leads Vols To 13-8 Upset Of State

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Tailorally, had gone ahead 8-7 with four back Bill Majors, the kid brother minutes left, the result of a Ma of a fabulous football family, jorg's fumble.

A bi-partisan crowd of 27,279 Armstrong with a minute to play was all set for a Mississippi State Saturday to give Tennessee a 13-8 upset over Mississippi State.

Majors turned from goal to hero in the final minutes by sparking the last-minute drive after Mississippi State, 14th ranked nation-

State's passing. He hit four times for gains of 30, 12, 9, and 15, the final one going to Armstrong in the end zone.

State, which outgained the Vols 223 yards to 163 had gone ahead in the final period when fullback Gil Peterson took a lateral from fullback Bill Schoenrock and raced five yards, crossing the goal standing up.

State end Ned Brooks had recovered Majors' fumble on the 16 to set up the score. Peterson and Schoenrock moved it down to the five then Peterson scored after Schoenrock, hit hard, lateraled off.

Armstrong scored both touchdowns for Tennessee. He had raced 53 yards with an intercepted pass in the third period to put the Vols out in front with the first score of the game. The wrong-way pass was thrown by State halfback Willie Daniels on a hand-off from quarterback Tom Miller.

Tennessee drove 70 yards in 17 plays in the first period, penetrating to the State six before Majors was thrown back.

State threatened in the second period, driving to the Tennessee 11, where fullback Jack Battle was stopped inches short of a first down.

It was a surging comeback for the Tennessee team that couldn't make a first down against Auburn last week and stamped Majors for future stardom.

Brother Johnny led Tennessee to the Sugar Bowl two years ago. Another brother, Joe, stars for Florida State and all are the sons of Shirley Majors, head coach at the University of the South.

The scoring:
Tennessee 0 0 7 6-13

Tenn.—Armstrong 33 run (interception) (Burklow kick); State—Peterson 5 run (Trammell run); Tenn.—Armstrong 15 pass from Majors (Pass failed).

Promoter Emmet West and matchmaker Ray Kruger have lined up an impressive supporting card, with Al Boudreaux, New Orleans, facing Mickey Moore, Atlanta, in the eighth round semi-final. These men staged a hair-raising brawl in Bastrop several weeks ago, with Boudreaux scoring a TKO in seven when Moore suffered cuts over both eyes.

Four rounds will pit DeWayne Garris, Monroe, against Jerome Adams, Newellton; Don Ware, West Monroe, against Buck Young, New Orleans; and Ladell Dale, West Monroe, set to meet Johnny Allen, Bastrop, in a return engagement.

Best ringside seats are scaled at $1 with the second section priced at $2. Some 2,000 grandstand seats will be offered at $1.50 and children's tickets are set at 75 cents.

The first bout will get under way promptly at 8 p.m. with the Boudreaux-Moore fight going on after the main event. If the weather is bad, the fight will be postponed to Wednesday night.

12-12 UPSET

Michigan Ties Michigan State

By DAVE DILES
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State sprang to life on a 90-yard punt return by halfback Dean Look, then drove 97 bitter yards in the final minutes and got a 12-12 tie with underdog Michigan Saturday before a record crowd of 76,434 in Spartan Stadium.

Sweeping the fourth-rated Spartans off their feet with a furious first-half assault, the Wolverines scored 12 points in the first half but stood helplessly as Michigan State battled from behind in this long and storied backyard rivalry between Big Ten teams.

It took everything the Spartans had to come out as well as they did against an unranked Michigan team, hard-hit by injuries to key players. Michigan played without its best passer, Stan Noskin, then lost the services of three leading performers during the rugged duel.

Fullback John Herrstein, Michigan's best runner, suffered a head injury and sat out the entire second half.

Halfback Brad Myers and end Gary Pransl were injured in the second half and missed the late action.

The Wolverines, 13-point underdogs, coupled savage aggressiveness and a mixture of single wing and split-T effectiveness for a moral victory just as outstanding as many of the school's triumphs in the 51-game history of this feud. After its fabled multiple offense sputtered most of the way, the Spartans got into the scoring when Look raced 90 yards with a punt about halfway through the third period.

As Michigan fans cheered the hopes of an upset victory, the Spartans marched almost methodically the length of the field for the lying touchdown with only 3½ minutes to play.

End Sam Williams missed the place kicks for extra points that would have produced the victory.

Michigan 0 12 0 0-12

Dartmouth Stops Penn, 13-12, In Ivy League Tilt

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—Dartmouth put together two long touchdown marches and they threw up a tight defense to hold on for a 13-12 victory over battling Penn Saturday in an Ivy League football thriller marked by the Quakers' failing gamble on a conversion attempt.

The one-point margin resulted as Penn missed a kick for the extra point after its first score, and then gambled to win with a rushing play after the second touchdown. The ball was fumbled on the play.

Cornell Defeats Harvard, 21-14

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—When Cornell's football travels, it travels by air, as the Harvard Cantabs learned Saturday in a 21-14 lesson before an estimated 15,000 fans at Schoellkopf Field.

With quarterback Tommy Skypark in the pilot's seat, the Red showed just enough of its vaunted passing game to send the Crimson on its second defeat in as many games this season.

Army Scoots To Win Over Nittany Lions

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Army played two 30-minute football games Saturday. It was a flawless machine in rolling up 26 points against a bewildered Penn State defense in the first half, then wheeled and sputtered to a scoreless second half to be satisfied with a 26-0 victory.

The Cadets were strictly con artists in the first two periods as they scored twice in each, driving relentlessly over the ground and shacking loose adept pass receivers.

Everyone was in on the act, even the lonesome end, Bill Carpenter, who was so quiet in his isolation booth the Nittany Lions' defense against him got careless. Then Carpenter would sprint downhill to grab a pass, one of them good for 55 yards and a touchdown.

Taking the opening kickoff on their 25, the Cadets marched for 63 yards in eight plays. Pete Dawkins plunging the final six for the touchdown. Gil Roesler tried to run for the extra two points and failed, and that was the last time Army tried it. The time was 3:26.

The next time Army got the ball it was Bill Rowe had recovered Andy Mooney's fumble on the Lion 47. A Joe Caldwell-to-Carpenter pass carried to the 16, Dawkins rained to the one-yard line in two drives, and Bob Anderson went for the touchdown.

Area Church Recognizes 100th Year

WINNSBORO (Special) — The First Methodist Church of Winnsboro observed the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Winnsboro circuit of the Methodist church with special week-long services, ending today.

According to the Rev. W. H. Bengtson, pastor, three sons of former ministers of the church assisted with the services.

They were the Rev. Ralph Cain, pastor of the Memorial Methodist Church of Monroe; the Rev. A. Jerome Cain, pastor of the Isthmia Methodist Church at Baton Rouge; and the Rev. Luther L. Bonthe, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Bastrop. The Rev. Edwin H. House, Jr., pastor of the Crowville Methodist Church, and son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. House, Sr., who are members of the Winnsboro church, also assisted with the services.

Peale Tells Of Criticism From Clergy

EDITORS NOTE: Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, in more than 20 years as a clergyman, has become one of America's most famous Protestant leaders, as a preacher, radio and television speaker, lecturer and writer of books, newspaper and magazine columns. He also has become a controversial figure in Protestantism. In the following story, United Press International tells how widespread criticism of Peale's ministry nearly caused him to resign from the clergy and what made him change his mind.

By CLAUDE COX
NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Norman Vincent Peale was so deeply hurt by criticism from his fellow clergymen three years ago that he nearly resigned from the ministry, it was disclosed Saturday.

Peale, world famous preacher and author of "The Power of Positive Thinking" and other best sellers with a total circulation of more than four million, was so stung by attacks on his ministerial methods that he actually wrote a letter of resignation.

He changed his mind only after receiving a deathbed message from his minister father, urging him to ignore his critics as "just a bunch of jackasses."

The story of this crisis in the life of a minister who has helped thousands to hurdle problems of their own was told in a biography titled "Norman Vincent Peale: Minister to Millions," published Saturday.

Former magazine editor Arthur Gordon wrote the book with Peale's approval and cooperation. Gordon spent many weeks with Peale, and Peale read the finished manuscript. He even wrote a closing chapter, in which he said the biography probably was a more objective account of his life than he would have written but that he would have made it different in some places.

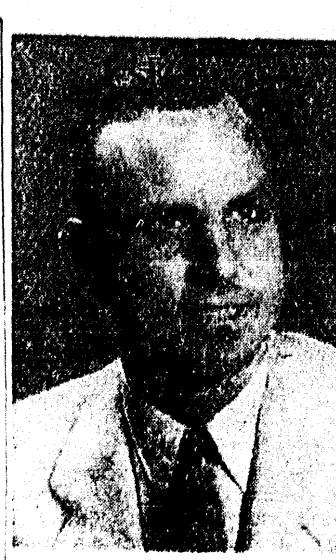

A spokesman for Prentice-Hall, publisher of the biography and of all of Peale's best sellers, said the minister has stated privately he would have been happier if his near-resignation had been omitted. He did not request deletion of the incident, however, the spokesman said.

Move Toward Merger Seen By Lutherans

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer
You may be reading quite a bit next week about a subject dear to the hearts of most American Protestant clergymen. In a single word, merger.

It will be one of the chief topics of discussions and progress reports when the 21st biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America opens Wednesday in Dayton, Ohio.

The planned merger involves the ULCA, the largest single Lutheran body in America, and three smaller churches, the Augustana, Finnish and American Evangelical Lutheran churches.

When the union is accomplished, probably within the next three or four years, it will bring into a single fold some three million of the nearly 7 1/2 million Lutherans in America.

There was a time when the Lutherans were one of the most fragmented denominations in American Protestantism. There were about 130 divisions. Since 1910, when concerted drives for unification began, the number has been reduced to 17.

Generally the divisions came, not over doctrine, but along national lines and particularly over the languages in which services were conducted.

But as national and linguistic differences began disappearing among the grandsons and granddaughters of immigrants, the various Lutheran churches found themselves growing more and more alike.

Here is the background of the four churches involved in the most recent merger efforts:

The United Lutheran Church in America . . . 2,395,000 baptized members in 4,500 congregations. . . Traces its founding back to the Ministerium of Pennsylvania, the first Lutheran synod in America, organized in 1748.

Its president is the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry of New York, perhaps America's best known Lutheran clergyman, who is also the first American to be elected head of the 50-million-member Lutheran World Federation.

The Augustana Evangelical Lutheran Church . . . 576,000 baptized members in 1,200 congregations. . . Organized as a synod of Swedes and Norwegians in 1860.

The Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church . . . 38,000 baptized members in 135 congregations. . . Better known as the Suomi Synod. . . Organized in 1830 by Finnish Lutherans.

The American Evangelical Lutheran Church . . . 23,000 baptized members in 80 congregations. . . Organized in 1872 by Danish missionaries. . . Sometimes called the Danish Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

Another Lutheran merger is scheduled to take place in 1961 when the American Lutheran Church with 900,000 members, the Evangelical Lutheran Church with a million members and the United Evangelical Lutheran Church with 60,000 join forces.

Aloft to all the merger talk is the strict and conservative Missouri Synod, second largest Lutheran body with more than two million members, and its chief ally, the Joint Synod of Wisconsin and Other States with 340,000.

P. D. Miller Will Address Churches Here

Dr. P. D. Miller, executive secretary of the board of church extension of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., was scheduled to speak at the evening service of the First Presbyterian Church 7:30 p.m. today. Dr. Miller has had pastorates in San Antonio and Atlanta. At present, he is in charge of the church extension work with his headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia.

The Men of the Church of the central and eastern districts of Red River Presbytery have brought Dr. Miller to Monroe in connection with their fall rally. Since Dr. Miller is an outstanding speaker and Christian, the men have invited all of those interested in the development of the Presbyterian Church in this area to this service.

Dr. Miller will deliver the sermon at Memorial Presbyterian Church in West Monroe at 11:00 a.m. today, according to Dr. Hugh E. Bradshaw, pastor.

WEST MONROE YOUTH — Bobby Gayle Swammer, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Swammer of 702 W. Wood, was licensed to the ministry in a special service last week at Ridge Avenue Baptist Church. Young Swammer, a junior at West Monroe High School, plans to enter Baylor University after graduation here.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Why was Cain's offering to God rejected when he had not been instructed as to what it should consist of?

ANSWER: The story, as recorded in the fourth chapter of Genesis, would indicate that Cain and Abel had received identical instructions. But Cain decided that he would worship God in his own way while Abel followed God's command. It was not the sacrifice itself which was effective, but rather the obedience and faith implicit in the act of worship. The sacrifice of a slain animal was a type of the great sacrifice yet to take place when Jesus Christ, the Son of God, was to die on the Cross for sinners. In the eleventh chapter of the book of Hebrews we read: "By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts; and by it he being dead yet speaketh."

Today we should be very sure that we receive and act on God's way of salvation. This He offers through faith in His Son and that which He did for us on the Cross. By His one sacrifice, offered once and for all, we can be cleansed from our sins and changed into new persons. God offers us a complete plan and it is our privilege and duty to accept it.

New Church In College Town Sets Opening

The College Town Church of Christ, 3605 DeSard St., holds its formal opening in the beautiful new building at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, October 5th just two years and nine months after the first service was conducted.

Services have been held temporarily in the auditorium of the Northeast Louisiana State College, and mid-week Bible study at 7223 DeSard St.

The public is cordially invited to attend a series of Bible lectures by E. C. McKenzie, minister for the Jackson St. Church of Christ of this city. Services will begin each evening at 7:30.

Charles Clark and Rod Hickman are song leaders for the congregation and Meredith Johnson and W. N. Ferguson are the ministers.

Ridge Avenue Pastors Meet Church To Host

The Louisiana Baptist District III pastors conference will meet with the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, West Monroe, tomorrow at 10:00 a.m., according to Rev. Hawks Pierce, secretary of the conference.

Dr. Robert L. Lee, executive secretary for Louisiana Baptists, will be the speaker of the morning. He will tell of his recent around-the-world trip visiting Southern Baptist mission fields.

Each pastor and his wife is urged to attend this important fellowship meeting. After the morning service the Ridge Avenue Church will serve lunch.

World Communion Set At Churches

Along with many other churches in the community, the First Christian Church at St. John and Oak in Monroe will observe World-wide Communion Sunday today at a special service.

Today will also mark a rally day at the church, with each church school trying to reach attendance goals set earlier in the year.

-THE ARTS-

Novel Was Completed Despite Fatal Illness

(ADVANCE) OXFORD, Eng. doctors fastened the pen to his hand, and the novel was completed.

For a decade and more, the popular English author longed to write a novel with a religious theme that long had been on his mind.

Twice Cary tried to put the book together and twice he failed. Other successes came. His reputation in Britain and the United States grew with "The Horse's Mouth" and "The House of Children" and other novels, but the novel he most wanted to write remained undone.

When he was 65, in 1943, Cary began writing again. This time his ideas jelled. For nearly a year he wrote, until, gradually, he began detecting that just as the novel was coming within his grasp, this grasp was failing.

STRICKEN IN 55
For, in 1955, Cary was stricken with a creeping paralysis, which, his doctor said, would eventually kill him.

The novel became urgent. Cary struggled to keep his crippled body alive long enough to finish.

For months he wrote lying in bed at his home, looking over the towers of Oxford.

His mind sped up his labor, but his muscles, almost inch by inch, faded and ceased to function.

As his arms grew heavy he used an apparatus his doctors invented for him to suspend his arms over the writing board in slings hanging from the ceiling.

"I will break my heart if I don't finish this," he said.

He could no longer turn pages, so he wrote on long rolls of paper.

His fingers became lifeless—small gaps, she said, where she has supplied the missing events in brackets.

In March, 1957, Cary died.

NOVEL FINISHED

Now it has been announced that his last novel, called "The Captive and the Free," was finished in time and will be published next spring.

"This is one of his very important novels, from the point of view of theme and treatment," explained Mrs. Winnifred Davin, his old friend and literary executor. "The free and the captive are those who have freedom in their souls and those who haven't—those who have sold out in some way."

Cary wrote his last novel in the third person. His best-known novels were in the first person.

"I feel, however," Mrs. Davin went on, "that some of the passages in 'The Captive and the Free' are extremely personal. Some that deal with illness and death were surely close to his own experience at the time he was writing."

"The Captive and the Free" is set in London in the early 1950s, with a newspaper office and a faith healing mission as the main settings.

Mrs. Davin spent eight months selecting the final drafts of Cary's manuscript—he had drafted parts of the 135,000-word novel four times—and piecing them together. There were only two small gaps, she said, where she

2 Different Views About Wide Travel

CORNFLAKES AND BEATS
JOALAS By Paul Roberts.
Holt $3.75. BUT I WOULDN'T WANT TO LIVE THERE. By Heather Jinnon. $3.50.

Heather, a Philadelphia girl fed up with too much music around the house, went to New York to learn to paint. Fed up with too much painting, she went to Mexico City and married a Spaniard who in the interests of UNESCO pushed in and out of half a dozen European and Near Eastern countries and headed finally for Brazil. Fed up with too much travel, she wrote this book.

It's a breezy account alive with quips and cracks about all the usual problems—language, passports, driving papers, illnesses, servants and children, of whom there are two as the family starts for South America.

Paul too begins his travel experiences in Mexico, then as a Fulbright professor, and with three children, he sets off for a post in Egypt—the Jimenez family got to Beirut, the Roberts wanderings stop at Athens and Cairo. They too have a car sometimes with the proper papers and sometimes not. They too have a child that goes to 20 in the bathroom just when there's none in 20, and no time to stop anyway.

Mrs. Jimenez overstates. Roberts understates. You might enjoy her book, you'd certainly enjoy his. It is practical to take children along, he asks. Will they like it easily? He answers no three times. Then at what age should a child go abroad? He says: "About 35."

Of these books, three you prize at home and two, Vailland's and Sabatier's are special to French though not in any popular sense.

The two others, for contrast, are less French. For writers of European Jews fleeing to France, settling in Paris, adopting the new ways, losing the edge of orthodox. The author calls him brotherhood his theme, it is in order on a high level, but there is some sentimental essence, as the purposefully happy ending indicates. "Jacob" concerns the man Candor, clarity, conciseness—the three C's are perhaps the most distinguishing French characteristics demonstrated here. No gloss hides the facts of life. Vailland in particular cuts behind the surface to show where the pretty bloom on the cheek, or the horrible scar or sore. Perhaps they share fundamentally a lack of squeamishness; you have it again in a recent translation of another Colette novel, "Claudine" in Paris. "Paradise" Straus and Colette. The final effect is not lurid, not snotty, but they draw no more from the affairs of Venus than about the planet Venus. An American novelist would show the Sabatier boy getting better or worse. Sabatier just shows him staid. We would make Marietta good or wicked. Vailland makes her Marietta. We think there is only love, the French say there are love and sex—it is an essential matter of factness which balks Colette of the large audience she deserves among us.

For the 2000 old American flavor that you're used to, try Cahries and Ikon; for the fine fresh original foreign experience, turn to the others.

Approximately 500 Louisiana members of the Future Farmers of America will board a special train to attend the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 12, it was announced yesterday.

Nine young men from the state will receive the highest honor the National Association can bestow upon a member, the coveted American Farmer Degree. They are: Richard Dearman, Delhi Chapter; Vernon S. Brian, Pride Chapter; Lawrence D. Bruchhaus, Elton Chapter; Nolan Coleman, Delhi Chapter; Jerry Cox, Plain Dealing Chapter; Thomas F. Hippler, Many Chapter; Richard M. Johnson, Breadheiser Chapter and Bill G. Lambert, Kinder Chapter.

COMPETING
Three outstanding state FFA chapters are competing for national honors based on their chapters' programs of work. They are Delhi, Slidell and Sulphur. Other awards to be made at the convention, other than judging contests, are the Star Farmer of America, with a regional winner from each of the four regions, national and regional winners in farm electrification, farm mechanics, soil and water management, farm safety, the national public speaking contest and the American Farmer degree.

The group will be treated to a tour of the Kansas City stockyards and packing houses, a tour of the automobile assembly plants, a Broadway musical, and a talent show presented by the future farmers.

Installation of new officers will close the convention with the group leaving Thursday night and arriving in Shreveport at noon Friday, October 17.

Another In Search For What Is Truth

THE DHARMA BUMS. By Jack Kerouac. Viking, $3.95.

Ray Smith is riding a freight out of Los Angeles when he first meets him, the narrator and spokesman for Kerouac, in this new novel by the leading representative of our fictional young man.

He is in a "Dharma bum," a religious wanderer, a man seeking truth, he is one himself, and he will spend most of his time in this story, as he tells it, with the original D. B., Japhy Ryder.

Japhy is often seen in the full position, that is, crossed and legs with ankles on thighs, and telling his jujin beads; and there is a whole Oriental ethical vocabulary to which these busy-body truth-seekers constantly refer: Samapatti, bhikkhu, Budda, to our attention: Ray bums, Samaram, Gochami, Kwan, Kasyapa, Tathagata, Maitreya, Bodhisattva, Mahasattva, in-mandala, sutra, Dipankara—in deed when Ray mentions Sinatra, is pretentious in spots, and silly or chelid, you're caught un-awares and think for a moment if it's still the higher life instead play here, and there is sense behind the excess of posturing.

There is a lot of drinking of California wines, and every now and then the boys turn earthy and common on us, dance in the nude, and indulge in "exhaustion," which means in Kerouac's a good time with the girls. But this is in the main a search, in which prayer takes a part, for a new and better life. The boys go climb a mountain, undergo the trials of the wilderness, look down on a promised land, and come out of it in this story, as he tells it, with the unsullied air of snow-covered peaks, and scornful of cities, determined to be better men and sit on a rock and meditate themselves into a state of goodness and grace.

This is more "On the Road," the novel which first called Kerouac to our attention: Ray bums, Samaram, Gochami, Kwan, Kasyapa, Tathagata, Maitreya, Bodhisattva, Mahasattva, in-mandala, sutra, Dipankara—in deed when Ray mentions Sinatra, is pretentious in spots, and silly or chelid, you're caught un-awares and think for a moment if it's still the higher life instead play here, and there is sense behind the excess of posturing.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Books For Every Type Of Reader

By FRANCES FLANDERS

Quachita Parish Librarian

Among the new books added to the collection of the Quachita Parish Public Library during the past week, there is something to appeal to every type of reader.

One of the most interesting books of fiction is "The Field of Non-Fiction" by M. Gordon and she gives a strong denunciation of the United States supreme court. Two new titles in the field of education are "Common Sense about Children" by Willard Abraham and "The Education of the Individual" by Alfred Adler. Both are very significant books. A new title in the field of astronomy is "1001 Questions Answered about Astronomy" by James E. Pickering.

There are several new biographies among this week's offerings. "Jean Henri Dunant" by Joseph Rich is an interesting biography of the founder of the American Red Cross. "King of the French" by Agnes Stoeckl is a very penetrating biography of Louis Philippe of France. Two biographies of outstanding literary figures are "Conrad the Novelist" by Albert Guedard and "Dante Lights the Way" by Ruth Fox. Last of all there is the life of "Mae Powell, Conqueror of the Grand Canyon" written by Leon and Wilberly. This is a story of adventure and excitement.

Two new books dealing with conditions in the world today are "A Short History of Cambood" by Martin F. Herz and "Suez and the American in Southeast Asia" by William J. Lederer and Eugene Burdick. The story of a group of Americans in Southeast Asia—their failures and heroism, their humors and passions, their drama in a land of turmoil, John Brick, who is a skillful artist in depicting American pioneer life has written a new novel, which he calls "Panther Mountain." With a setting in up Valley Fair this next week, and per New York state, he has given us what we have to offer.

Another story about a doctor is "To Keep The Oath" by Hebe Weensel. This is the story of a 19th-century physician—surgeon and the contrast of the practice of medicine now and then is remarkable. This is a long story and will appeal to a wider readership who enjoyed a former book by this author called "The Last Englishman." "The Ugly American" by William J. Lederer and Eugene Burdick is the story of a group of Americans in Southeast Asia—their failures and heroism, their humors and passions, their drama in a land of turmoil, John Brick, who is a skillful artist in depicting American pioneer life has written a new novel, which he calls "Panther Mountain." RESEARCH BUREAU

Favors 16 Of 30 La. Amendments

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Bureau of Governmental Research said Saturday it favors 16 of 30 proposed state constitutional amendments on the Nov. 4 ballot. Among them was a court revision plan.

The private research group, interested in better government, opposed an amendment to authorize state financial assistance to students attending private non-sectarian elementary and secondary schools.

The bureau said the student assistance amendment places in the legislature sweeping powers without controls or limitations with respect to the educational system of the state.

A fourth appeal circuit would be added to accommodate the greater work load.

The Supreme Court would retain its supervisory and original jurisdiction over all inferior courts and its appellate jurisdiction in criminal cases and some others.

A reorganization of the courts is desirable, the bureau said, and would result in improved judicial administration.

"The proposal has received intensive study by responsible legal groups which have a first-hand knowledge of judicial operations," the bureau said. "For these reasons the Bureau approves this proposal, even though there is some doubt as to the need for ten additional judges."

The courts of appeal, it said, have operated without increase in personnel since 1907.

Other constitutional proposals receiving RGR approval were:

$5,000 homestead exemption for 10 years to veterans who served both in World War II and Korea.

Reopen and extend Korean bonus application period to Jan. 1, 1960.

Give Louisiana State University in New Orleans constitutional status.

Give adopted children the same inheritance rights as children born into families.

Increase the debt limit of political subdivisions from 10 to 15 per cent of assessed valuation.

Prohibit the legislature from amending measures proposing to amend the constitution by substituting new subject matter.

Change the title of the state auditor to comptroller.

Increase powers of political subdivision to maintain waterways and spans across waterways.

Clarify present constitutional provisions of Louisiana's industry inducement plan and provide for creation of industrial districts.

Allow cities of 10,000 to 50,000 population to establish a civil service system under constitutional protection.

Authorize parishes to create mosquito abatement districts.

The bureau opposed nine other proposed amendments. They were:

Revised distribution of revenues from 16th section lands to parish school boards.

Broaden agricultural property tax exemptions.

Allow parishes, wards or municipalities to levy taxes to provide homes for citizens 60 years old.

Establish and authorize construction of a Baton Rouge charity hospital.

Provide increased pensions to some retired judges recalled to active duty.

Increase the State House by one to 102 members.

Create a Lake Providence port commission and allow it to issue revenue bonds.

Make the commissioner of insurance a constitutional officer and give constitutional status to the Greater Krotz Springs Port Commission.

The bureau took no stand on four amendments. They would give zoning powers to Calcasieu and West Baton Rouge parishes.

Create another judgeship for Washington and St. Tammany parishes, and authorized consolidated sewerage districts for East Baton Rouge Parish.

The bride is a graduate of Crowley High School and of Warner Brown School of Nurses. The groom is a graduate of El Dorado High School and is now attending Engineering School at Louisiana Tech.

Vows Exchanged By Frances Carol Wilhite And Van Anderson, Jr.

The marriage of Miss Frances Carol Wilhite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Wilhite of this city, and Van Austin Anderson, Jr., son of Mrs. Van Anderson of Sterlington, and the late Mr. Anderson, was an event in September in the Calvary Baptist Church.

The Rev. D. W. Nix performed the double ring ceremony. Decorating the altar were baskets of white stock and bamboo. Tall white tapers carried out the decorations on the altar.

Mr. Jon Barker was the soloist, accompanied by Miss Elaine Knight at the piano.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was dressed in a gown of white silk organza. The bodice was covered in imported Chantilly lace with seed pearls outlining the scalloped neckline. The bottom of the bouffant skirt was scalloped with the Chantilly lace with seed pearls. The long sleeves came to points at the wrists and were fastened with tiny covered buttons. The finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a crown of tulle and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of tuberoses centered by a white purple-throated orchid over a white Bible.

Miss Betty Parker served the bride as maid of honor. She wore light orchid taffeta princess-style dress decorated with same velvet ribbons on the sleeves and skirt. She carried a bouquet of orchid carnations.

BRIDESMAIDS

The bridesmaids were Miss Eloise Hankins and Miss Donna Welch. They were gowned in same shade of orchid and carried bouquets of orchid carnations. Miss Phyllis Hart served as flower girl. Her dress was pale orchid with matching velvet ribbon and carried an orchid crocheted oak leaf of petals.

Miss Charlotte Coy and Miss Sheila Hart served as candlelighters. They were dressed in deep orchid dress with matching a corsage of white carnations.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the church parlor following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered in lace over orchid polished cotton. The three tiered colonnade wedding cake adorned one end of the table while the crystal punch bowl was at the opposite end. The bridesmaids' bouquets formed the centerpiece flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers. Serving at the reception table were Mrs. Nelda Pettit and Mrs. Wanda Allen. Mrs. Nancy Coy registered the guests.

The couple are at home in Monroe. The bride attended Northeast State College, and the groom is a sophomore at Louisiana Tech.

PEPPERS

Ever hear of canned green chile peppers. This good food, mild in flavor, is delicious with eggs.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Miss Barnett, William Lewis Johnson

The marriage of Miss Nelda Ruth Barnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Willard Barnett of Bastrop, and William Lewis Johnson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Lewis Johnson, was an event of September 28, in St. Joseph Catholic Church in Bastrop.

The Rev. Father Ervin Huntish officiated over the double ring ceremony. White chrysanthemums, white gladioli and pom-poms decorated the side altars, with smilax on the chancel rail and palm in the background.

Mrs. Darrell Foreman was the soloist, accompanied by Sister Mary Annette at the organ.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her gown was fashioned of white antique satin with a sashina neckline. It featured an Empire waistline with a graceful bow flowing into a chapel train. The finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and phalaenopsis orchids centered with a white hybrid orchid.

MATRON OF HONOR

Mrs. Henry L. McDowell Jr., served the bride as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Margo Smith of Baton Rouge; Annette Berry, Merilee Parker and Mrs. Flint W. Robertson, all of Bastrop. Junior bridesmaids were Misses Mary and Martha Currie.

Their dresses had bodies of forest green and skirts of lime green with a large bustle bow flowing into a barem skirt giving a butterfly effect. They wore matching shoes and tiaras of seed pearls. They carried bouquets of white mums and satin bows.

William de Vampert of Wilmet, Arkansas, served the groom as best man. The groomsmen and ushers were Thomas Scannell Jr. of Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Charles Johnson, St. Louis, Missouri; George Gray, Shreveport; and Billy G. Barnett.

The bride's mother chose to wear for the wedding, a dusty blue lace ensemble. Mrs. Thomas Scannell, aunt of the groom, was attired in a fashionable gown of blue silk, and Mrs. John Currie, aunt of the groom, wore a soft blue lace model. All wore archid corsages.

RECEPTION

The International House was the scene of the lovely reception given by the bride's parents following the ceremony.

The table was covered with a white cloth and held an arrangement of white chrysanthemums of the newer patterns recently and stock in a silver container as added to the line is called Pa the centerpiece. At either end of the table was a lovely silver punch service and the wedding cake. Mrs. A. W. Moore and Mrs. Ruth Wroten presided at the ground colors — turquoise, white punch service and Mrs. Herman pink and yellow.

Dau and Mrs. Foy Houston served the cake. Assisting in courtesies were Mesdames Warren Stormont, A. B. McBride, Pat Martin, Jo Varnado, Otis Berry, Dan Files, and Norman Paulson.

TEA GIRLS

Tea girls were Misses Diane Garner, Carol and Patricia Barnett, Carolee Nutt, Glenda and Nancy Beaton and Carolyn Perry. Registering the guests was Mrs. B. F. Barnett of Crossett, Ark.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Wilmet, Arkansas.

The bride is a graduate of Bastrop High School and Louisiana State University and was a member of Pi Beta Phi social sorority and Alpha Beta Chi professional fraternity. Mr. Johnson attended Christian Brothers College in St. Louis, Missouri, where he was a member of Kappa Sigma social fraternity and the Scabbard and Blades.

Let Teenager Help Style Own Room

When girls begin crowding into their teens, it isn't long before they become "experts" in home decorating, among other things. And it's probably a good idea to encourage them to express their tastes in home styling whenever and wherever possible.

One way to do this is through the use of the decorative covering materials now available. "Little Miss Expert" can put her ideas to work in re-covering some wear for the wedding, a dusty blue lace ensemble. Mrs. Thomas Scannell, aunt of the groom, was attired in a fashionable gown of blue silk, and Mrs. John Currie, aunt of the groom, wore a soft blue lace model. All wore archid corsages.

Among the decorative coverings easiest to apply—even for teenagers who are all thumbs—are those with adhesive backing. One such covering has a durable plastic coating — just the thing for easy cleaning.

This same particular covering comes in a wide variety of colors and patterns that will delight the young lady of the house. One ment of white chrysanthemums of the newer patterns recently and stock in a silver container as added to the line is called Pa the centerpiece. At either end of the table was a lovely silver punch service and the wedding cake. Mrs. A. W. Moore and Mrs. Ruth Wroten presided at the ground colors — turquoise, white punch service and Mrs. Herman pink and yellow.

surer, Miss Betty Blair; vice-president, Miss Brenda Younse; and secretary, Miss Priscilla Thompson.

Delta Kappa Pi Sorority Elects Officers

The regular meeting of Delta Kappa Pi sorority met in the home of Miss Wanda Mouton, 201 Chickasaw Drive, West Monroe.

Installation of the newly elected officers for the coming term was held.

NEW OFFICERS

er, Miss Betty Blair; historian, Miss Nancy Cash; parliamentarian, Miss Donna Moore; sergeant-at-arms, Miss Judy Lebengood; reporter, Miss Kay Harris and pledge advisors Miss Linda Bledsoe and Miss Cheryl Robeson.

OUT-GOING OFFICERS

The outgoing officers were: Vice president, Miss Martha Harris; secretary, Miss Norma Mazzeo; treasurer, Miss Ann Duncan; reporter, Miss Sheila Watson; sergeant-at-arms Miss Virginia Watson; historian, Miss Brenda Younse; parliamentarian, Miss Judy Carter and pledge advisors, Miss Cheryl Robeson and Miss Nancy Cash.

PEAS

Chick peas may be bought in cans. Drain them and dress with olive oil, vinegar, salt, pepper, serve with anchovies, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, boneless and skinless sardines and water cress or other greens for a first course.

Casual styles call for separates with a difference this year. That difference is mis-matching. Over-blouses are designed to go with one skirt, but the outfit is not made in the same fabric. Velvet tops are color coordinated with wool plaid skirts, or wool jersey overblouses combine with mohair skirts.

A Suit That Answers Many Fashion Needs

By BETH BLAIR

The "walking suit" is a wearable costume which can fill an important place in fall and early winter wardrobes. Slim jackets are usually straight in silhouette and range anywhere from fingertip length to just a few inches above the knee. Consider one in tweed for everyday wear or in a dressy wool with fur trim for dress up. A reader writes —

Dear Miss Blair:

I have a good black and white tweed coat which I can't seem to wear out. I wonder if I could remodel it some way — it is a double-breasted style with shawl collar, slit pockets and the silhouette is straight. There isn't much you can do to this type coat other than dye it a solid color or add a fur collar as black beaver or similar fairly flat fur. Fox might be good on it, too. You might enjoy the coat for another few seasons if you were to crop it above the knees, the new walking suit length. You could add a black wool skirt to wear under it — another in red or even winter white might be fun.

Dear Miss Blair: I am little and do not like to wear heavy woollens or patterned fabrics since I feel they make me appear even smaller. For a winter wardrobe with a few cocktail dresses, I find it difficult to keep to my convictions. Have you any suggestions? Keep your fashion preferences when planning new clothes and shopping for them. You may have to compromise, however, unless you make your own or can have them sewn for you. In any event avoid the bulky fabrics which would be all wrong for your type. Choose them with surface interest but these can be lightweight fabrics as well. One or two "patterns" might add more interest to your wardrobe, however. Why not consider a vertical stripe or one of the dark floral patterns which are so subtle they sometimes appear as a solid — usually in silk?

The walking suit, which designers established last spring, gathers speed for fall and winter. The style comes in a variety of fabrics and colors, often shown with fur detailing. It proved so popular that a companion style—the walking dress—also is making fashion news. The slender wool dresses are planned for wear without a wrap on a brisk fall day. The one-pieceers also have fur collars.

Well, we got the crisp fall weather, just as we ordered. And with it the World Series and the football weekends. All of which leads inevitably to the short trip, (short in days, not distances) a pleasurable change from the regular routine.

The RALPH EINHORN'S flew to New York Wednesday. They had tickets for the Series, "My Fair Lady" and "The Music Man." They plan to be home Tuesday.

Quite a group of our people went to Dallas this weekend for the Notre Dame-SMU game. The CLAY WILSONS drove over Thursday, accompanied by DOT MASON and the MORGAN SIMONS. JACK MASON flew over yesterday to join them. REGINA and HENRY HAMMONDS and MILTON FORD drove over on Friday.

The fall season at Highland Park country club started with a bang at the Holiday in Mexico party last Saturday night. The entrance courtyard set the South of the Border theme with a large sign reading "Casa Rio." Refreshments were two authentic, sleep-looking live donkeys.

Inside the tables were covered with red checked cloths and centered with candles in bottles. Mexican hats and serapes were used on the walls. Tall standing arrangements of banana leaves and other greenery ringed the floor. Dinner, served from seven until nine, consisted of such Latin specialties as tacos, enchiladas, tamales, chili, guacamole and tortillas.

Dinner guests included the HERBERT HINEHARTS and their daughter, ANN, WANDA and DON MCCORMICK of Ruston, who were guests of the FAIRRELL KETCHUMS, HELEN and DAVID AGNEW. Friends were congratulating Dave on being elected district governor of Kiwanis at the Gulf coast convention last week. The TED GRANTS of Baton Rouge were guests of his mother, MRS. FRED GRANT, and the JAY SULLIVANS of Winberg were guests of the GENE KOONTZ.

Music for dancing began in the main dining room at nine o'clock. The daily featured musicians specialized in rhythm and cha cha rhythms.

Among the dancers were the C. BELLS. He wore a striped shirt and a fringed sash, while Kathleen was in a red sequined dress.

The KENNY HOLTS were celebrating their seventeenth wedding anniversary. Juanita's brown outfit was complimented with an exquisite yellow orchid corsage. "Twas a treat to watch the CLAYTON CALHOUNS and their clever dance steps.

Our popular visitor, GARLAND SPENCER, has been entertained with several lovely luncheons this week. Garland and her husband, Dr. R. R. SPENCER of Sarasota, Florida, have been the guests of their son and his family, the NAT SPENCERS. Tuesday's party was held at the Bayou Desiard country club, where DAISY GRAY was hostess. The table, which was set up on the club porch, was centered with pale yellow funnims arranged in a gold cornucopia. Lobster newburg was the main course of the meal served to twelve guests.

On Thursday VERA BROWN invited a congenial foursome for lunch and bridge. Garlands daughter-in-law, Barrie Spencer and Barrie's mother, MAE WALSWORTH, were additional luncheon guests.

Saturday's hostess was ELOISE SLATER, who entertained at the Lotus club. Crysanthemums in shades of yellow, brown, and bronze centered the table. Shrimp cocktail was served as a first course, followed by broiled chicken with a green salad. Guests were Garland, Barrie, Mae, and LESLIE GARRETT, CHUCKIE LEMERT, CARRIE DEE DREW, and FRANCES MCHENRY.

An informal supper party at the CORBIN TURPIN home honored the Spencers last night. Co-hosts were the FELIX WILLEYS. An arrangement of fruit was used on the dining table. Barbecued chicken, rice and giblets, and Dutch apple pie complemented the menu served to twelve guests.

SARA LEE and CHARLES LEDOUX entertained with a supper party at their camp last Saturday night. Barbecued Cornish hens were the main dish, accompanied by marinated plum tomatoes, asparagus casserole, and a tossed salad, with fudge cakes for dessert. Fifteen people attended the party, including MR. and MRS. W. A. JONES and MR. and MRS. RICHARD JONES of Ruston and ANN and JOE LEDOUX of Shreveport.

Sara Lee and Charles got quite a surprise Tuesday night, when they went for supper with MERLE and J. L. ADAMS. They were expecting a plain family supper type party, and here was the table all done up in white and silver in honor of the Ledoux's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. A turkey dinner was served, ending with the honoree's favorite chocolate nut cake. Others attending were the BOB McDOWELLS, the ARTHUR GRANTS, the JOHN EBYs, the SHELBY HILLS and the GROVER HOLLOWAYS.

On Wednesday CLAYTON KELLOGG was hostess to a bridge party at the Highland Park country club. The cool sunny weather brought out a number of new fall outfits such as JAYNE PEARCE's floral print in autumn tones of brown and old gold. With this she wore a gold chain with pendant consisting of a large square. MAXINE BOARDMAN's green wool was fashioned on the new Empire lines. Special guest at the party was MRS. C. M. DOLAN (Monroe's former Satchie Cooper), of Eagle Pass, Texas. She was visiting for a few days, and will return home the first of the week. Seven tables played bridge, with CAMILLE WOOD winning high, and JOYCE KELLOGG, low. Prizes were boxes of bulbs for fall planting.

The BOB HANNAS had a small supper party at home last Saturday night. Barbecued chicken with green rice and a tossed salad made up the menu, with lemon meringue pie for dessert. Attending were the GARLAND HAMMONDS and the ED HAYWARDS, JR.

A dinner party on Friday night was the CHARLES WHITAKERS compliment to DR. and MRS. BENJAMIN RUSH. The Rushes are from New Orleans and will be in Monroe for a year, while Ben is a resident at E. A. Conway Memorial hospital. Virginia used an arrangement of fruit in a cornucopia on the mantel in the living room, and red spider lilies on the dining table. A fall menu of ham, with a potato and apple casserole and apple pie a la mode was served. Other guests were the CAVITT

MRS. ROBERT EDWARD CRABTREE is the former Miss Martha Aline Lankford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lankford of this city. The Rev. W. P. Carter performed the ceremony. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Crabtree of West Monroe.

COOKSTONS and the BOLLING JONES.

"Serious bridge" is the avowed intention of the new club organized Tuesday. The group plans to play three tables of duplicate on alternate weeks. Winners on the first day's play were ANN WESTBOM, first; and JOAN SAGER, second.

MRS. L. O. SMITH and MRS. ALTON WESTBROOK of Jackson, Miss., Cissy Ryan's grandmother and mother, drove over to spend Thursday and the night with the Ryans. Mrs. Smith brought her famous stuffed ham to be the main course for a neighborhood luncheon. Cissy prepared string beans with water chestnuts and a potato casserole. LELA EWING brought a lemon ice box dessert. A total of eight guests enjoyed this unusual menu.

The C. C. BOARDMANS are in Florida, visiting their daughter, MRS. FRED PECK, the former Joan Boardman. They plan to be home by Wednesday. The Monroe chapter of the American Cancer society is a large part of the Louisiana Division meeting in New Orleans this weekend. BRUCE SPIVEY served on the planning committee for the meeting. Taking part on the programs will be IRVING LEIBOWITZ, FRED HEINEFELD, JR., and MAC WARD. Others from here who went down for the three day meeting at the Hotel Monteleone were GLADYS KULCKE, DAVID CHENNAULT, the FRED PETTYS, and LESLIE LIEBOWITZ.

And now its poem time. This column has received some poetry through the mail, but the letters and poems have been unsigned. The Monroe Morning World policy prohibits the publication of any anonymous communication. Here is "Souls" by Fannie Searns Davis:

My soul goes clad in gorgeous things,
Scarlet and gold and blue,
And at her shoulder sudden wings
Like long flames flicker through.
And she is swallow - fleet and free
From mortal bonds and bars.
She laughs, because Eternity
Blossoms for her with stars!
O folk who score by stiff gray gown,
My dull and foolish face,
Can ye not see my Soul flash down,
A singing flame through space?
And folk, whose earth - stained looks I hate,
Why may I not divine
Your Souls, that must be passionate,
Shining and swift as mine?

Girl Scout News

There are few more exciting experiences for a young girl than her first few weeks, or year, even, as a Brownie Scout. However, a deeper satisfaction comes from renewing one's membership and looking forward to another year of fun and worthwhile activities. Proudly wearing membership stars, denoting a year of Scouting, are the following Brownie Scouts of Troop 4, made up of third-grade girls at Sherrouse School: Jennifer Davis, Gay Gill, Amy Griffin, Olivia Grower, Esther Hally, Deborah Harrison, Susan Head, Sharon Head, Sally Howell, Jo Ellen Otwell, Katherine Parrish, Elizabeth Poole, Ann Sherrouse, Carol Anne Stevenson, Jean Tolar, Susan Westbrook, Pat Zufall. Leaders are Mrs. O. K. Davis and Mrs. M. R. Howell and members of the troop committee are: Mrs. John Tolar, Mrs. E. J. Zufall and Mrs. Betty Head.

At their first meeting of the school year the girls of Troop 4 at Our Lady of Fatima School discussed summer fun as a basis for planning fall activities. Bonnie Baldo described enthusiastically her opportunity to learn to sew, as well as the ten days she spent at Pine Wood at day camp. Susie Ellington was impressed with the swimming classes, while Gretchen Haas gave her impressions of fun at camp and urged the girls to exhibit their pieces of pottery, made either at camp or in the troop, at the Columbia Art Festival on October 11.

Eagerly looking forward to resumption of activities were Brownie Scouts of Troop 4, Mrs. F. W. Adams and Mrs. C. W. Cain, leaders. The troop was organized at Georgia Tucker School last spring and meets in a playroom at the home of the T. Mickel's. Leaders had a surprise for the girls in the form of a decorated cake topped by a Brownie toadstool on which was written, "Time for Brownies to get together." The meeting was a welcome for new members Linda Dixon, Emma Humble, Mickey Williams, Zell Williams, and Susan Williams and Evelyn Jones who transferred from Troop 4. Other girls who were registered in March are: Chris Adams, Chris Bonnette, Candace Cain, Pat Crawford, Margaret Anne Denoux, Linda Law, Nancy Leigh, Diana Michel.

Training sessions for grownups continue to be well attended. Meetings this week are: Second year Brownie leaders Tuesday morning at 9:30, Pottery Workshop Wednesday at 9:30, continuation of training for new leaders Thursday at 9:30.

With United Givers Fund Drive starting tomorrow, it's good time to remind our readers that you support Girl Scouting in Ouachita Parish by this means.

Fall Purse Collection Makes Debut

In a splash of color, the fall and winter collection of purses makes its elegant debut. Created especially to present a better balanced picture with the free silhouette and shorter hemline, attention is focused on the slender, wider shape made in a galaxy of ready to wear hues ranging from dill green, tawny oranges and golds, fiery reds, and the basic blacks, fashion browns and briarwoods. Fabrics are supple surface interest types, creating a dressier feeling... loop mohair, cut velvet in solid shades, velour, cashmere, broadcloth, fake fur, calf, satin and peau d'oe with combinations of leather and fabric, with fabric comprise the exciting review, in which every category of purse is presented.

APPLAUSE

Solid and tweed mohair receives applause in a fresh rendition of casual handbags complementing the trapeze, with width exaggerated at either the base or frame. Self or calf handles frame and piping are in the majority. Cut velvet appeals for daytime accessorizing... colors are perfectly coordinated with hues of fall and winter ready to wear... and the elegant design of the velvet is highlighted due to the oversized, slim formation of the purses, with gold clasps and bag detail. The fabric has been processed so that it is weather resistant.

Man made fur outdoes itself and looks more like mink, than mink itself. A dynel fiber with nylon guard hairs is the most exciting fake fur purse of the season. Decade dip, with an added seasoning of minced onion as well as bar detail, clasps and frames.

LEMON

Always add lemon juice to mashed avocado to keep the fruit from turning dark. Serve the avocado dip, with an added seasoning of minced onion as well as bar detail, clasps and frames.

Add A Gay Note To Linen Closet With Lining

When you clean out your linen closet this Fall in preparation for the heavier bed gear that soon will be needed, why not line the shelves with a colorful covering material while you're at it.

Some of the newer plastic-coated shelf lining materials not only are washable, thus easy to keep clean, but can add a gay note to a utilitarian storage area.

One covering comes in a wide choice of colors and patterns so that you'll have no trouble matching it to a hall or an adjoining room's color scheme. You can purchase the material with an adhesive backing, if you wish. In this form it adheres firmly to any smooth shelf surface.

RECIPES
Handy to remember when you are using old-fashioned recipes that give some measurements by gill: 1/4 cup equals one gill. A pound of rice equals 2 1/2 cups.

Women who like the new and different will be intrigued with shapes of heels this fall. The gracefully curved Louis heel, the matchstick type, and less curved heels will be standard. But also look for the odd shapes, such as tear-drop, pear, and the chic squared-off high heel.

The Beta Pi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Honors Nu Phi Nu At A Tea

The Beta Pi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority entertained the Nu Phi Nu members at a tea last Sunday, between the appointed hours of three and five o'clock in the afternoon, at the penthouse of the Penn Hotel.

This occasion marked the first anniversary of the Beta Pi's here in Monroe. The color followed Nu Phi Nu's colors of pink and blue. Pink roses and burning blue tapers adorned the table where guests were registered.

Those assisting in the courtesies were members of Beta Pi Social Committee, of which Mrs. Walter Hinckley is chairman.

Greeting the guests upon arrival were Mrs. Marty Schenck, Beta Pi president, and Mrs. Llewellyn George, Nu Phi Nu president.

ATTENDANCE

Attending were Misses Jean Beebe, Martha Hibbard, Lorna Montgomery, Anne Adams, Gro Rowell, Pat Davis, Joyce Lanier, Peggy Warner, Janis Joyce, Ingrid Peterson, Joanne Avery, Shirley Averett and Helen Johnson.

And Mesdames, George Smar, Marty Schenck, Joe Lister, William A. Robinson, Furn Bailey, Walter Hinckley, Steve Savanna, Llewellyn George, Eddie Kemp and Rosemary Williams.

Some Tips For Decorating Campus Home

Few things add cheer more quickly to a college freshman's first home away from familiar surroundings than do the colorful, personal touches she adds to her room.

After bedspreads and draperies have been selected, one of the easiest means of decorating is with today's interesting covering materials.

Closet shelves and dresser drawers can easily be brightened with pretty, practical linings. Waste baskets, picture frames, lamp bases and book shelves can be covered with matching material too, if the co-ed wishes.

For these dormitory decorating tasks, the soil-resistant, plastic-coated covering materials are most useful. There's an entire family of coverings, which simplifies the chore. It comes in shelf and drawer linings, an extra wide 46-inch width for covering large areas and one which has an adhesive backing that is easy to apply. All of these comparison materials are available in the same or harmonizing colors and patterns.

Recently introduced, too, are three new high-fashion, metallic designs that should meet with approval of the young collegienne. They feature gold and silver foils and threads. Each is available in background colors of turquoise, white, pink or yellow.

Martha Long, W. B. Campbell Exchange Vows

Miss Martha Ann Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thompson Long of Sterlington was united in marriage to Winston Bernard Campbell, son of Mrs. Stephen Robert Campbell and the late Mr. Campbell of Pineville in the Kelly Baptist Church with the Reverend Paul Jones reading the marriage vows.

The double ring rites were performed before an altar flanked by baskets of pale pink chrysanthemums. Myriads of burning pink tapers in tall candelabra against a background of magnolia leaves and pink poms shed a soft glow over the nuptial scene.

Mrs. Paul Jones rendered a program of pre-nuptial music. Her selections included "I Love You Truly," and "O Promise Me." Miss Dorothy Day of Minden sang "Because," "O Perfect Love," and at the close of the ceremony, "The Wedding Prayer."

MAID-OF-HONOR

The bride's maid of honor was Miss Freda Ann Keen of Minden. Bridesmaids were Miss Mollie Sue Guin and Miss Martha Ann Hargrove of Kelly. All the attendants wore identical dresses of pink brocade satin designed with a close fitting bodice and a V neckline. The straight street length dresses were accented by pink satin cummerbunds which crossed in front and flowed softly into a floating panel in the back. Their headpieces were self-covered bandeaus of pink satin and they carried a Juliet fan of pink poms arranged with pink satin pouts and streamers.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over white satin. A tight fitting bodice which featured a V neckline was joined to a billowing floor length skirt which fell into tiny pleats in the back. The long fitted sleeves tapered to a petal point over the hands and the shoulder length veil of illusion fell softly from a tilla of seed pearls. A tear drop pearl centered the tilla and the bride wore earrings of tear drop pearls which belonged to her paternal grandmother. For her neckpiece, she wore a lavender borrowed from her aunt. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of stenositis and was centered with a purple throated white orchid atop a white Bible.

Mr. Jack Campbell of Bunkie served his brother as best man. Ushers were James Williams and Taylor McNeel of Pineville.

A dress of larksur blue cuponi was selected by Mrs. Long for her daughter's wedding. With it she wore a matching feather hat and gloves and black kid shoes and hosiery. Her corsage was of pink poms.

The mother of the groom, Mrs. Campbell was attired in powder blue faille with a tiny black feather hat and black accessories. Her corsage was also of pink poms.

RECEPTION

The bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the home of Mrs. James A. Duke following the ceremony.

The bride and groom, their parents and the members of the wedding party formed the receiving line for the occasion.

The bride's table was beautifully decorated with a handmade white cut work linen cloth. The attendants bouquets with six burning pink tapers formed the centerpiece. Miniature pink chrysanthemums wreathed the crystal punch bowl where Mrs. Beulah Lindsey of Bernice, an aunt of the bride presided.

Mrs. K. R. Russell of Kelly served the three tiered cake which was topped by two wedding bells and a miniature bride and groom.

The bride's book was placed on a table flanked by burning pink tapers Miss Patricia Smith of Grayson presided over the registering.

WEDDING TRIP

When the newly-weds left for the wedding trip, Mrs. Campbell was wearing an early fall creation of brown shantung. She wore brown metallic accessories and her hat was a bandeau of brown velvet. Her corsage was the white orchid from her bouquet. Later they will be at home at 506 Trenton Street in Ruston where they will continue their studies at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Mrs. Campbell graduated from Kelly High School. In 1957, she won the title, "Miss Caldwell Parish" and has represented Caldwell Parish in several events including the Miss Louisiana pageant.

Mr. Campbell is a graduate of Pineville High School. His social fraternity at Louisiana Tech is Tau Kappa Epsilon.

GUESTS

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell, Steve, Richard and Mark of Bunkie; Mr. David Long of Lake Charles; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jarmon and Mildred, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Barham and Carol, Mr. and Mrs. Odie Poole of Dubach; Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Massey, Larry and Kenny of Urania; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Russell, Jane and Linda of DeQuincy; Mr. and Mrs. John Earl Peacock of Shreveport; Mr. John Adeock of Jonesboro; Mrs. M. D. Guilbault and Miss Margaret Guilbault of Pineville and Mr. R. S. Tuimble of Monroe.

REHEARSAL SUPPER
Mr. David Gratton Long, brother of the bride, was host to the wedding party and friends on Friday evening at a local restaurant.

Attending were Miss Long, Mr. Campbell, Mrs. Stephen Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thompson Long, Miss Freda Keen, Miss Mollie Guin, Mr. R. S. Tuimble, Miss Martha Ann Hargrove, Mr. James Williams, Miss Patricia Smith, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Jones, Miss Dorothy Day, Mr. John Adeock, Mrs. Joseph Guin, Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Russell, Mrs. James A. Duke, Mrs. Davis Anderson, and Mr. David G. Long.

Add Storage Space To Your Kitchen

Here's a thought for adding needed storage space in your kitchen: Put up inexpensive wooden shelves near the food preparation area for your jars of spices and herbs. They can be mighty attractive as well as useful if you cover the shelves with one of the smart decorative materials having adhesive backing.

Shellac the unpainted wood, let it dry thoroughly, then press the covering into the position where it will adhere smoothly.

It is obtainable in numerous colors and patterns to fit in with virtually any kitchen decor.

Home Workshops Need Sprucing Up Now n' Then

In fixing up a corner of your basement as a workshop for the coming indoor months, consider dressing up old surfaces with the new decorative covering materials now obtainable.

Shelves and drawers lined with a bright, serviceable material are easier to keep clean and will lend a bit of life to the masculine domain.

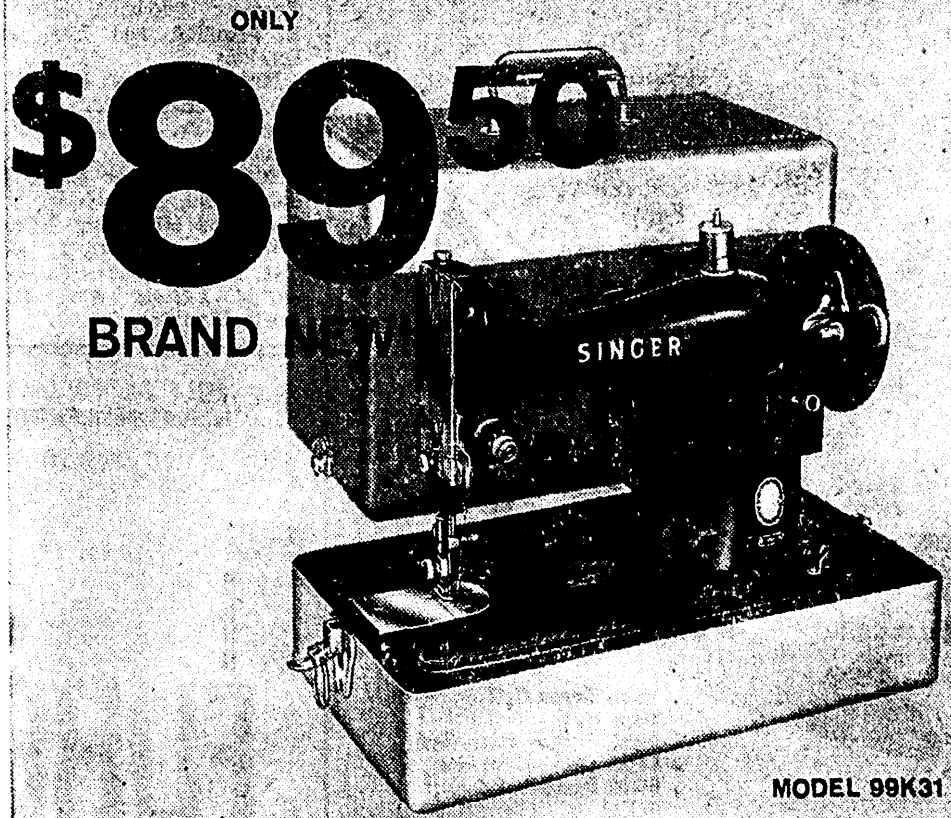

The plastic-coated coverings are among the most practical for they can be wiped off as often as needed with a damp cloth. One of these, comes in matching colors in shelf and drawer linings to aid the home decorator in carrying out a color scheme. This material also comes with an adhesive backing if you want a lining that adheres to the surface.

A choice of 10 solid colors and an array of checks and patterns are offered in houseware sections of department stores as well as in many hardware and novelty stores.

Miss Frasier Becomes Bride Of Clovis Tate

Miss Lorette Frasier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Frasier of Ruston, became the bride of Clovis Carleton Tate of Little Rock, Arkansas, at the Rock Corner Baptist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arnold Lee Norsworthy before an altar decorated with two large baskets of white gladioli and a background of palmello leaves. Four large floor candleabra held white cathedral tapers, which gave soft illumination for the ceremony.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a waltz-length gown of lace and tulle over taffeta. The molded bodice of taffeta had a deep yoke of lace which formed a sweetheart neckline scalloped with tiny seed pearls and sequins. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught by a tiara of seed pearls. Her bouquet was fashioned of a white orchid with feathered carnations and stephanotis, and satin ribbon streamers tied in love knots.

MATRON OF HONOR

The matron of honor, Mrs. Wendell Moore cousin of the bride, wore a frock of white lace over lavender taffeta with a sa'in lavender cummerbund. Her colonial nosegay was of lavender chrysanthemums matching the flowers worn in a coronet in her hair.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Ragan Brewster, Mrs. Donald Holder, Mrs. J. F. Martin, and Miss Jo Ann Farris. Mrs. Brewster and Miss Farris wore frocks of yellow lace over yellow taffeta. They carried nosegays of green chrysanthemums and wore matching floral coronets. Mrs. Holder and Mrs. Martin were dressed in frocks of green lace over green taffeta and carried nosegays of yellow chrysanthemums and wore matching floral coronets.

Miss Jean Hancock, Miss Pam Brewster, Mr. James Frasier, brother of the bride, and Mr. Frasier Bratton lighted the candles.

Melinda Brewster was flower girl, and Jimmy Lee was ring bearer.

Serving the groom as best man was Phillip Tackett, and groomsmen were Mr. Wendall Moore, Mr. Ragan Brewster, Mr. J. F. Martin and Mr. W. H. Mabry. Wedding guests were shown to their places by ushers, James Frasier and Frazier Bratton.

Mrs. Richard Trant provided the music for the ceremony and accompanied the soloist, Dr. Richard Trant. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Frasier were hosts at a reception in their home.

Guests were invited to sign the bride's book by Miss Viva Hancock. Presiding at the punch bowl were Miss Nancy Simpson, and the cake was served by Miss Joy Gullet.

BISCUITS

Baking-powder biscuits may be prepared and cut out several hours ahead of the time they are to be baked if they are stored in the refrigerator during this waiting period.

French designers go for glamor at all times — even aboard a motor scooter. Bruyere shows harem hemline trouser-skirts for scooter riders. The skirts are combined with sweater tops of velvet or silk jersey, or hip-length jackets.

GUESTS for several days in the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Worthen on Park Avenue, were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dunn, from Grand Rapids, Michigan. They were entertained on several informal occasions during their stay here.

Look for pleats in campus fashions. Newest are the overlapping box pleats in trapeze skirts, says Women's Wear Daily, a trade publication. Side pleats and stitched down accordion types also are popular in skirts. In jumpers, pleats are concentrated at the hemline.

BPW Celebrate National Business Women's Week

First in a series of events commemorating National Business Women's Week, Oct. 5-11, will be observed by The Monroe Business and Professional Women's Club today. Members and guests will enjoy breakfast together at the Holiday Inn at 9:00 a.m. Mrs. Leo Skinner, chairman, promises delightful entertainment and surprises for all. Following breakfast they will, according to tradition, practice, attend a group church service at the First Baptist Church. From there, the group will go to the home of Mrs. Violet Vandewater of New Orleans, the Louisiana Federation's first Vice President.

30 YEARS AGO
National Business Women's Week was organized in 1928, exactly 30 years ago. The theme for 1958 is "More Power to Womanpower" and was chosen to spotlight the women who work and their responsibilities in their home towns, the nation, and the world. This annual week, sponsored throughout the United States by The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., is set aside to pay tribute to women in business and the professions. The President of the United States and national leaders in all fields have

ORGANIZED IN 1919
The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was organized in 1919 and is the largest organized group in the world devoted entirely to the affairs of business and professional women, with State Federations in all the 48 states, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia. Membership totals more than 15,000. The Federation is the only organization for women which includes all professions and occupations. National headquarters are in Washington, D.C.

The Federation's main objective is to promote the interests of B and P Women. BPW works to elevate standards for women through education, industrial and vocational activity programs. BPW is the leader in securing legislation in the interest of women. In 1930, BPW took the lead in founding the International Federation of Business and Professional Women, which now has Federations in 22 countries. All members of BPW are also members of the International Organization.

SCHEDULE
Besides the breakfast and group church attendance today, other scheduled events in recognition of Business Women's Week are: Banquet at Bayou Desiard Country Club Tuesday evening. Speaker for this occasion will be Louie E. Throgmorton, vice president and director of Public Services of the Republic National Life Insurance Co. of Dallas. Also honored will be the banquet will be Mrs. Diana Berkworth, Louisiana Federation president, of Minden. The grand finale of the week will be a Fun Party, Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. Laura Slater, charter member.

The Jonesboro - Hodge Garden Club held its first meeting of the year at the Jonesboro Methodist Church Recreation Building.

The yearbook chairmen are Miss Valrie Barnum and Mrs. Ren Paul. Mrs. Wilbur McDonald is program chairman. The new books were issued and briefly reviewed by Mrs. McDonald and Miss Barnum.

Mrs. McDonald then introduced the speaker, J. P. Harvey.

Her subject was "Trees and Shrubs from My Garden." Dr. Harvey urged all of us to grow our own plants and explained how to do this. She exhibited many specimen cuttings.

The hostesses for the tea were Mrs. Charles Barnum, Miss Valrie Barnum, Mrs. Eddie Namie, and Mrs. Fred Nezem.

The tea table was overlaid with a lovely lace cloth. The decorative unit was a tiered crystal corgene holding yellow dahlias and yellow plumed celosia. It was balanced by a lovely crystal bowl holding yellow punch. Mrs. Wilbur McDonald presided at the punch service.

Eastern Star Entertains For Mrs. Lafferty

At six o'clock Saturday afternoon the grand officers, past grand matrons and patrons and special guests of the Order of the Eastern Star assembled at the home of Mrs. Ona Mae Lafferty in West Monroe, which was quite a surprise to her. To begin the evening of fun they were accompanied by the long arm of the law which promptly placed Mrs. Lafferty under "protective custody" on one charge of "Trapping Around in the South."

The caravan of nearly a hundred officers and guests then moved on to the home of Mrs. Willie Mae Paimich for a chicken barbecue supper. At seventy-three more than two hundred members and friends from the entire state gathered at the West Monroe Masonic Temple for the Kangaroo Court trial of Mrs. Lafferty. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Beeton.

"The one witness for the defense was Marjorie Beeton of West Monroe who also turned out to be the "village idiot." Her testimony was completely discredited and Mrs. Lafferty was found guilty of the charge against her.

One of the highlights of the evening was Martha Ann Lafferty's mournful singing of "The Prisoner's Song" to her mother.

Refreshments were served in the social room and the centerpiece on the banquet table created a sensation. Inside a cage was a doll dressed in a prison outfit, both hands holding to the bars of the cage. Outside sat twelve dolls in prison stripes arranged as a jury. A "wanted" poster with a picture of Mrs. Lafferty, made some years ago, was tacked to the wall.

Impressive Array Slated For Monroe

A touch of Oriental glamor will be in Monroe tomorrow when Miss Pat Sans, exotic Japanese model will visit briefly in connection with the opening of the Paramount Theatre of the Twentieth Century - Fox super - reduce - fares and the impressive array of hits will be seen throughout the South.

"The theme of this line-up is '1939 Comes Early This Year,'" Edwards said.

The campaign is being conducted throughout the south in an effort to prove to Hollywood that good movies will sell anytime during the year rather than during the few specific times, principally around holidays or during the summer, when Hollywood now tries to release its big films, Edwards pointed out.

And no effort has been spared in arranging for Monroe's moviegoers to share in the rich harvest of super-attractions, the manager said. Among the top-rated products already assured moviegoers here are such productions as "The Barbarian and the Geisha" starring John Wayne, Andy Griffith in "Onionhead"; Cary Grant and Sophia Loren in "Houseboat"; and later in the season, "Mardi Gras" starring Pat Boone, Christine Carere, Tommy Sands, Gary Crosby and Sherree North.

NOT BRIGITTE

Chevalier Likes Marilyn Monroe

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Maurice Chevalier, who wrote the book on women and still has a few chapters to go, says that Marilyn Monroe appeals to him more than his own country's Brigitte Bardot.

"There's something warm, humble and sincere about Marilyn," the jaunty, 70-year-old Frenchman said on the set of MGM's "The Blessing," in which he stars with Deborah Kerr.

"Of course," he said with a twinkle in his eyes, "if I had my way, I think I would choose Marilyn for my right arm and Brigitte for my left. Ah, but perhaps I'm getting too old for that."

His famous lower lip curled into a roguish smile as he said "perhaps."

Chevalier, who would be France's greatest export if he could be bottled, admitted ruefully there is no truth to the legend that Frenchmen are the best lovers.

NO FRENCH PLAYBOYS
"Look," he said, "at the three biggest playboys in the world today: Aly Khan, Rubirosa and Baby Pignatari. There is not a Frenchman among them."

Then how did the legend get its start?

"Well," said the slender, gray-haired performer, "there was a time when everyone in France had more time to make love than nowadays. And, of course, France is one of the oldest nations. Put these two facts together, and you have the answer!"

He added wistfully: "Things are so much faster today. Love used to be a much more important part of life."

What of his personal legend as an expert extraordinaire of the fairer sex?

"Actually," he confided, "on the side of work, I've had no more love affairs than a lot of other fellows I know who are not talked about."

"The reputation came about because I always sang about love and the pretty side of life."

DELIGHTFUL
He admitted, however, that he cannot think of anything more delightful in life than a beautiful woman. He said:

"A beautiful woman is created by God to be the great reward of any man trying to prove he's good."

For himself, he said, a woman is at her best between the ages of 30 and 40.

By then she has had enough experience to become a real woman," he said. "She has learned how to take care of herself and is at her ripest."

Chevalier, who recently gave sparkling performances in "Love in the Afternoon" and "Gigi," is embarked on his second major Hollywood career.

"I remember when I was here many years ago — in 1932 or 1933 — and met Mae West," he said. "Nothing ever happened, but it could have."

"She never asked me to come up and see her some time — or anytime, for that matter. I might have. But not now — I'm to old."

Israel Honors Human Rights Day Dec. 10

"Thou Shalt Love Thy Neighbor As Thyself" is the motto to be used by Israel in honor of Human Rights Day on Dec. 10. On that date Israel will issue a 750 pruta stamp commemorating the occasion.

The central design is a slab of stone inscribed with the above phrase which is a quotation from the book of Leviticus, Chapter 19, Verse 18. The emblem of the United Nations will appear in the lower right corner of each stamp. Colors will be yellow, blue, gray and black.

The issuance of this stamp will be the first time that Israel has issued a stamp honoring the United Nations — sponsored Human Rights Day.

A total of 365,072 first-day covers was cancelled Aug. 15 when the 4-cent Atlantic Cable Centennial commemorative stamp was placed on sale in New York City. There were 1,929,373 stamps sold on that day.

Italy and Brazil both have issued stamps honoring the visit of Italy's President Gronchi to Brazil. Italy's stamp depicts a plane flying from Rome to Rio de Janeiro.

Spider Lilies Set Fall Aglow

By MILDRED SWIFT

Red spider lilies are so common that even children recognize them by name. Common, yes, but beautiful and spectacular, especially if planted in large masses.

There are other colors of spider lilies, but none as vigorous as the red one.

VERY RARE

One of the very rarest is a so-called white one. Actually it is not white, but a light cream. Flowers of this variety were grown by Mrs. R. R. Piggott, Wales Road, West Monroe. The gardener supplied quantities of these for Mrs. John McReynolds flower arranging at the September meeting of the Monroe Garden Club. Needless to say, they attracted lots of attention.

THE YELLOW

Mrs. Raymond Boyd, 1400 Rose-lawn, Monroe, grows the yellow variety. It is so beautiful as to be startling. Each little flower is so large that a first glance it resembles a day lily.

Shirley Boyd, one of Monroe's most enthusiastic and successful young gardeners, has several clumps of the yellow spider lily. Several varieties of pink spider lilies are grown in different parts of the world and here at home.

Mrs. B. U. Evans of Ferriday is growing a number of these.

TRUE NAMES

The spider lily's family name is Lycoris. Each color is a different species.

The red spider lily is Lycoris radiata; the white is Lycoris alba; the yellow is Lycoris aurea. There are several species of pinks but the lovely ones grown here are Lycoris squamigera.

Many people refer to this Lycoris family as Guernseys and Nerines. Botanists say this is an error, though.

Other common names given the Lycoris family are: surprise lily and hurricane lily. However, botanists say the spider lilies cannot qualify as lilies at all.

HABITS

The foliage of the Lycoris family stays green all winter, and appears soon after the flower. At the time the foliage appears is the best time to fertilize them, because the fertilizer is used by the leaves in the production of plant food. Use a mixture of bone meal and 8-8-8, half and half.

The foliage stays green all winter, thus making this a perfect plant for winter garden cover.

In the spring the foliage turns brown, because the plant is going dormant. This is a perfect time to transplant your spider lilies. When doing this job, don't try to force any two bulbs apart. You'll bruise and lose them when you force.

Plant with the necks sticking out of the ground in a well drained spot. Soil should be of good loamy texture. Working bone meal in the soil at planting time starts the bulb off to a healthy life.

CANDLE TREE

The Imperial candle tree is in bloom in Irene Reid's garden, 1621 Emerson, and at Mrs. W. W. Stevens, 306 Columbia Ave. Be sure to drive by and see these in bloom.

There's one thing for sure I can tell you about this plant. If you plant seed too late, they will not have time to reach maturity and bloom. Neither can you plant them outside until danger of frost is over.

Your safest bet is to get plants from our nurseries. They're cheap, inexpensive, but must be planted every year. They just won't go through our cold winters.

No need to save seed from this candle tree. They do not mature. This is at heart a tropical plant. The seed will mature in the torrid zones with their very long summers. There are nurseries where you can order the seed, but it is best to buy the plants in May. When you see the blooms in the Reid and Stevens yards you'll certainly resolve to do just that.

A STAIN

So many flower growers are complaining about the stain on clothes from the banana plant. This seems to be the sap from the cut leaves or blooms. The stain is black, turning to red and refuses to come out.

Miss Rupert Perry, Home Management Specialist with L.S.U. Extension is planning to take such a stain to a workshop in Washington next week. She hopes to come back with some help for us.

THE SMALL "FRY"

Never let it be said that America's youngster set doesn't keep up with the fashion parade. The kindergarten crowd and small glamor girls are proudly showing off their new belted casual fall dresses.

Little girls look cute as buttons in these new frocks, which faithfully follow grown-up trends.

Two styles are favorites — the midly with the pleated skirt and the straight full dress that hangs free from a shoulder yoke, trapeze effect.

For little boys, Ivy League still is big news. Trousers have narrower legs, buckled back strap and pleated fronts.

GALA OPENING

Each year opening of the fall season at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York sees New York's most beautifully dressed women. Of course they're wearing their newest and best, just as you and I would do if we should ever have the privilege of going there.

This unofficial fashion show gives one a pretty good idea of

Winter Chill Sends Garden Under Covers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
CHAPPAQUA, N.Y.

Killing frosts are striking here and there around the country more frequently now as winter weather comes on, but before - handed gardeners can preserve their gardens for a little longer if they want to take the pain and the trouble.

Many of the bright annuals — particularly the hardier, sturdy types like zinnias — may be potted up and brought into the house where, after a suitable convalescence in a dark spot — they will continue to bloom in a sunny window.

When frost threatens — or your favorite source of weather information sends out the alarm — many of the more hardy annuals and fall perennials can live to bloom through Indian summer if protected during the emergency with covers of bushel baskets or even a tent made of stakes and thicknesses of newspaper held in place on the ground by stones.

Too many of us use our cold frames only to start seeds or harden off house-started seedlings in the spring. An important use for them during the cold months is as a storage place for plants of dubious hardiness. One year I wintered over a few clumps of chrysanthemums about whose resistance I was a little nervous.

Last winter I had my cold frame partly occupied by verbenas cuttings I had rooted, and some snapdragons which had been left in a seedbed. As a result, I had a home-grown crop of flowering verbenas as early as my neighbors who had bought nursery plants, and my snapdragons bloomed far ahead of any others around here. In southern areas, of course, snapdragons can be treated as perennials. And so can they be here, in a handy cold frame.

Fall is a good time — provided of course other garden chores don't interfere — to organize some of those jobs we always mean to get around to but never seem to. It is, for one thing, an excellent period in which to buy and set up or to make a cold frame.

Very good ones can be purchased. Or by using one or more discarded storm doors or storm windows, it isn't too difficult to make one from scratch. Frames can be made of any size, of lilies set to work digging and hauling out rocks with a will. Interest flagged, however, once they had planted the seeds. It revived when the seedlings appeared and continued to mount as the growing season progressed.

OSSING, N. Y. — The illicit narcotics has given respectable business a selling tip: Make an ad dict and you make a good customer.

The National Garden Bureau for the past six months has been making gardening addicts out of new home owners in a suburban development here.

Hooked this year by free seed, bi-weekly instruction by experts and a prize contest, next year and thereafter they will be customers for seed, fertilizer, tools and how-to-do-it books.

The experimental project was set up and underwritten by an organization of the nations top seed — selling houses. It was designed to prove the existence of an untapped multi-million dollar market for flower seeds among new home owners of moderate income financially unable to swing immediate expenditures on more costly tree and shrub landscaping.

Chosen for the pilot project was Birch River, a development of $19,000 and $20,000 homes in this Hudson River commuting town an hour's train ride from New York City.

Few of the young couples — city dwellers before moving to the suburbs — knew the difference between crabgrass and false heliothere when the project got underway last April. By September, however, they were veteran diggers and weedeaters; their front and side lawns were ablaze with color. They called plant by botanical names, complained about the bugs wryly, and were analyzing their mistakes — mistakes they would rectify next year when they are on their own.

The National Garden Bureau is delighted with the ease with which the happy guinea pigs have become addicted to gardening ("stimulating gardening enthusiasm," is the bureau phrase for the activity). It believes that such projects in thousands of communities across the nation could open up a garden seed market worth $7 million dollars a year by concentrating just on families in the $5,000 to $10,000 a year brackets.

W. Atlee Burpee III, bureau chairman, suggests that similar projects, with the initial gift of about $5 worth of flower seeds, expert instruction and contests, be instigated and underwritten by local seedsmen or garden supply stores, garden or service clubs, real estate men or even home-owner groups themselves.

Effect of exposure to gardening on Birch River residents was closely charted.

The visiting experts — horticulturists, landscape architects and others — noted that enthusiasm for "low cost landscaping" ran high when the contest was announced and plans drawn. Fam-

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Cool Hothouse Used In South

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The very easiest kind of greenhouse to manage is what horticulturists call the "cool house."

Very little heat is needed for such a conservatory because fifty degrees is the highest heat ever needed. Usually, the temperature ranges from forty to fifty degrees. More attention has to be given to keeping such a greenhouse cool than to keeping it warm here in the South where there so many sunny days.

CHOICE PLANTS

There are some very choice plants for such a cool conservatory. Actually, the number of plants one can grow "cool" is legion, but we shall discuss here those that bloom for a long time and are easiest to handle. Most greenhouse specialists would probably agree that the two pink primroses, Primula obconica and Primula malacoides should be near the top of the list. These oriental primroses have beautiful foliage and bloom on and on in winter. Some people prefer the second one named because it is less apt to give anyone the rash that some people get on their skin where they touch primroses.

Freecias are some of the most deliciously fragrant plants from bulbs. They like the cool house where they can come along slowly. They must not be "forced" along with heat. Cyclamens, those dainty flowers that look so like butterflies hovering over a patch of ivy leaves, are some of the most elegant of all plants. Incidentally, we shall all be growing the small flowers hardy cyclamens out of doors soon. Nurseries are beginning to offer the cornus for sale in this country.

Small potted camellias will flower well in the cool greenhouse and are well worth growing for their early blossoms. Most of the best camellias we see at the early course, but it is always well to remember to make the dimensions convenient for the gardener who must work with its innards.

The frame should be low in front, high in back; about 10 inches in the front and 16 inches in the rear. The glass or transparent top may be hinged or, if light enough — removable. It should face south, have some protection — a house wall or shrub screen — from the elements. The soil within must drain well, be rich and sifted — like a seed-bed. In bitter weather, the plants may be further protected by a mat or blanket over the glass cover.

With a cold frame it is possible to sow spring seed anywhere from six weeks to a month before the average date of the last killing frost in your neighborhood.

Another good fall project is the making of pools, repairing of stone walls, setting in a terrace or fixing flagging and stone steps. Make certain that any masonry work starts deep in the soil so that it will not be displaced and shattered by the alternate thawing and melting of frozen ground.

Keep mowing the lawn and trimming the edges of walks and garden beds as long as the grass keeps growing. And, just because the end of the season is near, weeds. At this period, in particular, every weed pulled is a next season's backslider; it cannot drop seed to sprout next spring.

Utilize Space With Small Vanity Table

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A good place for that little of vanity niche is between your two bedroom windows, space that sometimes isn't utilized at all. You can create a charming area without taking up too much room.

Put up a small vanity shelf, made of lightweight plywood. It can be narrow and have a small drawer directly beneath it to hold all sorts of paraphernalia, if you like. Cover it with the same printed fabric you use in the window drapery. Put a piece of glass over the drapery fabric so that it will stay bright and clean as long as your window draperies last. Tack ball fringe around the shelf, if you like. The ideal spot for pictures — old family daguerrotypes, silhouettes, etc., is right above the vanity table to fill in the space between the windows.

Combine a solid color and print fabric and the windows — a straight panel in the print with a double width of solid colored material as an over drapery. Pin the over drapery back with a brass tie back.

winter shows are greenhouse grown. Without these perfect blossoms, we could not have camellias shows in some seasons. Some fans are beginning to set up greenhouses with no heat in them for their choicest camellias.

PLANT VARIETY

One of the showiest shrubs to grow in a greenhouse is the South African heath. There are many fine varieties. The shrubs bloom for quite a long time and are almost sensational, so prolific is the bloom. Florists have the flowers for sale in winter. They can be grown in fair sized pots. In smaller pots, you can grow the ornamental cherries and peepers for Christmas. These little plants are almost weeds and easy to grow.

For bloom to enjoy in the greenhouse as well as to cut, calendulas and the light blue scrambling shrub, Plumbago capensis can hardly be beaten. This is the common plumbago you see in gardens from Norfolk to Houston in the warm country. Petunias can be potted at the end of the warm weather and taken in. They will grow lustily and can then be taken into a sunny window in the house to bloom. When they cease flowering, return them to the cool greenhouse cut them back and fertilize them, and off they will go again for they are really perennials!

How To Fight Chinch Bugs

By AUDREY DAWSON

If brown spots appear on your St. Augustine lawn and you suspect chinch bugs, dig up about 6"x6" section of the sod in an area where the grass is just beginning to turn yellow (not the dead grass.) Submerge the sod in water — if chinch bugs are present, they will float to the top of the water.

If chinch bugs are present, treat the entire area with DDT or Chlordane at the rate of 1 lb. technical material per 1000 square feet. Mr. Kirby Cockerham, our extension entomologist, also recommends 5 per cent Dieldrin granules, or 20 fluid ounces of Dieldrin concentrate may be used. These materials should be thoroughly washed into the sod for maximum effectiveness.

FAIR

Yes it's fair time again. Things will be really buzzing at the fair grounds tomorrow. If you have time on your hands and you want to see some work going on, come to the Agricultural Exhibit building tomorrow. Mr. Birdsong, secretary and manager of the fair, says everything is ready for the best fair yet. Be sure to come out and don't forget to visit the exhibits in the Agricultural Building any time during the week.

COUNCIL MEETING

There were 23 clubs present at the last council meeting. Only one club absent. That really means we have some very active Home Demonstration Club members here in Ouachita parish and we in the extension office are mighty proud of them. Major Whitfield of the juvenile division of Monroe city police brought a message that I wish every parent in Ouachita parish could have heard. It was an excellent talk.

CONDITION OF SOIL

It's almost time to start planting, but there's a job that you should do before buying your shrubbery or plants — and that is to get your soil in good condition. You cannot put your soil in good condition after plants are set out. Soils with good physical condition permit good root growth. Such soils absorb water faster and also drain better. They hold more water. If they contain a good amount of organic matter, humus.

Organic matter is the best type of material to use for putting soils in good condition. Peat moss and well-rotted compost are perhaps best. The soil should be mixed well with a large amount of humus before setting out plants — a spade full of humus with each spade full of soil is good.

The mulch that is used in summer will usually rot and add humus each year. This should be mixed with top soil a little each year.

If raw organic matter such as undecomposed leaves or sawdust is added to the soil, you will need to add a little extra nitrogen until this material is well rotted. Otherwise, your plant will not get enough nitrogen and will not grow well.

TEEN-AGERS' FOODS

Teen-agers favorite foods — hot dogs, hamburgers, and ice cream — can be easily included in the daily diet which supplies all required nutrients. To insure their physical well-being, teen-agers diet deficiencies should be corrected — better breakfast habits and more nutritious between-meal snacks. The following recommended daily diet supplies a teen-ager's requirement for a day: One quart of Vitamin D milk; three generous portions of protein foods as meats, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese or peanut butter; five servings of fruits and/or vegetables including one dark green or yellow vegetable; one serving of citrus fruit; tomatoes, strawberries, cantaloupe or raw cabbage or other fruits and vegetables including potatoes.

Although this is a good diet foundation many teen-agers, of course, require greater quantities of these foods — and all of them will eat foods such as butter, margarine and sugars.

Lack of parental guidance or knowledge about food may result in children entering adolescence less healthy and happy and with a poor physical appearance. As teen-agers move toward independence, "going along with the crowd" becomes a must. In many cases, bizarre eating habits become a mark of distinction.

To insure their physical well-being, teen-agers diet deficiency should be corrected.

Opening lead: Spade king. Extreme caution by declarer in the play of this hand prevented the loss of a game contract which might have been headed for the rocks.

The final contract was reached by easy stages. After North's response of two diamonds South chose to rebid three clubs. If an objection is raised to this call on the ground that a new suit by opener is not forcing on responder, it should be pointed out that when the response is made at the two level, indicating strength, any showing of a new suit by opener at the level of three is treated as a one round force.

North rebid his diamonds in the hope that this would be least apt to excite partner, and when South rebid three hearts, North, acting in accordance with partner's expectations, proceeded to four.

West opened the king of spades and continued the suit. On the third round, routine play by declarer would have been to ruff an then extract trumps, holding the diamond finesse in reserve for an extra trick.

Had declarer indulged in such relaxation a sad ending would have been written to this tale, for when trumps broke in such an indirect manner a heart trick would have been built up for East, which together with the inexact take of diamonds, would have sent the game contract down to defeat.

South, observing that a 5-1 trump break might ruin the contract, decided not to ruff the third round of spades but to discard a diamond instead. Now there was no return that East could make that would prevent South's taking the rest of the tricks.

It was especially gratifying to declarer that the safety he had purchased for himself at the maximum price of 30 points proved to have cost him nothing at all, for the diamond finesse would have failed anyhow.

The Ruston Quota Club Holds Meeting

The Ruston Quota Club met on Wednesday at a local cafe for their regular meeting. Mrs. Lillian Pearce, secretary, read the minutes and called the roll.

Mr. Lawson Swearingen, vice-president of William Marbury Insurance in Ruston, gave an interesting talk on insurance and how it has advantages as well as problems. Three new members were welcomed into the club. They are: Opal Choate, June Moore and Ruth Teagle.

Little Theatre

Workers have been requested to turn in money and applications for Little Theatre membership by this weekend. That will give us just a week to get all the tickets mailed before the gala opening on Friday. Be sure to send your check today to the worker who solicited you or to Mrs. L. H. Carter, 1300 Forsythe.

On Saturday, October 11th, our neighboring town of Columbia will have its third annual art festival in its Community Center. If the weather is good (surely we've had all our quota of rain for awhile), the pictures, sculpture and other art objects will be exhibited outdoors though there is ample room inside the Center in case of short-eyes. This event is of particular interest to us because two of our Little Theatre workers will be featured on the program.

At the morning session, Lallier-Frazee will give a reading of the Cuckoo's Nest from Ben Hur. In the afternoon, Robert H. Evans will speak on the subject "Art Can Be Family Fun". If you want a cultural treat, drive down to Columbia for the day. You can get back to Monroe in plenty of time for the second night of Visit to a Small Planet.

In New York on business this week, Scherck Bogen will find time to see a few shows. Scherck, a member of the Little Theatre publicity committee is — like the rest of us — a drama enthusiast.

When Louis Guerrero, son of the A.M. Guerrero's on Glenmar, tramp break might ruin the contract, decided not to ruff the third round of spades but to discard a diamond instead. Now there was no return that East could make that would prevent South's taking the rest of the tricks.

It was especially gratifying to declarer that the safety he had purchased for himself at the maximum price of 30 points proved to have cost him nothing at all, for the diamond finesse would have failed anyhow.

Many Crying That Our Schools Are Too Soft

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever since Sputnik I threw its harsh spotlight on American public schools, a carping refrain has been heard over the land:

"Our schools are too soft. There are too many soft and silly courses. We need fewer frills, and more of the good old three R's."

In the initial heat of battle, extremists on both sides took stand-and-stance positions, and belabored the opposition with facts, figures and fancies.

Now, a year later, there seem to have been some sobering second thoughts. The extremists are still with us, of course. But more and more the charges and countercharges are being boiled down to two basic questions:

Are the American people demanding too much of their schools? And have the schools, in trying to meet these demands, bitten off more than they can chew?

It isn't just a question of soft programs and frill courses. The debate probes hard at the very structure of U.S. education today—education of the complete child, life adjustment, something for everybody.

Take the question of discipline. Parents wail, "Our kids aren't disciplined in school." And the teachers wail right back, "Parents expect us to educate their children, and train them as well. Who's really to blame?"

Dr. William G. Kvaraceus of Boston University, a long-time student of juvenile delinquency, says it's all part of the American culture of "worklessness."

HARD WORK
"Hard work is going out of style," he says. "And hard work is discipline. School is about the only place left where hard work is a way of life, and the schools are among the few places that still teach discipline."

If today's children aren't being disciplined in the home, as many teachers claim, the American parent is abdicating to the school his responsibility for raising his children properly. If he says "Let the school do it"—and gets away with it—the school program becomes jam packed with life adjustment courses.

That in itself may stand as a good example of the changed pattern of U.S. education. It used to be you got life adjustment at home and education in the schools.

The Oregon Education Policies Commission recently took note of what may be the new American way of life:

"In a busy world . . . of mothers working, and fathers serving the god of success, children are being overindulged to assuage the guilt feelings of adults. They are overfed, overdoctored and over-lowered. . . . They are kept from what should properly be expected of them by parents whose need is to overprotect. Schools become primarily havens of peace for these children, secondarily a place to get an education."

"Much of this has come about through 'social drift,' through an unwillingness on the part of some adult members of society to assume mature parenthood. It should also be noted that many adults are demanding that the schools get tougher, while they ask shorter hours for themselves."

Take the case of frill courses—the real nub of the "too soft" charges.

It's true, to the chagrin of many Americans, that some of our public high schools really have courses in such things as basket weaving, fly casting, telephone etiquette, "how to behave on a date," and folk dancing.

These courses may seem hard to defend, and few educators will even try.

"These are the ridiculous exceptions," they tell you. "They crop up here and there across the country, but the vast majority of our schools don't have anything like them—and never will have. Don't condemn the entire public school system on the basis of a few isolated cases."

All right, but how about the not-quite-so-frilly courses? How about consumer education, family relations, co-ed cooking, ceramics and nutrition? Are these courses preparing American youth to meet the problems of world leadership in the space age?

SENSITIVE
This touches a sensitive point with most educators.

"It certainly wasn't our idea," they say, "but the pressures are terrific. The schools have to be what the parents want them to be. And American parents—showered long ago that they want the schools to be more than just a place to learn Latin, Greek and calculus."

And yet, these same educators find it hard wholly to condemn the system.

We've mentioned the frill courses and the not-so-frilly courses. Now let's consider a non-academic course that has a firm standing in American education and is spreading year by year: driver education.

First off, there are two undoubted advantages to such courses. They reduce the accident rate and lower insurance premiums. It's hard to argue against anything that saves both lives and money.

But the rapid spread of such courses—more than 11,000 high schools now offer them in some form—raises a question: Why should the schools have to devote their time, money and effort in teaching junior to drive the family car? If the courses are worthwhile, why can't they be taken over by the automobile clubs, the police department, or service and civic groups?

Driver education courses, however, are so firmly entrenched in the American schools they will probably become permanent fixtures. And educators, whether they like the idea or not, have accepted it.

OF LANGUAGE, CULTURE

Colombian Girl Hurdles Barriers

By BOB LUCKETT
Staff Writer

Imagine a bewildered young girl being hustled through the puzzling maze of customs and immigration stations at the port of embarkation in New York.

A teenager, alone, weary, exasperated, who had no one to meet her, and although no stranger to English, had difficulty in understanding the language.

This was Jutta Backhaus upon her arrival in the largest city in the world after completing the long voyage across the Atlantic from Germany to the United States just a little more than two weeks ago.

She had come to this country to attend school at Northeast Louisiana State College here where she is now enrolled as a freshman.

Her first impression of the United States?

LONELY
"I was so lonely and confused that I could hardly keep the tears back," Jutta related in her serious manner of expression. "I did not know where to go or what to do. Fortunately I met a girl from my own country who helped me to clear customs and get my papers verified and directed me to the airport."

Her own country is Colombia, South America. She was born there of German parents in the town of Barranquilla where her father owns a soap factory. She has one older brother, Geri.

Both of the parents are bilingualists and taught the children Spanish and German as soon as they began to talk.

She and her brother attended a Catholic elementary school and a Protestant missionary high school. All of the classes were conducted in Spanish. German was spoken at home.

After finishing high school, Jutta and her brother were sent to Hanover, Germany to further their education.

Not satisfied with being able to speak just two languages, Jutta enrolled in the Berlitz School of Languages, taking English and French. Her brother studied engineering.

NEXT YEAR
For the next year and a half Jutta took the rigorous languages courses. Commenting on her extensive language training, Jutta said, "I attended classes five days a week for about eight hours each day. In my spare time I studied."

Offered several teaching positions on the continent while at the Berlitz School, she declined them to attend college.

Jutta was in a quandary as to whether she should go to college in England or in the United States. "What finally made up my mind," Jutta said, "was my comparison of an Englishman and an American I knew in Hanover."

"The Englishman was so reserved and formal and I seldom saw him smile. His stiff bearing and cool manner left me with the impression that England must be a culturally strict country with an atmosphere of solemnity."

"On the other hand, the American was always smiling and joking, so by the same token, he gave me the impression that America must be a cheerful, friendly place. So my problem was solved; I chose America."

After her decision to come to America, Jutta began to correspond with a friend in Shreveport who sent her numerous catalogues from colleges and universities located in various parts of the country. Finally, after much deliberation, she picked Northeast Louisiana State College.

They were: Rear Adm. Dennis Royle Campbell, Legion of Merit; Cdr. Hillary Goodhart, Legion of Merit; civilians Lewis Boddington, Dennis Lean and Colin Mitchell, Medal of Freedom.

Speaking in her measured, grammatically correct English, the attractive Colombian said, "When I first arrived in America, I could not understand the language so well because most Americans speak so fast, slur the words, and use a lot of slang and bad grammar."

Now she has little trouble in understanding American English, but must watch the speaker's lips and still finds it hard to carry on a telephone conversation in Monroe.

Since being in Monroe, Jutta has seen her first American movies, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," and "Daddy Yankee." She described the musical as "fantastic."

Jutta is taking all of the courses that any freshman at Northeast usually takes, including algebra, English, geometry and psychology. English is her hardest while psychology is her most interesting course.

Her favorite pastime is reading books, especially the classics. She has read "Gone With the Wind" in German, several Shakespearean plays in Spanish and many other books in French and English.

Commenting on the American way of life, the pretty brunette said, "You Americans have so many mechanical conveniences and really live a life of luxury compared to the people in South America and Germany."

Balloon Ride Is Thrilling But It Is A Big Crazy Idea

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — What makes a man—or woman—climb into a little wicker basket and go bobbing up thousands of feet in the air under a fat balloon stuffed with cooking gas?

What makes him enjoy hanging there, dreamy and happy, with only the thin skin of that balloon between him and destruction?

I don't know. But I did try it—once.

It was a sunny morning when I clambered with four other people into a frail-looking basket about 8 by 6 feet. Above us, the round silver balloon tugged restlessly at the ropes holding it to the ground. A friend shook his head.

"I think you're crazy," he said. I thought probably he was right. Excited volunteers let go the lines. The balloon lurched eagerly into the sky, our basket trailing 10 feet below, held by a sort of foot high bag.

I stood tensely on the sand bags, each weighing about 30 pounds, which covered the bottom of the basket. As passengers go, I was a seven-bag man and I was afraid any movement would rock the boat.

The balloon soared soundlessly upward at 200 feet a minute. The world swept under us, around us, above us. But we were still.

"No sway," I remarked. Pilot Peter Pelligrino misunderstood my tone. "No sway?" he repeated. "I can make it sway if you want."

CRIED
"No, no!" I cried.

Cautiously, I edged forward to look over the side. The basket's rim came up to my nervous middle. We were at 2,000 feet.

Below us, Pennsylvania countryside was a green quilt, its neat squares of cultivated land sliced by precise highways and snaky rivers with punctuation dots of shiny green backyard swimming pools.

The basket was crowded, but friendly. I peered over the side again. The balloon's noiseless shadow slid across the countryside.

I could see what Anthony Fairbanks meant. Fairbanks, 52-year-old aeronautical engineer from Swarthmore, Pa., who founded the Balloon Club of America six years ago, had tried to explain the lure of free flight before we took off.

"There's no noise, no moving parts," he said. "Troubles fade away in the silence." Then he added: "There's danger, all right. The pilot it always thinking, 'I hope she holds.' It's a long way down."

"What happens if we fall?" I asked. Pelligrino looked at me distastefully.

"Stay in the basket," he advised. "It's the safest place." I agreed with him—he said the only alternative was to jump out.

Balloonists can qualify as pilots after six practice flights and one solo. There are only two controls—up and down. Directionwise, balloonists go with the wind.

Balloon Club of America members pay $25 a flight, nonmembers pay $50. They arise at 3 a.m. to spend four hours filling the balloon with ordinary natural gas at $100 a flight. Leftover money is used to send equipment to Europe for races. Last year, club members finished fifth in a nine-balloon race in Holland.

Balloons sell for $45,000 new in Europe. The Pennsylvania club has six, all bought for a song from the Navy's balloon station in Lakehurst, N. J. The CAA inspects, and licenses balloons for nothing.

Pelligrino began looking for a place to land. "After a couple of hours of this, I get bored," he said. The altimeter said we were at 3,800 feet—an average height, said Pelligrino.

Releasing gas and tossing sand, Pelligrino started the balloon sinking slowly downward. "Watch out for wires," he said, explaining that a brush against a live wire could mean explosion and fire.

I could see we were heading for a field of tall grass surrounded by wires. To the west—the direction we were drifting—was a large, wet pond.

TOWARD
The balloon swung toward the wires. Pelligrino threw out a long, 65-pound drag rope. It slowed us. Below, the club members who had tracked us by car grabbed the rope and reeled us in.

About 100 feet from the ground, Pelligrino turned to me. "Don't jump out," he said. I told him I wouldn't dream of it. "Bend your legs," he shouted as the basket settled easily into the grass.

I scrambled out. The balloon bounced, trisky after losing a seven-bag passenger. People who appeared in droves clutched the basket. We had traveled seven miles in two hours.

Safely down, Pelligrino and I tracked another club flight by Francis Shields, a 36-year-old millwright from Green Ridge, Pa. His balloon floated higher and higher until it was a speck and the basket invisible.

Then it grew larger, the bag changing from a chubby sphere to a leaner pear. "They're losing gas too fast," worried Pelligrino. Sand streamed from the basket as Shields fought to slow the plunge. The balloon drooped toward Whitemarsh, a heavily populated area. The crew tossed out four portable chairs and a hamper of ham sandwiches.

"They're in trouble," said Pelligrino when the sandwiches tumbled out.

The balloon caught on a tree limb and hung limply over the burial ground of St. Thomas Episcopal church about 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Shields said the sun had heated the gas and expanded it, sending the balloon soaring to 5,000 feet. Then the gas seeped out and plunged down at 600 feet a minute. Club members deflated the balloon, packed it on a trailer and climbed into their cars.

"Understand now," Pelligrino said to me. "This has been another ordinary day."

Airline Safety Is Full Time Job

By WES COOK
Associated Press Writer

A red light flickered in the airplane control panel. An alarm bell split the muffled roar of the four big engines.

"Fire in number three," snapped the pilot.

Pilot, copilot, and engineer moved swiftly but smoothly to cut off the flaming engine, block its flow of oil and gasoline and set off the built in extinguisher to smother the fire.

A few minutes later the aircraft settled to the runway, tires squealing softly, and taxied gently to its parking place.

The crew unfastened safety belts and stepped from the cockpit onto the second floor of a building in downtown Kansas City.

They had just completed a trouble-plagued make-believe flight from Kansas City to Los Angeles. The nightmare flight included a fouled-up landing gear, engine failure, severe icing and other assorted difficulties.

Pretend flights in cockpits exactly like those of the big passenger planes—complete with sound effects—is one way in which airlines battle for greater safety in the sky.

CRASHES
Two recent crashes were grim reminders that the battle is never won. A KLM airliner went down in the Atlantic, killing 99 and a Northeast Airlines plane crashed on the East Coast, claiming 23 lives.

But Jim Pyle, chief of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, says air travel is four times safer than going by automobile.

In 1957, the combined U.S. scheduled domestic and international airlines had a fatality rate of only one passenger for 500 million passenger miles.

The CAA is working on a modernized program for air traffic control to avoid airplane collisions while the airlines themselves are working to prevent mechanical and human break-downs.

Airlines insist on putting veteran pilots and crews through refresher courses in emergency procedures—such as Trans World Airlines' Kansas City simulated cockpit course—year after year.

And Airlines keep an eagle eye on their personnel and their plans.

"We monitor the performance of our equipment and personnel 24 hours a day through a worldwide network of communications," said Jim Davis, director of line maintenance for TWA.

"In addition to preflight inspections, planes are subjected to more probing examinations after every 35 hours of flight."

"And at the end of every 160 hours logged by the aircraft, it is grounded while we spend some 200 man hours in cleaning, repairing and replacing."

"It is a great tragedy," said one airline official, "that a part of the price of progress in aviation has been the loss of loved ones."

"But it would be an even greater tragedy if we failed to take corrective action resulting in greater safety for other air passengers."

EXPLAINS ACHING BACKS
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The California State Department of Mental Hygiene said failure to come to terms with everyday emotional problems is the most common cause of the common backache. It explained that such problems cause an excess of muscle function and electrical activity which lead to a gradual accumulation of potassium in the tissues.

What Does Pilot Think Of When His Plane's On Fire?

EDITOR'S NOTE: What goes through an airline pilot's mind when his plane is on fire? On Sept. 21, United Airlines Flight 705 left Washington National Airport for San Francisco with 58 passengers and a crew of 10. Exactly 26 minutes later, the pilot safely landed the DC7 back at the airport with one engine flame. This is the dramatic story of those 26 minutes, based on interviews with the crew and airport personnel.

By ROBERT J. SERLING
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Flight 705, Capt. W. W. Breeding commanding, left the ground smoothly at 12:18 p. m. EDT.

Ground controller Ralph Johnson noted the time and told 705 to shift to departure control. 705 swam up through

Gravel Meet Set Wednesday

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana Democrats, famous for family feuding, stage another showdown here Wednesday over the removal of Camille Gravel as national committeeman.

This time, its different. Segregation overshadows the customary name-calling. The issue cuts across traditional Long and anti-Long factional lines.

Gravel's foes say his endorsement of the national party position on civil rights legislation betrayed the South when its back was to the wall on segregation.

Gravel insists it's all political. Gov. Earl Long, he says, wants to punish him for taking the wrong side in the Fifth District race for Congress. Gravel backed a winner, Long had the loser.

Most observers expect the State Central Committee to oust the Alameda attorney but there is no assurance the national committee will recognize his successor.

Gravel is a close friend of national chairman Earl Butler and represents the South on the Democratic national advisory council. Vice chairman Sam Brightman said last Thursday only the national committee can remove a member.

Butler said he would withhold comment until after the committee meets Wednesday.

In 1956, the state committee fired W. H. Talbot of New Orleans, key man in the Dixiecrat movement that took Louisiana's electoral votes away from former President Truman in 1948.

Talbot was ousted at request of the national committee because he belied the party. Gov. Long was named in his place, and had some time later to vote when for Governor Robert Kennon and the nomination and took over party control.

The committee under Kennon removed both Gov. Long and the national committeeman Mary Evelyn Dickerson, now Welfare Commissioner. Parker, neither ever contested the move.

Whatever the issue, the meeting in the House chamber at the state capital promises to be colorful and explosive. In the spotlight are three tough political battles.

Gravel, a leading Catholic layman, has been active in Louisiana politics for more than a decade. He was a key man in the Long campaign for governor in 1956, but split with the governor.

Even though the odds appear to be against him, Gravel is fighting hard for his job. He plans a New Orleans television appearance Sunday afternoon, then a half-hour program over a state-wide radio-television network Monday night.

Long, three-time governor and brother of the late Huey P. Long, has been active in every governor's race since 1944.

Sen. W. M. Rainier, Louisiana segregation leader who sponsored the drive to remove Gravel, is serving his fourth term in the Legislature. He is anti-Long, but agrees with the governor on Gravel's removal.

The north Louisiana lawmaker also is a top leader of the south-wide Citizens Councils of America.

The drive to fire Gravel began more than a year ago, but no central committee session was possible until Long gave his approval.

Rainier said the action of southerners such as Gravel encouraged the Eisenhower administration "to go to extremes in attempting to force integration."

This, the segregation leader added, was "very definitely a factor in the Little Rock affair."

Gravel's last 400,000 behind national parties, a false picture of the real feeling of the people of the South," Rainier said. "He has seriously undercut the Southern position at a time when the South has had its back to the wall."

"We know we can't win this fight with people in high positions betraying us at every step," Gravel, defending his vote on the Democratic national advisory council in support of civil rights legislation, said he pledged on election as national committeeman to support "the nominees of the national party and the platform."

When Congress enacted the civil rights act last year, Gravel said, "the civil rights bill is what it should be—a bill that serves to protect the right to vote."

In a statement, he commented, "purely as a moral proposition, I think segregation is wrong. To the extent that the U.S. district courts are empowered to enforce or delay integration as required by local conditions."

"Socially, economically and emotionally an attempt to integrate the schools in Louisiana is a disaster," he said.

"We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings received during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved husband and father, Plente G. Marine. We especially thank Dr. Rizzo for his skill at the St. Francis Hospital."

BLONDIE
by CHIC YOUNG

HOW ABOUT BAKING YOUR HONEY BOY ONE OF YOUR DELICIOUS ANGEL-FOOD CAKES?

SURE, DARLING

OH, HERBERT-- I JUST REMEMBERED-- I'M OUT OF SUGAR

I'LL BORROW A CUP FROM THE BUMSTEADS

BLONDIE-- CAN I BORROW A CUP--

HERB--YOU'RE JUST THE MAN WE NEED-- COME IN

I'M HAVING MY ANNUAL FURNITURE-MOVING SPREE AND I NEEDED ANOTHER BIG, STRONG MAN TO HELP

GETTING ANY BAKING SUGAR?

SURE, HERB

THANK YOU SO MUCH, HERB-- HERE'S YOUR CUP OF SUGAR

JUST ONE MOMENT, BLONDIE, UNTIL I CATCH MY BREATH

LOOK, HERBERT-- I FOUND A WHOLE BOX OF SUGAR I DIDN'T KNOW I HAD

I'LL RETURN THIS CUP OF SUGAR-- I DON'T WANT TO BE OBLIGATED TO THE BUMSTEADS

BLONDIE-- HERE'S YOUR CUP OF--

OH, HERB, I'M SO GLAD YOU CAME BACK-- WE NEED YOU AGAIN

WE DECIDED TO GET RID OF THE OLD PIANO AND HAVE IT CARTED AWAY

THIS IS THE LAST-- I'M GOING BACK HOME

THAT BUMSTEAD DRIVES ME CRAZY!

STOP STOMPING

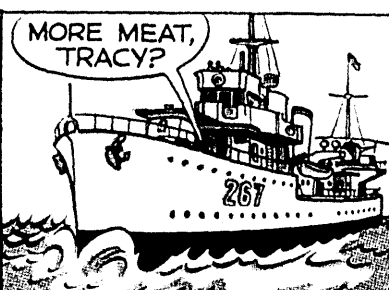

NOW LOOK--YOU RUINED THE CAKE BY STOMPING THRU THE KITCHEN LIKE THAT MY BEAUTIFUL CAKE!

IT'S DAGWOOD, DEAR-- HE CAME OVER FOR A PIECE OF CAKE

I'LL GIVE HIM A PIECE OF CAKE!

DICK TRACY

ELECTRIC CORD UNPLUGGED

LEAVING THE TILL TO THE CASH REGISTER OPEN WHEN YOU CLOSE THE STORE OFTEN PREVENTS DAMAGE TO THESE EXPENSIVE MACHINES BY BURGLARS.

I NEVER KNEW FOOD COULD BE SO GOOD, EH, WHITEHALL?

RIGHTO! ANOTHER PIECE OF THAT BEEF, IF YOU PLEASE.

WE SENT MESSAGES TO YOUR RESPECTIVE HOME OFFICES, GENTLEMEN.

ALSO WE REQUESTED THAT YOUR FAMILIES BE GIVEN THE GOOD NEWS OF YOUR RESCUE.

FURTHERMORE, HERE'S A TELEPHONE. YOU MAY TALK TO YOUR WIVES DIRECT, IF YOU WISH.

---FROM NOW ON, TESS, I'LL ALWAYS HAVE A WARM PLACE IN MY HEART FOR MISSILE NOSE CONES---

HONEY, BONNIE BRAIDS WANTS TO SAY HELLO.

---"BOTH TRACY AND WHITEHALL ABOARD CRASH BOAT 267 HEADED FOR HAVANA. HEALTH GOOD--BOTH WILL BE TAKEN TO CENTRAL HOSPITAL, HAVANA, FOR CHECKUP."

CHIEF, HOW ABOUT MY TAKING AN AFTERNOON PLANE TO CUBA? I'D LIKE TO BE THERE WHEN HE ARRIVES.

GREAT, SAM!

MEANWHILE:

YOU SEE, DROPPER, THAT FLOODING BASEMENT OF MINE WILL FINISH MISS EGGHEAD. LATER, WHEN WE RETURN TO THE HOUSE, WE'LL SPIRIT THE BODY TO A PUBLIC PARK WHERE IT CAN BE FOUND.

AND MISS EGGHEAD WILL BE JUST ANOTHER DROWNING VICTIM OF THE HURRICANE.

I DON'T LIKE IT!

CHICORY GO BACK AND FINISH THE JOB! SUPPOSE RESCUE PARTIES FIND THE BODY BEFORE YOU GET IT OUT?

HA! DON'T KID YOURSELF. RESCUERS WILL BE TOO BUSY IN THE LOWER SECTIONS OF TOWN TO CHECK MY PLACE.

AND MISS EGGHEAD FACES HER FATE, PANIC-STRICKEN AND HORRIFIED.

THAT WAS A FOOTSTEP! I KNOW IT WAS A FOOTSTEP ON THE FLOOR ABOVE.

IS SOMEONE COMING TO SAVE ME??

reported by the AEC. The first test, dubbed "Hidago," was reported to have been "an extremely low nuclear reaction." Some fallout was recorded near the shot site.

McGuire, 26, of Anderson, S.C., will wedge himself into the midst of a myriad of instruments for a ride to about 100,000 feet—roughly 20 miles—for a day-night stay. He hopes, by this solitary feat,

This will be the third trip of the Man High series. In June 1957, Capt. Joe Kittinger, formerly of the Air Force,

A government attorney said a temporary restraining order against leasing of the Little Rock school buildings to a private corporation will remain in effect until the appeals court rules.

A black and white cartoon illustration. On the left, a woman in a dress and hat is running towards the right, shouting "HALT!" and holding a stick. On the right, a man in a suit and bowler hat is running away from her, looking back over his shoulder. A speech bubble from the man says, "HECK. SOME DAYS IT JUST DON'T PAY TO GET UP OUTTA MY DRESSER DRAWER." The man is running on a path that curves to the left. There is a tree on the right side of the path. The cartoon is signed "Giffen" in the bottom right corner.

MONDAY

Strange Murder Trial To Begin

MACON, Ga. (UPI) — One of the strangest murder cases ever to be heard in a Georgia courtroom begins Monday with the trial of Marcia Lyles, an attractive, socially prominent widow and voodoo cultist accused of poisoning four relatives.

Mrs. Lyles, 32, white-haired owner of a popular Macon restaurant, is charged with the deaths of her two husbands, a mother-in-law and her nine-year-old daughter, all of whom died over a six-year period. She will stand trial for the death of her daughter, Marcia Elaine, who died last April.

The other alleged victims were Ben F. Lyles Jr., her first husband; Mrs. Ben F. Lyles Sr. and Joel Neal Lyles, of 212 S. 1st St., who died in the Veterans Administration Hospital at Dallas, Ga.

During a commitment hearing for Mrs. Lyles, Dr. Larry R. Howard, assistant director of the Georgia Crime Laboratory, testified he found traces of arsenic in the tissues of all four persons whom the woman allegedly killed by feeding them doses of arsenic-based ant poison.

SURE OF ONE

"There is no question in my mind whatsoever that Marcia Lyles (the daughter) died of arsenic poisoning," Dr. Howard said.

However Howard testified he wasn't so sure about the fate of the other three victims, since he did not know the symptoms.

Special prosecutors in the case began issuing subpoenas last week and attorney H. T. O'Neal Jr. said approximately 30 to 35 state witnesses would be ordered to appear.

At one point, Bib County Sheriff James I. Wood said his office was uncovering evidence that some $40,000 worth of insurance policies and property left to Mrs. Lyles by the deaths of the victims may have been a motive for the poisonings.

The strangest angle in the case was the role played by the mysterious voodoo rites Mrs. Lyles practiced. A search of the woman's home revealed a bedroom equipped with a weird assortment of fetiches, love potions, herbs and three black candles.

A search under Mrs. Lyles' bed turned up a blue sock pinned to the bedspring with a photograph of a man inside. The mate to the sock was found in a bureau drawer with a woman's stocking beside it.

SEARCH FOR LOVER
Voodoo rituals said the rites practiced by Mrs. Lyles signified the search for a lost lover.

Mrs. Lyles paid regular visits to a Macon voodoo practitioner where she obtained voodoo potions labeled "Egyptian Love Powder Interest was added to the case when an airline pilot admitted later that he had received calls from Mrs. Lyles, often when she was abroad. He said, however, that he refused to accept them.

Several anonymous letters initiated the suspicion which led to the arrest of Mrs. Lyles in May. Two of them were received by a sister of Mrs. Ben F. Lyles Sr., in Cochran, Ga.

One said: "Please come at once. She's getting the same dose." Marcia Lyles, as the others, please come at once." The letter was handwritten, unsigned and sent special delivery.

It was postmarked about a month before the girl died. The letter ended up in the hands of Bibb authorities and an autopsy of the girl's body followed. It revealed arsenic poisoning and led to the disinterment of the other bodies.

CHURCHGOER HONORED
PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) — The honor of turning the first shovel of dirt at the site of the new State Park Baptist Church here went to Mrs. Elizabeth Vinz—with good reason. Mrs. Vinz, 88, has been a member of the church for 73 years.

Four Churches Won't Try To Bar Negroes

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Four Little Rock Presbyterian churches have voted not to attempt to bar Negroes who might show up for Sunday services. The action was described as "not an integration move."

The board of elders of Central Presbyterian Church took the action Wednesday night.

In confirming the stand, the Rev. Dunbar H. Ozden Jr., Central's pastor and outgoing president of the Little Rock Ministerial Assn., said that three other Presbyterian churches — Second, Pulaski Heights and Westover Hills — had made similar decisions.

Last Sunday Mrs. Roy T. Morrison, a white woman, who identified herself as a segregationist, took a Negro woman, Mrs. Pearl Lewis, to the Pulaski Heights Methodist Church. Mrs. Morrison said that an usher asked her and Mrs. Lewis to leave but that they remained through the service.

Banker Gardner Lile, a Central Presbyterian elder, said the board's move was "in no way a vote to integrate the church. We took the action merely to forestall possible attempts by segregationists to embarrass us by bringing Negroes to church."

Lile said ushers would be instructed to give unobtrusive treatment to any Negroes who might appear at church and to avoid incidents.
